THE LONDON LETTER WRITTEN ESPECIALLY FOR THE EXAMINER; NEWS FROM WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Interview With Major G. W. Stephens---Correspondent Will Be Pleased to Give Advise to Peterborough Travellers ---Canadians Shine In Hockey.

The Examiner has completed arrangements with Mr. Bryan Bellasis for a regular London letter. Mr. Bellasis is prominently associated with London journalism and has exceptional opportunities for acquiring information of interest to Canadian readers. He lived for some time in Peterborough and anything occurring in London, of special interest to Peterborough readers, will be sure of attention. Besides Mr. Bellasis has kindly offered to pay especial personal attention to Peterboroughians visiting Old London. The first letter of the series follows:—

Canada is well before the public eye this spring, and it is curious to think how little was known of the country before the King's Coronation, and how familiar it is to everybody now. Even in 1900 the papers often prefaced Canadian paragraphs with long, explanatory notes, while to-day they take for granted previous knowledge on the part of their readers. What with the Quebec Pageant, and the triumphs of Miss Maud Allen, the Canadian dancer, at the "Palace," London has plenty of Canadian subjects to talk about. Miss Allen, who was born in Toronto and who received much of her education in Canada, has taken the town by storm. "Supper and Salome" parties are the vogue and the Palace Theatre of Varieties is crowded every night by some of the best known people in England, to see the wonderful dance. Australia has for so long held almost a monopoly of the supply of Colonial singers and other artists that it is refreshing to see Canada coming to the front with Madame "Donalda" and now Miss Allen, since she has previously contributed little to the artistic world with the glorious exception of Albani.

The emigration season has begun and in a month or so will be at its height. There has been much discussion of the new regulations and opinion has been divided, but it is generally conceded that they are all to the good. So many of the "useless" class have been wont to look upon Canada as a land flowing wit milk and honey, where work was unnecessary, that it is quite time that their minds were cleared of this delusion, or at any rate, that they were prevented from acting on it and crossing the Atlantic. In connection with this, a short time ago some stir was created by the publication of a letter from an Englishman in Canada, stating that he had frequently come across the sign "No Englishman Need Apply." The "Daily Mail" published an article giving the reasons for the unpopularity of Englishmen and I hope that it has fallen into the hands of many intending emigrants. The unpopularity of Englishmen in general has largely been caused by men of the class that once made Englishmen hated all over Europe; they have created a mountain of prejudice that the emigrant has now to overcome. It is a pity that among other restrictions something cannot be devised that will keep out the sore-headed grouchers, the man who brings an "outfit" suitable for a desert island, the man who looks upon his Canadian employers as "poor colonials," and the man who likes to do things as his grandfather did them.

A Grown up Child

Rudyard Kipling is doing the best he can to make amends for his "Our Lady of the Snows" in his "Letters to the Family" now appearing in the "Morning Post" every week. It is to be hoped that they will go far to dispel the illusion that Canada is still a country in swaddling clothes. Englishmen have yet to learn that unless the home government can definitely help Canada in any way she much prefers to be left alone. Home-staying Englishmen never seem to be able to understand how much the Colonies dislike being interfered with, and with a colony that can look after itself, such as Canada meddling on the part of men who know little about the country, is worse than useless. If Kipling's articles can reduce the following of Keir Hardy and men of his kidney, they will, indeed, confer a blessing on the Empire.

Your correspondent had an interview, a few weeks back, with Major G. W. Stephens, who will soon be returning to Canada after a comprehensive tour of European ports. Montreal is ripe for further development and Major Stephens has picked up hints, that, when put into practice, will enable Montreal to become one of the most convenient and up-to-date ports in the world. Major Stephens was specially eloquent on the subject of the development of Canadian natural waterways. There were three natural routes to the Northwest, he stated, the Mississippi, Hudson Bay and the St. Lawrence, and of these the St. Lawrence is so superior that the claims of the others for recognition practically vanish, save as subsidiary routes. By the development of Montreal and the transcontinental route generally, Canada would eventually handle a portion of the trade between Europe and the 740,000,000 inhabitants of Asia, as well as the 800,000,000 bushels of wheat her own country was capable of producing. As to the Georgian Bay Canal, he said, there was considerable difference of opinion, but he thought, in any case, that the volume of trade would be too big for any one route to handle, and that the canal would help to relieve the pressure at the Welland Canal, if it did nothing else.

In his opinion, Major Stephens continued, he was optimistic and considered that the canal was an essential accessory in the way of developing the west. Also it would aid the development of a large section of Ontario, that at present is, perhaps, neglected.

London will soon be full of Americans and Canadians, and the shops are already preparing for the rush. It promises to be such a fine summer that a record number of visitors is promised. A novelty, in the way of guides, has been provided in the shape of an association of university men, with good society connections, who undertake to introduce rich visitors to the clubs, and society generally. This has, of course, long been customary, but it has never yet been organized. Your millionaire pays his fee, and is at once taken in tow by a polite, well educated young man, who introduces him at his club and proceeds to show him London life in the highest circles. There are other guides for those who merely wish to see the interesting and picturesque side of London, and have it explained to them. One young man undertakes to show any aspect of London required, the historic, literary, artistic, etc., for from five to fifteen dollars, out of which he pays expenses. I may say, since we are talking of London, that, as London correspondent of the Peterborough Examiner, I shall be very happy to give any advice and assistance that lies in my power to such of its readers as visit the Old Country this summer. A letter addressed "Care of the Editor," will be forwarded. There are a special number of attractions this year; there is the usual exhibition at Earl's Court—Hungarian this time—the Franco-British, which promises to be a big thing, and the Chelsea Pageant. The City of London Pageant has been postponed till next year, on account of the counter attractions. We are getting very go-ahead here, too, and Canadians, who have not visited London for some years, will hardly know the place. There is almost as bustling an atmosphere as in a Canadian city.

Canadian Hockeyists

I suppose your skates and hockey sticks have been put away by now, and it will surprise you to hear that the ice hockey season here is hardly at an end. Only a short time ago Prince's Hockey Club, in which there are many Canadians, played a Belgian team and knocked spots out of them. Of course, skating is on artificial ice over here and lasts well into the spring.

B

"Our correspondent is reminded that there is no such place as "Peterboro" in Canada. The registered name of this city and county is Peterborough, and the above cognominal curtailment is decidedly objected to.—Ed. Examiner.

SCHOOLS CLOSED FOR THE EASTER HOLIDAYS

The educational institutions in the city have been closed for the Easter holidays, to re-open on the 27th. The small boy may enjoy himself during the next ten days without thought of home lessons or school studies.

A NOVEL CELEBRATION

The arrival of Spring will be celebrated in a novel way this year by McDermid & Jury, the enterprising druggists.

On Saturday of this week they will distribute $50.00 worth of choice fresh garden seeds, among their customers.

Every customer purchasing 50c worth of goods that day will be given five packages of seeds, and the first 12 persons who bring in flowers or vegetables grown from these seeds, will each be given a prize of $1.00 in cash.

In addition to this they are offering many Bargains in Hair Brushes, Hot Water Bottles, Perfumes, Tooth Brushes, Toilet Articles, etc.

Ford's famous Chocolates will also be made a special feature on this day and a box of Ford's Butter Scotch will be given free with every pound of their Chocolates.

Among other attractions will be the presentation of 10 Pretty Swiss Bedroom Clocks, to the first 5 ladies purchasing $3 worth of goods, after 7.30 a.m. and another 5 clocks to the first 5 farmers' wives purchasing $3 worth after one o'clock, noon. These clocks are not toys but good serviceable clocks, worth from $1 to 1.25 each

When this firm announce an event of this kind, they carry out every promise and we would recommend all our readers to call on them on Saturday and get some of the good things they are offering.

GIRLS WHO WORK

Girls who work for their living are especially exposed to the dangers of organic feminine disorders. Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions; walking to and from their places of employment in bad weather all tend to break down their delicate feminine organism.

No class of women are in need of greater assistance, and thousands of letters like the following demonstrate the fact that restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Miss Abby F. Barrows, of Nelsonville, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I was very sick, had dull headaches, pain in my back, and a feminine weakness. I had been to several doctors and they did me no good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong, and I can do most any kind of work. I am in better health than I ever was, and it is all due to your medicine."

Miss Lillian Ross, of 530 E. 84th St., New York, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I had a female trouble, nervous headaches, and was tired all the time, and could not sleep. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me feel so much better that I hope every woman who suffers as I did will try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for feminine ills, and has positively cured thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice.

THE DANGER OF LAZINESS

Many men have been accused of laziness who did not deserve the appelation, and a physician of national repute has recently declared that most so-called lazy men are not so in reality, but they are sick. Most of us have at times had to make a very decided effort to overcome a disposition to shirk our work, and have blamed it on the weather, not realizing that there is any real danger in the indisposition for mental or physicial exertion. There is, however, a very real danger, for this symptom is Nature's warning that the system is exhausted, and it is in just this condition that people are an easy prey to the serious diseases, such as typhoid fever, grippe, diphtheria or consumption. The surest way to ward off such consequences is to stimulate the bowls and digestive organs, thus cleansing and rehabilitating the entire system. The most practical manner of accomplishing this is by taking King Palmetto Compound, which is not a secret medicine, but is the most perfect prescription known to medical men. The formula of King Palmetto Compound is printed plainly on the wrapper, and if you are not acquainted with the efficacy of its ingredients, ask any one who is, and you will be assured of its great therapeutic value. Free sample sent. Write to King Palmetto Co. Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold at $1.00 per bottle and is guaranteed by McDermid & Jury, druggists.

Red Saunders

... By ...

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"Let the people go? Bible?" cried Red, laying down his knife and fork, still more astonished at her allusion. "Will you kindly tell me what that has to do with faro bank? Girl, one of us is full of ghost songs, and far, far off the reservation. What in the name of Brigham Young's off-ox are you talking about?"

"Why, you spoke of Pharaoh, I will, and I can remember about his holding the children of Israel captive, and the plagues, but I really don't see just how it applies."

"Oh!" said Red, as a great light broke upon him. "Oh, I see what you're thinking about. The old boy who corralled the Jews and made 'em work for the first and last time in their history, and they filled him full of fleas and darkness and all kinds of unpleasant experiences to break even? Well, I was not talking about him at all. My faro is a game played with a layout and a pack of cards and a little tin box that you ought to look at carefully before you put any money on the board, to see that it ain't arranged for dealing seconds; and there's a lookout and a case keeper and—well, I don't believe I could tell you just how it works, but some day I'll make a layout and we'll have some fun. It's a bully game, but I say, it's a great deal like life—the splits go to the dealer; that is to say, that if the king comes out to win and lose at the same time, you lose anyhow, see?"

"No," said Miss Mattie truthfully.

Red thrust his fingers through his hair and sighed. "I'm afraid I know too much about it to explain it clearly," he replied. "But what I mean is this: Some people try to play system at faro, and they last about as quick as those that don't. I always put the limit on the card that's handiest, and the game don't owe me a cent. As a matter of fact, some of the tin horns used to wear a pained expression when they saw me coming across the room. I've split 'em from stem to keelson more than once and never used a copper in my life. Played 'em wide open all the time. Now," and he brought his fist down on the table, "I'm going to play that young man wide open, and I'll bet you I don't lose by him neither. He looks as honest as a mastiff pup for all he dresses kind of nice. I might just as well try him on the fly as to go lunk heading around and get stuck anyhow, with the unsatisfactory addition of feeling that I was a fool as well as confiding."

Most of the argument had been ancient Aryan to Miss Mattie, but the ring of the voice and the little she understood made the tenor plain. A sudden moisture gathered in her eyes as she said: "You're too good and honest and generous a man to distrust anybody. That's what I think, Will."

"Mattie, I wish you wouldn't talk like that," said he in an injured voice. "It ain't hardly respectable."

After which there was a silence for a short time. Then said Miss Mattie, "Do you think you could content yourself here, Will, after all the things you've seen?"

Red brightened at the change of topic. "I'll tell you how that is. If I hadn't any capital and had to work here as a poor man, I don't believe I'd take the trouble to try and live. I'd smother. But, having that pleasant little crop of long greens securely planted in the bank where the wild time doesn't grow and thusly being able to cavort around as it sweetly pleases me, why, I like the country. It's sport to take hold of a place like this that's only held together by its suspenders and try to make a real live man's town out of it."

Miss Mattie drew a deep breath of relief. "You came like the hero in a fairy story, Will, and I was afraid you'd go away like one," she said.

He reached across the table and patted her hand. "You'd have had to gone, too," said he. "The family 'll stick together."

She thanked him in a soft little voice. "Dear me," she murmured, "it does seem that you've been here a year, Will!"

"Never was told that I was such slow company before."

"You know perfectly well that that isn't what I mean."

"Well, you'll have to put up with me for awhile whatever I am, inasmuch as I'm to be a manufacturer and the Lord knows what. Then some day I'm going to have an awful hankering for the land where the breeze blows, and then we'll take a shute for open prairie. It's cruelty to animals for me to straddle a horse now, yet there's where I'm at home, and I'm going to buy me a cayuse of some kind. Say, I ought to get at that. If I'm going around with Lettis I want to ride a horse. Know anybody that's got a real live horse for sale, Mattie? No? Well, I'll stop in and see the lady that deals the mail. I'll bet you what that woman doesn't know about what's going on in this camp will never get into history. Be back right away!"

Said he to the postmistress: "My name's Saunders, ma'am—cousin to Miss Mattie. I just stopped in to find out if you knew any one that had a riding horse for sale—horse with four good legs that'll carry me all day, and about the rest I don't care a frolicsome cuss."

The postmistress replied at such length and with such velocity that Red was amazed. He gathered from her remarks that a certain Mr. Upton had an animal, purchased of a chance horse dealer, which it was altogether likely he would dispose of, as the first time he had tried the brute it went up into the air all sorts of ways and caused the owner to perform such tricks before high heaven as made the angels weep.

"Where does this man live?" asked Red, with a kindling eye.

"He lives about three miles out on the Peterville road, but he's in town tonight visitin' Miss Alders. Johnny!" to a small boy who had been following the conversation, his wide open eyes bent on Red and his mouth and wiggling bare toes expressing their delight in vigorous contortions, "Johnny, you run tell Mr. Upton there's a gentleman in here wants to see him about buying a horse."

"Don't disturb him if he's visiting," remonstrated Red.

"He won't call that disturbing him," replied the postmistress, with a shrill laugh. "He'll be here in no time."

She was a true prophet. It seemed as if the boy had barely left the store when he returned with a stoop shouldered, solemn faced man, who had a brush heap of chin whisker decorating the lower part of his face. After greetings and the explanation of the errand, Mr. Upton stroked his chin whisker regretfully. "Young man," said he, "I'm in a pecooliar and onpleasant position. There's mighty feyew things I wouldn't do in a hawse trade, but I draw the line on murder. That there hawse'll kill you, just's sure as you're fool enough to put yerself on his back. I'll sell you a real hawse mighty reasonable"—

"I'll risk him," cut in Red. "Could you lead him down here in the morning?"

"Yes, indeedy—he's a perfect lady of a horse to lead—you can pick up airy foot—climb all over him, in fac'—s'long's you don't try to ride him or hitch him up. If you do that—well, young man, you'll get a pretty fair idee of what is meant by one of the demons of hell."

"What kind of saddle have you got?"

"One of them outlandish western affairs that the scamp threw in with the animal—you see, I thought I'd take up horseback riding for my health; I was in bed three weeks after my fust try."

"I'll go you $75 for the outfit, just as you got it—chaps, taps and latigo straps, if you'll have it in front of my house at 9 o'clock tomorrow."

"I just stopped in to find out if you knew any one that had a riding horse for sale."

CHAPTER VII.

AT 9 the next morning there was a crowd in front of the house.

"What have you been doing now, Will?" asked Miss Mattie, with prescience.

"Only buying a horse, Mattie," returned Red soberly. "Seems to be quite an event here."

"Is that all?"

"That's all, so help me Bob!" Red had a suspicion that there would be objections if she knew what kind of a horse it was.

Lettis, who had roomed with Red overnight, was in the secret.

The horse arrived, leading very quietly, as Mr. Upton had said. It was a buckskin, fat and hearty from long resting. Nothing could be more docile than the pensive lower lip and the meek curve of the neck. Nothing could be more contradictory than the light of its eye, a brooding, baleful fire, quietly biding its time.

"Scatter, friends!" cried Red as he put his foot in the stirrup. "Don't be too proud to take to timber!"

He swung over as lightly as a trapeze performer, deftly catching his other stirrup. The horse groaned and shivered.

"Don't let him get his head down! Gol ding it! Don't you!" screamed Mr. Upton in wild excitement.

Red threw the bridle over the horn of the saddle. "Go it, you devil!" cried he. And they went. Six feet straight in the air, first pass. The crowd scattered, as requested. They hurried at that. Red gave the brute the benefit of his 250 as they touched earth, and his opponent grunted when he felt the jar of it. They rocketed and ricochetted; they were here, they were there, they were everywhere, the buckskin squealing like a pig and fighting with every ounce of the strength that lay in his steel strung legs. The dust rose in clouds; Red's hat flew in no time; he was yelling like a maniac, and the crowd was yelling like more maniacs. Now and then a glimpse of the rider's face could be caught, transported with joy of the struggle; then the dust would roll up and hide every thing. No one was more pleased at the spectacle than the blacksmith. He was capering in the middle of the road, waving a hand hammer and shouting: "Hold him down! Hold him down! Why do you let him jump up like that? If I was on that horse I'd show you! Aw, there it is again. Stop him! Stop him!"

At this point the buckskin made three enormous leaps for the blacksmith, as though he had understood. The smith cast dignity to the winds and went over the nearest fence in the style that little boys when coasting call "stomach whopper," or words to that effect, and took his next breath two minutes later. He might have saved the labor, as the horse wheeled on one foot and pulled fairly for the picket fence opposite. Red regretted the absence of herders as the sharp pickets loomed near. It was no time for regrets. The horse was over with but little damage—a slight scratch; enough to rouse his temper, however, for he whaled away with both hind feet, and parts of the fence landed a hundred feet off. Then a dash through an ancient grape arbor, and they were lost to view of the road. Some reckless small boys scampered after, but the majority preferred to trace the progress of the conflict by the aboriginal "Yerhoops" that came from somewhere in behind the old houses.

"There they go!" piped up a shrill voice of the small boy brigade. "Right through Mis' Davisses hen coops! You ought to see them hens fly!" The triumphant glee is beyond the reach of words. Simultaneous squawking verified the remark as well as a feminine voice urging a violent protest, cut short by a scream of terror, and the slam of a door. The inhabitants of "Mis' Davisses" house instantly appeared through the front door, seeking the street.

To show the erraticalness of fate, no sooner had they reached the road than Red's mount cleared the parapet of the bridge in a single leap, a beautiful leap, and came down upon them in the road.

All got out of the way but a three-year-old, forgotten in the excitement. Upon this small lad, fallen flat in the road, bore the powerful man and horse. Then there were frantic cries of warning. Fifty feet between the youngster and those mangling hoofs—twenty—five! The crowd gasped. They were blotted together! Not so. A mighty hand had snatched the boy away in that instant of time. He was safe and very indignant in a howling, huddled heap in the ditch by the roadside, but alas for horse and rider! The buckskin was not used to such feats, and when Red's weight was thrown to the side for the reach he missed his stride, struck his feet together, and down they went, while the foot deep dust sprang into the air like an explosion.

Miss Mattie rushed to the scene of the accident, followed by everybody. Young Lettis, equally frightened, was close beside her.

"Oh, Will, are you killed?" she cried.

And then a voice devoid of any signs of weakness, but loaded to the breaking point with wrath, told in such language as had never been heard in Fairfield that the owner was still much alive.

"Run away, Mattie! Run away and let me cuss!" shrieked Red. Miss Mattie collapsed into the arms of Lettis.

The dust settled enough so that the anxious villagers could see horse and man; the former resting easily as if he had had enough athletics for one day and the latter sitting in the road. Neither showed any intention of rising.

"What's the matter, Mr. Saunders, are you hurt?" inquired the fussy postmistress.

"Please go 'way, ma'am," said Red, waving his arm.

"I'm sure you're hurt—I'm perfectly sure you're hurt," she persisted, holding her ground. "Now, do tell us what can possibly be the matter with you."

"Very well," returned the exasperated cowpuncher, "I will. My pants, ma'am, have suffered in this turn up, and they're now in a condition to make my appearance in polite society difficult, if not impossible; now please go 'way, and somebody fetch me a horse blanket."

It is regrettable that the discomfiture of the postmistress was received with undisguised hilarity. The blanket was produced, and Red stalked off in Indian dignity, marred by a limp in his left leg, for he had come upon Mother Earth with a force which made itself felt through all that foot of soft dust.

"Bring that durn fool horse along," he called over his shoulder. Buckskin rose and followed his owner. There was no light in his eye now; he looked thoughtful. He, too, limped, and there was a trickle of blood down his nose. Verily it had been a hard fought field.

As both men were anxious to see the lay of the land as soon as possible Red took his place in the wagon that day, after the damages were repaired, content to wait until his leg was less sore for horseback riding.

There followed a busy two weeks for them. Mr. Demilt had some money he wished to put into the enterprise, but his most valuable assistance was, of course, his thorough knowledge of the resources of the country.

They found an admirable site for the mill in an old stone barn which had stood the ravages of desolation almost unimpaired. Red's mining experience told him that the creek could easily be flumed to the barn, and as that was the only objection of the others to this location they wrote the owner of the property for a price. They were astonished when they received the figures. It had come by inheritance to a man to whom it was a white elephant of the most exasperating sort, and he was glad to get rid of it for almost a song. They were a jubilant three at the news. It saved the cost of building a mill, and, including that, the price was as low per acre as any land they could have obtained. Red closed the bargain instantly.

Lettis' part of the business was chiefly to arrange for the disposal of their product, and when he explained to his partners what he could reasonably hope to do in that line the affair lost its last tint of unreality and became a good proposition, for Lettis had an excellent business acquaintance who would be glad to deal with the straightforward young fellow.

The night after the signing of the deeds Red said to Miss Mattie: "We ought to have a stockholders' dinner tomorrow night, Mattie. If you could hire that scow built girl who wears her hair scrambled to come in and give you a lift, would you feel equal to it?"

"You always put it that I'm doing you a great favor in such things, Will, but you know perfectly well there's nothing I'd rather do," replied Miss Mattie, with a dimpling smile. "However, it adds to the pleasure of it to have it put in that way, so I won't complain. I'll just have my supper first and then you men can talk over your business undisturbed."

"You will not—you'll eat with the rest of us!"

"Yes, but you stockholders"— The word had an import to Miss Mattie, a something, if not regal, at least a kinship to the king. Under her democracy lay a respect for the founded institution, impersonal, an integral part of the law of the state—in fact, a minor sovereignty within an empire.

"Stockholder yourself!" retorted Red. "Don't you call me names."

"What do you mean, Will?" asked Miss Mattie, with wide opened eyes.

"I mean you're a stockholder as good as anybody. You've got half my stock. Now, hold on! Just listen. This is a queer run, Mattie, from the regulation point of view this company of ours. I know enough about fillin' and backin' to know that. You ought to have seen the pryin' and pokin' and nosin' around them Boston men did before they took holt of the Chanta Seechee and made it a stock company! One feller was the ablest durn fool I ever come acrosst. I used to let on I didn't savvy anything about it. 'Now, explain to me,' says I to him. 'You say you have so many shares of them stock,' waving my hand to a bunch of critters in the distance. 'What part do you take? I mean, what's your share of each animal? and does the last man get the hoofs and the tail?' 'Oh, you don't understand,' says he. 'I'll explain it to you.' So he starts in to tell me that 'stock didn't necessarily mean beef critters' and a lot more things, whilst old man Ferguson, who was putting the deal through, stood listening and chewing his teeth, thinking I was going to give our friend the frolicsome bee-bee at the windup. But I stood solemn and never even drew a smile, for fear of queering Ferguson. Well, that's the proper way to start a company—make it as dreary and long winded as possible. We ain't done that, and perhaps we'll go broke for breaking the rules, and then your stock won't be worth a cuss. So don't you get excited about it. I wanted the Saunders family to be represented. Pretty soon the old lad with the nose will be around, and you'll have a chance to read about the 'parties of the first part' and 'second parts of the party' and 'aforesaids' and 'behindsaids' and the rest of the yappi them lawyers swing so that honest men won't know what the devil they're up to."

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

That Tired Feeling.

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of year."

Uses It Every Spring.

Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont. writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

Easter Lilies—and Others.

By ETHEL BARRINGTON.

[Copyright, 1908, by D. M. Parker.]

THAT Easter was at hand the florists' windows gave full assurance. Old Henshaw's place, just around the corner from a crowded thoroughfare, was a veritable oasis of beauty in the noise and dirt of the city.

Here the mingling perfume of rich exotics, the exquisite feast of color, the daintiness of the green background against which the blossoms were massed, formed a never failing delight to the owner's granddaughter.

Perhaps in that riot of beauty the girl loved most the purity of the flower after which she had been called. As she bent over an Easter lily, tying up the blossoms whose weight and fragrance seemed almost too heavy for its support, she appeared well named. Her figure was as slender, the pale gold head and paler cheek equally frail, while about her radiated that dainty femininity that is to womanhood what perfume is to the flower. Completing her task, she set the plant far back behind numbers of a like species. Henshaw paused to remonstrate.

"Set it further out, Lil. It's the beauty of the lot."

"I know it, grandfather, but—that is, I'm keeping it for one of our regulars."

Nodding, satisfied, the old man bustled away to some fresh patrons. Lily, though constantly busy, kept watch on each newcomer. When at last a tall young man entered, the quick drooping of her long lashes showed him to be the one expected.

SHE SAW A LILY, TALL AND FRAGRANT.

"My buttonhole ready?" he asked suddenly across the counter. For reply she handed him a white carnation, which he at once fastened in his coat.

"Pretty busy, I guess," he continued, lingering a moment after she had made the change.

"Yes. Dent—any order for Easter? We're selling so fast it will be safest to let me know now." Her eyes questioned with an eagerness that she did not permit her tone.

"No." An answering embarrassment clouded for a moment the young fellow's face. He seemed about to add more, but, changing his mind, turned abruptly on his heel.

Lily watched his departure abstractedly. In school days he had been her playmate and confidant. That he had pushed on to success, both in business and social relations, was to her a matter of sincere pride, openly expressed. If in secret she suffered at the knowledge of the widening gulf between them, she denied it stoutly even to her own heart, following his career with loving interest from her humble vantage place.

That he never had quite forgotten the old bond he proved by dropping in frequently on his way from the office, accepting with equal friendliness her greeting and choice of boutonnieres.

With a woman's intuition and power of putting this and that together she knew from the first of his courtship of the beautiful Amy Strath. Had not Lily, often with tremulous fingers, arranged Dent's bouquets for the debutante's acceptance?

Until lately was it not she who had made the real selection of his offerings—violets for her birthday, white and gold chrysanthemums at Christmas and lilies always for Easter? She had heard of a misunderstanding with complex feelings, but for Dent's sake hoped, believing herself qualified to gauge his suffering in the separation, that at Easter his floral remembrance might heal the rupture.

Toward this end she had selected a specially beautiful lily, but if he did not intend to send a peace offering to what end her care? On the other hand, should Dent slight the spoiled beauty at such a season it would but cement the trouble. Men were so blind to their own interests, for, watching him, the girl fancied him grown worn of late, and her heart ached for him. On Easter, eve, however, a daring scheme entered her brain to try if perchance she might help to set matters right.

Without giving herself time to weaken in her resolution she tied white streamers about the cherished lilies, catching the long loops with a dainty knot of blue forgetmenots. Handing it to the driver, she followed him to the door, repeating her instructions that it was for Miss Strath.

"Card with it?" inquired the man.

"No; the forgetmenots are instead—that is the idea." With sudden blinding tears Lily retreated into the store.

Would the other girl fail to recognize the implied donor and the meaning in the gift lilies at Easter and forgetmenots for happiness?

The self appointed peacemaker could not, however, repress a guilty start when Dent unexpectedly appeared asking for some lilies. She would have sent a boy to show him, but the man objected.

"I can wait. I need your advice."

Perforce she attended him to the hothouse in the rear. There, while busying herself with drawing out plants for his consideration, she surprised a look of tenderness in his eyes.

"I—I always think of you as here among the flowers," he said hastily.

Lily found him unusually difficult to please and grew more and more nervous over her act and what he would say should he discover it.

"I told you to choose earlier," she reminded him, but it was more to herself, as if she needed to keep this fact in mind for her own exoneration.

"True, but—well, to tell you the truth I wasn't sure she would accept one from me"—

"You are now?" Lily stared at the plant under discussion, at the palms to her left, at anything rather than her companion. She flinched from his affirmative, yet reminded herself she wanted only the assurance that all was well with him.

"I'm hoping for the best, Lily. You understand women, being one yourself. Suppose"—

"I were in her place?" Lily's voice was very low.

"Yes, in her place—the girl to whom I'm going to send this flower. Suppose we had drifted apart and that I suddenly had found out I'd been acting like a conceited fool and only wanted to be forgiven. Would you accept the flower, with all it stood for?"

Lily moved uneasily beneath his anxious gaze. Surely it could not be jealousy she felt. Then she laughed. Men were unaccountably clumsy in choosing their confidants.

"She can't resist you if you put the case so—so delightfully clear. You'll take this one?"

"Yes." The man's voice lost its eagerness as he followed her silently back into the store. There the girl became all business, measuring off yards of ribbon, handing him an envelope for his card and inquiring the address, "Miss Strath, of course?"

"You need not bother with the address. I'm going to send a boy for it." Then, scribbling a few lines with evident uncertainty of selection, he departed, with an abrupt good night.

Lily made her way home, tired and sad. She was hannted with the fear that her intrusion into Dent's affairs might complicate them further until she remembered that she alone knew from whom the gift was supposed to come. Dent, sending one of his own, would never suspect her should he ever learn of the other.

Entering the dining room early the next morning, her eye at once lighted on a lily, tall and fragrant. While admiring it her first thought naturally was of her grandfather, but there was something startlingly familiar in the arrangement of the ribbon, in the manner the tiny envelope was attached. Her fingers trembled, as she freed the card, to read:

"Please be kind and exchange Lilies with me. Dent."

The amazed light of happiness was still upon her when the writer came. He seized her hands, crushing them in sudden hope.

"Lily, is it possible?"

"Wait!" The girl spoke breathlessly, freeing one hand to hold him at a distance. "You must be very sure. It will mean so much. There is Amy Strath. You care for her. Well"—in deference to his sharp denial—"you have cared. What if she should repent her quarrel, should send for you?"

"The quarrel was mine, dear. She demanded the breaking of our friendship"—

"Even that for your happiness"—began the girl, but Dent cut short the offer of sacrifice.

"Here," he cried, kissing her on the lips—"here is my happiness! What if I had learned the truth too late? Give me the flower I want, my Easter Lily"—

"It is yours already," she admitted. Then, after an appreciable interlude, "How could I ever have planned to marry you to any one else?"

"To whom?" demanded the astonished Dent. But to this he never obtained a satisfactory answer.

An Egg Drawing.

A most successful egg game for children or grown people is to draw the outline of a large egg on squares of pasteboard, providing one for each guest and presenting them at the same time with sticks of charcoal and instructions to make out of the skeleton of the egg a picture of some animal. It is surprising how many laughable and really clever sketches will be the result.

Bunny Molds For Easter.

Of course every housewife is planning to have some sort of frozen dessert on Easter Sunday, so that the bunny mold is sure to appeal to those interested planners who constantly treat their families to surprises. Some handsome molds are also to be had in the Easter lily design, too, but where there are children the bunny molds produce the larger amount of merriment.

STANLEY'S EASTER TREE.

A Springtime Suggestion For the Little Folks.

Stanley Ober stood at the window looking across the meadow at the small evergreens that skirted the wood beyond and wishing it were Christmas time again, for the tree had been such a delight, but it was nearly Easter, and there would be Easter eggs and Easter cards and a small party, when all the cousins would be there.

"Mamma!" he cried suddenly.

"Well?" asked mamma.

Stanley went nearer and talked earnestly for several minutes. Then mamma's face wore a smile, and Stanley was beaming and mysterious.

The party came off on Easter Monday, and all the cousins were there. A merry time they had of it, with all sorts of Easter games, and then came tea, with pretty sandwiches and cakes and ices and fruit, and then a door was opened into another room where stood a tree hung with the most charming of Easter tokens. Dainty baskets of flowers, one for each guest; painted eggs suspended by gay ribbons, beautiful cards and homemade trifles, and at the top of the tree were sprays of lovely Easter lilies that looked so pure and white against their background of dark green.

The Easter tree was a great success, and the cousins voted Stanley's Easter party to be the most delightful they had ever known.—Youth's Companion.

Monaco's Easter Mystery Play.

Monaco recently had its mystery play of the passion, of which one feature was the colonel of Pontius Pilate's army, who was clad in a Roman cuirass, the epaulets of a general, a long rapier, white silk stockings, a gigantic helmet with a towering plume of feathers. Judas' part consisted in throwing himself continually into his master's arms and kissing him in a touching manner. Adam and Eve were personated by a young boy and girl in costumes of Louis Quinze, with powdered wigs, and eating apples off the boughs of an orange tree.

Love Tokens.

The arranging and decorating of pasche, or love eggs, and the sending of them as offerings to lovers on Easter Monday were time honored customs, and one of our writers of some years ago assures us that some such gift made by the hands of the sender was more sure to bring happy results than could possibly be obtained on St. Valentine's day by the sending of the handsomest valentine we could buy.

Holy Sepulcher Rediscovered.

THE crusaders soaked Palestine in blood fighting for a grave that was called the holy sepulcher, and in later centuries pilgrims to Jerusalem have stood reverently, with bared heads, by the so called tomb of Christ, and now, after all the bloody years of the crusades and the centuries of implicit faith, scientific experts and investigators declare that the accepted Calvary could not have been the burial place of Christ, but that the entombment and the resurrection were in an entirely different place.

The New Calvary, as it is sometimes termed to distinguish it from the traditional Calvary, has long been used as a Mohammedan cemetery, and its acquisition is therefore impossible; but, after much trouble with the Turkish authorities, the tomb, with the garden surrounding it, was purchased for $10,000, the purchasers agreeing to build a wall to separate it from the cemetery.

It is held by a trust "to be kept sacred as a quiet spot and preserved on the one hand from desecration and on the other hand from superstitious uses."

Arthur Crayley-Boevey, M. A., honorary secretary of the committee which has the matter in charge, has recently returned from Jerusalem with much information about the New Calvary and the new tomb. The commonly accepted spot is of course that covered by the Church of the Holy Sepulcher. For over fifteen centuries it has been regarded as the undoubted sanctuary within which are contained the scenes of the Saviour's death, burial and resurrection.

In the center of the rotunda of the church is shown the tomb of Christ. As everybody familiar with the history of the Holy Land knows, it was early in the fourth century that the pious Helena, mother of Constantine the Great, by means, it is said, of a miraculous vision which led to the unearthing of the three crosses, located the traditional Calvary and tomb.

Over the tomb Constantine erected a magnificent basilica, which was dedicated in the year A. D. 335. It was destroyed by Khosroes II. in A. D. 614. Two years later a group of buildings, erected by the monk Modestus, afterward patriarch of Jerusalem, occupied the same spot. They were destroyed by the Fatimite Khalif Hakin in the year 1010. When the crusaders went to Palestine they found a collection of small chapels on this site which had been built some forty years. These chapels were incorporated by them in a grand cathedral, to which several new shrines were added. In 1808 this cathedral was partly destroyed by fire, and the roof of the rotunda fell in upon the sepulcher. The church as it now stands is the result of the restoration and partial reconstruction which took place in 1810.

If the New Calvary and tomb are accepted as authentic, it follows that this much venerated Church of the Holy Sepulcher is founded on a myth and that the hundreds of thousands of pilgrims who have prostrated themselves before its relics were mistaken.

Mr. Crawley-Boevey is a cautious man with a judicial mind. He is convinced that the claims made on behalf of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher are mythical and that Skull hill has vastly better claims to be regarded as the actual site of the crucifixion.

Every one knows that, according to Scripture, Christ was crucified "outside the gate" (Hebrews xiii, 12), "nigh to the city" (St. John xix, 20). The New Calvary is situated just outside the present Damascus gate, on a low hillock. Remnants of the old gate still exist. It is contended by those who favor this site that the site of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, now about in the center of modern Jerusalem, was without the walls at the time of the death of Christ and therefore could not have been the scene of his crucifixion and burial.

Christ was crucified, according to St. Luke xxiii, 33, revised version, at "the place which is called the Skull." "The place itself," says the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, "was called 'the Skull' undoubtedly because it bore some resemblance to a human skull.

"It is an extraordinary fact, to which my own eyes can testify, that to this day the rocky knoll by 'Jeremiah's gotto,' as seen from the highroad which passes the Damascus gate, looks like a human skull. There are in the face of it two large natural caves, which look like the empty sockets of human eyes, and between and below these the rocky surface looks like a nose and a mouth."

We are expressly told that the place of crucifixion was "visible from afar" (St. Mark xv, 40), and "all his acquaintance and the women that followed with him from Galilee stood afar off, seeing these things" (St. Luke xxiii, 49).

The spot could be seen from the walls of the city, from the top of the temple, from the roofs of many houses and from Olivet, as well as from the highroads which meet at this point.

In St. Matthew xxvii, 32, we read that "as they came out" by what we now call the Damascus gate "they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name, coming out of the country," as St. Mark and St. Luke add, and this was the entrance by which he would come out of the country. Him they compelled to assist Christ in bearing the cross. And why was such assistance specially needed at this point? "Stand outside the Damascus gate," says the Rev. Mr. Price, "and notice how just there the road suddenly rises and becomes steep. Our Lord reeled under the weight of the cross where the road became steep, and so Simon had the immortal glory of helping him."

It is recorded in St. John xix, 41, 42, that "in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb wherein was never man yet laid. There laid they Jesus, therefore, * * * for the tomb was nigh at hand." The new tomb meets these requirements. It is "nigh at hand," being within 230 feet of the summit of Skull hill and "in the garden."

Dr. Schick, the most distinguished of Jerusalem archaeologists, has pronounced the tomb to be originally a "Jewish tomb," but altered and converted subsequently to Christian uses. It consists of a chamber cut in the solid rock, seven feet six inches high, fourteen feet six inches long and eleven feet two inches wide. A low partition divides the tomb into two parts. The entrance is on the west side of the partition. On the east side of the partition is a little window-like opening.

To the presence of this window-like opening great importance is attached by those who believe it to be the tomb in which the Saviour was laid because it marks it as the only tomb which furnishes an explanation of the remarkable incident related in St. John xx, 3-8. When Mary Magdalene brought Simon Peter and John the startling news that the tomb was empty, "Peter went forth and the other disciple, and they went toward the tomb, and they ran both together, and the other disciple outran Peter, and, stooping and looking in, he seeth the linen clothes lying, yet entered he not in."

In no ordinary tomb would it have been possible to see from the outside to the bottom of the sepulcher. In this tomb, by leaning forward and peering through the opening, the bottom of the receptacle can be clearly seen. But the position which the head would occupy could not be seen in this way. It was Simon Peter who first beheld "the napkin that was upon his head."

Outside the tomb is a recess or groove hewn out of the parent rock, down which, it is alleged, the circular stone was rolled that closed the opening.

The garden has been cleared and planted. The only accommodation yet provided for the caretaker is a wooden hut. A more suitable dwelling, it is hoped, will be furnished when responses to the appeal for the garden tomb maintenance fund come in.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Easter Eggs.

At all times in the history of the church the egg has been symbolic of the earth which contained life. In many old paintings and drawings, while art was in its crudest state, this strange symbolic expression of the early faith is still to be seen. In pictures of the Madonna and child the infant Christ is represented holding in his hand an egg, typifying his power over the world. Saints were often painted as holding in their fingers an egg. The first time the egg was made use of as a present is said to have been as late as the fifteenth century, when a good German countess is described as driving through the streets of her village scattering among the children painted eggs. It was afterward taken up by the peasants, who hid the eggs in the straw and under the bushes for the children to find. The eggs were said to have been sent by the saints.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Keystone of the Arch of Faith.

The resurrection of Christ is the most signal and splendid evidence of his divinity. It is the keystone in the arch of faith, as it is the most brilliant luminary in the constellation of Christian festivals. A certain religious enthusiast, named Leberaux, once submitted to Talleyrand a project he entertained of founding a new religion and asked the French statesman's views as to the feasibility of the undertaking. "You will certainly succeed," replied Talleyrand, "and your name will go down with glory to posterity if you fulfill the conditions which I propose." "And what are they?" eagerly inquired the visitor. "You must first suffer, be scourged and crucified and then rise on the third day. Do this, and your success is assured."—Cardinal Gibbons.

Easter Gayety in Moscow.

A traveler in Moscow pictures the Easter celebration there as being one of the greatest gayety and describes the lights, the music and the gayly colored processions as being a very entertaining and pretty picture.

"One rich young hussar," he says, "by way of contributing his share to the entertainment bought at a cubic apiece all the red balloons he could find and sent them floating through the air to the great delight of the children and adding materially to the general brightness, gayety and confusion of the occasion."

An Easter Race.

Two boxes, each about a foot square, are placed some twenty feet apart; into each are put four eggs, and the course is prepared. The two competitors in the race are each furnished with a spoon and assigned a box. At the word "ready" the contestants take a position to the right of their box. At the word "go" each takes from the box an egg, using for the purpose his spoon and, hurrying to his opponent's box, there deposits it, after which he returns for another. The eggs must on no account be touched with the hands, and to drop one is to forfeit the race. It will be seen that, while each is endeavoring to empty his respective box, the opponent in each case is constantly refilling it, but as their deftness cannot be exactly equal one will soon begin to gain on the other, and the excitement will rise to fever heat. The race is won by him who first empties his box.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The "Vegetable Prescription" for Kidney Trouble Filled Many Times

DID YOU MIX SOME OF IT?

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally brought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain ad misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and, particularly, rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continued, that it would be a crime not to do so. It cannot be repeated too often, and he further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful, to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses. 11

Mary the Magdalene.

The woman crept back softly through the gloom
That veiled the night hushed hill and, weeping, pressed
Her cheek against the stone that sealed the tomb.

Of all who loved him, she loved most of all,
And she a daughter of Jerusalem,
With ruddy locks that rippled in their fall
Of veiling beauty to her garment's hem.

And in her arms, still faintly sweet with myrrh,
She carried three tall lilies, fragrant, white,

Then forth again went Mary Magdalene,
And woeful was the heart her bosom bore,
And morning lay upon the mountains when
She sought that lonely garden place once more.

The dew empearled the grasses. Faint and far
The sounds of day came upward from the main.
Against the dawn was but a single star
When Mary, wan with watching, came again.

SHE PRESSED HER CHEEK AGAINST THE STONE.

Her feet were shod with sorrow, and in woe
Upon her breast was bent her heavy head,
And thus she reached the sepulcher, and so
She knelt a moment, weeping for her dead.

But, lo, the grave was open, and the stone
Which slew the hopes of Judah rolled away.
She cried aloud, but heard no answering tone.
No shrouded dead within the portal lay.

But as she gazed in wonder and despair
She thought she saw three angels, radiant, bright,
Sweep through the empty tomb and listening air
And vanish, like the mist, before her sight.

"Where have they lain him?" sobbingly she cried
"Where have they taken him, my Lord and King?"
And then she knew that some one walked beside,
With gentle mien and kindly questioning.

And, thinking him the gardener, she stayed
To pour her plaint of sorrow and of loss,
When suddenly within the olive's shade
She heard her name and answered, "I am here."

"Mary!" again. She faltered, trembling now.
"Mary!" in accents tender, low and sweet.
She raised her eyes and saw his wounded brow.
"The Christ!" she cried and worshiped at his feet.

Throwing the Egg.

In some parts of Europe there is an Easter game which is lots of fun, though it is hard on eggs. The children stand toeing a line on a smooth place where the ground is soft, and then one by one they throw their eggs, each one aiming to see how far he or she can throw without breaking or cracking the egg. The skilled players aim to throw their eggs so that they shall skim along the ground and land finally on their smaller ends, which are the hardest.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A LABOUR EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Why Every Trades and Labour Union Should be Represented at Convention.

(Industrial Banner.)

The call for the sixth annual convention of the Labour Educational Association of Ontario, which will meet in Kingston on Monday, May 25, next, should be very largely attended. During the last five years, without having asked for or received one cent of financial assistance from any organization, excepting the regular subscriptions to the Banner, the Labour Educational Association has been prosecuting a valuable work. The time has come when the necessity of a larger and more frequently issued paper is fully recognized. The Industrial Banner is the only labour paper published in the Province, and the time is here to improve it and increase its influence. Within a few days the call for the Kingston convention will be issued, and it can be asserted that this will be the most important meeting ever held in this Province. Other important questions will also come up for discussion which will be of vital interest to organized labour. The association has now reached the point where it can effectively enter upon the mission for which it was organized. The year just past has been an encouraging one. Every month has witnessed an increase in the circulation of our paper, which has been most marked during the past two months. We urge upon all the trades councils and local unions the necessity of being represented at Kingston. The time has come to resolutely grapple with the problems that confront us. Let every local do its duty. Let all send delegates to co-operate in this great work.

RELIEF OFFICER AND HIS FAMILY BECOME SERIOUSLY ILL WITH POISONED MEAT

On Friday last, Mr. Fitzgh Miller, the local relief officer, his wife, and son, Walter, were poisoned during dinner, and almost succumbed from the effects. They had had beef steak pie for dinner and each of the family had some of it excepting Fred, who preferred sausages and bacon. After dinner Mr. Miller became very ill, his head became dizzy and his body cold. He tried hard to eject the contents of his stomach, but was unable to do so. Being unable to continue with his work, he groped his way up the stairs and went to bed, but his condition became gradually worse. Shortly after Mr. Miller had got into bed Mrs. Miller became very ill and was forced to lie down. They then suspected the illness was caused by something they had eaten at dinner, and their suspicions were confirmed when their son Walter came in about 3 o'clock suffering from the same trouble.

Dr. Frederick was called, and after examining Mr. Miller, said that he thought he had taken poison and that it must have been in the meat.

For two days Mr. Miller was unable to sleep, but after that the effects of the poison gradually passed away and he was able to get out of bed. His wife and son recovered more quickly.

The relief officer was out for the first time since his illness on Thursday afternoon and did not appear to be in very good health. He was seen by an Examiner representative and described to him the uncomfortable experience he had had. He does not know how the poison got into the meat, but believes it was there before he purchased it.

ROLLER RINK MANAGER ISSUES INJUNCTION TO PREVENT THE BIG WALKING TOURNAMENT

It is learned to-day, upon good authority, that the Peterborough Rink Company have been served, or will be served, with an injunction by Mr. S. J. Sheridan, of the Peterborough Rolling Rink Company, to prevent the coming walking tournament, which begins on Monday night, from taking place. The injunction has created a little stir in sporting circles, but it is believed that the matter will be quietly settled.

It appears that the Roller Rink Company leased the rink about a year ago for three years, and had intended having a roller rink there. Up to the present date, it is learned, that the rent has not been fully paid. Mr. A. P. Possette has taken up the case for Mr. Sheridan and Mr. S. T. Medd, of Hall, Medd and Davidson, will look after the trustees of the Peterborough Rink Company.

The Board Of Trade Advocates Deputation To Wait On C. P. R.

At a meeting of the Railways and Canals Committee of the Board of Trade, held in the City Engineer's office Thursday night, the proposed action of the C.P.R. to change the terminal point of the early morning local train from Tweed to Havelock, which would have a detrimental effect upon local trade conditions, was taken into consideration. Mr. J. H. McClellan was in the chair and there was a large attendance.

The following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That the Board of Trade would suggest that the City Council send a delegation to wait upon the C.P.R. officials in Toronto with the object of inducing the railway authorities to make no change in the present time of running the early morning train from Tweed to Toronto and return, as any change would be detrimental to the interests of the city.

"That the Board of Trade join with the City Council and send delegates with this deputation.

"The Board of Trade would further suggest that the City Council correspond with the reeves of Tweed, Ivanhoe, Blairton, Norwood and Indian River, with a view of getting them to co-operate with the city and have them join the deputation to Toronto

The Steamer Majestic Took To The Water This Week

On Wednesday of this week the steamer Majestic of the Stony Lake Navigation Company left her winter quarters and was once more launched into her native element. The Majestic was drawn upon shore for the winter and this spring has undergone several improvements. She is one of the reliables on Stony Lake waters and will again be on the upper lakes this year.

Juvenile Pickpockets Are At Work On Local Market

This morning as Mr. Ball was walking through the market he felt a tug at his trouser pocket where he was carrying his change. He looked around sharply and found a little lad no more than 14 years of age, with his hand in his (the clerk's) pocket. Several other boys were standing around, waiting results, but the clerk only gave the boy a warning and sent him off the premises. The market clerk believes that there is a gang of juvenile crooks at work, and has issued orders to keep them from the inside market.

Music and Drama

THE COWBOY AND THE SQUAW

Broncho Bob, a big-hearted cowboy; Bud Hawley, a rival of Bob; Bear's Tooth, a full-blooded Indian chief; Snaky Bill, a half-breed Indian; Ike Tarter, a Montana sheriff; Silver Heels, an Indian maiden; Ruth Tompkins and Prairie Flower, Bridget, an Irish cook, with the assistance of Shorty Ray and Long Pete, Texas Jake and Yaller Tail, and last, but not least, "Calico," a wild steer and "Buckskin," a Montana bronco, are the main features in P. H. Sullivan's latest comedy-drama by Joseph Byron Totten, which will appear at the Grand Opera House next Thursday, entitled, "The Cowboy and the Squaw."

Using the old Indian form of torture of roping a man to the back of a wild steer and turning him loose on the desert, as a nucleus for the story, Mr. Totten has written a play of Western life in Montana, showing the comedy, pathos and customs of life as it exists to-day.

To give colour to all the situations, Mr. Sullivan sent a man to the S. H. and Circle X ranches in Montana, where the plot of this play is laid, and procured photographs, from which the scenery was built, showing actual scenes as they are to-day on these ranges. As regards to the two sensational climaxes of this piece, to fully appreciate them they must be seen, and then one can easily understand why it has taken over three months of constant work of a force of carpenters, scenic artists and animal trainers to perfect these climaxes.

BATTLES THE AMATURE CRACKSMAN

"Raffles," on this, its third and farewell tour, is a stronger attraction than ever.

Far from letting it deteriorate in any way, Manager Gaites has surrounded Mr. S. Miller Kent with a company of players who, in ability and reputation, rank but second to the star himself.

Mr. Kent is too thorough an artist—too great an actor—to be satisfied with mediocre support.

Roydon Erlynne, for the past five seasons with Mrs. Fiske, is the "Capt. Bedford" of this year's company. His interpretation of this unique character is most artistic. Jack Bennett, last season with Blanche Bates, is "Crawshay," the Whitechapel thug. The veteran character acter, J. H. Lewis, for the past four seasons stage director with Viola Allen, plays "Lord Amersteth," and Florence Willarde, who created the part of "the American Girl" in "the Mayor of Tokio," makes a charming "Lady Ethel." Other well known players in the cast are Jane Fearnley, Hilda Vernon, Amanda Wellington, Laura Lyman, Wm. Garwood, Jr., Louis Vizard, Leonard Howe and Clarence Lyons.

Vast Throngs Attend The Remarkable Good Friday Service At Central Park

Peterborough stands alone in the Province in the matter of its unique street services. Especially did the addresses of yesterday in Central Park illustrate the universal interest shown by Peterborough people, who assembled in vast throngs to listen to the expounding of the scriptures in reference to the Crucifixion. All sorts and conditions of men were present, and in many respects the services were indeed remarkable. The musical portion of the services was under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey. The members of the Ministerial Association taking part were Rev. A. H. Brace and Rev. H. J. Keith, who gave the special addresses; Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. E. A. Pearson and Rev. J. G. Potter.

CRUCIFIXION WAS SOLEMNLY SUNG AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Good Friday night has come to be associated with St. John's in connection with the Crucifixion which, for the third successive year was solemnly sung last night, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey, in the church.

The tenor solos were splendidly rendered by Mr. H. W. Morphet and Mr. Geo. E. Chandler. Mr. N. Greenhalgh, Mr. Lumly and Mr. Flowers accounted for the bass numbers with commendable skill, and in the lovely quartette "God so Loved the World," sung without accompaniment. The well balanced voices were heard to great advantage. Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. F. A. Clarke, sopranos; Mrs. Seward and Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, altos; Mr. H. Morphet and Mr. Geo. Chandler, tenors; Mr. N. Greenhalgh and Mr. Lumly, basses, were responsible for the quartette, also for the two quartettes from the Messiah, "For as in Adam all Die," and "Since by Man Came Death," which were given just before the last hymn in the "Crucifixion." The fine chorus singers made no mistake about their parts of the evening's work. They both knew and sang it well, and numbering about 50 voices, produced some grand choral effects. The two "Messiah" choruses "By Man Came also" and "Even so in Christ," were splendidly sung, with "Fling Wide the Gates" and "From the Throne of Her Cross," choruses, which present more than ordinary difficulty. Mr. R. J. Devey accompanied on the organ, with great skill, and is to be heartily congratulated on putting on such music.

RECEIVES FORTY ANSWERS FROM "AD." IN EXAMINER

The drawing power of the Examiner want ads, coupled with the usual desire at this season of the year, to obtain work on the part of labourers, explains the fact that so many applications were made for a particular work in the city this week. A local gentleman placed a want ad in the Examiner, wanting five men at $1.75 per day. He received forty applications.

DENVER MAN KNOWN HERE DIES WITH THE TELEPHONE RECEIVER IN HIS HAND

In far-off Denver a death recently occurred from a bicycle accident which will be learned with deep regret by many Peterborough and Lakefield people. The victim of the distressing accident and the subsequent peculiar death was Mr. Hewitt, a brother-in-law of the Rev. A. W. MacKenzie, the teacher of the Preparatory School at Lakefield, and who had often visited there.

Mr. Hewitt was riding down a grade in Denver city, when suddenly something went wrong with the coaster-brake. The wheel suddenly turned sideways and he was precipitated over the handle bars against the curbstone. His head struck the hard walk and for a time the accident dazed him. A friend happening along with a motor car conveyed him to his home, where a physician was called.

Mr. Hewitt recovered, as he supposed, from the accident. The following day, however, as he was about to consult the doctor by telephone, he suddenly became unconscious with the telephone receiver in his hand, and passed away. A vital spot had evidently been touched with startling suddenness.

As stated above, Mr. Hewitt was the brother-in-law of Rev. Mr. MacKenzie of Lakefield, who left this week for Denver to attend the funeral. The deceased, as well as his wife, was often in Lakefield and Peterborough, and general regret is expressed on account of the fatality.

PETERBORO PEOPLE SPEND GOOD FRIDAY IN VARIOUS WAYS; A BEAUTIFUL HOLIDAY

Good Friday in Peterborough will long be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be able to get out in God's great-out-of-doors. The day was spent in recreation and in worshipping, befitting the memory of our Saviour. In the afternoon the service at Central Park attracted a large crowd. The Crystal was also the centre of attraction for crowds who saw "The Prodigal Son," in the moving pictures. The Peterborough Bowling Club Alleys were filled during the day and baseball games galore were run off during the day. A football match in the morning drew a large crowd at the exhibition grounds and the golf links were also well patronized in the afternoon.

Peterborough Party Met Rev. Father McColl In Naples

Word was received yesterday from the Messrs. Matthews-Morrow-Davidson party, who are travelling through the eastern continents. The letter was sent from Nice, Italy, and is descriptive account of the city was given. The writer stated that the party had met Rev. Father McColl in Naples and they had spent the day together, visiting all the points of interest in the city.

The party at the time of writing were about to leave for Monte Carlo and intend visiting several places in France and Switzerland before going to London.

They expect to arrive in Peterborough in the latter part of May.

Pre-Nuptial Presentation Made To A Local Church Soloist

Last night after the practise of the Charlotte street Methodist church choir, pleasing pre-nuptial presentations were made to Miss Clara Belleghem, retiring soprano soloist of the choir, whose marriage to Mr. Bruce Hughes will take place on April 25. An appreciative address was read on behalf of the choir by Mr. Walter Stocker, and the presentations made by Miss Doxzie. The gift of the choir was a "tea shower," and that of the congregation and choir a set of Limoges china. The well-pleased recipient made suitable acknowledgment of the address and presentations. Afterwards refreshments were served and a social evening spent. Miss Belleghem has for some time been soloist of the choir, and in this capacity, as well as in her general activities as a singer has earned a well-deserved reputation as a vocal artist of universal ability. Besides, her other qualities of character give her title to the large degree of esteem and respect she enjoys.

MANY DRUNKS IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING

The usual number of holiday drunks were arrested yesterday, and placed in the cells for the night. Five men, some well dressed and others not quite so, appeared before his Worship to answer the charge of having been found drunk in a public place. Three of them were fined $2 apiece, and the other two, who pleaded not guilty, had their cases enlarged until Monday.

Mr. Thos. Rehill has begun the manufacture of laths and shingles in the mill near the C. P. R. station, where Mr. Robt. Arnott formerly ran a cheese box factory. Mr. Rehill intends to cut lumber later on in the season, but will not for the present turn out cheese boxes.

Mr. Rehill has had a large sign placed over the office.

BLAKE ARRIVES FOR THE RACE

Plucky Negro Has Walked All the Way From Syracuse for the Meet

Blake, the plucky negro pedestrian, who walked from Florida to Kansas City, for the six-day race, arrived here this afternoon, ready for the Peterborough race. Blake has walked all the way from Syracuse for the race, being almost without funds. He reached Toronto yesterday and was looked after by friends there, and left last night, sleeping in the station at Locust Hill, and coming on here this morning, a little stiff and tired, but otherwise in good shape. He had nothing but a pair of thin shoes on his feet, and Mr. D. Conroy purchased a pair of boots for him this afternoon.

EASTER.

Easter marks the completion of the cycle of festivals of the Christian year. As Christmas plan the begining of the great work of Redemption, so Easter testifies to the culmination of the ttremendous work. Easter, with the splendid hope and earnestt of immortality it brings, falls conveniently with the resurrection of nature, and its entrance upon another phase of its endless succession of bloom and fruition, seed-time and harvest. The divine Jeremiad, "It is nothing to all you that pass by?" receives it triumphant response in the fact of the Resurrection, which all Christians celebrate at this time. It not only gives hope for life beyond the grave, but gives us all a deeper, keener sense of the immortality of man that distinguishes us from the beasts that perish. It rolls away the stone of doubt from the sepulchre that imprisons our hopes, releases them and gives them wing into the realms of eternal life beyond the transitory realm of the grave.

INCONSISTENCY

The Toronto World employs a two-column article to vigourously denounce Hon. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Liberal party, for his patriotic stand in opposing the Provincial guarantee of the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway to the extent of $2,500,000, but it deals very tenderly with Mr. Whitney, who carried through, in the closing hours of the session, an arrangement that pledges the credit of the Province for thirty years to the payment of principal and interest on the immense amount of money guaranteed. Would it not have been better for the World, more consistent in it, the sworn foe of corporations—in its columns, anyway—to have joined hands with Mr. MacKay in protesting against, and preventing, the consummation of an outrage upon the principles it professes, and upon the credit of the Province? The World should hold the Government responsible for the violence done to the World's policy, and the principles of sound administration, and, instead of berating Mr. MacKay for doing his duty, should have backed him. It is hard for the World to be consistent.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

A reformer of wrongs should, of all men, be moderate, and avoid the danger of swinging from one extreme to another. The question of school examinations is a case in point. There are those who may conscientiously oppose an undesirable multiplicity of examinations, but who commit the error of going to the extent of abolishing examinations in toto. Examinations necessarily form one element of the stimulus to scholastic exertion, which may be allowed to serve in default of higher motives. The value of an examination as a test of scholarship may be problematical, but while we may have a decreased number and modified system of examinations, the decrease and modification should be judiciously effected. There has been considerable mixing and muddling over this question. Changes have been introduced by the Government at an inconvenient season of the school year, and without due notice; to be followed by others, on the plea that the first were unworkable. Teachers are puzzled, and many become disgusted. Mutterings are heard to the effect that as Mr. Ross went examination crazy, Mr. Whitney is allowing the pendulum to swing too far in the opposite direction.

This question, remarks the Brantford Expositor, appears to be one that is agitating the teaching profession, to judge from the programme prepared for the coming convention at Exeter. No one will be surprised if there is a declaration in favour of less tinkering with the examinations than has been in evidence of late.

TORONTO'S REPRESENTATION

(Brantford Expositor.)

It is not surprising that the majority of the Whitney Government reached its lowest mark on the vote to reduce the representation which it is proposed to give the city of Toronto, namely, eight members, to be elected on the dual member plan.

To begin with, it is not desirable that great cities, and more especially capital cities, should be represented on a strict representation by population basis. Appended are some of the reasons:

1. The residence of cabinet ministers.
2. The residence of representatives of outside ridings.
3. The influence of a permanent civil service.
4. The influence of the students at the various educational institutions.
5. The influence of a metropolitan press.
6. The presence of a large floating population and an unusual proportion of the so-called "submerged tenth," a class which ought not to be considered in the matter of representation.

In short, the whole case of urban representation was put by Mr. Gladstone in the course of his speech on the Redistribution measure of 1884, when he said:

"I am certainly disposed to admit that very large and highly concentrated populations ought not to have quite so much a proportional share in the representation of the country as rural and dispersed populations, because the action of political power in these concentrated masses is sharper, quicker, and more vehement. That consideration must apply mainly to the metropolis.

It is unjust to the rural ridings, it is unjust to the other cities. By the census of 1901, which is the basis of the present redistribution, Toronto has a population of 208,040, and if given eight members, it would be due to 26,000 of population. By the same census Ottawa has a population of 67,778, and is given but two members, or one to more than 33,500 of population. Hamilton has also two members for a population of 52,634, or one to about 26,300 of population, while London, with a population of 33,400, is given but one member. Toronto ought to be underrepresented, rather than over-represented, as compared with the smaller cities, but the reverse is the case.

A very good argument could be put up for giving Toronto five members. This is the number it has in the Dominion Parliament on the single-member basis, with the result that the Liberals have a fighting chance in at least two of the seats. Montreal, with a population of 267,000 by the last Dominion census, and having none of the advantages of a capital city, has but five members, on the single-member basis, and returns four Liberals and one Conservative.

The argument for giving Toronto six members on the single-constituency plan is stronger still. Montreal sends six representatives to the Quebec Legislature on this basis, or one to 45,000 of population, as against Toronto's one to 26,000 of population under the Whitney plan.

The unit of representation in the two Provinces is about the same, and if Montreal were given the same proportionate representation at Quebec that Toronto is given in the Legislative Assembly of this Province, it would have ten members instead of but six. If it be said that Toronto has grown rapidly since 1901, the answer must be that Montreal has grown with equal rapidity, as have also other Ontario cities, and this in any event, the entire redistribution is professedly based, not on estimates of the population of to-day, but on the last Dominion census. And it may be remarked in this connection that the last municipal census gives Toronto a population of 272,000, which falls far short of the claim of 850,000 which has been made for it.

Equally objectionable to giving Toronto eight members is the manner in which it is proposed to give it—namely, doubling up the existing constituencies — which each gives a Conservative majority of 2,000 or 3,000. The creation of eight single-member constituencies would give the Liberals a chance of winning two or three of the constituencies, while the plan proposed practically disfranchises the entire Liberal vote of the city and insures the return of a solid Conservative phalanx. Can anything more monstrous be suggested?

As for the "A" and "B" plan of electing the two members, it but adds to the iniquity and is manifestly intended, as the Expositor has already pointed out, to prevent Labour candidates from being troublesome.

In short, the whole scheme as regards Toronto's representation is utterly indefensible, and it is not surprising that a number of Conservative members showed their antipathy thereto by absenting themselves during the division.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. E. A. DUNLOP OF RENFREW REPUDIATES WHITNEY

Ottawa, April 18.—(Special) — A story comes from Pembroke, through a Liberal source, that Ned Dunlop the popular member for North Renfrew in the Legislature, refused to again accept the nomination, because of strained relations between himself and Premier Whitney.

It is said that he and the premier have not exchanged even formal greetings in over a year, and that he had told his friends he would not go back to the Legislature as long as Whitney was premier.

Furthermore, it is declared that Mr. Whitney has ignored the sitting member in the matter of appointments, and that loyalty to the party prevented Mr. Dunlop denouncing a leader whom he followed only because he was elected to do so.

HAD A STAB-LIKE PAIN THROUGH THE HEART.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS CURED HER AND SAVED HER LIFE.

There is no one, we imagine, acts about deliberately to do injury to the heart, yet in the excitement and excesses of present-day living, the nervous system is done violence to, and the heart and nerves being so intimately bound up with one another, disorganization of the one means disease and disorder of the other.

When you find your heart the least bit out of rhyme, your nerves unhinged, don't wait until you are prostrated on a bed of sickness. Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They'll put you in such condition you'll never know you have a heart, make your brain clear and active, your nerves strong, your blood rich and pure, and your whole being thrill with a new life.

Mrs. John O. Yensen, Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with a stab-like pain through my heart. I tried many remedies but they seemed to do me more harm than good. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I was completely cured. I cannot praise them enough for the world of good they did me for I believe they saved my life."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Few of us realise what an important part the skin plays in keeping us well or making us ill.

The millions of tiny glands, or pores, are intended to rid the system of waste matter, which the blood brings to the skin. It is a well-known medical fact that the healthy skin carries off more Urea or waste matter than the kidneys. Just think how much poison remains in the system when there is any skin trouble.

The skin and stomach are intimately associated. Find a person with a dry, harsh skin and you will find one who suffers with indigestion or constipation, and both, usually.

Both may be relieved by a judicious use of orange juice. Both can be cured by taking the juice of an orange every morning before breakfast, and taking "Fruit-a-tives" at night. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. The fresh juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are separated from the pulp, and then combined in such a way that the medicinal action is intensified.

Orange juice alone will not cure Skin, Stomach or Bowel troubles. But when taken in connection with "Fruit-a-tives," a positive cure results. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers or will be sent on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

PLAIN TALK FROM THE DOCTOR

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder troubles, stated that to the following prescription is due a great deal of his success:

One ounce fluid extract dandelion;
One ounce compound salatone;
Four ounces compound syrup sarsaparilla.

Mix and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

This mixture will, he says, positively cure any diseases arising from weak, clogged or inactive kidneys, and will assist these organs to cleanse the blood of the poisonous waste matter and acids, which if allowed to remain, cause lumbago, lame back, rheumatism and vexation, and at the same time will restore the kidneys to healthy normal action. The ingredients, which are purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can be procured from any good druggist and mixed at home at very little cost.

This advice will undoubtedly be much appreciated by many readers.

THE BENEFITS OF A SILO FOR DAIRY PURPOSES ON THE FARM

Mr. N. C. Campbell of Brant County Writes the Following Interesting Article On The Question For The Canadian Dairyman---Investment, He Says, Will Prove Profitable.

DAIRYMEN who have contrived to manage their stock without the convenience of a silo should give the building of one serious consideration before another season has passed. We who have had silos for several years would be seriously inconvenienced if we had to do without them. We could scarcely get through the winter without our accustomed supply of silage.

The prejudice against corn silage is soon broken down once a man commences to feed it. He comes to look upon it as something he could not do without. That the cows will not eat it, that it has an injurious effect upon their teeth and many other arguments against the use of silage soon prove to be fallacious. The feeder comes to favor it more and more as he becomes familiar with the beneficial results obtained from its use.

A silo need not be expensive. True, we might go to considerable expense in erecting a cement silo, and it possibly would pay to do so. But for the average farmer the simple wood stave silo erected upon a cement or stone foundation, is quite satisfactory. The cost need not exceed $100, and it may be much less. On our own farm, we have a square silo erected some 15 years ago. In addition to this we recently put up a cheap, round stave silo. The silage in this cheaper silo appears to be just as good as that in the more expensive one. The new silo has proven satisfactory in every way.

Silos are great labor savers. This is one of the great arguments in favor of them. Once you have the corn cut and in the silo, you have a most satisfactory feed ready for your cattle at all times. The filling of the silo is the great bugbear. However, in these days of the modern cutting box, they can be filled with dispatch, although it necessitates calling upon the help of one's neighbors, and later returning the labor.

Some of our foremost men claim that the average cow is not sufficiently fed. Without a doubt, better returns could be obtained from more generous feeding. I know of no one thing that is more conducive to a generous feeding policy than to have a good supply of silage at one's disposal. Scientists tell us that even on the best of pasture, the average cow does not get as much feed as she can profitably consume. It has been my experience that cows coming off of good clover will eat silage if it is offered them.

For summer feeding, a silo is unequalled. The silage is near the stable and is ready for use at all times. Every dairyman should have a silo for summer feeding. It should be small in diameter in order that a good depth of silage will be removed daily, thus preventing waste from fermentation in the hot weather. Pasture, when upon good land, is one of the most expensive ways of feeding cattle and is the surest way of getting small returns from our fields. If we can urge our cows to increased production in the summer while they are at their best, through supplementing the pasture by silage, we will thereby greatly increase the returns from our farms.

Those who are engaged in dairying and at present have no silo, would do well to prepare for one this coming season. Those who already have one should build another smaller one for summer feeding. In either case, the investment will prove profitable.

EXPERIENCES IN PUPIL-FARMING IN THE BACKWOODS

By F. M. Dela Fosse.

There were two beds in the room, ranged foot to foot, and when the time came for us all to retire, we were invited to take possession of one bed, whilst the settler and his family took possession of the other. How they managed it was a marvel, but manage it they did, and snored lustily through the entire night, the whole five of them. Prior to retiring we had been asked by our host to kindly turn our gaze to the stars and woodland scenery. "Look outer the winder, byes, will yer, while my woman gets into bed; she's kinder sort of nervous!" he said. We complied readily, being filled with a wondrous fellow feeling for the lady, as we were "kinder sort of nervous" ourselves as to how we should manage when it came to our turn. We came to the conclusion, after a whispered conversation, that we would retire to our slumbers minus our coats and boots. This we did, but oh! what a wakeful night that was! and what wakeful nights they all were!

On our journey home we decided, in order to save ourselves a tramp of three or four miles round the lake, to attempt crossing the ice at the narrows. It had only been frozen over a day or two, but this little fact didn't worry us at all. We were getting along nicely and were half way across, when suddenly there was a crack and a splash, and, looking round, I saw my friend's head showing just above the ice. There was only one thing to be done. Crawling back on my stomach, I managed to get out my hand to him. He had hold of it, and after some difficulty managed to slide out. We hadn't gone twenty yards, however, before the very same thing happened again and the whole performance had to be repeated. It was freezing pretty sharply, and by the time we struck the opposite shore my friend's teeth and garments were playing a duet in the castanet line, which could have been heard a quarter of a mile away.

There were great festivities that winter not only at our own quarters at the "farm," but also at the houses of some of the settlers in the vicinity. Anybody who has seen the noble settler in his woodland surroundings knows with what avidity he seizes the few enjoyments which are thrown in his way. The mere whisper of a dance throws a whole settlement into a ferment. One dance especially has always held a place in my memory, owing to the many ludicrous occurrences which attended it. It was held at the shanty of a German named Geissler, and as many came to it as would have sufficed to fill a large ballroom. We, as new-comers to the country, were present, of course, anxious to see everything and everybody. Shantymen also came there, some of them having tramped ten miles from their camp to take part in the enjoyment. Last, but not least, Mrs. O'Brannigan, accompanied by her lusty progeny, was also present. Mrs. O'Brannigan, by herself, was usually fully competent to create a healthy excitement at any function which she honoured by her presence, but when she was accompanied by her family, the combination fairly "made Rome howl." That night's occurrences will never fade from my memory. After the lapse of years, I can still see, as though it were yesterday, the woodland ladies, dressed in spotless white, ranged like wall flowers around the room; the sturdy shantymen, resplendent in "boiled shirts" and gaudy sashes, with trousers tucked into their boots, and coats and waistcoats doffed ready for action. Fat Bobby Stewart also, who has been constituted "whisky boss" for the evening, is over there in the corner mounting guard over the whisky keg, his red face almost casting into shadow the weak flame of the oil lamp, whilst Joe Mussey, the "greatest fiddler twixt here and h—l," as his admirers are wont to exseverate, is tuning up his violin in another corner. And now, after the fiddler and the gentlemen present have had a drink at "the spring," as they jocularly term the spirit keg, so as to "kind of liven things up," the fun begins, and everybody is dancing and jigging merrily in the mazes of the Circassian circle. The "caller off" is a man of humour, and interjects his orders with various pieces of wit—"next lady and hopposite gent, forward and retire"; "awitz the gal as you loves best"; back again, and doosy-doo"; "swing yer honey," "balance," "promenade," "kiss yer gal as quick as you can," etc., etc. Everything is going as merrily as a marriage bell, when there is a crash and a shriek! The floor has given way, and one or two couples have been precipitated into the cellar! All is confusion. The ladies, led by Mrs. O'Brannigan, shriek in concert. After they have been quieted down an investigation is made, resulting in the happy discovery that no damage to limbs has resulted, but that one poor lady in her descent has unfortunately immersed her leg in a large crock of butter, and can't get it out. Offers of assistance are universal, but they are indignantly rejected by the damsel, and she is at last extricated from her position by a quick-witted swain, who seizes an axe and breaks in the side of the crock. The floor is repaired, and on goes the dancing, not for long, however, for Bobby Stewart, grossly derelict in his duty, is discovered in a drunken stupor by the side of the keg, and hastily removed to an out-building and placed in a disused manger with a horse blanket thrown over him.

To make a long story short, the evening terminates in a series of free fights, into which sally Mrs. O'Brannigan and Mrs. Geissler, armed with sticks. A few stout cracks on the heads and shoulders of the misguided youths terminate hostilities, and all part company in the cold gray of the morning—pleased with the entertainment, pleased with the fighting, and, more than anything, pleased with themselves.

COMELY MATRONS PRAISE PERUNA

KENTUCKY
OREGON
OHIO.

The only valuable testimony which any household remedy can have is the testimony of those who have used it. It is worse than useless to discuss Peruna from a theoretical standpoint. It is what Peruna will do, not what people say about it, that constitutes evidence. The housewives of the United States know what Peruna will do. They have tried it. They have realized its benefit in the family. They are the ones that are competent to speak of it. Self-appointed critics know nothing of it whatever.

The Testimony of These Three Housewives Demonstrates Beyond All Cavil That Peruna is a Safe and Useful Remedy.

Gained Flesh on Peruna.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, R. F. D. No. 2, Sparta, Ky., writes:

"I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third one. I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle.

"I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120, for the first time in all my life, and I am now thirty-three years old. Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good, and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it.

"My mother, who is seventy-six years old, had grown so weak she could scarcely walk. She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and looking well."

Internal Catarrh.

Mrs. M. F. Jones, of Burning Springs, Ky., writes:

"No family should ever be without Peruna, for it is an unfailing cure for colds, and it is an excellent remedy to prevent and relieve croup.

"And to speak from a standpoint of experience, I can candidly say that it is the remedy for internal catarrh. I shall not hesitate to recommend it, especially to all suffering women.

"Peruna has gained full confidence and a permanent stay in our home."

Constipation, Torpid Liver.

Mrs. Anthony Rauch, 305 N. Walnut street, Bucyrus, O., writes:

"I was suffering from obstinate constipation and torpid liver, when I took your advice and purchased six bottles of Peruna and Manalin. When I had taken only one bottle I felt much better, and since I have taken two more bottles I feel entirely well, but I will continue taking the medicine for a short time to make sure of my cure.

"I think Manalin is one of the finest remedies for constipation that I ever tried. I will never be without it. It has made me so strong. I can do a day's work and never tire. I am so glad I do not get those dizzy spells any more. I haven't had one since I took your medicine.

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. All sick people should give it a fair trial."

Kidneys and Bladder.

Mrs. Gus. H. Carlson, Box 201, Ortonville, Minn., writes:

"I had catarrh of the kidneys and bladder. I have taken Peruna until now, and I do not think I need to take it any longer.

"I feel well, and my tongue is clear, and I have no bitter taste in my mouth. I am very thankful for Peruna."

Peruna Their Family Medicine.

Mrs. Anna C. Hyde, 712 E. Yamhill street, Portland, Oregon, Vice President Literary and Educational Organization of New Hampshire, writes:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna as an all-round good family medicine, and one that is safe to give children. I give it to mine at the least suggestion of a cold, and take it myself to build up my strength and nerves.

"My sister, who is living with me, uses Peruna, too, and she is loud in its praises.

"Your medicine is certainly worthy of praise."

Backache, Headache.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 N. Fifth Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"As Peruna has done me a world of good, I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eyes of some woman who has suffered as I did.

"For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

Catarrh of Bowels.

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1332 North street, Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well.

"I can recommend Peruna to anyone, and if anyone wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

DANNY SIMONS, CLEVER LOCAL ACTOR, AND THE STORY OF HIS CAREER BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS

Has Been in Vaudeville and With Sells Bros. Circus as a Clown—Used to Give Shows in His Father's Barn in Peterborough—Will Have a Company of His Own Next Year.

POPULAR IN UNITED STATES

The Portland Express of a recent date, contains the following article on Danny Simons, the well known local actor, a brother of Mr. Peter Simons, George street:—

An Express reporter, while paying a visit behind the scenes at the Jefferson last week, made the acquaintance of Danny Simons, the leading man with Avery Strong Company and had a most interesting chat with this clever young actor. Thinking that Danny's host of friends in Portland would be interested in knowing him as he is off the stage, the reporter endeavoured to get him to give a short sketch of his experiences in theatrical life. Mr. Simons is such an unassuming fellow it is hard to get him to talk about himself, the weather, politics or any other subject being a more congenial topic for him, but the reporter finally gathered that Danny had been in the profession all his life. Way back in his boyhood days in the old home at Peterborough, Ont., he gave shows in the barn with his boy companions and even at that time his ambition was to at some time become a real actor. A travelling minstrel man gave him his first lessons in dancing and by diligent practice he became quite expert. When he was 15 years old, a show played the Opera House in Peterborough and when they left town Danny followed it and persuaded the manager to give him a trial. He made good and stayed with the company until it disbanded out in the West. Shortly after that he joined the famous Sells Bros. Circus as a clown and doing his specialties and before he had been there four weeks was advanced to the position of principal clown. He stayed with Sells Bros. for two consecutive seasons as the leading fun maker. At the close of the circus season he and a chum were engaged to do a dancing act with the famous Primrose & West Minstrels and were featured as one of the leading attractions of the show.

A Season in Vaudville

A short season in vaudeville followed and then he came East and took an engagement as leading comedian with the Bennett Moulton Company where he remained three years. Then followed engagements with Looping the Loop where he was the feature, with Clara Turner Company and a season at the head of a musical comedy managed by Gus Hill. For two seasons after that he was featured at the head of Himmelein's Ideals, one of the leading repertoire attractions of the Middle West. At the close of his engagement there he entered into a contract with Monte Thompson, proprietor of the Adam Good Companies, as the featured comedian with the company and this season he has had a most successful tour as a star under the same management. Mr. Simons attributes his success to hard work and a ceaseless endeavour to do better things. "A man has to keep improving, trying to make your work better all the time," he says. As a dancer Mr. Simons has few equals and every morning he can be found at the theatre diligently practising new steps and working out new ideals. "The people demand something new," he says, "and if you want to keep your hold on them, you must comply with the demand." Mr. Simons writes most of the songs he uses in his specialty exhibiting and tries to have them right up to the minutes. His famous Rough Rider act in which he gives an imitation of President Roosevelt at the Battle of San Juan is an original conception of his and he is the only actor doing a specialty of that nature.

Comedy His Forte

"Comedy has always been my strong forte, I never had a desire to play lovesick heroes, nor heavy tragedy roles. If I can keep the people out front amused and entertained I am thoroughly satisfied," he said. "Do you intend staying in repertoire?" queried the reporter. "Why not? Repertoire shows are going to continue," answered Danny, "and I think that the public will want them. Of course the business has suffered somewhat this season owing to the fact that some of the shows have fallen away below the standard and have not delivered the goods, but there is still business to be had for the show that is high class and properly equipped to give their patrons the worth of their money. Our season has been a prosperous one although we have felt the financial depression somewhat and I am sure that there will always be a welcome for a show that tries to keep up to the times."

Mr. Simons closes his season about May 1, and then expects to go to his home for a well earned vacation. During the summer he is the star at the head of a musical comedy playing the summer park circuit and next season will head his own company in repertoire. The reporter had a most pleasant visit with a real good fellow and left with a desire to go again.

"PARSIFAL"

"Parsifal," in whatever shape it is presented, with all the beauty of Caruso's voice and Conreid's operatic orchestra, or in the blantant translation depicted by Henry Savage, or whether in the form of English music drama, as it will be seen at the Grand Opera House, Easter Monday, April 20th, it will always remain an education in itself. No one can deny the beauties of the wonderful story. There is about it that pristine atmosphere of mysticism, that charm of medievalism, that constant succession of symbolic utterances and acts which makes it impossible to class it with anything modern, and which lifts it to the realm of classic.

In modern thought and aims, the teachings of the piece may seem quixotic, but of such strength is the play, so beautiful are the passages, one is forced to attention, and as the story is unfolded act by act, the listener forgets the outside world, forgets the noise and bustle of the market place, the furor of the streets, and is carried on with the Knights of the Holy Grail in their pursuit of that highest life where the tribunal motto of faith, hope and love is the beacon light and the death on the cross an example.

"Parsifal" patrons should bear in mind the unusual hour of commencement, the performance will begin promptly at 7.45, and the management requests that everyone be seated by that time, as none can be shown to their seats during the action of the play.

PETERBOROUGH GUESTS AT A PITTSBURG WEDDING

Special to the Examiner.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—In beautiful Sewickley, Pittsburg's most aristocratic suburb, was solemnized today a pretty home wedding, the guests at which included several Peterborough and Toronto girls. The bride is very well known by the younger population of Stony Lake, Peterborough county, Canada, where she has often visited during the summer season.

Concerning the event, which is described as one of the most fashionable of the season, the Pittsburg Post of April 16 says:

A pretty home wedding in Sewickley last evening was that at 7 o'clock of Miss Clara Elizabeth Koch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Koch, on Frederick avenue, to Mr. James B. Haines, Jr., of Glen Osborne.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by Rev. E. M. Milligan, pastor of the Sewickley United Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. David S. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. There were one hundred and twenty-five guests, including class mates of the bride at Rye Seminary. The bride was attended by Miss Georgie Haines, a sister of the groom. Mr Howard Koch, a brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The house was decorated with spring blossoms. The bride was handsomely gowned in soft white satin with trimmings of lace, and carried lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honour wore a gown of white lace over yellow. After a short trip the young couple will be "at home" in Beaver road, Glen Osborne. Among the out-of-town guests were the Misses Alice Leisher, Rye, N. Y.; Celestia Harrison, Addison, N. Y.; Alice Walker, New Wilmington, Pa.; Dorothy Goff, Cleveland, O.; Elizabeth Brown, Brookville, Pa.; Ethelwin Acton, Muriel Follett and Lillian Kidney, Toronto, Canada; Mollie Meldrum, Margaret McDonald, Elizabeth Irwin, Eva Irwin and Florence Cameron, Peterborough, Canada.

BERT HOWDEN'S DISPLAY OF CHOICE EASTER MEATS

Makes a Big Hit for His First Showing at Alex. Gordon's Old Stand—Crowds of Admirers.

Mr. Bert Howden made an admirable display of Easter choice meats to-day at his Market Arcade Shop, formerly Alex. Gordon's. Many were the complimentary remarks passed about his attractive shop, which was filled with well fed and attractively dressed beef, lamb, mutton, and veal. The choice cuts of meats were gaily decorated with rosettes, ribbons and flowers which showed extra good taste that caused them to be admired by many. The quality of young beef, spring lamb and veal showed extra good feeding and breeding, and will doubtless be relished by many. Mr. Howden had a very busy day, as the services of half a dozen cutters were needed to fill orders.

LOCAL PREACHER IS ATTENDING CONVENTION

Mr. W. T. Douglas of Peterborough is attending the twenty-third annual convention of "Christians," in session at Association Hall, Toronto. A peculiarity of this convention, says the Toronto Globe, is that there is no programme and no chairman. Any "saint" is free to get up on the platform or anywhere else and speak, read or expound the Scriptures, begin a hymn or lead in prayer, just "as the Spirit moves him," the women not being permitted to speak in meeting, though there are a great many of them in attendance. The major part of the time is given to the exposition of the Word of God, and every "Christian" is seen with Bible and hymn-book under arm or in hand. Those from a distance are entertained in the homes of the Toronto "saints," getting breakfast in the homes, but dinner and tea is served for them at their hosts' expense in St. George's Hall.

AT HOME

The last At Home of the season will be held in the T.A.S. Rooms on Monday Evening, April 20th.

WEDDING BELLS.

BELL-CHRISTIAN

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Chalmers Church, South River, on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Thom, when Miss Charlotte Maude Christian, daughter of Mr. W. T. Christian of South River, was married to Mr. Alexander William Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Bell of New Lowell. The bride was given away by her father. Her sister, Miss Mildred, attended. Mr. R. J. Baker was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Bell left for Peterborough, Toronto, Buffalo and other points. On their return they will reside in South River.—Toronto Globe.

HOPKINS-LONG

Toronto, April 18.—(Special)—There was a quiet wedding at the Metropolitan parsonage on Tuesday last, April 14th, when the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cleaver, united in marriage Mr. Henry L. Hopkins, of Hamilton, and Miss Kathleen Long, daughter of Geo. Long, of Peterborough.

METZLER-NUGENT

At 11 o'clock this morning at Millbrook an interesting wedding ceremoney was performed, by the Rev. I. S. Wright, the principals being Dr. Metzler, Methodist minister at Bridgenorth and Miss Maude Nugent, only daughter of Mr. W. D. Nugent, of that village. A number of Peterborough people attended the event.

CHRISTOPHER-JACKSON

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward MacDonald, Munro avenue, East City, at 2 p.m., on Thursday April 16th, when Miss Gertrude Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson, of Warsaw, and sister of Mrs. E. MacDonald, was married to Mr. Louis H. Christopher, of Kinmount. The bride was handsomely attired in white silk, trimmed with lace and carrying a bouquet of carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Flo. MacDonald, of Lakefield, was attired in blue voile and carried a bouquet of carnations.

The groom was supported by Mr. Morley MacDonald, who is attending the Business College.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. Nichol, of Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher will make their home in Kinmount. Miss Jackson's many frinds of Warsaw, wish her happiness and prosperity in her new home.

MISS POLLOCK HONOURED ON EVE OF HER MARRIAGE

At the Conservatory of Music on Thursday evening, Miss Pollock, a retiring member of the piano department of the faculty, was delightfully honoured by her pupils and her associates on the staff on the occasion of her marriage, which took place at St. Paul's Church this afternoon. She was presented with a beautiful music cabinet in mahogany, the actual presentation having been made on behalf of the donors by little Miss Margaret Hanna. Afterwards the children and pupils were entertained at tea by Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon. It is certain that the best of good will was behind the gift, and the ardent good wishes that went with it, for Miss Pollock is not only a brilliant pianist and a most conscientious and successful teacher, but possesses a sterling character and qualities of amiability that compel love and respect. Not only the good wishes of all Miss Pollock's pupils, but of the members of the staff and all who know her and her modest merit and genuineness, follow her into the new estate upon which she enters to-day.

SPECIAL PUBLICATION ISSUE

The ardent controversy which has been waging in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway system to issue a special publication, giving suggestions and practical hints to parents, as to what to do with the public and preparatory school boy during the months of July and August. The vacation camp is one of the solutions, and the publication entitled, "What Shall a Boy Do with His Vacation," thoroughly covers the ground and solves the problem of teh best way for a school boy to enjoy his holidays.

A LOOK IN AT MR. DALE'S EASTER MEAT DISPLAY

The very creditable showing of Easter meats made by Mr. Thos. Dale, Rubidge street south, is the talk of the residents in the southwestern portion of the city. Mr. Dale does a large meat business, and his preparations for Easter are as extensive as some of the larger central city shops. Specially worthy of mention is a fine two-year-old heifer fed by Mr. H. Hobson, near Millbrook, which dressed 700 pounds. It compares well with any prime beef shown in the city. He also shows an extra fine calf, raised by Mr. James Baptie of Springville. This calf was only seven weeks old, but it dressed 150 pounds of luscious veal.

British Diplomacy, Part II. 1782-1820

By N. A. Howard Moore.

Continuing my first paper, we find the opinions expressed on all sides, in respect to the conduct of the negotiations by Messrs. Vaughan and Oswald were of a condemnatory nature. M de Reyneval, the French Minister, said: "The English have bought a peace, not made one. Their concessions have exceeded anything we believe possible."

John Adams, in his American Statesmen Series, p. 200, says: "The great object upon which all American minds were bent, was Peace; and they were agreeably surprised at getting it upon such favourable terms."

Wharton, in his history and digest of International Laws, says: "It has been frequently said that of all the treaties executed by Great Britain, this treaty (Paris 1782) was the one in which she gave most and took least . . . presents an instance of sacrifice of territory, of authority, of Sovereignty, and of political prestige, which is unparalleled in the history of Diplomacy." The Diplomatic correspondence during the latter part of the seventeenth and early part of the eighteenth centuries would furnish a history of the most embittered international relations between the United States and Great Britain, ever known, in any country. This bitterness was fanned by the frenzied terrorism of Robespierrian France and made passionate by the drastic and retaliatory policy of Great Britain, which she was forced to adopt to counteract the edict of Napoleon the Great, in 1806, prohibiting neutral countries trading with her, and also on account of the isolation she was compelled to accept, and in the measures for the defence, singlehanded, of her island-shores from a threatened invasion by her bitter enemies in maintaining her supremacy as a sea power. The United States had no consideration for the Motherland and condemned her most unmercifully, but since, she has acknowledged, that Great Britain's actions were justified by International Law, as being "necessary measures of self defence, to which all private rights must give way."

The "due West Course" of the boundary was assumed in the Treaty of Paris, 1782-83, from the Lake of the Woods, as "a direct line from the Lake of the Woods to the most northerly source of the Mississippi. By Mr. Jay's Treaty, 1794, the uncertainty of the "due West Course," was admitted, and the two governments were agreed to adjust it, "in conformity with the interest of the Treaty of Peace." While it is patent to any one who will study the map, that the source of the Mississippi is 80 miles almost directly south of the Lake of the Woods. There is a doctrine in International Law, which means that "where natural or permanent objects are designated or described in a patent or deed, as connected by a line on a certain point or distance, which is found to be erroneous, both course and distance must yield to the dominant control of the natural objects in order to give full effect to the act or deed of the parties. And the Supreme Court of the United States has formulated another doctrine: "That treaties ceding territory to the United States are to be construed most favourably to the ceding power," which in this case was Great Britain. In 1802 the United States proposed that "a line start at the highest source, and run on a tangent westerly from the point touched, along the water mark of the lake, to the most northwestern point, at which it will meet the line running through the lake." Under these instructions a Treaty was signed in London on the 12th of May, 1803, by Lord Hawkesbury on behalf of England and Rufus King for the United States in which it was agreed that the boundary should be "the shortest line which can be drawn between the north-western point of the Lake of the Woods and the nearest source of the Mississippi." Although the initiative in this treaty was taken by the United States, the Senate rejected, this treaty unless the clause setting the boundary line was struck out, the reason they gave was that "we have acquired the French treaty rights in Louisiana." In 1805 the United States proposed that it would not be unreasonable on account of the long sea board of the United States that the neutral immunity from belligerent acts should extend to at least one league from the shore, or correspond with the claims of Great Britain around her own shores. The Admiralty and Law officers of the Crown of Great Britain advised against conceding more than the usual three marine miles, but the British Government, desirous of giving "a strong proof of a conciliatory disposition towards the people and government of the United States, yielded to the proposal of that government. Great Britain was at war with some of the European nations, therefore the need of above.

The war of 1812 originated with the United States mainly, because of the retaliatory measures which were adopted by Great Britain to counteract the Berlin decrees of Napoleon. During the two years it continued the United States suffered more than Canada. The British and Canadian troops captured a portion of Maine, including the disputed territory, nearly all of Michigan and portions of former Canadian territory to Prairie du Chain (what is now Chicago), to the Mississippi, all of which had been won back from the United States in fair fight, and which was held at the close of the war by right of conquest. Great Britain was now free at the time of the application of the United States for a lasting peace, from all entanglements in Europe, and the United States, no doubt, felt they would not gain anything by prolonging the war, so the American secretary instructed the plenipotentiary for the United States, that it was "important for the United States to make peace," and that "the great and unforseen change of circumstances, particularly the prospect of a more durable state of peace between Great Britain and the continental powers of Europe, and of security to our maritime rights, justify the change of our ultimatum." Notwithstanding Great Britain's peace with Europe and her conquests by war from the United States, her historic generosity restored, unconditionally, all the conquered territories to the United States, as a peace offering, by the Treaty of Ghent, and as a reward she has had a vexatious diplomatic controversy, and an armed invasion of the disputed territory between Canada and Maine. Nearly all the international disputes about the Maine boundary were caused by the actions of the state authorities, and not by the Federal Governments. The war of 1812 abrogated the fishing rights conceded to the United States, and the right of navigation of the Mississippi conceded to Great Britan by the treaties of 1782 and 1783, but by the treaty of 1818 Great Britain again graciously conceded to the United States fishing privileges on certain coasts and bays in Newfoundland and Canada. And although the United States forever renounced the right to fish within three marine miles of the shores, not including specified Canadian waters, such as the Bay of Fundy, Northumberland Straits, Gulf of St. Lawrence from a certain point, and the Hudson and James Bays—there has been a constant irritation and silly charges of "preposterous interpretation of the treaty," ever since, and have produced much annoyance and bitterness in the diplomatic relations which have existed between the two contracting parties, and, notwithstanding the fact that they renounced all this for ever, by the Treaty of 1818. Instances can be cited, such as the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854; the Washington Treaty of 1871; and the unratified treaties of 1869, 1874 and 1878, and offers of reciprocity in Canadian customs, go to show that Great Britain and Canada have persistently and earnestly made overtures for an amicable settlement of these differences, and treatics have been signed by leading diplomats of the United States, still the Senate of that country has not approved, and have rejected the proposals.

Freeman Snow, an American writer, of some prominence, in his "Treaties and Topics in American Diplomacy," says, "It is not at all clear that the fisheries difficulty can as well be met by Retaliation on Canada, as by a Revision of our own Tariff," and the United States Government has always carried out this policy of retaliation against Canada in all diplomatic negotiations. If she could not get what she demanded, she brought up some retaliatory measure against Canada every time.

The United States know no honour, not even that of a selfish desire to promote her own interests at the expence of even her own honour. And the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain have repeatedly allowed the interests of her first great colony to suffer rather than "incur the displeasure of the United States." Why should we bow down before this autocrat? Canada, almost single handed, conquered the invaders in 1812-1815, and acquired Unites States territory, which was given back without any objections being raised by Great Britain.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament

Many people believe that blonde, or light, hair denotes affection, and dark hair, constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes —50 cents and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

THE LATEST SPORTS

EVERYTHING READY FOR CONTEST

Walkers Will Get Away on Their Six-Day Grind at 7 o'clock on Monday Night.

SOME OF THE STARTERS

At 7 o'clock on Monday night, the six walking race will be under way. Everything is ready for the start, the track is in good condition, scorers have been appointed and have been taught the system and nearly all the famous walkers are here. Among those who are sure to start are, Dave Hartley, Chas. Stevens, John Harrison, Peterborough; Willard A Hoagland, Auburn, N.Y.; Tom Slater, Oswego, N.Y.; Jas. G Graham, Buffalo, NY.; Jas. Blake, negro, Florida; S L Brooks, Toronto; Walter Harrow, Sudbury; Jack Cooper, Toronto; Walter Bruce, Millbrook; Chas. Stenner, of Warsaw; Adolphe Sharpe, Stirling; Billy Naugot, Indian, Hiawatha, as well as several other local walkers.

The race promises to be by far the greatest event of its kind ever held in Peterborough, or in Canada, for that matter. Never has there been gathered such a galaxy field of walkers in Canada and the crowd next week will get its money's worth of excitement and sport. With Hoagland, Hartley, Slater, Blake and Graham, cutting loose at once, and with the possibility that some of the other men will prove dark horses, there is every reason for expecting some exciting doings in the neighbourhood of Brock street rink next week. Harrison, the local man, is fancied by a large number of local people, who have seen him walk, and on his form, should make a good showing.

The 57th Regimental Band has been engaged for the occasion and will be on hand for the opening, on Monday.

Judging by the ante-race interest, the rink will be crowded all week, as no sporting event in years has stirred up the people of Peterborough to such a high pitch of excitement.

The management has decided to open a refreshment booth in one of the dressing rooms, a service that should be appreciated. Lunches will be given and candies and other delicacies sold.

FOUR TEAMS IN THE RACE

Midland Baseball League in Line for Coming Season—Will be Two Peterborough Teams.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

The Midland Baseball League this year will be composed of four teams, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterborough and Peterborough Athletics. This was the result of the annual meeting of the League, held yesterday afternoon in the American Hotel, Port Hope, when all four clubs were represented. Belleville, Lindsay, Oshawa and Bowmanville were not represented and it was decided to go ahead without them.

There were present at the meeting, Messrs. Roy Jex, Cobourg, President; A Johnston and Conney Burns, Peterborough Baseball Club; Martin Connors and E Desautel, Athletics Baseball Club, Peterborough; Dick Turpin and Slick Mulhall, Cobourg and Secretary-Treasurer S Lockington and Ike Walters, Port Hope.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Roy Jex, Cobourg.

1st Vice-President—Harry Morgan, Peterborough.

2nd Vice-President—Fred A Clarke, Peterborough.

Secretary-Treasurer—S Lockington, Port Hope.

Executive—Messrs. Mulhall, Cobourg; Johnston, Peterborough; Connors, Athletics, and Walters, Port Hope.

The question of residence rule was discussed at some length and finally it was decided that all players must be signed before July 1st. A further check is placed upon the importation of players after the season is under way, by deciding to allow only fifteen certificates to each club, which it is thought will effectively stop the practice of bringing in practically a new team for the final games.

The drawing up of a schedule and the appointing of umpires was on motion left over until May 6. The League will, in all probability, open on Saturday, May 16th.

"CURED TO STAY"

Is the universal testimony for South American Nervine, and what is did for Mrs. Armstrong it will do for any woman living.

"For one who has suffered as I have for over six years from nervous prostration, and having spent nearly all I possessed in doctor bills without any permanent relief, you can imagine what a God-sent blessing I feel South American Nervine has been to me. The first few doses gave me great relief. It took six bottles in all to cure me, but I feel I am cured to stay cured."—Mrs. Geo. Armstrong, Orillia, Ont. (21

BASEBALL AT DRIVING PARK

Season Was Opened Yesterday by Lakeviews and Knockers.

The knockers and Lakeviews of the City Intermediate Baseball League, opened the season at the Driving Park yesterday in a practice game. At times it was interesting ball and considering the fact that no practice has been had, these teams should make the dust fly when the season opens. The line up was as follows:

While the score was 7 to 5 in favour of the Lakeviews, the game was closely contested and there was little difference in the two teams.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Intermediate League is beginning to get really interesting. There will be doings when the teams clash in earnest.

• • • •

By the way, it will be an important matter to secure unbiased, efficient umpires for the season.

• • • •

Suggestions will be in order at the meeting Monday night, as it is desirable to secure good umpires.

• • • •

The teams are requested to have the lists of their players handed in to the president, Mr. T. C. Lang, Saturday night. This will make the league run smoother and every tam should assist in these matters, that should assist in these matters in order that the business may be carried out with all possible harmony.

About forty football enthusiasts assembled at the Exhibition Grounds yesterday morning at 10.30, and engaged in the first real practice of the season. Teams representing the Quakers and Y.M.C.A., were chosen and a lively game was the result, the score ending 4 all. About 50 rooters were in attendance.

ANNEXATION OF CONGO.

Sharp Attack by Socialist Wing In Belgian Chamber.

Brussels, April 18.—The discussion on the question of the annexation of the Congo Independent State began in the Chamber of Deputies, which was called Wednesday. Very little progress was made beyond the clearing up of preliminary matters.

After a sharp attack on the part of the Socialists, who accused the Government of a wish to rush a vote on the annexation treaty and then shelve the colonial bill, the Premier summed up the benefits which Belgium would derive from the annexation of the Congo Independent State, and M. Davignon, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, followed with an explanation of the International situation arising out of the question which the United States and Great Britain had submitted asking what steps were being taken to carry out the terms of the Berlin treaty with regard to the rights of the natives and the liberty of commerce. While it was impossible to give details of what was being accomplished, the Foreign Minister said that he could give assurance that the Belgian Government was neglecting nothing.

It was decided that the debate on the question should continue without interruption until May 9, when the Chamber rises for the elections.

Attack on King Leopold.

Brussels, April 18.—A feature of the debate on the Congo question in the Chamber of Deputies was the violent attacks made on King Leopold by the Socialist deputy, M. Bertram, who accused the King of squandering millions on palaces and in restaurants, which ought to be devoted to the needs of the natives of the Congo Independent State.

CHELSEA FIRE VICTIMS.

List Now Numbers Ten, and Many Persons Still Missing.

Boston, April 18.—The state police began a preliminary investigation yesterday of the causes leading to the fire in Chelsea last Sunday and of the reports that there was considerable incendiarism in various parts of the city during the progress of the fire. Deputy Chief Neal rode about the city and on Tuesday will hear witnesses at the state house. The tenth body recovered from the ruins was uncovered in a cellar near the corner of Gerish avenue and Broadway about noon yesterday. Like several of the others it was burned beyond recognition and was sent to the morgue in Boston for possible identification.

The police fear that further search in the hundreds of cellars will disclose others bodies, as the list of persons missing is still large. The missing lists, however, vary, ranging from 30 to 70. Many persons who could not be found early in the week have turned up, but at least 40 are still unaccounted for. There has been no systematic search of the cellars of the burned houses. It is expected that as soon as the streets have been thoroughly cleared the authorities will make an effort to search the cellars systematically.

FRENCH FOUGHT ARABS.

Twenty-Eight Soldiers Killed In Desperate Struggle In Algeria.

Colomb Bechar, Algeria, April 18.—A French column posted on Talzaza Hill, which commands the Plain of Tamlet, was attacked fiercely at daylight Thursday by a number of Berbers, who, with the Nomad Arabs, have been concentrating for some weeks past on the western frontier of Algeria.

Although surprised the French force rallied and fought desperately and succeeded finally, not only in beating off their adversaries, but in pursuing them for a distance of six miles. So hot was the pursuit that the Arabs abandoned their dead and wounded. Several green flags of the Prophet also fell into the hands of the French.

Twenty-eight of the French troops, including an officer, were killed, and 100, including ten officers, wounded.

The losses were the greatest in the foreign legion. The Berber losses were much heavier, 125 dead bodies being found by the French troops. The French pursuit was stopped by darkness.

Australian Remounts.

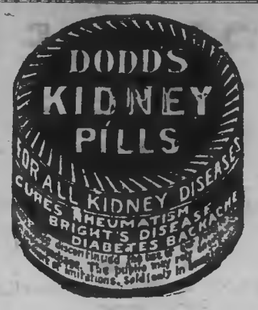
Manila, April 18.—Major William Brown of the Third Cavalry has returned from Australia with 108 Australian remounts for the cavalry, making a total of 598 for the army bought in six months. This is an experiment to prove whether it will be possible to stop bringing American horses here. The Australians are smaller, supposedly hardier and better suited to the tropics than those now in use throughout the islands.

These animals give good service, but they need a test of a year to prove that they will be permanently valuable They are mostly bought unbroken, as the cavalry prefer to start fresh with them. The average price is $125 in Queensland, Victoria and New South Wales, much less than the American prices.

Sentenced Priest Slayer.

Rome, April 18.—The anarchist, De Sanctis, who stabbed to death in Rome Rev. Antonio Oorsi, in June, 1906, has been condemned to thirty years' imprisonment. Experts declared the insanity symptoms were feigned.

No political question was touched on in the interview between Pope Pius and the German Imperial Chancellor, Prince von Buelow.



Four Japanese Killed.

Winnipeg, April 18.—The latest information available at the C.P.R. offices here concerning the snowslide at Albert Canyon is to the effect that the radius of the accident was local, near Downey station, on the coast division of the C.P.R. main line, and that four Japanes belonging to a construction gang were hurled from their boarding-car down the side of a steep mountain and killed outright. Ten others were so seriously injured that they will have to be taken to the company's hospital nearby. Little hope is held out for their recovery.

Bandits Rob Bank.

Cherryvale, Kas., April 18.—The Citizens' State Bank at Chautauqua, 25 miles west of Coffeeville, was robbed of about $3,000 yesterday by two men.

The men entered the bank at Chautauqua and forced Cashier C. C. Walterhouse and Del Easley, a business man, to go into the vault. The bandits locked them in, secured all the currency in sight and escaped into the Osage hills, across the line, in Oklahoma.

Fell to His Death.

Quebec, April 18.—Missing his footing while on the top of a scaffolding and falling to the ground, a young man met instant death at Ancienne Lorette yesterday. The unfortunate victim was Ernest Dechene, aged 27 years, of that place. He, with others, was engaged on work in connection with the construction of the new church, which is being erected at Ancienne Lorette, and in some manner made a mis-step and fell to the ground, killing himself instantly.

Portugal Quiets Down.

Lisbon, April 18.—The country has quieted down, but anxiety is being felt for April 29, when Parliament reassembles and on which occasion King Manuel must personally appear before that body and take oath to observe the constitution of Portugal.

King Aids Biarritz Poor.

Biarritz, April 18.—It became known yesterday that King Edward, who left here Thursday after a stay of several weeks, made a parting gift of 2,000 francs ($400) to be distributed among the poor of the city.

THE EXAMINER'S BIG SPORTING PAGE

Everything Is Ready For Big Six-Day Race Which Opens on Monday---World's Champion Hoagland Talks of His Record to The Examiner---Four Teams in Midland League Race---Local Games Yesterday---Y.M.C.A. Basketball Team Defeated Midland---All That Is New In The Sporting Line.

Dave Hartley, Peterboro's pride, whom local people hope to see carry off the plum.

Willard A. Hoagland, of Auburn, N. Y., the world's champion heel and toe walker, arrived in the city on Thursday night, fit and ready for the big walking race, which opens at the Brock street rink on Monday night. With a record of 300 races, ranging from a one mile walk to a six day contest, 290 of which were victorious, Hoagland is a most formidable opponent, and when he gets going next week the crowd will get something for their money. He has been dubbed by the United States papers "the walking machine," and his performances certainly bear out his right to this title.

The sporting editor of the Examiner had the pleasure of an interesting chat with Mr. Hoagland last night, at the Oriental Hotel, where he will remain until after the race as the guest of Mr. Geo. N. Graham. The champion is an enthusiastic over the walking game as a child over a new toy, and willingly talked about the coming race and his past performances.

He has the greatest faith in the beneficial effects of pedestrianism, and is himself a striking testimonial to his own theory. Only once in his life has he had to call in the services of a physician, and at forty-five is as fresh looking and strong as a man twenty years younger. According to Mr. Hoagland, walking develops every muscle in the body. "People instead of walking three or four blocks get on board a street car," he remarked, "and rather than walk up one flight of stairs, wait five minutes for an elevator. They are fighting nature, and yet wonder why their liver is bad or their stomach is out of order. Walking is the greatest pastime in the world."

Mr. Hoagland is modest about his own feats in the walking line, but one could not blame him very much if he were otherwise. He was born in Union Springs, New York, in 1863, and took part in his first race in 1879, meeting some walkers in his own town. His start in the game was due to his companionship with Courtney, the famous oarsman. The latter had a sawdust track of 20 laps to the mile, on which he used to train during the winter. Hoagland used to amuse himself by walking there, and soon found that he was making amazingly good time. Other people found it out, too, and at the age of sixteen he started his first races, short distance affairs with local men.

His first big race was at Auburn, N. Y., with C. A. Harriman, the then walking champion of America. The distance was 100 miles, and Hoagland won the event in 18 hours, 4 minutes, four minutes faster than the world's record. Since then he has taken part in 27 six-day races, and the vast majority have been victories.

What he regards as his best performance was made in a six-day race, twenty-four hours a day, at Kansas City, in 1887, when he covered 488 miles in the week.

"Have you ever been in Canada before?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied. "In 1882 I had two ten-mile races with Clarence Smith, who called himself the champion of Canada. The races took place at Walkerton, and I won them both, although Smith was a clever walker and gave me two hard battles."

The champion did some great stepping at Trenton, N. J., in the recent six-day race, three hours per night. The first night he walked 19 miles 3 laps, the second night the same, and Wednesday 19 miles 5 laps; so that it was no wonder the people down there called him "The walking machine."

Mr. Hoagland does not make any special preparation for a race. He always takes care of himself, is temperate and does not smoke to excess, although he says that "Lady Nicotine" steadies him considerably in his walking. He does not diet himself, but eats freely of wholesome food, and has no iron-bound training rules.

Asked as to how he figured the outcome of next week's big contest, he was noncommittal. He was in the race to win, if he could; he always started out in that spirit, but walking was uncertain. There were chances that a contestant might sprain his ankle or have his stomach go back on him, or be overtaken by some other mishap. "Anyway, the people will be given a run for their money," he remarked.

Mr. Hoagland is a man of powerful physique, although he is not as heavy as his photograph would lead one to believe. He stands 5 feet 11 inches, and just now strips at 160 pounds, although he has recently weighed in the neighbourhood of 166 pounds.

WEST ENDS BEAT STRATHS IN EXHIBITION GAME

The West Ends and Strathconas of the Intermediate Baseball League ushered in the baseball season yesterday afternoon, when they met in a snappy exhibition game of ball on the West End grounds, MacDonel street, the Occidental line winning by 6 runs to 5. The game was keenly contested and the result was in doubt until the last man was out. The West Ends got away to a good start, piling up five runs in the second, which, with one more in the seventh, was enough to win for them. The Straths came strong on end and sent three men across the scoring station in the eighth, but could not make the tying run. Honours were even in batting and fielding, but the West Ends butched their hits and that won for them. Considering that the teams had had no practice, the fielding was fast and clean, several double plays being pulled off. Butcher for the West Ends and Parnell and Curtis for the Straths all pitched good ball, and the large crowd of fans seemed to enjoy the contest. W. Whaley gave satisfaction as umpire. The teams were:

Score by innings—

West Ends	0 5 0 0 0 0 1 0 x—6
Stratheonas	0 0 0 0 2 0 3 0 0—5

THE JUNIOR CHURCH BALL LEAGUE

Was Formed on Thursday Night—More Teams are Expected to Join.

WILL HELP THE BOYS

A junior church league was formed Thursday night at a meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours. There were representatives from All Saints', St. Luke's and Knox Churches and from the Chieftains of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. H. Wilkie acted as chairman and some important steps taken. The name of the league was chosen as above stated. It was decided to elect the following officers: Patrons and patronesses, president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. The executive will be composed of representatives from each team. The election of officers will take place Friday night next. An entrance fee was placed at one dollar from each club. Messrs. H. Wilkie and A. E. Wilson were appointed a committee to draft a constitution, which will be submitted at the next meeting.

All the church guilds should have teams in this league and should send representatives to teh meeting on the 24th. Some of the more generous of the citizens would help the league to a successful issue by donating a trophy to be awarded the winning team.

Billy Naugon, the Indian walker, from Hiawatha, opened the eyes of the people who saw him walking in the Brock street rink the other day, when he stepped a mile in 8 minutes. Considering that the track is not yet complete and that Naugon had walked the thirteen miles from Hiawatha to the city that morning, it is pretty good going. Billy is in fair shape and expects to be up with the leaders.

Steel is iron free from dirt, air or foreign substance fused with carbon. Carbon gives toughness, strength, keenness and life.

Thirty year's study of the razor situation has shown a way to add the highest per cent of carbon to a Carbo Magnetic razor blade throug a secret process of ELECTRIC TEMPERING giving it a uniform diamond like hardness—something absolutely impossible with fire tempered razors, and they are Hamburg ground.

"Banner" Spring Bed
is guaranteed not to "sag"

Now, don't shake your head and say "I know all about spiral springs."

Your ideas of a spiral spring bed are probably of the kind made 15 or 20 years ago. "The good old way" was to use ordinary coppered wire—make from 25 to 50 spirals by hand, no two alike—and hammer them on a wooden frame. Naturally, such a bed soon found its way to the scrap heap.

There are 100 distinct spirals in the "Banner" Spring Bed, —each one identical in height, in strength, in resiliency.

These spirals are of the best quality steel—oil tempered and japanned after forming and have the resiliency of a Damascus sword. They are attached to steel bands, which are riveted to angle iron sides.

"The Banner" Spring Bed is as far superior to the old fashioned spiral springs, as the luxurious Pullman coaches are to the rickety stage coach.

"Banner" Spring Beds are guaranteed for a lifetime—will never "sag" or lose their shape —are restful and comfortable—are absolutely noiseless and rustproof—and will fit any iron bed without slats. $8—everywhere.

This trademark guarantees satisfaction in Beds and Bedding. Look for it whenever you buy.

For the first time this season the ice waggon of Mr. Thos. Rebill went out to-day. It was supplying the local butchers, who have been making extra preparations for the Easter trade. When the ice waggon makes its appearance spring must surely be here.

DARING BURGLARS BROKE INTO WINE CELLAR OF GRAND HOTEL EARLY ON SATURDAY MORNING

Between the hours of one o'clock and four Saturday morning, the Grand Hotel on George street, was broken into, but as far as is known nothing was taken, and it is believed that the daring intruders were scared off.

The burglars forced an entrance to the hotel by way of the wine cellar door, which is at the rear of the hotel. They first tried to make an entrance by taking the bricks out of the wall, but finding the operation a tedious one, they secured a piece of rail from the street car barn and smashed the stout padlock which held the door fast. Early Saturday morning the wine cellar door was found open by one of the hotel help; the padlock, which is a Yale make, was found smashed on the ground, and the bricks which had been taken from the wall, were strewn about the stairway, leading to the cellar door.

The cellar was in perfect order, and apparently nothing had been taken. The porter awakened the proprietor and informed him of what he had seen, and an investigation was instituted at once. No tracks were found around the building, but the piece of rail used to break the lock was found at the foot of the stairway.

Saw Suspicious Characters

Acting Chief Adams was at once notified of the matter, and is investigating the case. P. C. McGinty saw two suspicious looking characters hanging about the hotel, early Saturday morning and the feeling is that they had some something to do with the attempted burglary.

Why the burglars should have gone to such trouble to get in and then took nothing, remains a mystery, but it is believed they were scared off. At the time of the burglary there was over $5,000 worth of wines and liquors in the cellar.

PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY AFTER CONCLUDING A VISIT

With the words "I feel awfully dizzy" on her lips, Mrs. Thos. Dunford, a well-known and highly respected Lakefield woman, passed away on Saturday about 1.30 o'clock p.m., after having completed a journey to Toronto and return. Her sudden and very unexpected death, which was due to a paralytic stroke, is greatly regretted by her many Lakefield and Peterborough county friends.

On Thursday of last week she went to Toronto to visit her son, Allan. At that time, and, in fact, during her visit, she was in excellent health. She returned on Saturday, and while on the train she was slightly affected by stomach trouble. From Lakefield station she was driven home in a cab, and, a few minutes later, threw herself on the bed and passed away, complaining of dizziness. Besides her husband, she is survived by four sons, George of Rochester, Frederick of Walkerton, Allan of Toronto and W. H. of Dummer, and Mrs. W. H. Clements of Warsaw and Miss Gertrude at home. Her sisters are Mrs. Richard Dunford of Monmouth, Mrs. Geo. Nichols, Ashburnham; Mrs. Wm. Creary, Burleigh; Mrs. John Dinsdale, Allandale, Otonabee, and she has one surviving brother, Mr. John Harmling of Mather's Corners.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Lakefield cemetery.

OPEN LETTER TO MR. T. E. BRADBURN FOR STRAIGHT, CLEAN ELECTION

Mr. G. A. Gillespie is Desirous of Running Such a Campaign—Makes an Open Proposition.

NO BREACH OF ELECTION LAW

T E Bradburn, Esq., M.P.P.:

Dear Sir,—As I intimated when speaking to you a day or two ago, I desire that the coming election contest between us as candidates, respectively representing the Government and Opposition in the approaching Provincial general elections, should be conducted upon purely legitimate and legal lines, which is to say that no money nor money's equivalent, nor promises of office or preferment, nor advantage of any kind, shall be given or promised on either side to unduly or corruptly, influence or determine, in respect of any elector, the manner in which he shall cast his vote.

In this you agreed with me and expressed your desire for "a straight, clean fight."

I would, therefore, propose that we —yourself and myself— by a written and duly executed undertaking, jointly offer a reward of $200 to be paid to the person or persons furnishing such evidence, as will lead to the conviction of any person or persons on either side of politics, who may be guilty of the violation of the election act, and accordingly of this agreement, during the prosecution of the coming election.

I will deposit jointly with yourself the sum of $100, for the purpose, and will, besides, for myself, undertake to pay the sum of $500 for the conviction of any person proven guilty of a breach of the election act; and I also propose that I shall name a committee from among Conservatives or your supporters to the number of ten and that you, yourself, name a like committee of ten from the ranks of my supporters, each committee to keep strict watch for the purpose of detecting wrong doing, involving a breach of the Election Law, in connection with the coming election contest, and for the purpose of furnishing evidence to be used for prosecution of offenders if such there should be, under the election law.

I feel it my duty, in the interest of clean politics, as applied to the coming election contest, to make the foregoing proposition to you. If it should not meet with your approval would you be good enough to propose any other fair arrangement which will fulfil your own desire as expressed to me, and my own, also, for a "straight, clean fight" in the coming Provincial election in the riding of West Peterborough and I shall agree to it, I am,

Yours very sincerely,
G. A. GILLESPIE.

THE SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES HAMILTON

Passes Away in Lindsay on Saturday—A Prominent and Greatly Respected Citizen.

It will be learned with great regret by the many friends of Mr. James Hamilton, Lindsay, brother of Mr P Hamilton, city, that he died suddenly at his residence, on Saturday. A week ago Mr. Hamilton suffered a mild paralytic stroke. The light character of the seizure removed any fear of grave consequences; but on Saturday another severe stroke proved fatal.

The late Mr. Hamilton was a native of Peterborough, son of the late James Hamilton, who founded the manufacturing business so long conducted here by Mr Peter Hamilton. He was 65 years of age, and has been resident in Lindsay for thirty-five years. During that time he has conducted an extensive carriage manufacturing business, and well known and greatly respected throughout Victoria County. He was a citizen of high character and was held in universal respect and esteem. In politics he was a Liberal and a Presbyterian in religion. He leaves behind him a widow and two sons and two daughters. The sons are Mr. Alex Hamilton, California, and Mr. Oswald Hamilton, Lindsay. The daughters are Mrs. R H Bradburn, city, and Mrs. Carson, of Toronto. He also leaves two sisters and one brother, all resident in Peterborough—Mrs. Robert Innes, Mrs. John Cameron and Mr. Peter Hamilton.

PREVENT THE FOREST FIRES.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." The protection of a forest from fire is one of the best possible illustrations of the old saying; for often a few minutes spent in thoroughly extinguishing a camp-fire or a quarter of an hour passed in putting out an incipent blaze may mean, and often has meant, the saving of many thousands of dollars' worth of timber. This is the main idea of the patrol system carried on in the Ontario and Quebec forests for years past; what is aimed at is to discover the fire in its early stages and put it out then, before it has a chance to reach large proportions.

Small forest fires do a tremendous amount of damage which is not realized. Such fires, burning in the dead leaves and other litter of the forest ("surface" fires) or consuming the soil itself ("ground fires) wound the roots and bases of the trees and these wounds give an entrance to fungi and insects.

In places in the Riding Mountain forest reserve, in Manitoba, it is found that, among the popular trees, three out of every four are affected with rot in the "butt" log—i.e., the log nearest the stump—a condition which is due to the fact just mentioned, as the reserve has been repeatedly burned over in years past.

Most to be feared, of course, are the fires which consume the entire forest, the "crown" fires. Evidence of many of these can be seen in mile after mile of the wooded districts of Canada, where charred black trunks are all that is left of what was once a thick, green forest. Occasionally even more serious disasters occur, as in the well known Miramichi, N.B., fire of October, 1825, where 160 lives were lost and a quarter of a million pounds sterling, were lost in property consumed.

LINDSAY'S NEW PAPER.

The latest addition to daily journalism is the Lindsay Free Press, which will also issue a weekly edition. These journals will be published by a company, and Mr. J. V. McNaulty will be the editor, and Mr. R. J. Moon, late of the Fenelon Falls Star, amalgamated with the Free Press, manager. Mr. McNaulty is a veteran newspaper editor, having been very successfully connected with the Lindsay Post in several capacities for the past quarter of a century. Mr. McNaulty possesses the necessary newspaper "nous" to make a success of the new daily. He has had a large experience as an editor, has the characteristic keen sense for news of the successful journalist, is an able and well-informed writer, and possesses a geniality and popularity which should, all combined, contribute to the large success which the Examiner wishes the Free Press may achieve. Lindsay is growing, we are glad to note, and it is material that its journalistic interests should keep pace with the material advancement, and it is fairly good guessing that the new venture, manned as it is, will speedily conquer an assured place in its constituency. The Free Press does not pose as a humourous journal, but it announces that it will be independent in politics. Of course, a newspaper must be labelled in some way—"Grit," "Tory," or "Independent." "Grit" and "Tory" are known quantities, but independence in journalism is a deep mystery. While the Free Press will hew to the line with the necessary indifference to the dropping place of the chips, sufficiently clear to justify its political classification, the Examiner hopes that it will have a flourishing future and achieve, at least, a thriving financial and journalistic independence.

WOMAN'S POWER

The healthy woman; strong mentally and physically, whose ambition and magnetic influence urge men to deeds of grandeur and heroism; such women are all-powerful.

Weak, sick and ailing women have little ambition; their own troubles occupy all their thoughts. They dwell upon their pains, suffer from nervousness and headaches; often are extremely melancholy, and avoid society. For thirty years has been saving women from this awful condition.

Mrs. John Scott, 489 Grand Trunk St., Montreal, writes Mrs. Pinkham: "I was very much run down in health from a female trouble, was thin, nervous, very weak, and suffered from bearing down pains. Indeed I did not care whether I lived or died.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me of all my troubles. I gained in flesh, and am free from backache, female trouble, sick headaches, and nervousness.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Premier Whitney generally takes the "Grits" into his confidence by informing them that the Provincial general elections will be held—sooner or later. He could not be more explicit if he told us that the elections would be held "not yet, but soon."

In this swift age we are apt to become enamoured of our energy and initiative in regard to great enterprises and undertakings and to think that we are pioneers and exploiters of new ideas. We are belting Canada with railway lines as if we were doing something that has recently occurred to this generation. While we may rightly deserve credit for what we have done and intend doing in the matter mentioned, we should give credit to priority of discovery or origin. The Globe of April 19th, 1858, reprints a paragraph from an English journal, relating to the departure of a party to survey the southern boundary from Vancouver Island to Lake Ontario. The Globe adds to the extract—"The first great step to a Pacific railway has been taken." Thus George Brown was a seer and foresaw a transcontinental railway ten years before he became a father of Confederation.

That was a smooth trick Premier Whitney played on his followers, including Phil. Bowyer, of East Kent, and Hugh Clarke, Centre Bruce, when in the Legislature Saturday he rushed with great dispatch through the House the bill guaranteeing two million and a half dollars to the Canadian Northern Railway. He was determined, says the Brockville Recorder, that the public should not, if possible, have another exhibition of the division within the Conservative ranks such as was shown in the Redistribution Bill, and knowing from the Tory caucus that the party were not a unit in the matter of guaranteeing the bonds of the C. N., the Premier took advantage of the absence of the recalcitrants, Bowyer and Clarke, to speedily have the House pass the legislation. Mr. Bowyer objected, but the Premier, however, was obdurate, and when the members in question return to their constituencies, it is expected, both being editors, that long editorials will appear in their respective papers explaining to the honest farmers the utter disregard of Premier Whitney for his many pre-election promises.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

Ottawa Free Press.

The campaign of slander against the Government, carried on in the Opposition press, touches on immigration matters from time to time; and, whenever this is the case, acknowledgment of the progress which the country has achieved as a result of the Liberal policy is studiously avoided and every artifice is used to leave the impression that the Government is responsible for whatever is not of the best in the stream of incoming settlers. The "gutter-snipe" journalist finds, in the vagaries of the Fort William Doukhobors, rich material for the exercise of his particular genius.

The sentence of 19 to six months' imprisonment for indecent conduct was made by the Citizen, on Saturday, the text for an attack on the Dominion Government and its immigration policy. The Citizen alleges that the Fort William Doukhobors were thrust on the province and that their fellow-countrymen, remaining in Saskatchewan, set the laws at defiance. In summing up its views, it says the conditions under which the Doukhobors are living in Canada lead to two alternative conclusions: either the large majority of the adults should be in the penitentiary or they should be deported.

If the large majority should be in the penitentiaries, then it is just as well that everyone should know upon whom rests the responsibility of putting them there. It certainly does not lie with the Dominion Government. The Dominion Government must, of course, assume a measure of responsibility for their introduction into the country, but it has no authority to deport them after they have been here for seven years, nor is it a part of the Dominion Government's duties to see that they conform to the laws. That function of government belongs to the provinces themselves.

The Doukhobors at Fort William were not thrust on Ontario any more than any other people who from time to time break the laws and are punished by the courts) are thrust upon the province. They, in the exercise of their rights as residents of Canada, saw fit to leave Saskatchewan and enter Ontario. They were at liberty to do so, just the same as any one else is at liberty to change his locality or place of residence. There was no law to prevent them. It was then, on their advent into Ontario, for the Ontario Government to see that they conformed to the laws of the province.

But, instead of doing this, the Provincial Government has been guilty of knowingly permitting them, ever since they came within its jurisdiction, to indulge in law-breaking conduct. The Provincial Government allowed it to continue with full knowledge of the facts. Why the Provincial Government permitted it to continue for so many months to the disgrace of the province is for that Government to say.

So long as what are now the western provinces were under territorial government and the Dominion Government was charged with the administration of the law, so long were the Doukhobors made amenable to the law. When they outraged decency, as those at Fort William have done during the past winter, they were promptly put in jail. But, when the Provincial Governments were organized, the authority and responsibility of the Dominion Government thereafter resided in the Provincial Governments. The lesson the Dominion Government has taught the Doukhobors seemed, however, to have been sufficient to deter them from such exhibitions in Saskatchewan, as they have since given in Ontario. It was not until this demented party had arrived at Fort William and found they were under the Ontario Government that they saw fit to outrage decency as they have been doing for the past six months.

It is convenient—and seems to be the custom -for its opponents to rail at the Dominion Government for every occurrence that does not suit them, and, in thenext breath, to protest against the Dominion Government's alleged interference with provincial rights. Canada is a confederation of provinces, with certain powers and responsibilities in the hands of the Federal Government and certain other powers and responsibilities in the hands of the Provincial Governments. The Provincial Governments must be held responsible for the discharge of their duties, as well as the Dominion Government for the discharge of its own.

As to the deportation of the Doukhobors, which the Citizen so blandly suggests, Parliament has not yet conferred the authority which would enable the Dominion Government to deport them after they have been domiciled in the country for the period they have been. Until Parliament does, the Dominion Government has no warrant to act. The courts would not permit it.

The Dominion Government may have been to blame in bringing these people to Canada. The Citizen may have opposed that proposition at the time, but, if it did, it was practically alone in doing so. The action of the Government at that time had practically the full endorsation of Parliament and of the press. Therefore, for the initial error—if error there was—in bringing them into the country, all the people of the country who endorsed it must share the responsibility. But, for the maintenance of the laws of the country, the Provincial Governments alone must take the responsibility. And, if it is desired to deport these people after they have been seven years in the country, it is for Parliament to give the authority.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The following are the questions on the International Sunday School Lesson for April 18th:—

Jesus Anointed at Bethany. John xii; 1-11.

Golden Text—We love Him because He first loved us. I John iv; 19.

Verse 1—Where was Bethany?

Would Lazarus be likely to have any memory of his experience in the spirit world, and if so, would he probably discuss it with his friends?

Verse 2—Would Jesus eat and drink, for the pleasure of it, more than necessary for health?

Did Jesus enjoy a social time with his friends, for the pure pleasure of sociality, and without making the occasion of any religious significance?

Have Christians any right to spend time at dinners, banquets or in any other social way, in a manner that Jesus would not?

What was the special attraction for Jesus at this home, and was it wise or right for Him to visit it, apparently, so much more frequently than He did any other home?

Verse 3.—Should our money ever be given to Jesus, or to others, solely as an expression of our love and for no other practical purpose?

May money spent for flowers or pictures or other beautiful things, when we can afford them, be as well spent as when given to the poor?

Was this expensive love offering justified, if it only gave soul rapture to Mary and Jesus, and did nothing else?

Should our practice of sending beautiful flowers to our friends when they are sick be kept up, or abandoned, seeing there are so many poor people who need food? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Would perfumes sent to the sick be an appropriate expression of our love, and be likely to give joy to the sick ones?

Would life be made more worth living if we endeavoured to fill our homes with pleasant odours and fresh air, or is God's pure air alone better than anything else?

Verses 4-6—When we are confronted with two duties, one ministering to spiritual sentiment and the other to feeding the poor, only one of which we can do, how are we to make the choice?

When a man would let hungry hearts go uncomforted, and hungry stomachs unfed, to enable him to steal more money, how would you characterize him?

Are there such people as Judas in the Christian church to-day?

Verses 7-8—Which class gives most to the poor, those who spend money in ministering to spiritual needs, or those who ignore such needs?

Verses 10-11—What sin is worse than religious intolerance, as manifested by these chief priests?

Lesson for Sunday, April 26, 1908. Jesus Teaches Humility. John xiii; 1-20.

The Reward Of Small Beginnings; Mann's New Bakery And Grocery

A Substantial New Brick Block to be the Future Home of This Growing Industry.

THE PATENT BAKING OVENS

"To-morrow," it is said, "will be the result of to-day." Whether this will hold good in every instance would be a rather difficult task to decide. Unquestionably, however, it can be held to be true as regards many a prospering enterprise, and of none more truly than the Mann Bakery of this city, which is just now entering upon a new and enlarged existence.

The completion of Mann's extensive and modernly equipped brick block on the corner of George and Dublin streets, for Mann's Bakery, grocery and ice cream parlour, suggests a look back to its small beginnings of a few years ago.

It will be within the recollection of many of our citizens that the late Mr. John Mann began baking on a small scale—about twenty-five loaves of home-made bread being baked each day, and personally delivered to his select customers in a hand basket. The quality of Mann's bread from that time made its mark; and it was not long before the hand basket had to be superseded by a hand waggon. And still Mann's bread grew in popularity and customers kept increasing in such numbers that the demand justified branching out on a still larger scale. During this time the baking was done on an ordinary family cooking range, pushed to its fullest capacity daily. By dint of hard work, late and early, Mr. and Mrs Mann now saw the fruits of their honest labours develop beyond their most sanguine expectations.

After carefully counting the cost, a single brick bake oven was decided upon and built; and then the business grew with leaps and bounds, until expert bakers had to be engaged, bread waggons and horses and drivers employed, and flour purchased by the car load, until the output per day reached fifteen hundred loaves, besides large quantities of cakes, buns and fancy bread. This was the limit of the single oven — and now comes the sequel.

Faith and Work

And so it comes about, that to-morrow was the result of to-day," or, perhaps, more properly speaking, "to-day is the result of yesterday."

The purchase of the splendid corner lot on the corner of Dublin and George streets was the first step in the construction of this new and extensive bakery premises. Industry and enterprise was to be rewarded, and, with undiminished faith, the work of building and installing the new plant and machinery went ahead all winter, until everything is now completed and in readiness for further multiplying the output.

Mann's new brick block has a frontage on George street of 40 feet, by 102 feet on Dublin street, affording unexcelled facilities for a fine grocery and ice cream parlour on George street and ample accommodation for one of the largest and best equipped baking plants in Canada.

Three large brick ovens have been built on the ground floor on Dublin street. These ovens were installed by Messrs. Marsh & Co., of Toronto, this patent being considered the best in use. These ovens are capable of baking four thousand loaves daily, besides large quantities of buns, pies, cakes, etc.

Upstairs over the ovens, is a large room for the storage of flour, capable of holding five carloads. Adjoining this room is the mixer, where the dough is mixed thoroughly by a Penrith mixer, and then moulded into loaves, of the exact weight, by a patent divider. The batch is sent down a chute on to tables, and then placed in pans ready for the ovens. This process saves a great deal of handling, labour and time. The machinery is driven by a seven-horse-power electric motor.

After the bread is baked, patent racks are wheeled into the bake room, upon which the finished loaves are placed and conveyed to the bread room, out of which a door leads into the driving room, where the bake wagons are backed up and loaded. Three wagons are now needed in the delivery work, and another will soon be added.

The comfort and cleanliness of the bakers have been thoughtfully considered, and a toilet room built in the basement, where hot and cold water baths are within reach at all times.

The Grocery, Fruit and Ice Cream Parlour

The new grocery and ice cream parlours on George street are models of neatness, handiness and comfort. The floors are made of hardwood, the ceilings are a handsome metallic design, and the woodwork and fittings are up-to-date and modern in every respect, finished in oak and grained in a handsome manner. Mr. Fred. Featherstone, of the Mann Lumber Company, is the designer of the store fittings, which reflect credit on his judgment, skill and practical workmanship.

A large stock of new groceries, fruits, etc., have been opened out, making a very fine display on the shelves. A handsome marble soda water fountain, comfortable tables and chairs, mirrors, pictures and other furniture are now under order for the ice cream parlour, which will be opened out shortly.

The store, and dwelling upstairs, etc., are heated with a large Gurney boiler, which generates steam through large pipes and radiators.

Mrs. Mann still continues at the head of the business, and it must be no small pleasure for her now to realize the splendid results which her efforts, aided by those of her late husband, have been able to achieve. Her son, Mr. Ernest Mann, has given substantial assistance in maturing the plans and perfecting the details in connection with this new and enlarged business.

WAS FIFTY YEARS A BANKER

MANAGER FOR 30 YEARS

The death occurred in Pickering on Sunday, the 12th inst., of a former resident of South Monaghan in the person of Mr. George Kerr. The deceased was a son of the late James Kerr, and was born in South Monaghan eighty years ago, and spent his early life in this township. He attended Victoria University, Cobourg, and from thence took up residence in Oshawa, where he entered banking circles, becoming manager of the Ontario Bank of that town. Later he removed to Pickering, where he assumed management of the Western Bank, a position he held, in spite of his advanced years, until a short time before his death. Mr. Kerr was a man of sterling qualities, and his genial manner made him popular with all who were favoured with his acquaintance. The late Mr. Kerr had spent almost fifty years of his life in connection with a bank, and was for thirty years a manager, an almost unprecedented record.

In religion Mr. Kerr was a Presbyterian, and in politics a Liberal. He was a member of the Masonic Order for many years.

Besides a widow, he leaves eight sons and two daughters to mourn his loss. The sons are George and Fred, druggists, of New York city, and Dr. James Kerr of the same city; Archie and Allan, bankers, Leamington, Ont.; Norman, in the employ of the Grand Trunk, and Herbert and Donald, and Misses Katie and Flora, at home. Mr. Kerr was twice married. Mr. John Kerr of Beaufort is the only surviving brother, and Mrs. Grieve of Stouffville the only sister.

FINE APPEARANCE IN NEW TUNICS

Local Salvation Army Band Compares Well With Visitors.

The band of the local corps of the Salvation Army appeared yesterday in their new tunics and presented a fine appearance which was the subject of general complimentary comment. In comparison with the Temple Band, which assisted in yesterdays services, it was the expressed opinion, that Band Master J M Greene's musicians were in no respect inferior to the visitors. Their soldierly carriage is very creditable and as a band they are continually progressing and becoming more efficient. Their instruments appear to be in good condition and have a fine tone.

PRESENTATIONS PRIOR TO DEPARTURE

Social Evening Spent in Orange Hall on Saturday Evening.

On Saturday night at the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McBrien, prior to their departure tomorrow to Northwestern Canada. Mr. McBrien, who was a member of the Royal Scarlet Chapter, was given a handsome book entitled "The Heart of the Rockies," and Mrs. McBrien was presented with a beautiful set of dishes. The following address was also read:

To Chas. McBrien, Esq.,
Peterborough Ont.

Dear Companion:

We, your fellow companions of the Royal Scarlet Chapter of West Peterborough, desire to take this opportunity, on the eve of your departure for the Golden West, to express our appreciation of the services which you have on all occasions so willingly and ably rendered to this Chapter, and to our Order at large, since you first became connected with it. Since then our Chapter has made rapid strides towards success, as has also all other branches of our association in this county. It is with no ordinary amount of pleasure that we note the spirit of revival which has recently taken hold of our membership in this locality, and that we have good reason for hoping that this is but the commencement of a new era in the history of Orangeism in this county of West Peterborough. We are conscious of the fact that much of this success is due to your devoted and untiring zeal on behalf of the institution, whose principles we all have so much at heart, and which we are satisfied, will yet become more universal and better understood as the years roll by.

To allow the present occasion to pass without in some way recognizing services so valuable as yours would be very ungrateful on our part. We therefore ask you and Mrs. McBrien to accept these small presents as a token of the esteem and regard in which you are held by the brethren and companions of this Chapter. Trusting they will serve to remind you of the many happy occasions on which we have been brought together, and the many pleasant hours spent in the Chapter room. And wishing you and your family every success in your new home, we beg to remain,

Faithfully and fraternally yours,
D. HAMILTON,
W. C. in C.

REIMBURSED FOR LOSS OF GRAIN

Mr. M. Blewett Returns Thanks to Lakefield Mill Owner.

Mr. Mordecai Blewett of Otonabee, who was a heavy loser in the fire at Mr. C. W. Cornish's mill at Lakefield last winter, desires to publicly thank Mr. Cornish through the columns of the Examiner for the very generous settlement he has made to him for the grain that was burned. The settlement is the more appreciated as Mr. Cornish was under no legal obligation to make it.

PETERBORO' HARDWARE WINDOW DISPLAY

The Peterborough Hardware Company is attracting large crowds about its north window. It is a miniature farm scene to advertise different kinds of fences. In the three sections there are live chickens, hens and rabbits, and a stuffed wild boar. A mother hen is seen with one lone Easter chicklet. The arrangement has been carefully carried out, the work being done by Mr. Jas. Squires.

From "The Cowboy and the Squaw," at the Grand next Thursday. One of the most startling scenes ever produced upon the stage. Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

MISSIONARIES FROM THE TRANSVAAL

Will Speak in Bethany Tabernacle This Evening.

Mrs. Spencer Walton, who will speak at Bethany Tabernacle this evening, is the wife of the late Mr. Spencer Walton, founder of the South African General Mission. For eight years Mrs. Walton has superintended the mission, co-ordinately with her husband, after which Rev. Andrew Murray became the president. Mrs. Walton is also the president of the Durham Y. W. C. A., during her residence there. As a refined, practical, spiritual woman she has done most effective work in the jail, and has been a welcome messenger in the hospitals. Mrs. Walton is also an impressive speaker, having addressed many open air services in South African cities, and numerous large gatherings in the various denominations in America. Mrs. Walton has left Africa for Africa's sake, that in England and America she might win others to love it for Jesus' sake. Leaving her four daughters in care of her mother, in England, she comes to give us her vision of God's longings for Africa.

This is her third trip to America, the other two having been made in company with her late husband, in which both were greatly owned of God.

Miss Ringland, who accompanies her, has also been a missionary on the field for some years, and has recently been appointed field secretary with headquarters in New York city. Both ladies come highly recommended and should receive a warm welcome. Miss Ringland spoke this afternoon at 3.30, and Mrs. Walton will give an address in the evening, at eight o'clock. Song service will begin at 7.45.

REV. DR. MARSH WAS CORRECT

Dr. Chant Says the Handbook Mr. Lowry Sticks To, Is Sometimes Mistaken.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S LETTER

To the Editor of the Examiner.

As vice-president of the Royal Astronomical Society, in Peterborough, I feel it my duty to give some information re Mr. Lowry's letters on Vernal Equinox.

In view of the fact that these letters seemed to but cloak a personal attack on Dr. Marsh, we must first commend our president for his silence under these circumstances. It was quite fitting that he should completely ignore such a contemptible proceeding.

At the last meetng of the society Dr. Marsh took the trouble to work out the problem on the blackboard, and, in addition, answered Mr. Lowry's several questions promptly and courteously.

While, not doubting the accuracy of Dr. Marsh's statements, I have made it my business to secure information from outside sources. And permit me to give here the following athorities, who corroborate the figures of our president:

1. Dr. W. F. King, the Dominion Astronomer at Ottawa Observatory, one of the most noted mathematicians of Canada.

2. F. L. Blake, the Government Astronomer, (not assistant, as Mr. Lowry states) Toronto Observatory. Mr. Blake has compiled tables for the government for upwards of twenty years.

3. The Naval Observatory at Washington. Here is computed the nautical ephemeris, a book carried on land and sea the world over.

4. The Greenwich Observatory, England.

With all these against him Mr. Lowry "sticks to the handbook," computed by Dr. Chant, Professor of Astronomy, Toronto University.

And now, Mr. Editor, I must remove this last prop by the following letter, from Prof. Chant himself:

University of Toronto, Department of Astronomy.

Dear Mr. Collier,—I have just received the three newspapers with some fiery effusions on vernal equinoxes and other spring subjects.——if the time given for the equinox on page 63 was not 12 hours in error.

I regret very much that there should be any such discussion over a simple matter of fact. It is very easy to make a slip in transforming the time of an occurrence stated in astronomical time of one place to the time of another, and I fear this is not the only error in the "Handbook." I am very sorry, however, that it is there.

I may say, however, that even the Nautical Almanac is not free from errors. I came across one in the British Almanac some time ago.

Call off the fight Mr. Collier.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours very sincerely,
C. A. CHANT.

Toronto, April 18th, 1908.

Allow me to say, in closing, that it ill becomes Mr. Lowry to vent some petty personal grievance by endeavouring to hurt the reputation of Dr. Marsh, and the influence of the Astronomical Society.

We are proud of our president and the honours he has received. He came to us with a good name, and we believe has worthily upheld such since.

When presented for the degree F.R.A.S., he was supported by the following very eminent gentlemen, Dr. Brashear, of Allegheny University; Prof. Warner, of Cleveland, (the maker of the Lick telescope); Sir Robert Ball, Cambridge University, England, and Prof. Rombaut, of Oxford University. From this it would appear that the abilities of Dr. Marsh must have been known somewhat at least beyond the line fence of the farm.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Sincerely yours,
HERBERT COLLIER.

MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

A veritable edition de luxe amongst railway pamphlets has just been issued by the Grand Trunk to proclaim amongst tourists the glories of the cities of Montreal and Quebec. The brochure is beautifully printed, and generally arranged in the artistic style of earlier days, when the ornamentation of a volume was regarded as an important incident to its presentation of reading matter. It is also very well written, and gives an interesting description of the two most interesting cities in Canada, with many illustrations from photographs that have not hitherto been published. Sent to any address on receipt of a two-cent stamp. Apply to J. D. McDonald, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

THE LOST AD. BROUGHT BACK BUFFALO ROBE

Another proof of the efficiency of the Examiner "Lost" ads. was brought to light Saturday night. Last week a Young's Point party lost a Buffalo robe on the Lakefield road. An ad. was inserted in the Examiner, and on Saturday night a youthful but honest boy carried it into the Examiner office, where it now is, awaiting a call from the owner.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Meeting of the Executive on Friday—Reports Received and Officers Elected.

The executive of the County Sunday School Association met in the Y. M.C.A. yesterday morning, the president, Mr. R. C. Heard, of Bridgenorth, being in the chair.

The chief business was the reception of reports and the election of officers. Mr. R. Lees reported on behalf of the committee appointed to deal with the matter of organization for the township of Chandos, that two meetings had been held, one at Apsley and one at Clydesdale, but that the meetings had not been largely attended and that no formal organization had been undertaken.

The general secretary reported that returns had been received, almost complete, from the district organizations in Otonabee, Asphodel and Dummer, but that for the rest of the county returns were very incomplete, except for the village of Lakefield.

The treasurer's report showed receipts for the year of $268.93, including $34.88 on hand last year. Disbursements, $235.21, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer at the present time of $33.72.

The question of holding district conventions was considered. Some members were of the opinion that in September would be a better time for them than in May or June, as has been the custom. A committee consisting of the president, secretary, and Rev. Messrs. Harrison of Keene, Currie of Warsaw, and Boyer of Gilmour Church, Smith, was appointed to deal with the matter, and to make such arrangements as will best suit the convenience of the local organizations.

It was announced that the executive of the city association at a recent meeting had passed a resolution favouring a separation of the city and county organizations, and that the question would be dealt with at the next meeting of the city association.

Officers for the year were elected as follows:

President — R. C. Heard, Bridgenorth.
Vice-Pres.—Wm. Borland, Indian River.
Treasurer—A. J. Johnston, Peterborough.
Gen. Secretary—Richard Lees, Peterborough.
Superintendents—
Primary — Miss Sherin, Lakefield.
Home — Joseph Succee, Peterborough.
Teacher Training — Dr. Metzler, Bridgenorth, for the West.
Rev. D A Thompson, Hastings, for the East.

Representative on the Provincial Executive, and Delegate to the Provincial Convention, which meets in Orillia on October 27, 28 and 29 — Dr. Metzler.

Lively Scene At Rye's Boat House Re-painting Launches

There were signs of industry at Rye's boat house on Good Friday, as the amateur mariners prepared their dry barks for another season on the river and lake. Among those who were looking after their launches were Messrs. F Dobbin, B Gordon, of the "Rambler," Robt. Wright, of the "Bessie"; Messrs. Mitchell and Meredith, of the "Flirt," Mr. J Fraser, of the "Idaho"; Mr. Roy, of the "Rob Roy"; Mr. Allen of the "Tootsie," and several others. Cleaning and painting was the order of the day, and the little crafts had their usual bright appearance before the day was done.

The boating season on the Otonabee promises to be livelier than ever this year and Mr. Rye's headquarters should be a busy place.

Scene from "Raffles, The Amateur Cracksman."

In every way "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," in which Mr. S. Miller Kent will appear at the Grand Wednesday, April 22nd, is unusually interesting. The well born, gentlemanly thief, who steals from his social friends, not for the value of the loot he may accumulate, but because he is the victim of a hereditary taint, makes a dramatic study in himself. Then, as the playwright has made the main figure the centre of the story, which is one of exceptional power, the attention is naturally all the more enhanced. Again, S. Miller Kent, who plays Raffles, has to a marked degree the ease of manner, the cool air and force of quiet art that the character particularly calls for.

Programme Of Elocution By Mrs. Scott-Raff Friday Night

The Mission Band of the George street Methodist Church delighted a large audience on Friday night in a concert in which Mrs Scott-Raff, of Toronto, was the entertainer, assisted by some local talent. Mrs. Scott-Raff represents the methods of the Toronto School of Expression, and by her reading on a former occasion at Charlotte street Methodist Church, won many friends by the finished style of her elocution. Last night she won new laurels, presenting her well chosen numbers in an interesting and dramatic manner.

Rev. E A Pearson was a capable chairman.

Mrs. Scott-Raff's first reading was the 13 chapter, 1st verse of St. Paul to the Corinthians. Other numbers were "My Ship," "In the Spring," and as an encore "A Prayer." Her reading from "The Great Divide" was particularly good, being replete with dramatic touches. Mrs. Scott-Raff's concluding number was Browning's "Pippa Passes" and was a fitting conclusion to an unusually interesting concert.

The other numbers on the programme were a piano solo by Miss E Smith, a vocal solo entitled "God's Slumberland" by Miss Olive Howell, a piano and violin duet by Miss Ida Sanderson and Miss Ethel Girvin, and "The Palms" sung by Miss Sanderson. Each number was creditably given and added to the charm of the whole programme.

PETERBOROUGH MAN DIES IN THE NAVAL HOSPITAL AT CHELSEA

Mr. Edward Divine, 573 Bolivar street, received word from Boston on Saturday of the death of his son, Edward Divine, in the Marine Hospital at Chelsea. The deceased was born in Peterborough 24 years ago, and nearly five years ago joined the American Navy. One year and a half he spent in actual service, most of which was in the Philippines. In connection with his naval experience, the late Mr. Divine was for a time in Cuba, and saw many parts of the world.

He was taken to the hospital at Chelsea some time ago, but the parents do not know yet the cause of his death. The body is expected to arrive in the city on Tuesday night, and the funeral will be held on Wednesday morning from the family residence, 573 Bolivar street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

ALLEN-O'NEILL

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at 6.30 o'clock, at the Charlotte street Methodist parsonage, the interested parties being Miss Zella O'Neil, daughter of the late William O'Neil, of Peterborough, to Mr. Joseph Allen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Manning in the presence of a few friends of the bride and groom. Before leaving on the evening G.T.R. train for Lindsay, the wedding guests partook of the pleasure of a delightful supper. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside in Peterborough.

METZLER-NUGENT

A quiet but pretty Easter wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. W. D. Nugent, Millbrook, on Saturday last, when his only daughter, Annie Maude, was married to Rev. G. F. Metzler, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., pastor of the Methodist church, Bridgenorth. The bride was unattended, and was given away by her father.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. S. Wight, B.A., B.D., of Bridgenorth, assisted by the Rev. G.R. Clare of Millbrook. The bride wore a pretty travelling suit of navy blue, the coat opening over a silk net and baby Irish lace blouse, and a dainty Tuscan hat. Among the many valuable presents was a handsome clock from the teachers and officers of the Methodist Sunday school, a fruit spoon from the bride's Sunday school class, and a beautiful cut glass fruit dish from the Presbyterian congregation, accompanied by an address, expressing their appreciation of the bride's assistance in their choir. Dr. and Mrs. Metzler will reside at Bridgenorth.

Suffered 20 Years

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured in 2 Months

St. Raphaels, Ont.

For over twenty years I suffered from Chronic Constipation of the bowels, and I could get no medicine to cure me. I tried doctors and every known purgative, or laxative, medicine known but I was no better. Sometimes, if I did not take medicine, I would go four or five days, without any action of the bowels. During all this time I was weak and suffered from Indigestion constantly.

About a year ago a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives" as they had helped her. I began taking "Fruit-a-tives" and from the outset I began to feel better, and inside of a month the pains were almost gone and the Constipation relieved. In two months I was perfectly well again, no pains, no constipation, and my complexion had lost all that sallow appearance.

(Sgd) MARY A. McDONELL.

"Fruit-a-tives"—or Fruit Liver Tablets—are the only remedy known to science that actually cure Constipation. They do this by making the liver healthy and active—thus causing more bile to flow into the bowels. 152

"Fruit-a-tives" — or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE LATEST SPORTS

BASEBALL MEETING TO-NIGHT

To be Held at Y. M. C. A. To-night at 8 o'clock—Selection of Players.

THERE ARE 164 NAMES

The representatives of the Intermediate Baseball League teams are reminded of the meeting to-night. Through the kindness of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. the meeting will be held in the ante-room at eight o'clock. The following teams should be represented: Strathcona, Y. M. C. A., West Ends, T. A. S., Knockers, Grafters, Lakeviews, Karnots and Wellingtons.

The work of receiving the names of the players from the teams will be a most difficult task. There are 164 names, not including the Y. M. C. A. and Wellingtons. Some of the players have signed with more than one team. In fact, one of the men is signed with three lists.

From the opinions expressed by members of the various teams, more latitude will be used in selecting the men. This, in fact, is a necessity, as guild league men figure on every team, and it is not expected that a player will be refused because of that circumstance.

What do you know about this little affair. One of the representatives reports that two men, who promised to play for him, held him up when the time came to sign, for a small salary. One wanted five dollars for the season, the other two dollars for every game he played in. Wouldn't that jar you? Sounds like Hans Wagner turning down Manager Clark, but then everyone has the privilege of estimating his ability according to his own standards.

MR. MURPHY HAS A GOOD WALKER

Says That Harrison Will be Among the Winners on Saturday Night.

To the Sporting Editor.

Dear Sir,—Seeing that we are on the eve of the greatest walking event in the history of Peterborough, and I suppose of Canada, and seeing you have taken a great interest in the same, and some of the contestants, I would like to let you know that I am bringing out the real goods in the shape of a walker, and that in Jimmy Harrison, I want to let the people of Peterborough know that we have another walker besides Davy and we are out to win. Jimmy Harrison has quite a reputation as an all round athlete, having made a name for himself in the football world, and other realms of sport, and as for walking, it has been his hobby right from boyhood. He has been strictly amateur all his life, and this is his first venture in professional sport, and we are in it to win so keep an eye on the old English lad. His trainer might not be so well up to his work as others, but what I lack in the methods of training, Jimmy makes up for in his marvellous speed.

I see in you issue of last week the statement that I was training him for the big walk, and I wish to state here I have just picked Jimmy out of a host of aspirants for the big contest. Kid McCoy is looking after the less speedy men, and I am coaching one of the winners. Now, Mr. Editor, before I close and with Mr. G. Stevens' consent, I would like to suggest here, that to add local interest to the big walk, the Quaker tug of war team are open to pull any other team in the town or County of Peterborough for the cup, which was last won by them We are open to meet all comers, on either of the following nights, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. Hoping this side of the sporting game has not quite died out, I remain

Yours respectfully,
JOHN MURPHY.

THE WALKING MATCH GOES ON

On Saturday a writ was issued issued against the Hockey Rink Company, Limited, by Messrs. Sheridan and Henderson through Mr. A. P. Pousette, their lawyer. They asked for unstated damages for breach of covenants contained in lease of Brock street rink, and for wrongfully entering the premises, and for an injunction to restrain the rink company from dealing with the property.

The motion for the injunction was argued to-day, and the proceedings dismissed with costs, consequently the rink company are within their rights and the walking match will take place as advertised. Mr. S. T. Medd acted for the company, and Mr. A. P. Pousette, K.C., for Messrs. Henderson and Sheridan.

ARE LAWLESS FANATICS.

Medicine Hat, April 20.—Continuing the evidence on Saturday against young Merkel, one of the "Dreamers," witness Lehr stated he would probably share the fate of J. W. Martin, J.P., who is missing and supposedly drowned. Martin was the magistrate who fined the Gill woman for shooting at the Lehr children, and Christian Gill and threatened to do away with him (Lehr) if he got a chance, and had actually drawn a knife on him. On one occasion Merkel carried a rifle.

Adolph and Michael Brost had heard the prisoner make threats that Lehr would die like a beast. Reib Bombach and others had heard Merkel say in Irvine that he would go like Martin.

One Schneider testified that the leader of the Dreamers two years ago told of the belief in destroying the lives and property of those not in sympathy, and of carrying out the interpretations of dreams. The prisoner had dreamed once that his wife had slain her brother and in the morning rode over to his brother-in-law's and shot him, not fatally. He was fined $100 and 30 days in jail. Witness knew the Dreamers had burned buildings as the result of dreams.

Michael Brost repeated the evidence given against former prisoner Nieman, telling of planning a meeting for the prisoner to shoot Michael Gill through the window while Emmanuel Gill kept watch on the dogs. Markel showed him a revolver, with which he intended to shoot if anyone started to talk. Since then the prisoner had told him while passing on the street he would kill him if he ever caught him alone on the prairie.

DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES.

Much Damage Done by Floods In Texan Cities.

Fort Worth, Texas, April 20.—Another rise of three feet in Clear and West Forks forced thousands of persons to flee from their homes in East Fort Worth Saturday. So far as known four persons have lost their lives.

The rise was so rapid that people were obliged to leave their furniture and personal effects. At least 3,000 persons have been rendered homeless and all streams are still rising.

Railroad service is badly crippled, and the Texas & Pacific Railroad reports that it will not be able to send out trains west for two or three days. The Fort Worth & Rio Grande and the Sante Fe roads are running but few trains. Five hundred delegates to the state labor convention are water-bound here.

A cloudburst in Parker and Palorinco counties will probably send the Brazos and Trinity rivers two feet higher, and these streams are now higher than in 25 years. North Fort Worth is isolated and 500 houses are submerged. Mineral City, near Weatherford, is under water, and Cleburne, south of here, on the Santa Fe, is surrounded by the flood. Engineer Long and Fireman Allsup were found dead under their engine yesterday. Their train left the track in a washout a mile north of Cleburne.

Crops over a large area have been destroyed, and the estimated loss will reach over half a million dollars. All night the police fired a continual volley of shots to warn residents in the flood district.

Leaped Through Train Window.

Casselman, Ont., April 20.—While being taken to the Brockville asylum, John Lalande, an insane man from St. Isidore, in Prescott County, eluded his guard, and three miles east of Morrisburg, on the G.T.R., jumped out of a window of the car while the train was going forty-five miles an hour.

Constable E. Chevrier of Casselman, who was in charge of the demented man, had left him for a few minutes to wash his hands. Lalande was handcuffed at the time, and, curious to say, no bones were broken in his fall.

The man was soon captured, and he is now seriously ill in the Brockville Asylum from the effects of his wild leap.

Unknown Killed by a Train.

London, April 20.—About 2 o'clock Saturday morning an unknown man was struck by an eastbound freight train on the Grand Trunk, near Cove Bridge, and died a few minutes after being brought to the city. The unfortunate man was walking on the north track when the accident occurred. His description: Dark hair and mustache of the same color, dark skinned, thought to be an Italian, sharp pointed features, weighing about 150 pounds, and about 5 feet 8 inches tall. He was shabbily dressed and his clothes did not indicate that he had done any work in them for some time past.

murderer Cremates Himself.

Seneca, Kas., April 20.—James Lally, charged with murder, was burned to death yesterday in a fire which destroyed the jail here.

BIG WALKING CONTEST OPENS AT BROCK STREET RINK TO-NIGHT

Biggest Sporting Event Ever Pulled Off in Peterborough Will Be Under Way at 7 o'clock---Cream of the Walkers of England, United States and Canada Here For the Event---Enormous Crowds Are Certain.

The six-day walking race, the biggest sporting event ever held in Peterborough, will be opened at 7 o'clock to-night, when a score of walkers, representing the cream of Canadian, English and American pedestrians, will start out on their thirty-six hour grind. With one or two exceptions, the contestants are veterans at the game, and it will be a battle of giants all the way, with woe to the weaklings early in the contest. Never before in Canada has such a field got together, and this week will see some of the grandest and most exciting sport in the history of athletics in this country.

The congress of walkers, that has gathered here for the event, is a truly cosmopolitan one. The United States, represented by Willard S. Hoagland, world's champion; Tom. Slater, of Oswego, N. Y.; Ray Fenton, of Auburn, N. Y., and Jas. G. Graham, of Buffalo, N. Y. The English contestants are Jack Cooper, the former crack amateur of the Essex and Surrey Walking Clubs; Walter Harrow, now of Sudbury, formerly of London, Eng.; Chas. Stenner, ow of Warsaw. The Canadians in the race are David Hartley, Jim Howson and Chas. A. Stevens, of Peterborough; R. J. Hatton, of Toronto, and others. S. L. Brooks, now of Toronto, is a Welshman, and in addition there is the Indian, Billy Naugon, of Hiawatha, and the negro, J. E. Blake, who walked all the way from Syracuse, N. Y., for the race.

In view of the nature of the entries, the race threatens to become an international affair. There is intense rivalry between the English and American walkers, and the former are determined to show the invaders from Uncle Sam's domain, that they are not the only walkers on the face of the earth. They are out after the scalps of Hoagland and Slater, and say that the American cracks will have to extend themselves to the limit if they hope to win. Cooper is looked upon by the "Yankees" as a dangerous man, and to-night will see a series of desperate sprints, in which Hoagland and Slater will try to kill him off, as well as some of the other likely competitors.

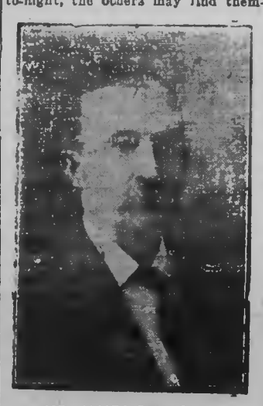
And Dave Hartley can't be overlooked in figuring out the dope, for Trainer Dick Baker has got his man in the best of shape he has ever been seen in, and when he sets sail to-night, the others may find themselves engaged in a long, stern chase. Hartley has been saying little and working hard, and the result of his training may prove a surprise to Hoagland and Slater, who defeated him at Kansas City. Peterborough's crack little walker is burning, for revenge, and he may be depended upon to put up the race of his life.

Harrison is another local man who is to be counted on. He has shown great speed in his training, and if he can hold out, there certainly will be doings. S. L. Brooks, of Toronto, the Welsh and Australian champion, who will be the oldest man in the race, fancies himself for the 72 hours, and has many times since his arrival made the assertion that he will beat Hartley.

A great deal of interest is being taken in Blake, the game negro, who walked all the way to Toronto for the race, arriving without funds. He has made many friends already, and will be a favourite with the crowd from the start.

A bunch of Toronto men are coming down to see Cooper perform, and great things are expected of him from his friends in that city.

The crowd is going to see sport from the drop of the bat to-night, as the majority of the walkers seem to regard the first four hours as the crucial period. All seem actuated with the idea that they will have to go after each other from the start, and the excitement will be intense. There is no question of that. With fifteen or more cracks let out to the last notch, in the hope of getting rid of dangerous competitors early in the race, you can figure on some tall walking, and it would not surprise the wise ones any if some records go by the boards to-night. The starters are all confident, and it will be a battle royal. Hoagland is picked by the majority of local people to win, but if he does he will know that he has been in a race, anyway," said one man to the Examiner to-day, and that is the way a lot of them are looking at it.



MR. JAMES REYNOLDS,

Port Hope, who arrived in the city to-day to referee the walking tournament.

Notes of the Race

Blake's (the negro) number in the race is 11, and he smiled when it was given him. "Seems to me I get all the 'crap' game numbers," he said. "Down at Kansas City they gave me 7, so it's '7 come 11.'"

Hoagland, who is somewhat of a joker, told Blake that the coloured people of Peterborough were going to give him a dinner. He was smacking his lips in anticipation, until he found that, barring himself, there wasn't a negro in the city.

Chas. Stenner, the Warsaw entry, who is an ex-soldier, is apprehensive that he may find himself falling into step with the band.

There will be a duel between Charlie Stevens of Peterborough and Ray Fenton of Auburn, N.Y. Both are in their teens.

In addition to the contestants, there will be two plucky old walkers at the rink in the persons of Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope and Mark Spencely of Peterborough, who are to act as referees.

The scorers will be stationed in the gallery, and the score boards can be seen from any portion of the rink. In addition, Mr. Archie Moore will be the announcer, and it will not be hard to follow the progress of the walkers.

Hoagland and Slater do not appear to have much fear of the result, but if the calculations of the rest do not go astray there will be "doings" all week.

Dr. Johnston's "unknown" has turned out to be R. J. Hatton of Toronto, the former long distance running champion. Hatton is confident of making a good showing. He has taken part in several 72-hour walking races and has always got a place in the local meet.

Jack Cooper, now of Toronto, but a former member of the Surrey and Essex walking clubs of London, Eng., arrived on Saturday night ready for the race. Cooper comes with a great reputation as an amateur in England and has defeated such men as Butler, the English amateur champion. He is reported to have a great burst of speed, and has negotiated 25 miles in four hours, and as 22 miles is the outside calculation of what will be made by the leaders to-night, it is easy to see that Cooper is a man to be feared. He has done some great short distance racing, and is confident that he can last out the grind.

Ray Fenton, who comes from Hoagland's home, Auburn, N.Y., is only 17 years of age, but has won seven out of nine races in which he has participated. They were all at short distances, but he seems to have no fear of the week's racing.

The grand march will take place at 6.45 o'clock, and the race will start sharp on the stroke of 7.

A quick shot

A man who prepares to go hunting expects to find the game wide awake and alert. He cannot afford to be asleep himself when selecting cartridges.

He can inform himself at the store and know how superior Dominion ammunition is. A trial will prove, too, that our cartridges are never asleep when he pulls the trigger.

For all makes of arms. Costs one-third to one-fifth less than duty paysed ammunition. Our guarantee puts all risk on the Dominion Cartridge Co., Ltd., Montreal.

DOMINION AMMUNITION

EUGENE WILL MEET KENNEDY

Contract Has Been Forwarded to the Crescent Athletic Club.

Chris. Graham of Peterborough, who is managing Gene Hurtubise, the Peterborough giant rugby player and wrestler, now that he has turned pro. to meet Frank Kennedy, the masquerading German heavyweight wrestler, at Mutual street rink next Wednesday, to-day forwarded his contract to the new Crescent Athletic Club, which is putting up the purse. Graham says Hurtubise will go at Kennedy just like he did the amateurs—a rush, a grab, and one of his famous rib-crushing hugs.

BLAKE'S ARRIVAL IN TORONTO

Toronto Star Has Something to Say About the Plucky Negro.

The Toronto Star has the following to say of J. E. Blake's arrival in Toronto:

J. E. Blake, the negro who walked from Florida to Kansas City to start in the six-day walking grind there, and who walked two days without attention and but little food before his predicament was discovered, arrived in town yesterday on foot from Syracuse, N. Y., en route to Peterborough, where he will meet Dave Hartley and some other peds in a grind commencing on Monday. Somebody told him that Tom Flanigan and Tim O'Rourke would look after him here, and he headed for the Grand Central.

He left at 6 o'clock for Peterborough, and says that if he gets good roads he will be there by to-night.

Blake, a well-built fellow of 35 years of age, is unusually quiet. He speaks only when spoken to, and is very modest about his achievements.

"I suppose I could get my transportation if I wrote for it, but I don't like to ask for it if I can get there on my own hook," said Blake simply. "I'm broke, so I walk. It's good training for me."

ROLLED A BIG SCORE AT DETROIT

Team With Which Boyd and Frost are Bowling Totalled 2781 Pins.

A telegram has been received at the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys from Messrs. Frost and Boyd, of the local club, who are bowling with the Canadian Bowling Club's five-man team in the Michigan State tournament at Detroit, to the effect that on Saturday their team beat Windsor by the score of 2781 to 2650. The score is a very creditable one, although it falls below the record set by a Detroit club last week of well over 2900 pins.

REYNOLDS WILL ACT AS REFEREE

Well Known Port Hope Walker Has Agreed to Officiate

Mr. Geo. N. Graham, of the Oriental Hotel, has received the following letter from Jimmy Reynolds, of Port Hope:

Dear George,—You asked me, over the 'phone, to referee the walking contest, which takes place next week. I will be in your city next Monday morning, all being well and will act in the capacity of referee.

Hoping to see you Monday

Your old friend,

JAMES REYNOLDS.

This will be welcome news to local people, who are anxious to get a look at the plucky old Port Hope barber who, more than any one else is responsible for the boom in the walking game in this country.

Messrs. C E Frost and Tommy Boyd, of the Peterborough Bowling Club, were rolling on Saturday in the Michigan State Tournament at Detroit. It was Canadian day and nine Canadian teams were rolling.

George Cairns has the highest score so far for the week at the Peterborough Bowling Club's Alley, getting a score of 220.

From now on we'll present from time to time the proper styles for Men, which it will pay you to look over Sir, if you're at all interested in nobby clothes. SEE OUR WINDOW

AN AGED PHYSICIAN

After Years of Experience Gives the Following Advice.

"If you have anything to do with medicines at all, be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

Our local druggists, McDermid & Jury, say this is a strong point in favour of the valuable cod liver preparation, Vinol. Everything it contains is plainly printed on the label, therefore it is not a patent medicine.

Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal, body-building elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood, added.

This is the reason that Vinol accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic coughs, colds, bronchial and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run-down, over-worked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinol.

We can only ask every person in Peterborough who needs such a medicine to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough.

Fresh tea is all-important. Tea weeks after being picked in the tea gardens of the Island of Ceylon (the finest tea-producing country in the world) "Salada" reaches you. At the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. A. J. Johnston, 19 Donnistoun avenue, Martha L. Stevens, the youngest daughter of the late John Henry Stevens, passed away early this morning. THE CANDIDATURE OF MR. McNULTY

The Utica Globe of Saturday contains an excellent cut of Mr. P. McNulty, candidate for the Legislature in East Peterborough. In connection with the cut the Globe says in part:

A MOST SUCCESSFUL AT HOME

Conducted by Ladies of St. Peter's T.A.S. Last Night.

In spite of many counter attractions, the T. A. S. "at-home" last night was as successful as any that has been held in the society's rooms during the past winter. It was the last social of the season and was a fitting close to the several happy events of this kind that have been conducted by the ladies of the T. A. S. The winners of the progressive euchre games were Miss Minnie O'Connor and Mr. Jos. Laundry. In all there were about 250 persons present. Light refreshments were served by the ladies.

Teas grown at high altitudes on the mountain slopes of Ceylon, where the growth is slower and cultivation more careful than in the warm, humid climate of the valleys, are used in "Salada" Tea. High-grown teas, like "Salada," is not only of a finer quality, but contains more of the essential oil in the leaf than valley-grown tea. This is easily proved by comparing a drawing of "Salada" Tea with any other.—23.

THE TEMPLE BAND WELL RECEIVED

The Temple Band of Toronto which arrived here on Saturday morning from Cobourg were well received by the citizens of Peterborough and the seating capacity of the barracks was taxed to its utmost both on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon when the band rendered a splendid programme. The music was heartily enjoyed by all present, and several of the numbers were encored.

On Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock the local Salvation Army Band, which has reached a high state of efficiency

STAFF CAPTAIN WALTON.
Of Toronto, in charge of the Temple Band, which gave a sacred concert at the Salvation Army Barracks yesterday in the art of music, together with the visiting band, paraded the streets en masse, after which a musical entertainment was given on the street corner, which was listened to by several hundred people.

Those who had the pleasure of hearing the band when it was here on its tour two years ago will see a decided improvement in the band. The strength has been increased, and several new instruments have been added. The band compares favorably with many of the regimental bands that have visited this city, and is a credit to the religious organization it represents.

The following was the programme rendered Sunday afternoon:

March—B. J. 535.
Recitation—Bandsman Sparks.
Selection—"Guide Me, Great Jehovah"—B.J. 548.
Song—"Rock of Ages"—Tune, Bath Abbey—Band.
Euphonium Solo—Bandsman Groom—Selected.
March—"Leyton"—B.J. 539.
Song—"A Bit of Bird History"—Bandsman Perver.

PART II.

Cornet Solo—Bandsman McGrath—Selected.
Selection—"Mercy"—B.J. 534.
Vocal Trio—"For Shame, Sir"—Bandsmen Sparks, Delamont and Dunn.
March—"The Flag"—B.J. 554.
Hymn—"St Peter"—B.B 311—Saxophone Solo.
Song—"Liberty"—Bandsman Sparks.

During their short stay in the city the bandsmen were entertained by the members of the Salvation Army corps and were billeted in the homes of the different members. They were are well pleased with the trip and hope to be able to return to Peterborough to give another concert at an early date. The band left this morning for Port Hope, where they give a programme to-night.

A RED LETTER DAY AT ST. LUKE'S SUNDAY

Sunday was a red letter day at St. Luke's church, and the Easter services were attended by large congregations. The Holy Eucharist was celebrated by the Rector at 7, 8, and 12 o'clock, and about 250 people partook of the Holy Sacrament. Baptismal services were held at 10 a.m., and 6 p.m., and several children were baptized.

The Rector preached at the 11 a.m. service on the Significance of the Resurrection, and at the evening service he spoke on "The Bright and Morning Star," which he applied to the Resurrection of Christ, as heralding the "Sun in its Strength" at the Second Advent.

The choir under the able leadership of Miss Charlotte English, rendered joyful music. The anthem "Break Forth Into Joy" was exceptionally well sung, owing to the splendid training the choir had received from Mr. Rupert Gliddon, of the Conservatory. Miss Ruth Dawson and Mr. J J Turner took the solo parts in splendid manner. Both at morning and evening Prayer Miss Ruth Dawson sang "Eastertide," in excellent voice.

The offertory, as is the custom at St. Luke's, was most generous, $425 being given during the day, not counting the special self denial offerings given on each Sunday during Lent. The Rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, had a busy day. He officiated at various services at St. Luke's at 7, 8, 10, 12, 6, and 7, and also officiated at St. Mark's, Otonabee at 3 p.m.

TO IMPRESS TURKEY

Italian Squadron Will Demonstrate in Eastern Waters.

TO ENFORCE TREATY RIGHTS

Difficulties With Porte Over Opening of Postoffice—Duke of the Albruzzi Also Goes — Eight Destroyers to Join the Fleet—Italian Missionary Murdered at Tripoli—Feeling In St. Petersburg.

Rome, April 20.—An Italian squadron, under command of Admiral F. Grenet, will set sail probably to-day for the purpose of making a demonstration in Turkish waters. The squadron comprises eleven battleships, and includes the battleship Regina Elena, commanded by the Duke of the Abruzzi. Altogether the vessels will carry 5,095 men, and their objective point will be Asia Minor, some seven hundred miles away.

It has been decided, if it is deemed necessary, also to occupy a small island off that coast, but it is hoped here that Turkey may see the error of her way and give full satisfaction, so that more energetic measures may be avoided.

The difficulty between the two nations arises out of the refusal of the Turkish Government to permit the construction of Italian postoffices in Turkish territory, while at the same time other foreign nations have established, and are conducting, postoffices there without interference.

Considerable irritation has been felt here also over the murder of an Italian missionary in Tripoli, and the persecution by the Ottoman authorities of natives who have sold land to Italians, but the present action of the Italian Government is based primarily on the postoffice question. With regard to this, however, the Turkish ambassador in Rome has pointed out in an interview that his Government has in no instance granted to the countries in question such privileges, although it has "tolerated" the postoffices which they have maintained.

For years it has been felt in Government circles in Rome that Turkey has been taking advantage of the international situation to act in a high-handed manner towards Italians, showing but little respect for Italian rights. This Government, it is stated, has been indulgent, not wishing to cause complications which might endanger the accord of the powers with regard to the Ottoman or the Balkan problems.

In addition, there has been much opposition on the part of Turkey to all peaceful Italian initiative in Tripoli, and matters reached a climax when Italy asked for permission to open postoffices in Turkish territory, where other powers already were established, and met with what is considered by the administration here an unjustifiable refusal, as besides being an acquired right Italy considers that she is entitled to claim it according to treaties between the two countries, granting her the privilege of the most-favored-nation clause.

Apparently Turkey came to the conclusion that the Russian Government would never resort to extreme measures in view of the fact that the Macedonian problem is indispensible, and she went so far as to order detachments of troops to guard the Italian postoffices and thus prevent the work from being carried on.

To this provocation the Italian administration felt that it could only reply with coercive measures in order to protect the dignity of Italy and safeguard her rights. In issuing orders for a demonstration of Italian warships in Turkish waters, Italy desired clearly to show that she did not wish to take advantage of the situation for the purposes of occupying any territory. Thus the demonstration will not occur off Tripoli, nor is it intended to influence the Balkan problems by directing the fleet towards Albania or Macedonia. The squadron will go direct to Asia Minor.

Great satisfaction is felt here, and it is stated that all the powers have approved Italy's decision to take recourse to force if necessary to protect her interests, which is an indication that they believe that Italy has no intention of permanent territorial occupation.

It was learned last night that eight destroyers will join the squadron, bringing the number of men in the fleet up to nearly 7,000, with about 500 big guns.

It is expected that the demonstration will begin on Thursday.

The trouble is regarded as the culmination of numerous irritations, including the situation in the Balkans. Italy has the entire sympathy of Great Britain in the matter.

Surprise to Russia.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—The Italian naval demonstration against Turkey, which was announced here last night, came as a complete surprise to the Russian Government officials, and to the members of the diplomatic corps, as it had not been preceded by any intimation of the existence of a dispute between the two countries.

The various diplomats and the Russian Foreign Office officials heard the news with a great show of interest, the consensus of opinion being that this action on the part of Italy is of great significance, occurring as it does just at the time that the Sultan's best friend, Emperor William of Germany is visiting in the Mediterranean.

The opinion is expressed here that Italy's bold example in dealing with Turkey will lead to more vigorous intervention on the part of Great Britain and Russia in behalf of Macedonia.

France After Turkey, Too.

Constantinople, April 20.—The attempt of the Turkish Government to regain control of coal mines at Eregli, a town of Asia-Minor, 128 miles from Constantinople, in which a French company is interested to the extent of $15,000,000, has led to a serious diplomatic difference. The French Government supports the concessionaries, who decline to entertain the question of a resale of the property until the Porte furnishes proof of its ability to bring forth the purchase money, which, considering the impoverishment of the Turkish treasury, is manifestly impossibly.

Meanwhile France has closed her market to any Turkish loan, and the French embassy has notified the Porte that France will exact an indemnity of $2,500, for every day that settlement is delayed, in addition to a compensation of $2,800,000 for losses to the company incurred by disturbances.

The incident has been the subject of more than ordinary attention because of the attitude of Italy towards Turkey, as shown by the threatened demonstration by Italian warships in Turkish waters.

BURGLARS FIRE SHOTS.

Man Disturbs Marauders and Volley of Bullets Is the Result.

London, April 20.—For several weeks a gang of bold burglars have infested western Ontario. Banks, postoffices and railway stations have been their especial prey, but they have also entered stores and dwellings. They are armed, and do not hesitate to use their weapons.

They have succeeded in terrorising the southwestern part of the province and seemingly are showing their sneering contempt at the apparently half-hearted and certainly ineffectual efforts of the Attorney-General's Department sleuth to hit their trail.

Three days ago they used explosives on the safe in the Leamington postoffice, but were scared away.

During Friday night two men, supposedly of the same gang, infested the little Village of Wheatley, in Kent County, attempting two burglaries and shooting at James Reynolds.

Two places were entered. The first to be broken into was the hardware store of Richard Dobbin, and five revolvers were stolen. About one o'clock Reynolds heard a noise in his bakeshop below his dwelling, and arising he went to the head of the stairs and asked who was there. Two men, one a short, thick-set fellow, and the other tall, ran to the foot of the stairs, and the tall man fired five shots in succession at him, all of which buried themselves in the wall, but did not hit him. Frightened evidently by their own temerity, the pair took to their heels, the tall man jumping through a plate glass window in the front of the shop, and his companion escaped through the back door. The alarm was raised and the village aroused, with the result that a chase was given, but no trace of the men could be picked up.

TWO BANKS THE VICTIMS.

Man Arrested at Sarnia Got $830 by a Check Game.

Sarnia, Ont., April 20.—A man who gave his name as James B. Young, is being held by the police of Sarnia for passing worthless checks on the Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Toronto here.

Last Tuesday Young deposited $50 in the Bank of Commerce. Later he deposited a check for $400 on a bank in Springfield, Mass. On Thursday afternoon he appears with a check for $300, which appears to be certified to by the same Springfield bank. The $300 check was paid, but later, becoming suspicious, the bank telegraphed to Springfield, and found that both checks were bogus, and the certification was forged. Last night it developed that the Bank of Toronto had been swindled by precisely the same operation to the amount of $580, the losses of the two banks aggregating $830.

Boys Committed Murder.

Cunnison, Colo., April 20.—Fred Collings, aged 17, and Edward Carver, aged 13, were convicted of the murder of Louis Bruno, near Crested Butte. Collings' conviction is for first degree murder and a life sentence was recommended. Carver is found guilty of second degree murder. In his case the jury recommended clemency.

The evidence showed that the lads had fired on Bruno from ambush and when he ran had followed, shooting him down as he begged for mercy. They robbed him of $57. The defence claimed that Collings is mentally unbalanced and that Carver did no shooting.

Wrecked on 90-Foot Embankment.

Perry, N.Y., April 20.—A light engine running at full speed in a heavy fog met the Perry accommodation on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg in a head-on collision at Rockglen, eight miles from here Saturday night. Michael Sallon of Perry, fireman on the passenger engine, was crushed and scalded, and may die. He was rushed to Rochester on a relief train. The light engine was trying to make a siding not more than 50 rods from the scene of the wreck. The wreck occurred on a ledge overlooking a 90-foot embankment.

Emigrating to Canada.

London, April 20.—(C.A.P.)—Under the auspices of the Jewish Colonial Society, the headquarters of which are in Paris, emigration of Roumanian Jews to Canada is largely increasing.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE

Premature Explosion Sends Nine Men to Terrible Death.

THREE OTHERS ARE INJURED

Quebec, April 20.—By the premature explosion of a dynamite mine in a rock cut on the Transcontinental Railway, at Armagh, in the County of Bellechasse, about 25 miles below Quebec, on the south shore, Saturday afternoon, nine men were instantly killed and three badly injured.

Armagh lies back some 20 miles from St. Valier station, on the Intercolonial Railway, and only meagre details of the catastrophe have so far been received.

The names of the killed are: Angus Campbell of Iron Mines, N.S.; A. Pinkstone, a native of England; A. Bernard, of France; Adelard Morrisette, Wilfrid Noel, Edouard Langlois, Onesime Gagnon, Emile Charette, all natives of Armagh, and Joseph Roy of St. Philemon, County of Bellechasse.

Many of the bodies of the unfortunate men were badly mutilated some of their limbs being torn off.

A coroner's inquest will be held to-day.

A Montreal correspondent telegraphs: News of the accident reached Quebec late on Saturday afternoon from St. Valier, but particulars were hard to obtain. Of the six French-Canadians who met death in the explosion one, Emile Charette, was married. A widow and large family survive him. Campbell was foreman of the party. His remains will be sent to New Brunswick. Of the three injured two are not seriously and one has a broken leg. Details as to the cause of the disaster are but meagre, but it is supposed to have been due to a premature blast. A gloom has been cast over the community by the terrible occurrence, which is one of the worst in the history of the county. The scene of the explosion was at the railway construction camp at Messrs. Murdock Bros. at St. Cagetan D'Armagh, Bellechasse county.

Thought It Was War.

Rio de Janeiro, April 20.—A despatch received here says that an Argentine warship during manoeuvres Saturday night near Montevideo, fired 200 shots from heavy guns and threw their searchlights for a considerable time in all directions over the shores. This resulted in almost a panic among the inhabitants who were for a time unable to understand the nature of the seeming demonstration.

Recently there has been some friction between Uruguay and the Argentine Republic on the question of which country had jurisdiction of the water of the Platte River. A number of Argentine warships at different times entered the harbor of Montevideo without firing the accustomed salute. The Prime Minister of the Argentine Republic in a recent speech declared that all the waters of the River Platte belonged to the Argentine Republic.

Little Girl Badly Burned.

Blenheim, April 20.—Almost a fatal accident occurred here when Ruby, the 11-year-old daughter of William Marshall, while playing with some other girls, found several candle-like affairs for curling mustaches. She lit one, and after it had almost burned away she threw it on the ground. It set fire to a piece of woolen material there and the girl, not noticing the blaze, stooped down for it with the result that it set fire to her garments.

She ran towards the nearest house, where Peter Farley rolled her in sand and pulled her clothes off. She was badly burned over a large area of her body, from hips to head, and most of her hair being burned off and doubts are entertained for her recovery. Farley was also severely burned about the hands and arms, but his condition is not as serious as the girl's.

Strike at Cumberland.

Cumberland, Md., April 20.—Because of the discharge of two conductors and the refusal of the company to reinstate them, the entire force of motormen and conductors of the Cumberland Electric Railroad went on a strike Saturday, and the system is completely tied up.

The action of the men was unexpected. During the night the feed wires in the narrows were cut and switches were locked and spiked. The Cumberland and Western Port, the interurban system which penetrates the mining region, is affected by the strike.

Opera Singer's Tragedy.

London, April 20.—"Parsifal, Parsifal, your mother is dead." At the Grand Opera House Saturday night, Miss Keating, in the role of Kundry in "Parsifal" was compelled to repeat the above lines three times. There was real tragedy behind her words. Just before the curtain went up she received a telegram from Chicago announcing the death of her mother. The strain was too much for Miss Keating and she fainted three times. She left for Chicago after the performance.

Scant Hope For Bannerman.

London, April 20.—It is stated on Sunday morning that the condition of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the former Premier, is very serious. He passed a bad night.

Bones of British Soldiers.

New York, April 20.—A burial vault, the existence of which was never suspected, has been discovered at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, containing the bones of some 30 or 40 men, believed to have been British soldiers wounded at the battle of Monmouth Courthouse in June, 1778.

It was known that Sir Henry Clinton, the British commander, succeeded in reaching Sandy Hook after the battle.

SHOT HIS SERGEANT

MOIR NOT YET CAPTURED

Victim Had Remonstrated With Him For Being Intoxicated and Untidy —Uses Rifle and Escapes—Murderer Has Revolvers and Ammunition With Him — Seen Near St. Mary's Yesterday.

London, April 20.—Private Moir, orderly at Wolseley Barracks, who at midnight Friday shot and fatally wounded Col.-Sergt. Henry Lloyd of Stratford, has not yet been captured, although he was heard of in the vicinity of Grove Post, and later on he asked a man for food, but didn't get it. He stayed over night and was seen yesterday on the G.T.R. track near St. Mary's. Detectives set out after him on a hand-car.

He has abandoned his rifle, but has two heavy revolvers. He took a child's peak cap in place of his own military one.

Moir is said to have an ugly disposition. He had been drinking during Good Friday, and on returning, Lloyd, who was in command of the guard, reprimanded Moir on his condition, and declared that he would be reported to the commanding officer in the morning for being improperly dressed. Moir became very argumentative, and somewhat abusive, and Lloyd allowed him to go to his quarters without further protest.

Shortly afterwards a noise like that of a rifle shot was heard, and Orderly Officer Lieut. Morris came to Sergt. Lloyd and asked him who was the last man in. As the shot appeared to come from the hospital section, Lieut. Morris asked Lloyd to investigate. He and Morris then went down into the sleeping quarters of the orderlies.

The room was quite dark, but Moir was seen in the corner with a rifle in his hand. Lloyd asked him to lay down the rifle, and he went over towards Moir. The latter raised the rifle. Lloyd saw the movement and jumped towards Moir. There was a report, and Lloyd sank to the floor with a groan.

Morris hurried away to call the guard and Moir escaped.

Moir is an old soldier, so it is said, and was a private in the old Gordon Highlanders. He fought with the regiment through the Boer war. He has also seen service on the frontier.

He always carried firearms, and, it is said, would shoot on provocation.

The revolver he carried was an army revolver. Moir also had another revolver which he borrowed from one of the other soldiers.

Moir evidently determined to commit the deed after the reprimand administered by Sergt. Lloyd. He took down the rifle and loaded it, with a steel-capped cartridge. He then buckled on his bandolero belt, filled with cartridges belonging to Pte. Brady.

"Moir used to drink some, but was not a heavy drinker," said one of the privates, who was well acquainted with Moir. "He used to be a cordite eater. That acts like dope, and it used to make him wild at times. He was particularly bad when he was drinking, as he seemed to be worse."

Cordite eating was somewhat common in South Africa, it is said. The men remove the cartridges and eat the powder. It is a powerful stimulant, and acts much like morphine and other drugs of that sort.

Lloyd was about 25 years of age, fair complexion with a light mustache. His home is in Stratford, and he was attached to the 28th Battalion. For several years past he has been taking courses at the barracks.

Quebec Legislature.

Montreal, April 20.—Both the provincial leaders are in town to-day, and it is pretty well understood that the session of the Legislature will be prorogued on Saturday next, to be followed by an early dissolution of the House.

It is said that the redistribution bill to be brought down this week will divide the County of Hochelaga into four counties, instead of one, as to-day, and that the Counties of Pontiac and Labelle will also be given an additional member.

There will be no increase in the sessional indemnity this session, but it is said that an increase may be given after the elections.

Immigration Agent Arrested.

Chatham, April 20.—James Waugh, ex-immigration agent at Chatham for the Dominion Government, was arrested Saturday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences.

It has also been ascertained that a Government detective has been at work on the matter for some time. Waugh was released on putting up bail to the amount of $1,000.

He will come up for a preliminary hearing in the Police Court to-day, when he will elect as to whether he will be tried before the police magistrate or go before a judge and jury.

Grain Elevator Burned.

Chatham, Ont., April 20.—G. T. Crow's elevator at Prairie Siding, with its contents, was burned to the ground Saturday. The fire was first noticed when it had made such headway as to be beyond control. It is not known how the fire originated unless it was from sparks from a passing railway train.

"Sunshine" Furnace

Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft off furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerless to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only surplus dust rises of itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is therein provided, dust will escape through ash-door slits and into operator's face.

In "Sunshine" Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in "Sunshine" Furnace — via grate, to pan, to dust-pipe, to dome, to chimney, to open air.

Policeman's Ingenious Scheme to Get Inside Gambling Den.

Soon after he joined volunteers were called for special duty on account of the dynamite scare. Ellis volunteered, and, with two others, was selected from 500 applicants. He was then attached to the chief office at Scotland Yard, where he acted as bodyguard to Mr. Munro, the then assistant commissioner, later going as escort to Mr. Balfour on some of his journeys to Ireland.

After two years in London, he was selected for service abroad, leaving for Holland at a moment's notice, his duty being to watch the arrival and departure of all boats, on the look-out for dynamitards. Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Antwerp, and later Dieppe, Cherbourg, Havre, and Paris were all visited by him during this duty. At the time Rotterdam was a centre from which the dynamitards acted, there being two other notorious members there who always tried to work up conspiracies among the steamboat crews. Ellis, fortunately for many folk, discovered that the medical man in charge of a big liner was also a dynamitard, and acted as messenger between the American branch and the members on the continent. His usefulness for mischief was consequently soon nipped in the bud.

While at Havre he joined a "secret society," gleanings news for Scotland Yard in this way which proved invaluable. The task was dangerous and difficult, as discovery would have meant a cruel death; for not only had he to attend the meetings, but he had to follow various members of the society, relying on odd disguises and adroitness to avoid detection. Once he posed successfully as a French fisherman, and was three days at sea in a dense fog in a sorry fishing lugger. He learnt thereby of the movements of three very high-placed people, and checkmated an important move.

Monte Carlo Wells also came under Ellis's observation. He noticed the arrival at Cherbourg of the man who broke the bank, but, having no warrant for his arrest, could only follow his fine steam yacht to sea in a little sailing boat. He ascertained, however, where he was going, and returning to land telegraphed such a message to Havre as to lead to the man's capture by two other officers as soon as he reached there.

When foreign gambling clubs were the bane of the West End his services were enlisted, not only by reason of this special resourcefulness, but on account of his proficiency in French. It would seem, indeed, that in acquiring the tongue he had learnt the method—more or less fabulous—of certain famed French detectives.

It took Ellis two months to effect an entry to one gambling den in Lisle street, but persistency triumphed, and on the night of the raid he arrested, among others, a well-known comedian, who was there playing faro.

To get into another "club" of like disreputable character in Tottenham Court road, Ellis went to the length of hiding himself in a packing case. The basement of the house was used as a woollen warehouse, and Ellis, having carefully made friends with the carman who was in the habit of delivering goods there, got into a huge box, addressed to the firm "with care." In one side of the case was arranged a panel so that he could get out when he wished. When the business premises were closed at night he emerged like Iachimo in "Cymbeline." The "run" was then in full swing upstairs. Many a time had he to run back to his hole, but by watching his opportunity sufficient evidence was secured to render conviction certain. The place was raided. Most of the frequenters were well-to-do foreigners. A similar place in Gerrard street, Charing Cross road, was also closed through his alertness, but it was, fortunately for Ellis, not necessary that he should run the risk of suffocation as a carter's package this time.

French bicycle thieves presently attracted his attention, one clever mode of theft being traced by him. A Frenchman went about stealing bicycles, but, instead of carrying or riding them far, he used to go to the nearest parcels receiving office, and send them by carrier to his home in Charlotte street. By acting as vanboy Ellis arrested the man in the act of receiving a stolen machine.

During a riot amongst some Armenians in Soho Ellis, while arresting one for attempted murder, was stabbed by his prisoner just over the heart; a thick muffler he was wearing deadened the force of the blow, and undoubtedly saved his life.

Strangely enough, although Mr Ellis now speaks both French and German fluently, and has acted as interpreter on many occasions in various police courts, he practically knew nothing of either language until he was sent abroad. His nickname in the force was "Froggie."

He Was Not Ready.

A good story is told of a very prominent and popular Methodist minister in the province of Nova Scotia. Once while driving in the dusk through a stretch of forest he overtook a lad, whom he invited into his wagon. Shortly after his passenger had got settled in his seat the worthy minister, desirous of improving the occasion, turned to his companion and, with due impressiveness, said:

"Young man, are you prepared to die?"

The question had somewhat startling results, for the boy, with a yell of terror, leaped clear of the wagon and dashed into the forest.

NATURE AND ADVERTISING.

What Publicity Did For Mammoth Cave Half a Century Ago.

What happens when advertising stops is well shown in an article recently printed in the Philistine. The writer takes up the Mammoth cave of Kentucky as an example of what publicity does for even a wonder of nature.

Up to about 1870 the cave was well advertised. As the Philistine remarks, a visit to it was considered a sort of finishing touch to one's education, and a person who could not talk intelligently about it had no standing in polite society.

Records kept at the Mammoth Cave hotel from the time it was opened in 1837 show that while the place was being advertised in various ways the number of visitors was many times what it is now, when the publicity promoter knows it not. In 1844, for instance, when the population was less than 20,000,000 instead of the eighty odd millions of today, those who came to see the natural curiosity numbered on an average ninety-three a day. They traveled hundreds and thousands of miles, for many crossed the Atlantic to behold it. Sixty-one years later, in 1905, the average was less than a dozen a day.

The public simply has been permitted to forget that Kentucky's Mammoth cave exists. The man who owned it died in 1869, and his thirteen heirs, scattered all over the country, simply devoted themselves to spending the income that they derived from the $2 a head admission fee. They thought the financial stream would keep on running without any expenditure on their part for advertising. They have been disappointed, of course.

As soon as the advertising was abandoned the people became indifferent about the cave, and finally it figured no longer as one of the great show places of the world.

In the language of the Philistine, caves are not necessary to human happiness until some man by astute advertising fills men and women with a desire to see them, and when the advertising ceases the desire ceases also.

Liberal advertising is essential to success. The story of the Mammoth cave of Kentucky is only one of thousands that prove the truth of this.

And do not forget also that when there is a let-up in business the man who advertises his wares more than his competitor is going to get the orders and make money.

The Famous Claridge's.

The name of Claridge's is well known to every visitor to London. The famous hotel in which princes and millionaires are, so to speak, "three a penny," is about to celebrate its centenary. When it was opened, early in 1808, it was known as Mivart's, after the name of its founder, M. Mivart, a celebrated chef of the period. Mivart has one great claim to fame which no visitor to London should deny. He was the first hotel proprietor to provide his patrons with a bathroom, a fact which he advertised extensively. In 1850 Mivart sold the business to Mr. and Mrs. Claridge, a butler and housekeeper in a ducal family. It is now run by a company.—Argonaut.

Light From Darkness.

"I learned a new trick the other day," admitted the man who thinks he knows about all the tricks there are to be known. "I was making a call on a friend whose apartment is fitted with gas mantle lights. The light in the reception room was poor because the mantle had turned black. But my friend's wife knew the secret of turning it back to its original color, and I stood amazed to see her throw salt into the chimney all over the mantle. The salt caused the flame to blaze up all around the mantle, and gradually the char disappeared, and the light was as bright and clear as when the mantle was new. That's a thing worth knowing."—New York Globe.

Drink In Scotland.

Drunkenness in Scotland appears to be on the increase, according to the judicial statistics for 1906, just issued. In some instances the drunkenness reached absolutely appalling degrees. In the little town of Blairgowrie, in Perthshire, with a population of well under 5,000, the proportion of cases of drunkenness reached 1,042 per 10,000 of the population, or one case for every ten men, women and children of the inhabitants.

Lucky Thirteen.

Few people will have had the courage to sit down thirteen at table for the greeting of a new year. But fifty-five years ago Lord Roberts was one of thirteen who sat down to dinner on New Year's day at Peshawar. Eleven years later—though most of them had been through the Indian mutiny and half of them had been wounded—they were all alive. And Lord Roberts is still very much alive.—London Chronicle.

TO BEAUTIFY PRINCE RUPERT.

Western City to Have Several Large Parks—Other Attractions.

"We are going to lay out the site of Prince Rupert so that it will become the most model, most sanitary, and yet the most artistically planned city on the continent."

Such was the statement made recently by Messrs. Franklin Brett and George D. Hall, landscape gardeners, of Boston, who have just returned east after having made a thorough survey of the site of the city which is to be built at the Pacific Coast terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Messrs. Brett and Hall, it will be remembered, were recently awarded the contract by the G.T.P. for the layout out of the model townsite, and it is said they are to be paid for the work a sum in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Messrs. Brett and Hall brought with them a whole pile of roughly-drawn maps which they had drawn on the spot, and while they were rather reticent as to details they said that the streets of Prince Rupert would be broad and airy, and that such things as the diagonal or "cut" streets would be unknown. Further the blocks would be numbered in such a manner that a perfect stranger in the city would not have the slightest difficulty in locating an address when once he had been given an idea of the plan.

It appears, according to the statements of railway officials, that only about one-third of Kaien Island will be available for the city, because, like Montreal, it has a mountain rising in the centre of it to the height of 2,300 feet—something like three times the height of Mount Royal. The railroad is to cross the mainland to Porpoise Island and then to Kaien Island by means of bridges, the first of which will be about a quarter of a mile in length, and the second some 200 feet long. The plan most favored is to have the shipping and wholesale business on the first level, which rises to 75 or 100 feet above the water; the retail business and the public buildings on the second level, which is some 200 feet high, and forms a sort of ridge; and the residences still further back on a third level, which rises about another 100 feet.

There are to be several large parks. There is an excellent chance for one on a central elevation, another at Point Hays, named in honor of the president of the G.T.P., and a third at the southwestern end of the city. Digby Island, just west of Kaien Island, will also be developed for residences.

It will be gathered that the site lends itself to the laying out of a beautiful city. The series of plateaus on which the town will be built extends for a distance of about a mile back from the water. Behind this rises the mountain—Mount Morse—from which a beautiful view is obtained of the glorious waterways which lead to the harbor, stretching away in delightful vistas. Opposite Kaien Island to the west, forming an effectual breakwater for the harbor, lies Digby Island occupied by the Indian reserve of the Tsimpshean Indians. To the east is a beautiful lake, Shawatlans, meaning fresh water, which will supply the purest drinking water to the new city. At the foot of the lake is a fall of about 50 feet head, with great power possibilities, and it is from the development of this power that the city will obtain its electricity for lighting, street car, manufacturing and other purposes.

Life In Calgary.

In regard to the conditions of life in Calgary, the following is the opinion of a young bride who married in Montreal last fall and went to Calgary to take up her residence with her husband, who occupies a good position in the city.

Writing to an old friend, the lady states that there is great variety in the life of the progressive town. The social life is intimate, cordial, and a large feature of the place. Parties and dinners succeed each other rapidly, especially in the winter months, when life is largely indoors. One meets the captain and the colonel in familiar intercourse.

The biggest official is close and easy, and one is not awed by authority. In the streets you will see the remittance man, who drinks a great deal; the immigrants, with the soft cap and the turned-up trousers, looking for a job; the Indians, in their picturesque dress, loafing about,—the women with the "papooses" on their backs; the ranchers, who "paint the town," when they come in; the "foreign elements" passing through. The fashionable lady rubs elbows with the Galician in sheepskin.

"One wonders, indeed," writes the lady, "whether it is worth while to dress as we did in the east, when you see such contrasts, but we do, just the same."

The lady who gives a reception will have carriage and motor cars at her door, and this seems a compensation for much that has been given up.

The flatness of the place has its effect, but, as the lady writes, there is a wonderful fascination about the environment, and this grows upon one.

HAND TERRIBLY MANGLED.

MR. AB. WHEELER, BELLEVILLE

Mr. Ab. Wheeler, Marine and Stationary Engineer, of 145 Front St., Belleville, Ont., says: "Two months ago, while employed in a steam laundry in this city, my left hand became caught and was accidently drawn into a hot mangle. As soon as possible the machinery was stopped and my hand was extricated, but not before the flesh on the palm of the hand was literally cooked to the bone and the fingers flattened out of shape. However, quite soon after the accident my hand and arm became frightfully swollen to the elbow and the hand presented a shocking sight. No one can imagine what I now suffered and endured. Not only was it hard to bear on account of the cruel pains, but it was a great shock to my nervous system. It was some time after the injury before the cooked flesh could be removed from the palm and then only a very little at a time. As soon as all this had been well removed, healing balms were applied, but as the improvement was so slow I obtained permission from the Doctor for Zam-Buk to be used exclusively, as several of my men friends (having previously used it for severe injuries) spoke in the highest terms of its unusual healing qualities and urged me to give it a trial. From the commencement Zam-Buk soothed and relieved the pains and drew out the soreness. I now began to enjoy a good night's rest and sleep. In about three weeks time the palm of my hand was nicely healed over thro' daily application of this wonderful remedy Zam-Buk, and all inflammation and swelling was thoroughly banished from both hand and arm."

BRITISH TITLES UNDER FIRE.

Commoner Says They Are Bestowed For Election Funds.

An unusual scene was provoked in the House of Commons recently, in the course of a debate on a motion introduced by Hilaire Belloc, Liberal member for South Salford, regarding the secret administration of party funds.

Mr. Belloc said he had no charges of maladministration nor startling revelations to make.

He didn't say that evils even existed, but he expressed the fear that some might arise, and in order to avoid dangerous possibilities he proposed that the party funds be publicly audited.

Another Liberal, Hugh C. Lea, who seconded Mr. Belloc's motion, contended that the practice of conferring peerages and other honors on those who had contributed to the party funds was essentially wrong.

He remarked that some months ago a sensation had been created by a vehement attack upon the Government for what was called its "traffic in peerages" and other honors.

It was a matter of common knowledge and gossip in the House of Commons, he said, that the titles and decorations in vogue were as lacking in dignity, prestige, and moral worth as were the methods by which they were obtained, and were just as loathsome, corrupt, and nauseous.

"Putting aside the Garter order, and other tomfoolery of that sort," continued Mr. Lea, "the present Government has made twenty peers, thirty-three barons, and ninety-five knights, of whom thirty-seven were members of the House of Commons."

Mr. Lea gravely advanced the theory that this high percentage suggested the idea that some of the members entered the House with a view to social advancement.

Nobody expressed any doubt of the accuracy of this view, but Mr. Lea considered it useful to support his contention because of a story that had come within his personal experience.

He was, he said, a member of a Commons' committee, the chairman of which had been a knight. One of his colleagues refused to congratulate the recipient, remarking that it was a matter for commiseration rather than for congratulation.

"Imagine the knight's feelings," exclaimed Mr. Lea, "when eight months later the man who struck the jarring note was himself made a knight."

The House made merry over the story, and an Irish member, Swift McNeill, added to the jocularty by saying that he considered that peers and peerages were like faith — the substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen.

As Judge Curren had said years ago, there was a market for peerages just as certain as there was a market for pigs.

Personally he would have a tariff for titles, and would duplicate the garter and put them on both legs.

Mr. Lea's anecdote, however, was too personal not to provoke a response. Everybody knew that he referred to Sir William Randal Cremer as he is the member for Haggerston to whom Mr. Lea had specifically referred in a communication he made to a newspaper last July.

Sir William then arose and gave Mr. Lea's statement a most absolute and direct denial, and eventually Mr. Lea was squelched by the Speaker insisting that he withdraw certain terms he used as unparliamentary.

It is a matttr of fact that Sir William, who is a Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur, declined a knighthood in 1906, but when the offer was renewed the following year he accepted it.

Revenue Is Increasing.

The financial statement of the Dominion for the eleven months of the current fiscal year, as entered on the books of the Finance Department on Feb. 19, shows a total revenue of $87,607,299, an increase of $8,629,749, as compared with the corresponding eleven months of 1906-07. The total expenditure of the consolidated fund account for the eleven months was $60,720,353, an increase of $10,735,636. The capital expenditure for the period was $25,768,488, of which $20,183,830 was for public works, railways and canals, including the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway. The surplus of the total revenue over the total expenditure for the eleven months is $1,118,458. For the month of February the total revenue was $8,577,020, a decrease of $740,793 as compared with February last year. For the eleven months the total postoffice revenue has been $6,367,320, an increase of $652,067. Customs revenue has increased by $7,040,878 and excise by $545,364.

A Fence of 2,036 Miles.

After five years' work Australia's great transcontinental rabbit-proof fence has been completed. Its length is 2,036 miles, and the cost of its erection has been nearly £250,000. It is furnished at intervals of five miles with system of traps, in which hundreds of rabbits are captured and destroyed daily. Inside the barrier there appears as yet no trace of their presence.

OLD-TIME LETTER CARRIERS.

Delivery Was Slow and Very Expensive In Bygone Days.

It seems strange to reflect, in these days of frequent collections and prompt deliveries, that it is very little more than a century since letters despatched from London on a Tuesday night were not in the hands of the addressees in Edinburgh until the following Sunday, says The London Daily News. In the early years of the nineteenth century delays were continual in the less frequented parts of the country. When we consider the kind of postmen we had, the the wages paid to them and the work they had to do, this is not to be wondered at.

Before the introduction of the mail coach, of which use was first made in 1784, letters were carried by "boys," who were frequently men of 50 or 60 years of age. They were mounted on ponies almost as ancient and broken down as themselves. They were exposed to the buffetings of the weather and to the rigors of the winter, and they often found a good inn fire, with a glass or two of hot grog, too alluring.

Down to the period of the introduction of the coach the postoffice was generally a stable as well, and the term "postmaster" had then a double significance. He was the person entrusted with the receipt and despatch of letters and with the provision of horses to carry the mails. The first part of the duty was often left to the bar men and chambermaids, and was generally badly done, while the horses provided were, as has been indicated, the worst instead of the best obtainable. The postmaster at Aberdeen in 1763 received a salary of about £90 a year, and at Glasgow this official's salary was £140 and that of his clerk £30.

The coming of the mail coach brought into being a new body of men, the mail guards and the coachmen. The guards' wages were about half a guinea a week, but they received much more in tips, and some of them earned £300 a year in that way. Being, moreover, the newspapers of the time, carrying news and gossip from town to town, they were always in demand at the local hostelries, and their weakness was very cleverly hit off in a set of anonymous verses called "The Mail Coach Guard." In this are introduced the names of nearly all the famous inns of the period.

Guards were fined for carrying fish, poultry or anything of the kind on their own account, and they were forbidden to blow their horns in passing through towns during the hours of divine service on Sunday, a regulation which was recently revived in regard to the horns of motor omnibuses

In days of war the coming of the mail coach was eagerly awaited in the market place of each town, and on the occasion of any great victory, as at the Nile and Waterloo, the horses were decorated with laurel, and flags were flown on the coach. The guard then donned his best scarlet coat and his gold-trimmed hat and blew his horn with might and main. Sometimes he would even discharge his blunderbuss, and generally did everything he could to indicate that he was the bearer of glad tidings.

Each big town had its special distributing centre for news, and there all the bloods of the town gathered to receive the earliest intelligence. In Glasgow the Tontine Coffee House was the recognized place, but London had a General Postoffice in Clock lane, Dowgate Hill, in 1660, and a new one was opened at the Black Swan, in Bishopsgate street, a year or two later. Subsequently the headquarters of the postal service in the British Isles down to 1829 was at Sir Robert Viner's mansion in Lombard street.

De Quincey's description of the run of a mail coach on a summer's night from the Gloucester Coffee House to Bristol is well known, but in the winter it was a very different matter. Many stories are told of snowed up mails and of guards and coachmen frozen to death at their posts. This was especially the case in Scotland. In the Annual Register, in February, 1795, we read:

"My letters of two days ago is still here, for though I have made an effort twice I have been obliged to return not having reached half of the first stage. Two mails are due from London, three from Glasgow and four from Edinburgh. Neither the last guard that went hence for Glasgow on Thursday nor he that went on Wednesday have since been heard of."

Another kind of postman was he who went around the town after the ordinary collections of letters from the receiving offices had been made to gather in late letters for the mail. This custom remained in force in Dublin until 1859, though it had been abandoned in almost every other city years before. Each of these bellmen, as they were called, carried a locked leather wallet, into which, through an opening, letters and other articles were placed. For the convenience of this arrangement those who posted letters into the late fee bag paid one penny on each letter and a half penny on each newspaper in addition to the ordinary postage as a personal fee to the man. The profession appears to have been a fairly profitable one.

The postmen of those days needed to have a great deal of patience. The pre-payment of letters was not compulsory and senders of letters often left the receivers to pay for them. This involved delay and sometimes two or three visits to the house before the work was done. The streets, moreover, were not named or numbered systematically as they are now (numbering first began in 1764 with New Burleigh street and Lincoln's Inn Fields) and addresses were frequently long and incomprehensible. Thus in 1702 we learn that a letter was addressed to "Mr. Archibald Dunbar, of Thunderstone, to be left at Capt. Dunbar's writing chamber at the Iron Revell, third story below the cross, north end of the close, at Edinburgh."

How the World Grows.

In a little more than a hundred years, according to government figures, the population of the world has grown from 640,000,000 to 1,600,000,000, an increase of 150 per cent. At the end of so many hundreds of centuries, in other words, there were in the world in 1800 only 640,000,000 of persons, and in 106 years, from 1800 to 1900, to this number had been added 900,000,000.

The total commerce of the world in 1800 was about $1,500,000,000; in 1900 it was more than $20,000,000,000. Other figures show that in wealth and the growth of various industrial agencies the increase has been far swifter than that of population.

The overpopulation of the world is not a present menace to the thinkers of today, but the thinkers of a period when there were less than half as many people in the world as there are now seriously debated the imminence of the catastrophe that the overcrowding of the earth would produce.—Boston Globe.

The Plight of Mouchot.

Twenty years ago a famous work on "Solar Heat" was produced by Professor Bernard Mouchot. This clever old gentleman has just been discovered starving in Paris, eighty-two years of age, and on the point of being turned out of a poverty stricken home for nonpayment of rent. At the age of seventy-five he married a young woman, who subsequently passed off a relative as the professor in order that after his death the younger man could continue to draw his pension. Unhappily the impostor went first, and as Bernard Mouchot was supposed to have died the pension ceased. The professor could not claim the pension without exposing the fraud of his wife; hence his present plight.

Docking the Big Liners.

When the Cunard line steamship Lusitania finished her maiden voyage to this country the services of twenty-one tugs were required to warp her into her dock. Recently when the Mauretania arrived here on her third passage four tugs had an easy time in pushing her into position to steam alongside the pier.

"The tide causes the difference," said a riverman. "I have seen the Deutschland absolutely immovable with nearly thirty tugs puffing and pushing simply because the tide had hung her up. Then again I have seen the Kaiser Wilhelm II. go in under two tugs."—New York Post.

The Big Zulu Chief.

Dinizulu, the Zulu chief who is believed to be at the bottom of the trouble in Zululand and has surrendered himself to the British government, is a hopeless drunkard. Like his father, Cetewayo, he is so unwieldy in his person that it will not be a very easy matter for him to run away. The present Zulu trouble is largely due to misguided humanitarianism, which brought Dinizulu back from his exile in St. Helena. Tradition gives him great power among his followers.

On the Road.

"Guests without baggage are required to pay in advance," significantly remarked the new clerk at the hotel.

"How much baggage is required?" asked the plainly dressed traveler, who was signing his name in the register.

"Something more than that little old valise."

"Well, I have thirty-six cars of baggage, but it won't be here till Thursday of next week."

"Thirty-six cars of baggage! What kind?"

"Merely a circus and menagerie I happen to own."

"Oh, I beg your pardon!"—Chicago Tribune.

Village Strikers' Humor.

The moorland village of Worsthorne, near Burnley, was the scene of lively proceedings this week in connection with a strike of weavers at the village mill. This mill is run on self-help lines, and most of the weavers are shareholders, but the remainder have no pecuniary interest in the concern, and it is amongst those non-shareholders that the dispute has arisen. Putting themselves in possession of a donkey and cart they drove about the village with a large card which bore the words: "I am an ass but not a knobstick." Subsequently they put in an appearance with the carcase of a large pig reared up in the cart. On the flanks of the animal were the words, "No surrender." The cart was followed by a procession of strikers and their children, and all proceeded to the mill and awaited the dispersing of the operatives, who were hooted as they left. At night the pig was cut up, weighed into equal portions, and distributed amongst the strikers. There was much feeling, and with a view to preventing violence a special detachment of police has been drafted into the usually peaceful village. Printed circulars have been issued bearing the words:

Mary had a little lamb,
It loved with her to roam;
And when she went a knobbing
It ran away from home.

Will Attack Headheads.

The proposed attack on the "free list" is the subject of general discussion in theatrical circles in London, as well as among the "deadheads" whom it is proposed to abolish.

Inquiries at the West End theatres show that the power of the "deadheads" is even greater than most people imagine. Several managers who resent the encroachments of this class of patrons on theatrical business estimate that 5,000 free seats are sometimes given away in a single week for West End amusements, and they do not consider $7,500 an excessive estimate of the face value of these tickets. There are managers who say that this understates the case.

To enumerate the classes that supply "deadheads" is, a manager explained, unnecessary; all except the very poor are included. Well-known people in society are in the ranks, as well as actors, barristers, solicitors, friends of actors and people who through some cause or other had had their names and addresses given for free tickets. Tickets are sent to banks, to hospitals, to printers, advertising agencies, hotel staffs, club staffs, and boarding houses.

Washington's Commission.

Washington's commission as commander in chief of the United States army was approved by congress June 17, 1775, and on June 21 of that year he set out on horseback to take command of the forces encamped about Boston.

Longbow Strings.

Longbow strings were of plaited silk and worth five times their weight in gold.

A Queer Snow Fact.

It is an inexplicable fact that men buried in an avalanche of snow hear distinctly every word uttered by those who are seeking for them, while their most strenuous shouts fail to penetrate even a few feet of the snow.

Red and Dark Hair.

Dark hair and complexion in races as well as in individuals signify strength. Dark skinned races are always behind the lighter hued peoples in fine civilization because the physical predominates among them to the exclusion of the mental. Coarse red hair indicates marvelous physical endurance.

The Saber.

The saber is an oriental weapon. It was introduced into the French cavalry in 1710.

English Queens and Good Cheer.

Ancient Taximeters.

Taximeters, it seems, were better known to the Rome of Julius Caesar than they yet are to the London of Edward VII. Suetonius and Vitruvius both describe them as attached to the Roman cabs of that epoch. The latter even goes into details of their mechanism. Taximeters were also known to the Chinese of the eleventh century.

USELESS TROUBLE.

Tomlinson's Experience While on a Southern Business Trip.

Tomlinson had gone south on business, and early one morning he set out to call on a customer several miles from town. There were no transportation facilities, and Tomlinson after having found that he couldn't even hire a horse decided to walk. He had accomplished a little more than half of his journey when he arrived at the bank of a river, where a robust negro operated a ferry.

Dipping into his pockets for the necessary change, Tomlinson discovered with considerable chagrin that he had left his money at the hotel. He hadn't a cent with him. Assuming a bold front, however, he asked.

"Eph, do you take people across the river?"

"Well, boss, Ah reckon hit wouldn't do me no good ter opehrate dis yeh ferry ef Ah didn'."

"Come, then; take me over. I'm in a hurry."

"Ah on'y chahges 5 cents."

Tomlinson again felt in all his pockets and, failing to find a coin of any kind, said:

"Very well; that will be all right. I forgot to bring any change with me, but I'll pay you when I come back."

"Ain't yo' all got 5 cents?"

"No. I forgot to bring my pocketbook. But it will be all right. I'll pay you when I return. Come, I'm in a hurry."

"All Ah chahges is 5 cents."

"I know," Tomlinson impatiently replied, again searching his pockets. "I don't happen to have the change, but never mind about that. I'll be coming back this way in a little while, and I'll pay you then."

"Jes' 5 cents. Dat's all Ah eber chahges fo' takin' ennybody oveh."

"I understand that fully, but it will be all right. I must get over immediately. Hurry now! I can't afford to waste time listening to your explanations. I don't object to your price."

"An' yo' all ain't got 5 cents?"

"No, no, no! How many times must I tell you that I forgot to bring any money with me?"

"Hit's on'y 5 cents."

"You've told me that a dozen times. I'll see that you get it when I return."

"An' yo' all hasn' got 5 cents?"

"Confound you! Do you suppose I'd stand here wasting time if I had? Come now, hurry. I must get over there at once."

"Well, boss, hit seems ter me dat a man whut ain't got 5 cents might jes' as well be on one side ob de ribbeh as de yutheh."—Judge.

Out of Her Class.

After preaching a sermon on the fate of the wicked a clergyman met an old woman well known for her gossiping propensities, and he said to her:

"My good woman, I hope my sermon has borne fruit. You heard what I said about the place where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth?"

"Yes," she replied, "but, as to that, if I 'as anything to say it be this: 'Let 'em gnash their teeth as has 'em. I ain't.'"—Judge's Library.

So Unlike Him.

"Yes," he said, "I've had a couple of drinks."

"The idea!" exclaimed his wife. "Why do you tell me that?"

"Why, it's the truth."

"I know. That's why I can't understand your telling me." — Catholic Standard and Times.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. THE SQUARE ROOT OF 2

No One Has Yet Succeeded In Extracting It Accurately.

SOME IMPOSSIBLE PROBLEMS

The Effort to Cultivate a Blue Rose, the Search For Absolute Zero, the Perpetual Motion Phantom and the Squaring of the Circle.

There died in the year 1902 in St Felix, a small village in the department of Haute Garonne, in France, a wealthy octogenarian horticulturist, who spent the last forty-five years of his life and a sum variously estimated at from £12,000 to £15,000 in attempting to produce by artificial cultivation a blue rose.

He failed, and for the best of reasons—the task is one impossible of accomplishment. As De Candolle, a great authority on this subject, has pointed out, yellow and blue are the fundamental types of color in flowers, and the two colors are antagonistic, mutually excluding each other. Yellow by culture may be changed into red or white, but never into blue. On the other hand, blue will pass into red, but never into yellow. We have a yellow rose; hence there is no blue.

The pursuit of the absolute zero point is to chemists what the discovery of the north pole is to geographers. Ever since Fahrenheit in 1724 broached the problem scientists innumerable have striven to reach the goal in vain, although each, in turn, has succeeded in outdistancing the other.

Thus Fahrenheit boasted that no one could ever attain artificially to a greater degree of cold than he produced with salt and ice—seven degrees below zero—although, of course, he did not suppose that cold ended there. Yet, within a few years of his death, over 100 degrees below had been obtained, and Professor James Dewar, whose researches in the field of low temperatures have brought out so many new and startling facts, succeeded by cooling down the rare gas helium by the aid of liquefied hydrogen in registering the almost inconceivable temperature of 422 degrees below zero F. But this is not absolute zero, and the problem remains unsolved.

Here and there, in odd corners of the earth, gray, bent men still pore over crucibles seeking the philosopher's stone—that mysterious and wonderful substance which will, they believe, when found change the baser metals into gold. It never will be found, of course, for such a substance, in the nature of things, can have no concrete existence. Nevertheless for hundreds of years the best brains and keenest intellects in Christendom sought it early and late.

Nor were their labors wholly wasted, for it was while searching for this mythical treasure that Bottcher stumbled on the secret of the manufacture of porcelain; Roger Bacon on that of the composition of gunpowder; Geber on the properties of acids; Van Helmont on the nature of gas, and Dr. Glauber on the "salts" which bear his name. After a similar fashion, too, the three century long hunt for the elixir of life bequeathed to us a whole host of valuable remedial drugs and was the means indirectly of saving or, at all events, prolonging literally millions of lives.

So also, as the result of the vain search after perpetual motion, there was evolved the greatest of all the generalizations of modern physical science, the principle of the conservation of energy, and even now more or less important discoveries are being constantly stumbled on by seekers after the same perennial will-o'-the-wisp. For let it be by no means imagined that the perpetual motion cranks are all dead and gone. On the contrary, they are probably fully as numerous and as sanguine today as they were in the time of Leibnitz or Newton.

Of course the thing is impossible and has been proved so over and over again, but that does not deter them. Only the other day a man turned up at the office of a well known patent agent with a model of a perpetual motion machine which depended for its proper working upon the interception of gravitational attraction.

The principle of the invention, the inventor was good enough to explain, was simplicity itself. The only thing that remained to be done, he ingenuously remarked, was to find the proper material for an interceptor. Is it possible to conceive of human folly going further than this?

Among mathematicians the two most famous unsolvable problems are the trisection of the angle and the duplication of the cube. Men have toiled at one or the other, sometimes at both, of these for fifteen, twenty, thirty years, only to retire at last baffled and beaten. Their calculations and methods of work have in many instances been published to the world, but the subject is too abstruse to attempt to do more than merely touch upon it in a popular article of this kind.

It is somewhat startling, however, to find that even figures, just plain, ordinary arithmetical figures such as are easily understandable by any modern board school boy, have given rise to problems quite as incapable of solution as any of those springing out of the higher mathematics.

No one, for instance, has yet succeeded in extracting the square root of 2, although Dr. W. H. Colvill, a civil surgeon of Bagdad, succeeded in working it out to no fewer than 110 places of decimals, and, moreover, his titanic sum has been proved to be absolutely correct, so far as it goes. Here is the result, in case some reader should be seized with an irresistible desire to carry it a stage or two further:

1.41421356237309504880168872420969807856967187537694807317667973799073247846210703885038753432764157273501384623.

Do Not Trifle With a Cold

Is good advice for men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Long experience has proven that there is nothing better for colds in children than

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

It is a favorite with many mothers and never disappoints them. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given with implicit confidence.

Undoubtedly, however, of all the now admittedly unsolvable figure problems which have from time to time occupied the attention of mathematicians the most famous is that generally known as squaring the circle. The time and energy thrown away upon it in days gone by are simply amazing. A Dutch professor, Jacob Marcelis by name, worked at it for forty-three years and came at last to the conclusion that the circumference contained the diameter exactly times. He was wrong. Another notable computer, one Ludolph van Ceulen, continued his calculations as long as he lived and at his death had the result inscribed on his tombstone at St. Peter's church, Leyden.

Yet a third enthusiast worked out the calculation to more than 700 places of decimals and even then did not get so near as Peter Metius, who guessed at his answer. This latter lucky gentleman asserted that the diameter is to the circumference as 113 is to 355. This is so nearly right that the error would be less than a foot in a circle with a 2,000 mile radius.

For a long time this approximation was as near as any one got, but in 1863 a lady mathematician went one better. Here is her formula: "From three diameters deduct eight thousandths and seven millionths of a diameter, and to the result add 5 per cent." We have then not quite enough, but the shortage is only at the rate of about an inch and a sixteenth of an inch in 14,000 miles. Finally, an Englishman named Shanks succeeded in reducing by more than one-half even this well nigh infinitesimal error, and there for the present the matter rests.

It may be of interest to note, however, that some little while back a man made a great hubbub in London because he had not obtained the reward which he alleged had been offered for the discovery of the correct solution, although he claimed to have arrived at it. He said he did it by actual measurement, and it was found on investigation that he had constructed a boxwood disk of twelve inches in diameter which he rolled along a straight rail. The man was a joiner by trade and evidently knew well what he was about when he measured, for his answer, 3.140625, is wrong by less than one in 3,000.

INDIA'S WHITE ANTS.

Only One Kind of Wood, Sandal, Can Withstand Their Attacks.

Insects of various kinds are a perennial plague to Indian dwellers, tea growers and others.

The tea bushes in the Assam gardens have no less than four destructive enemies, from which no means of escape has yet been devised by man. These are the bark eating borer, the sandwich caterpillar, the mosquito and the white ant, all of which attack the bush and do immense damage.

By far the worst of these plagues is the white ant, the mosquito merely attacking the leaves and causing a blight. The ants, however, begin at the roots and eat upward, reducing the wood to powder and leaving only the bark to support the top, which soon topples over by reason of its own weight.

There is no Indian wood which would resist the ants' insidious attack except sandal. It delights in reducing pine and white wood to a powder. It cannot work in the light, but must get at the wood from some dark recess and work within a shell.

In some mysterious way the white ant gets indoors and has a particular penchant for penetrating into a veneered or lacquered picture frame, and in a short time nothing will remain but the veneer or lacquer, nothing else being left but a small portion of the powder, the rest being consumed or removed.

The method of attack is by emitting a kind of acid, which destroys the wood. And this ant has been known to bore holes through the sheet iron bottoms of trunks. Several long, supporting joists in a consular building in Calcutta were eaten out so completely that they had to be replaced with steel ones.

While these destructive white ants do not seem to possess much literary taste, they sometimes attack books and destroy them by boring holes through leaves and cover from side to side.

An English resident in an Indian city had a fine set of upholstered furniture, which he protected by some covering as well as he could before leaving his home for an absence of some months on business, and when he returned he sat down in a chair, which collapsed under him like a framework of cardboard.

The largest single structure in the world for audience and spectacular purposes is the Coliseum at Rome. It is in the form of an ellipse. Its long diameter is 615 feet; its short, 510; the height of the outer wall, 164. The arena is 218 feet long by 176 broad. The tiers of seats accommodate 100,000 spectators.

Babylon's Hanging Gardens.

The hanging gardens of Babylon were terraces on columns. The gardens were 400 feet square and over 400 feet high. The ascent from terrace to terrace was by flights of marble steps, and on the highest was a large reservoir.

Fair Means or Foul.

By JANE LEE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by M. M. Cunningham.

There may have been a time when the rain came down in greater quantities, but certainly not within the memory of the shoppers on Broadway one day early in February.

Some few without the saving grace of faith had almost persuaded themselves that a second flood was imminent, while others plodded through the slushy rivers in gutters too wide to be jumped with no feeling save dumb misery.

The wind blew with such velocity that it was impossible to hold an umbrella, and broken ones had been thrown into the gutters, giving the appearance of a fleet of black ships as they whirled and finally stopped at the corner sewer. Women who were forced by circumstances to be out held their skirts with one hand and took a firm grip on their hats with the other.

Among the few stragglers the policeman noticed the figure of a young girl who had passed him several times now peering over the curb as if fascinated by the ebb and flow of the stream.

Her clothes were of a good cut and material. Her curly locks were much bedraggled, and a tiny green stream was running down one cheek, thanks to the combination of rain and green ribbon upon her hat. The man in uniform and brass buttons stepped to her side as she hesitated at a rather perilous crossing.

"Bad day, miss," said he as he offered to help her across the street.

"Bad? I should say it was! And in more ways than one! You see, I have lost my purse, and I am visiting in Bayville. I have not even money enough to get back to the house," explained the girl as she looked up helplessly at the policeman.

He eyed her suspiciously. To his ears such stories were not uncommon.

"That's a good story, all right! Sure it's true, are you?" he said.

Just then the tall figure of a man, with his hat pulled down well over his eyes, passed them. The girl brightened as she saw him.

"Oh, call that man, please do," she cried as the tall figure strode on. "He's from Bayville too."

The policeman ran over and touched the man on the shoulder.

"Lady over there wants you, sir."

The man glanced back, and then, with one agile leap across the gutter, he was at her side.

"Miss Merrill, can it be you? What on earth are you doing out in this pouring rain?" The questions fell thick and fast and without pause for answer. "Let us step into this drug store, and do tell me what I can do for you."

They entered the store, and a friendly clerk offered them chairs and then politely retired to the rear of the store.

Helen Merrill tried to adjust a stray lock and turned her blue eyes to meet her companion's interested gaze.

"It was awfully good of you to say you knew me. That policeman was horrid, and I thought you'd remember having seen me in uncle's trap."

"How could I fail to see you?" mused the man, and the girl blushed as she resumed her story.

"I came in town to do some shopping, and I've lost my purse. It was only snowing this morning, and I could not foresee this awful wind and rain storm I dropped my purse as I was crossing the street, and, though I've looked and looked the whole length of that dirty gutter, I cannot find it," she explained to him. He offered no response. He was apparently lost in studying the depths of the blue eyes before him. "Oh, won't you send me back home Mr. Marshall? I know Uncle John will consider it a neighborly courtesy."

Clayton Marshall smiled and glanced at his watch.

"I am awfully sorry to hear about your plight, Miss Merrill, and of course I will take you home at once. We have just time to catch the 2:30 train—that is, unless you would rather have a bite to eat first."

"Eat!" she cried. "I feel like a drowned rat and must look like one No restaurant would admit me. Hungry as I am, I fear that home is the place for me," Helen replied. "But," she continued, "if you will put me on the train it will be quite sufficient Surely your office is not closed so early."

Marshall protested and finally won the day. He called a hansom, and together they took the train for Bayville They telephoned in advance, and the family carriage was at the depot to meet Helen.

"Uncle John can thank you better than I," she said as they parted.

"Think so?" asked Marshall. And then they both laughed.

The leading papers the next morning contained a large and conspicuous advertisement: "Lost, a gold mesh purse, containing bills, gold pencil and family commutation ticket between Bayville and New York. Liberal reward if returned to Miss Helen Merrill, Bayville, N. Y."

Helen Merrill was visiting in one of those richly appointed suburban homes now frequently seen on the outskirts of a large city.

Her Uncle John, a retired stock broker and bachelor, hated town life and lived in Bayville the year round. He loved to have his pretty niece visit him, while she was eager to leave her simple southern home and be his guest for weeks at a time, though her uncle was a vigorous chaperon.

The doorbell rang several times during the day, but the finder of the purse did not appear until late that evening, though Helen listened eagerly for the coveted summons.

About 8 o'clock a maid announced to Miss Merrill that a young man had called, saying he had found a purse and would like to have her identify it. Helen ran down the stairs, delighted at the thought of finding her lost treasure. In front of the open fire stood Clayton Marshall, warming his hands.

"Mr. Marshall," exclaimed Helen, with the pretty blush that was one of her girlish charms, "the maid said there was a man here who had found my purse, but I guess he must be outside."

"Not at all, Miss Merrill. I am the man who has the purse," and he drew forth from the depths of his pocket the missing trinket. Helen's cry of delight did not seem to be contagious, for Marshall assumed rather a depressed air.

"Mr. Marshall, you are surely a fairy prince! Yesterday you seemed like a second Noah escorting me in your modern ark up to my home," said Helen gayly. "Today you come like a Santa Claus, giving me back my purse. How can I ever thank you enough?" she added.

"I want to tell you something, if I may," said Marshall as they seated themselves in comfortable chairs. "I saw you talking to that policeman yesterday long before you saw me," he continued. "Again and again I have asked your precious old uncle to introduce me to you, but he always put me off, saying, 'What awhile, young man; wait awhile.'

"I got so I hated the sight of him more and more, and I determined to meet you in some other way, but no opportunity seemed to come until yesterday. As I was about to cross Broadway I saw this mass of shining gold whirling past me, and as I stopped to pick it up I heard you talking to the policeman. I went on, slipping the purse in my pocket, feeling quite sure that you would call me back. You did, and, well—you know the rest!"

"Such a deceitful man!" mused Helen. "And all the time that I was catching pneumonia you had that purse in your pocket. Oh, how could you?"

"That is just what's bothering me," said Marshall. "How could I?" But his eyes twinkled. "But if you were very, very much in love with a man and wanted to know him would you hesitate to steal a purse in order to accomplish that end? Now, honest," he pleaded as he drew his chair to a more confidential angle.

Helen Merrill's eyes began to dance.

"Men are such stupid, simple minded creatures!" she began. "Imagine asking a woman for an honest answer! Why, the thing is almost absurd. Yet I'm going to be honest; but, mind you, only just this once," she said as she leaned forward, almost whispering.

"Just this once," said Marshall, and the space between them was shortened by several inches.

"I could have got home yesterday without your help," she confided. "All I had to do was to go across the street to the First National bank and write my check. But I saw you coming, and —well, whenever I asked Uncle John why he didn't have you to dinner like some of the other men he'd say, 'Wait awhile, young lady; wait awhile.' And —and I thought I had waited long enough—and you know the rest."

"Now that we have both been so terribly honest with each other," said Marshall as he rose and stood beside the chair which held the second culprit, "suppose we go together to Uncle John and make a clean breast of it to him?"

"Not at all. You know, I only promised to be honest 'just once,' and that would make twice," argued Helen.

"There's luck in odd numbers," said Marshall. "You were honest to me just now. That's once. Let's go and be honest with Uncle John, and that's twice. And then once more I want you to be honest and answer a question. That's three, the odd number."

They were in the hall by this time on the way to the library and Uncle John. Marshall leaned very close to her as he asked her the third. No one ever heard it save Helen, but after that it really did not matter what Uncle John said.

The Loves of a Violinist.

"A violinist," said M. Ysaye, "can love as many fiddles as a sultan can love wives, and more. I should like a violin harem—a regular seraglio of fiddles—Strads, Guadagninis, a Guarnerius or two, a few Amatis and even a few Gaglianos." Once early in his career he was passionately attracted by an alleged Guadagnini in a pawnbroker's window in Hamburg. Buying it was out of the question, and the pawnbroker, after much persuasion, only consented to lay aside the instrument for awhile. Even then possession seemed remote until Ysaye, meeting a diamond dealing friend, actually fired him with so much enthusiasm for fiddles that he consented to leave a bag of stones with the pawnbroker as security for the instrument. "In this way," said Ysaye, "I was married to my first love among the fiddles, my beautiful Guadagnini."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Kites and Kites.

Mr. Plunkett, a famous Irish barrister, had great wit. Before Lord Chancellor of Ireland Redesdale Plunkett had occasion to use the word "kites" very frequently as designating fraudulent bills and promissory notes.

"I don't quite understand your meaning, Mr. Plunkett," said the lord chancellor. "In England kites are paper playthings used by boys. In Ireland they seem to mean some species of monetary transaction."

"There is another difference, my lord," Mr. Plunkett replied. "In England the wind raises the kites; in Ireland the kites raise the wind."

We've sped the parting guest, "Winter" and we turn to make our bow to Spring, embodying among other new things the latest evolution of Men's suit styles — this year we've struck out and away from the beaten track and have distanced all our past accomplishments---all lines making up the new spring styles, combine to spell "GRACE", —no angular corners; instead they're softly rounded, the lapels sweep gracefully down over the chest, while the question of button arrangement is answered in a variety of ways.

From now on we'll present from time to time the proper styles for Men, which it will pay you to look over Sir, if you're at all interested in nobby clothes. SEE OUR WINDOW

THE KURDS KILLING THE TROOPS

Russian Soldiers Are in Danger of Annihilation.

SURROUNDED BY BRIGANDS

Officer In Command Sends Urgent Appeal for Assistance—Three Slain and Ten Wounded—Crossed Persian Frontier In Pursuit of Marauders But Were Driven Back —The Country is Flooded.

Tiflis, April 21.—An alarming report has just been received here setting forth the critical situation of a small Russian expeditionary force in Persia, which is menaced by a vastly superior body of Persian brigands. The Russian troops penetrated the frontier in the neighborhood of Beleseuvar in pursuit of Kurdish brigands, who had committed depredations in Russian territory. In following this course Russia is acting on the rights accorded her for the maintenance of order in Northern Persia by the recent Anglo-Russian agreement.

The Russian commander has sent out a messenger demanding reinforcements of infantry, artillery and cavalry.

The Persians, who have been joined by a warlike tribe of nomads, surrounding the Russians. The sending in of Russian reinforcements is made particularly difficult by the flooded condition of the country.

Sunday the Russians had three men killed and ten wounded in various minor engagements with the Persians.

Sir A. P. Caron Dead.

Montreal, April 21.—Sir A. P. Caron, ex-Minister of Militia and ex-Postmaster-General of Canada, died yesterday afternoon at the Royal Victoria Hospital, aged 68 years. Few French-Canadian politicians were better known in the English-speaking provinces than the man who has just passed away, and few had more friends in both political parties than the man who was supremely popular in the City of Quebec, where at one time the name of Caron was synonymous with patriotism, charity and Conservatism.

It was not generally known that Sir Adolphe Caron had been attacked some six months ago with a grave throat trouble that was pronounced fatal by the specialists who attended him. In fact, he almost lost his voice, yet he still attended to his business matters, and it was only on Saturday that a severe cold forced him to remain indoors at his hotel.

Pneumonia developed very rapidly, the sick man was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, death coming two hours after his admission to that institution.

Towed Into Halifax Harbor.

Halifax, April 21.—After drifting helpless around the Atlantic for nine days with a broken propeller, the German oil tank steamer Burgermeister Petersen was towed into port yesterday by the Leland liner Columbian, which picked her up on Saturday off Sable Island and brought her safely into port, despite the heavy gale of Sunday.

Several steamers were seen by the Petersen while she was drifting disabled, and one of them, after replying to her signals of distress, steamed past without offering any assistance.

On April 8, when sixteen days out from Shields for Philadelphia, the steamer was abreast of Sable Island, when all four blades of her propeller suddenly snapped off.

Nelson, B.C., April 21.—Chief of Police Carroll has been summarily dismissed from the force for reasons which are not disclosed, but which he himself confesses to have been "highly reprehensible conduct."

To the Rescue.

Montreal, April 21.—Harry Evers, a young plumber of Toronto, who is here temporarily on a piece of work, Sunday night prevented a young woman from being criminally assaulted, driving the miscreant away.

A BIG RIOT DISTURBS BRANTFORD

Strikebreakers Make an Onslaught on the Pickets.

MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED

Face Beaten With Butt of Revolver —Strikers First Pelted Workers With Stones and Dragged One Man Out of His Rig—Special Police Are Now on Duty at the Big Stove Works.

Brantford, April 21.—The strike of the union moulders at the Buck Stove Works is beginning to assume a serious aspect. Last night at the closing hour the strikebreakers sallied forth from the shop in an attack on the union men doing patrol work in that vicinity.

George Battye, a striker, was badly used up in the melee, and had to be taken to the hospital. His face was beaten with the butt end of a revolver, and he sustained internal injuries.

The affair was a sequel to some stone-throwing by the union men on the strikebreakers yesterday morning. The latter were on their way to work when they received a fusilade from the tracks of the G.T.R. subway, Clarence street.

One of the strikebreakers had his back injured, necessitating his removal to the hospital. The situation has become such as to require special police service at the shop. About 150 moulders have been on strike for three weeks with prospects of the struggle being a long one.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the strikers dragged a man from a rig on his way to the shop. Manager Parker and Philip Buck came out and succeeded in getting the fellow back into the conveyance, when a second attack was frustrated. Police Court action has been taken by Wm. Buck against several of the strikers, whom he recognized.

Two Italians, Jose and John Belford, were arrested at Blue Lake yesterday afternoon, where they had been holding forth against the Portland Cement Co., refusing to be dispossessed of a small shanty they occupied. The Italians held the place at revolvers point and threatened to shoot anyone interfering with them.

Prorogation In June.

Ottawa, April 21.—A long sitting of the Cabinet Council was held yesterday and the Government measures to be introduced at an early date were discussed. It is the Government's desire to conclude the business of the present session as expeditiously as possible, and if it is further unduly prolonged it will certainly not be the fault of the Liberal members. At an early date it is proposed to start morning sessions of the Commons, and, barring any possibility of exhausting the flood of the Opposition campaign talk to Hansard, it is hoped to have the prorogation in June.

One of the most important measures still to come down is the bill to amend the Civil Service Act. The bill will be a comprehensive and, in some respects, a radical one, and will, it is hoped, remedy the defects pointed out in the report of the Civil Service Commission. Details of the measure are now being considered by the Cabinet.

How Mails Are Moved.

Little Current, Ont., April 21.—Twenty-five bags of mail for Manitoulin East and four passengers arrived at noon yesterday from Massey over the ice with single horse sleighs. Capt. Ed. MacKay also brought a gang of sawfeed roller weighing over half a ton.

The ice had gone out from the shore, but the drivers secured a large cake of solid ice and got it close enough to shore to drive on to and then moved it out to the main ice, continuing in safety. A strong line and buoy were attached to the roller to prevent loss in case of breaking through while crossing. One or two trips more will end the crossing.

Sandy McIver, mail carrier to Killarney, lost his horse through the ice near Killarney on Sunday. This is the third successive season for him to suffer in the same way.

Freight Train Derailed.

Smith's Falls, April 21.—A C.P.R. freight going east was derailed at Monklands yesterday. The tender of engine and six cars went off the track, but there was little damage done to rolling stock. The train had a cargo of cattle, but only four of them were killed.

The accident was caused by a plate of the engine getting caught in the switch. The main line was blocked for several hours as a result of the mishap.

Guarded by Detectives.

New York, April 21.—The Herald says: "In place of the one man who did similar service on Sunday of last week, six private detectives acted as a bodyguard for John D. Rockefeller on Sunday when he walked with his two grandchildren—Fowler and Muriel McCormick—to and from the Fifth avenue Baptist church.

King and Queen Leave London.

London, April 21.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra left London yesterday morning for a visit to Copenhagen, Stockholm and Christiania, where they will be the guests of the royal families at these capitals.

Rushed the Squatters.

New York, April 21.—Under orders, soldiers yesterday seized and ousted squatters from the beach, and rush orders have been received for the construction of new fortifications, which are imperatively needed to protect New York.

Crushed Between Rollers.

Rome, N.Y., April 21.—John Vito, aged 33, employed in the Rome Brass & Copper Co., while working around a set of rolls used for rolling sheets of brass, was drawn through a space of only ten inches, crushing the life out of him.

A TRAIN WRECK THAT PROVED FATAL

Terrible Collision on Railway Near Melbourne, Australia.

FORTY-ONE PERSONS KILLED

Sixty Others Severely Injured—Disaster Occurred Late at Night—Wreckage Caught Fire and Cars Were Completely Consumed — Bodies Terribly Burned—Engines Piled on Top of Coaches.

Melbourne, Australia, April 21.—Two excursion trains collided Sunday night at Braybrook Junction, a village about seven miles west of this city.

Several carriages were telescoped and it is believed that 27 people were killed and about 40 injured.

The actual number has not been definitely ascertained, as the wreckage took fire and was almost completely consumed. Nineteen bodies have been recovered.

A later cable says: Two trains from Ballarat and Bendigo, respectively, collided late Sunday night at Braybrook Junction, about eight miles from Melbourne, 41 persons being killed and 60 injured. The Bendigo train, with two heavy engines, crashed into the rear of the Ballarat train. Five cars of the latter train were wrecked. The wreckage took fire and was almost completely consumed. Many of the bodies were unrecognizable when recovered.

The Bendigo train suffered but little damage, but the two engines were piled on top of the rear coaches of the other train. Terrible scenes followed the accident, many of the injured being caught in the wreckage, and with difficulty rescued. It was a long time before doctors and nurses arrived on the scene, and, as a consequence, intense suffering prevailed among the injured.

MEN WERE RECKLESS.

Went Too Near Dynamite With Fatal Results.

Quebec, April 21.—The disastrous premature explosion which occurred on the new line of the Transcontinental Railway on Saturday afternoon last, and which hurled nine workmen to instant death, has cast a gloom over the whole County of Bellechasse, but more heavily does the pall hang over the little parish of St. Cagetan, where the disaster occurred, and within a stone's throw of which stood the homes of five of the unfortunate victims. The men were engaged in preparing the roadbed for the ties and were engaged in removing rock which obstructed the way, for which purpose they used dynamite. It was a repetition of the old story which has sent so many to eternity. The fuse was ignited and as the explosion failed to occur within the usual time the men approached to ascertain the cause, but when they were in close proximity the report was heard, and, to the horror of those at a safe distance off, fully a dozen men were blown into space.

News of the disaster was quickly sent to the adjoining villages, and the startled inhabitants flocked to the scene while all the physicians within a radius of thirty miles hastened to render medical aid.

Move to Release Thaw.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., April 21.—The first step toward the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan Asylum for the Insane was taken yesterday. James G. Graham of Newburg, of Thaw's counsel, made application to Justice Morschauser at White Plains for an order directing the superintendent of the asylum to permit Thaw to sign a formal application for a write of habeas corpus.

The order was granted, and when Thaw has made the application he will probably be brought before a justice for a hearing to determine whether or not he is sane.

Jerom Will Oppose.

New York, April 21.—District Attorney Jerome last night, when told that an effort was being made to have Harry K. Thaw released from the Matteawan Asylum for the Insane, said that he and Assistant District Attorney Frank Garvan would go before Justice Morschauser at White Plains, if the latter granted the writ of habeas corpus to James G. Graham of Newburg, one of Thaw's counsel. District Attorney Jerome is opposed to Thaw being released from the asylum.

Brought News of Rebellion.

He was the first man to bring the news to Toronto of the rising of the rebels, and was the only man who passed down Yonge street on the morning before the battle of Dec. 7, 1837.

He was born in Toronto in 1818, near St. Lawrence Market, and when a young man went to Aurora to keep store.

Brother, Too, a Fugitive.

Edmonton, April 21.—An information has been sworn out here for Capt. Neville Harbottle, the missing collector of inland revenue, and the mounted police are sending out photos and descriptive circulars of the man who is wanted here.

Investigation shows that the amount not accounted for is $6,913.

Regina, April 21.—Alberta's revenue will suffer heavily as a result of the hail insurance legislation, the province being required to put up $114,000 deficit. This will likely lead to a material amendment to the act.

Russian General Dying.

St. Petersburg, April 21.—The condition of Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, aide-de-camp to Emperor Nicholas, and former commander-in-chief of the Russian army in Manchuria, who is ill with pneumonia, is now critical.

Steam Barge Afire.

Cleveland, O., April 21.—A steamer, said to be the Main, towing the barge Emma E. Tyson from Ashtabula, is reported to be afire ten miles out in the lake. A crew of ten men is said to be aboard. The life-saving crew has gone to the rescue. The extent of the damage is unknown. The Main was en route for Cleveland to pick up the barge M. E. Orton.

Cornice Collapsed; Man Killed.

Ithaca, N.Y., April 21.—John F. Oates of this city died yesterday morning as a result of a peculiar accident Sunday night, in which five men were injured.

The men were standing under the eaves of the four-storey brick building, when suddenly tons of brick in the cornice fell to the pavement, crushing the men to the walk.

Ditched Maritime Express.

Montreal, April 21.—The I.C.R. Maritime Express, due in Montreal Sunday evening from Halifax, was ditched near St. Helene de Baot, between St. Hyacinthe and Drummondville, while running 30 miles an hour. The passengers were tossed about, but none were seriously injured. A porter was hurled through a window into a pool of mud.

Bad Fire at Mowbray.

Mowbray, Man., April 21.—The Imperial elevator and C. P. R. station here were completely destroyed by fire Sunday night. The fire broke out in the elevator, from some cause unknown and spread to the station. Three thousand bushels of wheat stored in the elevator was destroyed. The loss is fully insured.

Hoagland Was Ahead By One Lap At The End Of First Four Hours Of The Six-Day Walking Tournament

Jim Harrison, Local Dark Horse, Hot at the Heels of the American---23 Miles 4 Laps Were Negotiated in the Night---Most Exciting Sporting Event Ever Pulled Off in Peterborough---Hartley is Fifth---A Fast Bunch.

1500 PEOPLE WILDLY CHEERED THE WALKERS

1 WILLARD A. HOAGLAND, Auburn, N. Y., 23 miles, 4 laps.
2. JAS. HARRISON, Peterborough, 23 miles, 3 laps.
3. CHAS. A. STEVENS, Peterborough, 22 miles, 12 laps.
4. JAS. E. BLAKE, Syracuse, 22 miles, 11 laps.
5. DAVID HARTLEY, Peterborough, 22 miles, 9 laps.
6. TOM. SLATER, Oswego, N. Y., 22 miles, 6 laps.
7. CHAS. STENNER, Warsaw, Ont., 21 miles, 9 laps.
8. JAS. G. GRAHAM, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 miles, 6 laps.
9. RAY FENTON, Auburn, N. Y., 21 miles, 2 laps.
10. R. J. HATTON, Toronto, 20 miles, 7 laps.
11. W. H. NAUGON, Hiawatha, 19 miles, 2 laps.
12. S. L. BROOKS, Toronto, 14 miles, 12 laps.
13. JACK COOPER, Toronto, 12 miles, 12 laps.
14. WALTER BRUCE, Millbrook, Ont., 3 miles, 5 laps.

Such was the standing of the contestants in the six-day walking race, which began in the Brock street rink last night, at 11.30 o'clock, when the walkers stepped for the night, after the first four hours of their thirty-six hour grind. Only ten walkers were on the track when the timer's bill announced that the first night's toil was over, the hot pace proving too much for Cooper and Brooks, the Toronto men, and Bruce, of Millbrook, and Billy Naugon, the Hiawatha Indian.

At least 1,500 people saw the opening, and it is safe betting that they will not soon forget the contest. Excitement was the key note from bell to bell, and the four hours were marked by a series of nerve-racking sprints that kept the crowd on its feet all the way through, and the people simply shouted themselves hoarse as the walkers tore around the sawdust. No more exciting night's sport has ever been seen in Peterborough, and the walking craze has caught on with a fervor that will be seen in crowded houses all week. People who have not seen a walking match, in which a large number of cracks are engaged, can form no idea of the exciting nature of the event. They must see for themselves.

Fourteen Started

A field of fourteen walkers started and four were killed off during the night, which shows the rate at which the leaders were going. The men were started off at 7.31 1-2 o'clock, by Mayor Rush, in tiers of three, according to their numbers, Hartley, Stevens and Brooks being in the first row.

There was excitement right from the go in. Hartley took the lead for the first few laps, with Stevens second, Cooper third, Stenner fourth and Blake fifth. Hoagland, Slater and Harrison were pretty well bunched. Cooper, the former London, Eng., walker and a noted short distance man, developed a great bunch of speed, and in the seventh lap was out in front, showing a pair of heels to the bunch and a pretty speedy pair, too, for he covered the first mile in seven minutes, 42 seconds, the fastest mile of the night. Blake, the negro, sprinted towards the end of the mile, and set sail after Cooper, amid the cheers of the crowd. He soon overhauled the Englishman, and went out in front, setting up a lap lead on Hoagland, Slater and the rest of the cracks, and leading for the next two miles, the second being covered in 7.51.

Stevens Leads for Nine Miles

Charlie Stevens furnished the next excitement for the crowd, and the eighteen-year-old local lad set a pace that soon set him two laps ahead of the majority of the bunch, while he gained a lap on Blake and kept the lead for nine miles. About the eighth mile Hoagland went after him and the two had an exciting brush for half a mile, sprinting continuously, while the crowd roared. The "kid" set a terrific pace and managed to hold his lead until the thirteenth mile.

Meanwhile, Hoagland, Slater and Jim Harrison, the local dark horse, were walking together, Slater treading on Hoagland's heels, and Harrison glued to the Oswego crack. The rest of the field were trailing. The speed that Cooper had shown in the first mile had departed from him and Brooks, Graham, Stenner, Naugon, and Hatton were dropping back, while Blake and Hartley continued to hold their own, a couple of laps behind.

At the end of the twelfth mile

LOCAL BOY WHO LED FOR NINE MILES LAST NIGHT IN THE BIG TOURNAMENT

DOG SHOWS HUMAN INTELLIGENCE IN SEARCHING FOR ABSENT FRIENDS

Instinct in some dogs borders closely on human wisdom. In different breeds this fact is more noticeable. A week ago a mother and daughter went to Toronto, leaving the father at home. The next day was Sunday, and "Dan," the family's pet dog, was very restless, roaming all over the house. In the afternoon about 3 o'clock "Dan" left the house and went to the little girls' Sunday school at the Murray street Baptist church. Not finding her there, after looking around the class, he laid down and waited until after the lessons were over. He went out with the scholars and returned home, still looking around as if in search of his friends.

What the family is trying to determine is how the dog should know the day was Sunday, as he showed by going to the church at the regular hour. Probably is was because every seventh day the father did not go to work and hence was at home nearly the whole day.

FARMER TRAMPLED BENEATH FEET OF HORSES FRIGHTENED BY APPROACH RAILWAY TRAIN

Passengers on G. T. R. Witness Accident in a Field Beside the Railway Track.

HE HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Although no reports have been received of any serious accident, a Peterborough woman travelling from Millbrook to the city last evening, asserts that several passengers on the train witnessed a runaway beside the track somewhere between Millbrook and Fraserville.

She states that a farmer was ploughing in a field alongside the railway track and that when the train drew near his team began to get unmanageable. The owner ran to their heads but with the approach of the train they became wildly excited and trampled the man under their feet.

The passengers who witnessed the accident believe he was seriously injured as it seemed impossible for him to escape being run over by the plough.

Inquiries at Fraserville and Millbrook by the Examiner to-day, however, failed to gain any further information, and in fact, no person had heard of the affair in those districts.

BOYS GAFF AND CLUB MUSKRATS WITHIN THE CITY

Two boys brought six muskrat hides to a local furrier yesterday and received the usual price, 40 cents apiece. Both boys made their catch in the city's limits, showing that the muskrats are very plentiful this year. One boy gaffed two rats from a crack after they had tried to hide among the stones at the bottom. The other boy clubbed the rats which he had secured somewhere in the south end of the city.

The present price of rat pelts, 40 cents, is the highest that has existed for many years and this is not on account of a scarcity of the animals. The Indians report many large catches and at this rate they will find themselves petty billionaires after the season is over.

FIRST MARCH-OUT OF THE REGIMENT THIS EVENING

The first march out for the season of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, will be held this evening. The line of march will be from the drill hall down George to Charlotte street, across to Water street, up Water street to Hunter street, Hunter street to George street and George street to Murray street and from Murray street to the drill hall.

DR. MORRISON IS SELECTED AS ONE OF EXAMINERS

Dr. M. A. Morrison, of Peterborough, one of the gentlemen selected to conduct the annual examinations of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, which began in Toronto yesterday. (About forty candidates are writing on the final examinations, and one hundred and sixty in the first, second and third years. The examinations will extend over two weeks and probably four weeks before the results in all the years are published. Final year results will be made known in about ten or twelve days.

OCTAGON CLUB'S DANCE LAST NIGHT ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The last of a delightful series of dances, under the auspices of the Octogon Club, was held last night in the Conservatory of Music Hall, and like its predecessors, proved a most successful and enjoyable affair. About sixty couples were in attendance and the floor was in excellent shape. The music was supplied by Fralick's Orchestra, of Toronto, and was thoroughly appreciated. Refreshments were served by Mr. Joe Welch, of T. H. Hooper's establishment. The members of the Octogon Club are to be congratulated upon the success of their "At Homes," which have been among the most enjoyable social events of the season.

P. S. INSPECTOR ATTENDING THE CONVENTION

THE EXAMINATION OF PROBATIONERS AND YOUNG MINISTERS

REV. J. G. LEWIS,
Of Picton, who has charge of Examination at George Street Methodist Church

LONDON MARKET COMPARED WITH PETERBOROUGH

Mr. Joseph Green, while in London last week, paid particular attention to the market there, and was greatly impressed by the large number of farmers who attended during the week and on Saturday. Potatoes were as high as $1.10 per bag, while butter was from 30 to 33 cents, and during the winter went as high as 40 cents. Eggs retail at from 16 to 18 cents, and hay last week dropped to $12 and $14 per ton. Hay in Peterborough is still at from $18 to $20 per ton.

Mr. Green said that on Monday there were forty loads of hay on the market, and on Tuesday there were fifty loads. Hay is not sold on Saturday, that is, it is not allowed on the market, but may be weighed. The market is free to vehicles, the only charge being a small fee for the use of the scales. The market clerk receives a salary of $700 a year.

A WIDOW KILLED TO-DAY BY A HOSE REEL IN TORONTO

Toronto, April 21.—(Special.) — The Grand Trunk elevator on the lakefront, at the foot of Spadina avenue, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is $750000. Mrs. Scott, a widow, was killed by a hose reel on its way to the fire. The elevator and contents are covered by insurance.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS RECEIVE SIXTY MEMBERS

About sixty new candidates were received into the Knights of Columbus yesterday, the society thus gradually increasing in membership and strength. The day was commenced by attending in a body high mass at St. Peter's Cathedral. In the presence of 175 Knights, the 60 candidates were initiated in the three degrees. The meetings were held in the Foresters' Hall in the morning, afternoon and evening, and among those present were many candidates and Knights from outside points.

After the ceremonies were concluded a pleasant social time was spent, light refreshments being served, and music, songs and speeches enjoyed.

On May 24 initiation will be held in Lindsay.

KEENE BANKERS' CANOE TURNS TURTLE IN ATTEMPT TO RUN RAPIDS AT WEDLOCK

Messrs. Fee and Dean Have Narrow Escape in Swift Current---Craft Struck a Snag----It Has Not Since Been Seen.

YOUNG MEN COMPELLED TO SWIM TO SHO

Keene, April 21.—Messrs. A. B. Fee and Frank Dean, of the staff of the Bank of Toronto, had a very narrow escape from drowning last Friday morning, while attempting to run the rapids below Wedlock's dam. That part of the river is swollen by the spring floods to many times its usual volume, and is so very swift that it is impossible to paddle a canoe against the current. Messrs. Dean and Fee paddled up the raceway to the dam, and portaged to the river, intending to make the return trip that way. They weres uccessful in running the first rapids, but when nearly through the second, is particularly dangerous, their canoe ran against a fallen tree, which lay partly submerged across the river, and punctured a large hole in the bottom of their craft.

The young men were forced to swim to shore through the ice cold water, which was a very difficult task, owing to the swiftness of the current and the many dangerous rocks. Fortunately both are excellent swimmers and were able to make shore.

Both gentlemen were on duty as usual Saturday, and beyond bad colds and a few bruises from coming in contact with the rocks in their struggle for safety, are apparently none the worse, but neither would care to repeat the experience.

The canoe has not yet been found and it is believed to be a total wreck, lying wedged somewhere among the rocks of the rapids.

Programme For The Laying Of The Armoury Corner Stone

All arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the new armouries to-morrow afternoon, have now been completed. The military men as well as other citizens are looking forward to the event on account of the visit of Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia.

He will arrive in the city to-morrow on the noon train and will be the guest of Mr. R R Hall, M.P., until about 2 o'clock.

A general present arms salute will be given by the regiment on Central Park in honour of the Minister, and, beginning about 3 o'clock, the ceremony of laying the corner stone will begin. A private reception will be given to Sir Frederick in the Drill Hall at 4 o'clock, and in the evening he will be tendered a banquet at the Oriental Hotel by the citizens, the tickets for which have been placed at $1.50. His Worship, Mayor Rush, will be in the chair and the following toast list has been decided upon:

"The King."
"The Governor General."
"Our Guest." Proposed by the chairman. Responded to by Sir Frederick Borden.
"Dominion House and Legislative Assembly" proposed by Mr. J. Burnham, responded to by Messrs. Hall and T. E. Bradburn.
"Peterborough Garrison," proposed by Hon. J. R. Stratton, and responded to by Col. Stevenson of the 57th, Major T. W. H. Young, of the 24th Field Battery and Major Johnston, of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons.

The Banquet Committe, from a member of which tickets may be secured, is composed of Ald. Geo. E. Elliott, chairman; Ald. H. Phelan, and Major L. M. Hayes.

Seats on the platform have been reserved for all those officially invited to be present at the function.

Col. W. D. Gordon, of Kingston, officer in command of Eastern Ontario district, has notified the authorities of his intention to be present.

Corps To Go To Quebec From Eastern Ontario Command

Fifty per cent. of the following cavalry, artillery and infantry in the Eastern Ontario command, of which Col. Gordon is officer commanding, says the Kingston Whig, will go to Quebec for the tercentenary celebration:

Artillery—Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, Kingston; 5th Battery Field Artillery of Kingston; 8th of Gananoque; 2nd and 23rd of Ottawa; 14th of Cobourg; 24th of Peterborough. Cobourg Company, Canadian Garrison Artillery.

Cavalry—3rd Dragoons of Colborne; 4th Hussars of Kingston; 5th Dragoon Guards of Ottawa.

Infantry—14th Regiment, Kingston; 15th, of Belleville; 16th of Picton; 40th, of Cobourg; 45th, of Lindsay; 46th, of Port Hope; 47th, of Kingston; 49th, of Madoc; 57th, of Peterborough; 41st, of Brockville; 42nd of Pembroke; 43rd, of Ottawa; 58th of Prescott; 59th, of Cornwall; Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa and the Glengarry Highlanders; the Army Service Corps, the Army Medical Corps, Ordnance Corps, and Army Pay Corps of Kingston.

The Belleville Regiment Has Received An Invitation

Belleville, April 21.—(Special.) — Colonel Ponton has received a very handsomely printed invitation to attend the laying of the corner stone of the new armouries at Peterborough on the 22nd inst., by Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, and also to an At Home by the officers of the 57th Regiment. Belleville remembers with pleasure the visit of the 57th here and also the hospitality extended by them to our Belleville Battalion, and wishes them all success in their interesting function. Probably the 15th and 57th half-battalions may be comrades at Quebec.

Appreciable Decrease In Prices Of Flour And Oat

Price of flour decreases 50c per barrel or 25c per bag. Present price of oats 43 cents per bushel. Highest price during the winter 55 cents.

It will be grateful news to the citizens to learn that the price of at least one household commodity has fallen off to a certain extent. It was announced to-day that flour had decreased in price 50 cents a barrel, or 25 cents per bag. This includes all grades of flour—family, baker's, etc. The reason can scarcely be given off hand. The supply of wheat must certainly exceed the demand, and the amount of Manitoba wheat on hand is greater than was estimated. It is believed, too, that wheat has maintained a price beyond what it should have been. The decline in price has been experienced all over the country.

The present price of oats is 43 cents a bushel, having gradually declined from mid-winter, when the farmers received 55 cents per bushel. The same reasons as in the case of wheat may be given for oats.

Graham, wrestling bout, (contestants to be announced later,) tumbling exhibition under Mr. Ed. Daly, burlesque basket ball game, Tramps vs. Old Maids; pyramids by Seniors, also rope climbing. Music by the George street Methodist Church Choir and Orchestra.

The fencing class is requested to be present to-morrow night at 8 o'clock sharp, for a final rehearsal.

The Senior men are urged to attend a final rehearsal to-night at the regular hour and to-morrow night at 8.30. Every man must be present.

On Friday morning a number of the Y.M.C.A. older boys will proceed by train to Omemee and from there will walk to Lindsay. At Lindsay they will dine at the Y.M.C.A. and return by train in the evening. All who wish to be in this tramp should notify the physical director at once.

ONTARIO FINANCES.

In no other department of Provincial administration, than the finances, has the Whitney Government shown a wider departure from the principles for which it stood, and for which it clamoured, when in Opposition. Mr. Whitney and his allies, when the Liberals were in power, time after time, accused the Government for its extravagance of expenditure and waste of Provincial resources. It would have been expected that when the Conservatives came into power, they would pursue a policy of careful expenditure, and be consistent with the resolutions moved by their leader upon the floor of the House, declaring for the principle of economy of public administration.

But they have shown themselves false to every principle of this character, which they demanded from their opponents, with great absence of justification. Note how the Provincial expense bill has climbed up since the advent of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Matheson. In 1903 under the Liberal Government, the total expenditure of the Province was considerably short of $5,000,000,—in exact figures, $4,888,983. The Whitney Government came into power, and the first year's expenditure for which they were wholly responsible, that of 1906 mounted up to $6,720,179; the next year it rose to $7,714,245, and the appropriations for 1908 amount to practically the round $8,000,000. Thus, the increase in Provincial expenditure is about 60 per cent., as against an increase in Dominion expenditure of 38 per cent. for the five years ending 1907. The Conservative journals and politicians are earnestly indignant in condemning what they call the "extravagant and wasteful" expenditures of the Liberal Government at Ottawa, but there is not a chipr of condemnation of the Whitney Government, under which the expenditure of Ontario has grown at nearly twice as large a rate as the expenditure of the Ottawa Government has in the corresponding period. At the rate at which the expenditure has grown in the first four years of the Whitney Government, in another four years our annual expenditure will have reached $10,000,000, or be double what it was in 1903.

THE ELECTION LISTS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

Some of the more militant of the Conservatives in, and out, of Parliament are threatening to keep the Federal session going for many months to come if the Government presses the bill to amend the Elections Act, now standing in the name of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth. Their chief ground of complaint is the provision by which the electoral lists of any Province which are revised at irregular intervals, shall undergo a fresh revision just prior to any Federal election. This provision will, it so happens, apply only to the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia, each of which happens to be to-day administered by a Conservative Government.

As it is evident that this question will provoke more or less stormy debates after the Easter recess, it may be as well to examine just what is the situation, so far as the two Provinces named are concerned. The Dominion Elections Act, in providing for the use of the Provincial voters' lists in Federal elections, specifies in clauses 6, 7 and 8 (chapter 6 of the Revised Statutes) two different kinds of Provincial lists. One class of Provincial lists is permanent, viz., those which are revised from year to year and are, therefore, available for use whenever a Dominion election is called. There is also a provision that where the lists of a Province are prepared, "not at regular intervals, but at such times as are fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, or some other Provincial or local authority," for the "purpose of a general or other election," they will be available for Dominion use for only one year from the time they were compiled.

Once the year elapses, new lists, based upon the Provincial qualifications, must be compiled by Dominion officials, but according to Provincial law. When the Dominion Elections Act was passed in 1898 all the Provinces which had permanent election lists compiled them and revised them annually by the agency of the municipal councils. At that time in Manitoba lists were prepared for particular elections, and they lapsed after one year. The lists were available for Dominion purposes for only that limited time.

It was not until 1904 that the Province of Manitoba decided to keep its election lists alive from year to year by an annual revision, so-called. These lists were made permanent for the admittedly sole purpose of giving the Conservatives an advantage in Dominion elections. This is proven by the striking fact that the legislation of the Manitoba Government of 1904 took out of the hands of the judges the appointment of election officials and the power of making regulations governing the making of the lists; and by the well-known circumstance that year after year, since that date, the conditions governing the registration and revision have been maintained in the interests of the Conservatives and, therefore, against the interests of the Liberals.

The Manitoba lists were foisted upon the Dominion in 1904 by sharp practice; that trick worked to the direct advantage of the Conservatives and to the disadvantage of the Liberals. Is it any wonder, therefore, that the Liberals of Manitoba, and of British Columbia also (for practically the same conditions prevail there), should now appeal to the grand jury of the nation to remedy that disability imposed upon them by Roblin and Rogers and should ask to be placed upon the same footing as the other provinces?

The debates in the House of Commons, in 1898, when the Dominion Elections Act was under consideration, show clearly that it was the intention of the Government that the basis of the election lists must be their preparation by the municipal authorities. Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, then Solicitor-General, made this clear when he said:

"We should put the franchise, not under the control of this House, but under the control of the electorate, under the control of the people who send us here, as directly as possible under their control by placing it in the hands of the municipal councils."

While both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding argued in support of the idea that the lists must be prepared by the municipal councils, they also declared specifically that they did not propose that the Dominion should renounce its right to prepare and control its own lists if the necessity for doing so should arise. The Premier declined to accept the theory that the Dominion was obliged to accept any lists which Provincial Legislatures might care to prepare. He put this plainly when he said:

"I am quite disposed, for my part, to accept the franchise prepared by the Legislature, whether Liberal or Conservative. BUT IF THE DAY COMES WHEN A FRAUD IS COMMITTED AGAINST THIS PARLIAMENT, WHEN LEGISLATION OF A HOSTILE CHARACTER IS BROUGHT FORWARD IN THE LEGISLATURE, THEN IT WILL BE ALWAYS OPEN FOR PARLIAMENT TO RESUME ITS OWN POWERS AND TO ENACT A FRANCHISE LAW OF ITS OWN."

Even Mr. R. L. Borden is on record as warning Parliament against the unwisdom of declaring that under all and any circumstances the provincial lists should be regarded as suitable for Dominion purposes. On page 2991 of Hansard of 1898 he is reported to have said:

"Even if we do adopt the provincial law, I would suggest that we should not go beyond saying that the provincial enactments as they exist at present, and the basis on which the voters' lists are now made up in the different provinces, shall be the basis on which we shall proceed in the future. I do not see why we should pledge ourselves now to the wisdom of what any Provincial Legislature may pass in the future."

It will be interesting to see how the Leader of the Opposition will be able to justify his opposition to Mr. Aylesworth's bill in the face of the above declaration.

THE GREAT SIX-DAY WALKING TOURNAMENT

Hoagland took the lead for the first time with a good sprint, but Slater and Harrison kept right on, and the three began to draw away until the fifteenth mile, when Dave Hartley, who was two laps behind, electrified the crowd with a terrific sprint, passing walker after walker, until he was up with the leaders, only to fall back again when Hoagland let loose again, followed by Slater and Harrison. Cooper had dropped out at the twelfth mile, and Brooks, the oldest man in the race, quit at fourteen miles, leaving eleven on the track.

Harrison Takes Lead

The leaders were going at a six-mile per hour clip, with frequent sprints that kept the crowd going. In the eighteenth mile, Harrison in one of these took the lead, and at the end of the mile was leading by about a quarter of a lap. His lead was short lived, however, for Hoagland went out in front once more and Harrison dropped back to his old position, at his heels Slater, who had been with the pair and who is suffering from a terrific cold, began to feel the effects of the grind at this stage and slowed up, so much so that he was quickly lapped and the leading pair set up a good lead. Hoagland ahead and Harrison a few enough after going nineteen miles feet behind him. Billy Naugon had and left the track, leaving ten still in the grind.

Some Desperate Sprints

Hoagland was ahead at the end of the 20th mile, and for the next twelve laps, Harrison again taking the lead at the end of the twenty-first mile. Then Stevens, who had slowed up considerably, sprinted suddenly with the intention of covering twenty-three miles in the four hours, and maybe he didn't show some speed for awhile. Hoagland went right after, and the two sprinted for half a mile at a terrific rate, the youngster holding this own in strenuous fashion, while the crowd went crazy with excitement. Then suddenly the world's champion showed what he could do and in the twenty-second mile let loose, with a sprint that brought forth volleys of applause from the spectators. Harrison, who had been dogging him all night, couldn't hold the American crack in this burst and when the smoke cleared away Hoagland had lapped his second man, but he got no further. Stevens sprinted again, and Harrison followed suit. Timer Clarke's bell sounded with the two Peterborough men and Hoagland engaged in one of the most exciting sprints of the night. Meanwhile, Blake had cut loose and gained a lap on Harley, so that the two finished a good fourth and fifth, while Slater had to be content with sixth place, three laps behind Hartley.

A Great Succes

There is no doubt whatever that the tournament is the greatest kind of a great success. The walkers are satisfied, the crowd was satisfied and the committee is satisfied. No more exciting walking has probably ever been witnessed in Canada before, and the contest has certainly lived up to its advance notices. Everything went along smoothly last night. The scorers did creditable work, considering that it was their first experience, and Referee Jas. Reynolds, of Port Hope, had little trouble in keeping the walkers to the straight heel and toe, although Naugon, the Indian, persisted in using a slow dog trot that was amusing alike to the rest of the walkers and to the crowd.

The Race by Miles

First mile—Cooper.
Second mile—Blake.
Third mile—Blake.
Fourth mile—Stevens.
Fifth mile—Stevens.
Sixth mile—Stevens.
Seventh mile—Stevens.
Eighth mile—Stevens.
Ninth mile—Stevens.
Tenth mile—Stevens.
Eleventh mile—Stevens.
Twelfth mile—Stevens.
Thirteenth mile—Hoagland.
Fourteenth mile—Hoagland.
Fifteenth mile—Hoagland.
Sixteenth mile—Hoagland.
Seventeenth mile—Hoagland.
Eighteenth mile—Harrison.
Nineteenth mile—Hoagland.
Twentieth mile—Hoagland.
Twenty-first mile—Harrison.
Twenty-second mile—Hoagland.
Twenty-third mile—Hoagland.

The crowd was a grand one, and the way in which they crowded into the centre of the ring and cheered their favourites on added to the excitement. "This beats horse-racing," said one well-known turfman, paying the race the highest tribute he could think of.

Jimmy Reynolds of Port Hope made a very satisfactory referee, and the crowd was amused when he took off his coat and sprinted around inside the ropes after the walkers.

It is not likely that more than ten or eleven at the outside will start to-night. Bruce, Brooks and Naugon are out for keeps, but Cooper is undecided, and may get out to-night to hit up the pace for a mile or two. He got off to a good start last night and was coming strong when he was attacked by a stitch in the side which he could not shake off. The ex-Surrey Walking Club man has a great burst of speed.

The showing of the Peterborough men last night was appreciated by the crowd, and all three of them are in the money so far, Harrison second, Stevens third and Hartley fifth.

Jim Harrison made a big hit with the crowd by the way in which he hung on to Slater and Hoagland, and to the latter alone after Slater had dropped back. He finished just a lap behind the world's champion, going strong all well, and will be right in the running to-night.

Charlie Stevens was responsible for a great deal of the excitement last night. The local "kid" led for nine miles and the pace he set up for Hoagland furnished the crowd with several of the most exciting brushes of the night. He was strong and fit at the finish last night.

Dave Hartley travelled at a steady clip all night and is husbanding himself for the ten-hour grind to-morrow. Once he let out after the leaders with a great sprint that brought the crowd to its feet. Slater is suffering from a very bad cold and was in poor shape last night, although he hung on, gamely for three hours, fighting his illness and treading on Hoagland's heels. "I'll be knocking on the door along about Thursday night," he remarked to the Examiner to-day.

Fenton, the boy from Auburn, N.Y., made a very creditable showing. All his races have been one to three-mile affairs, but he stuck on pluckily last night and negotiated 21 miles and two laps.

Graham, the Buffalo walker, has a nice clean, unlabourious gait (and hit up a steady pace that carried him 21 miles and six laps without an effort. He was cheerful about it, too, and hummed to himself as he walked, while his smile was of the breakfast food brand.

Stonzer, the Warsaw man, made a good showing, being in seventh place. He has a good style and appeared fresh at the finish.

Hatton of Toronto is a plodder and will be found on the track at the finish, if appearances are any indication. He paid no attention to the sprinters, but pursued the even tenor of his way" all night.

Billy Naugon had a style of his own, and his hope, although against the laws of the walking game, was not fast enough to be dangerous, and the referee let him go. Billy had had enough before twenty miles had been covered.

There will be more "doings" to-night, and anyone with a weak heart should keep away from the rink. All the walkers were around this morning looking none the worse for their exertions, and they will go out after each other hard again to-night, Hoagland starting out one lap to the good. The walkers will start at 7.30 sharp and will walk until 11.30 o'clock. To-morrow they get away at 1.30 and will walk until 11.30, a ten-hour grind.

There should be another crowded house this evening. To-night the space inside the ropes will be reserved for officials and the press, and the crowd should remember this fact. Last night neither the trainers nor the referee had any chance to look after the men.

The 57th Band was in attendance and their music helped to add to the gaiety of nations.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Churchill Says Government Will Deal With Home Rule.

Manchester, April 21.—Winston Spencer Churchill, who is seeking re-election, on his recent appointment to the Cabinet, made a notable speech here last night, which has been awaited by the followers of John Redmond before they undertook to counsel the Nationalists as to how they should vote. Mr. Churchill announced that he had the concurrence of Premier Asquih in saying that at the close of the present Parliament the Liberal party would claim full authority and a free hand to deal with the problem of Irish self-government without being restricted by mere measures of devolution like the abandoned Irish councils bill.

Mr. Churchill said that his recent vote in support of John Redmond's home rule resolution in the House of Commons was no mere perfunctory proceeding.

"It constituted on my part," he said, "a distant acceptance of an advanced position in the Irish question. My opinion ripened during the last two years I frankly admit. I have become convinced that a national settlement of the Irish question on broad and generous lines is indispensible to a harmonious conception of Liberalism, and I have a great object lesson in my own experience in the matter of South Africa. There they run a risk far greater. I hope some day for a settlement in a similar spirit in Ireland."

Late last night Mr. Redmond's decision was still awaited.

Many Prairie Fires.

Carlyle, Sask., April 21.—The farm residence of D. Thompson, with its contents, was burned by a prairie fire yesterday, which was kindled by a spark from a chimney.

Govan, Sask., April 21.—A disastrous prairie fire swept across the country south of this town on Saturday. W. O'Neill suffered a severe loss in having his barn burned, also losing a valuable team of horses and a large quantity of oats and hay.

Lloydminster, Sask., April 21.—There were two fires on Saturday. One destroyed the private house of E. Morlidge; the other the farm house, furniture, barn, stables, calves and pigs of C. Spurgeon, Ashton.

Qu'Appelle, Sask., April 21.—News is just to hand of a serious prairie fire in the northern part of Springbrook district. Fire swept over the country from the west, destroying grain granaries, feed and other property. James Smith had four horses badly burned, and he himself narrowly escaped death from the flames, suffering many burns.

Mowbray, Man., April 21.—The Imperial elevator and C.P.R. station here were completely destroyed by fire late on Saturday night. Three thousand bushels of wheat in the elevator was destroyed.

Fell Into the Flume.

Smith's Falls, April 21.—Henry McDonald, an employe of the woollen mill at Burritt's Rapids, a short distance below Smith's Falls, had an experience Sunday that few men live to tell of. He was doing some work at the flume when he fell in and was carried its full length and under the bridge.

The water is very high at that point at present, and the force of it almost carried him into the wheel. Just as he reached it, however, the current, as if by a miracle, tossed him to one side and he was carried away in the overflow to a point below the mill, where a fellow workman rescued him. He was pulled out more dead than alive, apparently, but in a short time he had recovered and was but little the worse of his thrilling experience.

Turkey Surrenders.

Rome, April 21.—Turkey has ceded to the Italian demand for Italian postoffices in Turkish territory in order to avoid a naval demonstration in her waters.

Furthermore the Porte has practically acknowledged the other Italian claims in the matter of the rights of Italians freely to purchase property on Turkish territory, and with regard to coast navigation.

As a result of these concessions the Italian Government has issued orders to the fleet that was about to depart for Turkey to remain in Italian waters, and the incident is regarded as closed.

Investigate Pulp Question.

Washington, April 21.—Speaker Cannon yesterday introduced a resolution for the appointment by himself of a select committee of six members of the House to investigate in all of its many phases the woodpulp and print paper question, and to report on the necessity of legislation to relieve the conditions complained of by the print paper users of the country.

The resolution was referred to the committee on rules, of which the Speaker is chairman.

Entire Family Drowns.

Edmonton, April 21.—While traveling with dog train on the ice Saturday, six miles from Athabasca Landing, the ice broke, precipitating Emile Michel Desjarlais into the icy stream. Desjarlais, with great difficulty, escaped. The other three were swept under the ice.

River Highest Since 1890.

Dallas, Tex., April 21.—Trinity river has reached a stage of 39 feet here and is still rising. A number of residents have been forced from their homes in the lowlands, and it is feared a destructive overflow will follow. The present stage is the highest since 1890.

Ransacked the House.

Brockville, April 21.—The home of Mrs. Richard A. Fields has been closed the past winter during her absence in Toronto. Burglars took advantage of this to loot the place, the discovery being accidentally made by children playing around the place.

Thinks Orchard Should Hang.

Washington, D.C., April 21.—Senator Borah of Idaho, who conducted the prosecution of W. E. Haywood, in his maiden speech in the Senate yesterday, expressed disapproval of any effort to secure leniency for Harry Orchard.

TRIED TO KILL MARQUIS.

Korean Insurgents Attempt to Wreck the Seoul Train.

Shanghai, April 21.—The Korean insurgents yesterday made an unsuccessful attempt to wreck the Seoul train, containing Marquis Ito.

Hundreds of Koreans are crossing the frontier to escape the cruelties of the Japanese, and are becoming Chinese subjects.

Japanese newspapers are accusing British merchants in Hong Kong of secretly fomenting the boycott which is causing increasing alarm to Japan. Viscount Hayashi, the Foreign Minister, again warned China that she will be held responsible for merchants' losses, but the southern people are not amenable to the Pekin Government's commands.

The movement has up to now been conducted with the greatest orderliness, although Japanese agents provocateurs are attempting to provoke trouble by endeavoring to force the Cantonese to purchase goods and quarrelling when they refuse.

The twenty-five-mile railway from Shanghai to Sungkeank, constructed entirely by Chinese engineers and capital, was opened to traffic Sunday.

WOMEN IN RACE WAR.

Quarrelled Over Children — Negress Shot to Death.

Memphis, Tenn., April 21.—Following a desperate struggle between white and negro women, growing out of a quarrel regarding the playing together of children of the two races, Mrs. James Wright of this city yesterday shot and instantly killed Leilla Gordon, a negress.

Mrs. Wright used a single-barreled shotgun. She reloaded the weapon and started in pursuit of Mary Davis, another negress, and fired at the Davis woman, but the charge went wild. Mrs. John Wright, a sister-in-law of Mrs. James Wright, who lives with her, received a bad beating at the hands of the negro women.

Moir Wanted at Guelph.

Guelph, April 21.—The local police say that Private Moir, the man who, at Wolseley Barracks, London, on Friday, shot and killed Col.-Sergt. Lloyd, was once a resident of Guelph, and that while in this city he displayed his over-readiness to use a gun. Moir lived in Guelph about two years ago. He boarded at an hotel, and was employed in the pipe works. The first time he drew attention was when he was seized with a fit and had to be removed from the hotel at which he boarded to the City Hospital. One year ago last fall a warrant was issued for Moir's arrest for shooting at a Jew named Samuels, near Little Germany. Warrants were issued for the arrest of two other men —Pointer and Hill—on the same charge. Pointer and Hill were arrested by the police, and, on being found guilty, were fined by the magistrate. Moir was never located. He is still wanted here for the shooting for which a warrant is out for his arrest.

Take Him Dead or Alive.

London, April 21.—The police who have been searching for the fugitive murderer, Private Moir, returned last night and secured warrants for the man, and then set out again for the Stratford-St. Mary's district in search of their man. They have reason to believe he is in that locality. The officers have instructions to take their man dead or alive.

Will Not Visit England.

London, April 21.—It has been decided definitely that the United States fleet of battleships will not call at any European port on its way home, with the exception of certain points in the Mediterranean, where it is necessary to stop for coal. This information is conveyed in the American reply to the invitation extended to Great Britain, that the fleet come to England.

Buffalo Switchman Shot.

Buffalo, N.Y., April 21.—Patrick McKeown, 39 years old, of this city, a switchman for the Lehigh Valley, was shot and fatally injured in the William street yards of the Lehigh early yesterday by Dan Reardon, a Lehigh detective. Reardon made a statement in which he said he discovered McKeown and two other men pilfering a car.

Judge Lynch the Relentless.

Fort Worth, Texas, April 21.—Jasper Douglas, a negro of Atlanta, Texas, was charged in a warrant sworn to Saturday, with having criminally assaulted his stepsister, a girl of 12 years. Sunday morning his body was found hanging to the limb of a tree.

Left Hand Sawed Off.

Kingston, April 21.—Just a few minutes before quitting time at the locomotive works last night, Enoch Godwin, son of W. H. Godwin, insurance agent, met with a terrible accident. While running a joiner his left hand got in the way and the member was severed at the wrist. He is in a serious condition, but it is thought will recover

The Hot Cross Bun.

Our hot cross buns at Easter are the only cakes which the pagan Saxons ate in honor of their goddess Easter and from which the Christian clergy, who were unable to prevent the people from eating, sought to expel the paganism by marking them with the cross.

Literary Coincidences.

Tennyson said of a strange literary coincidence, "A Chinese scholar some time ago wrote to me saying that in an unknown untranslated Chinese poem there were two whole lines of mine almost word for word." Byron in his monody on the death of Sheridan, where he says there will never be another Sheridan, the mold being broken up, employs, word for word, terms in which an ancient Sanskrit document refers to the death of Maru, notwithstanding that Byron could never have seen the document. Shakespeare's passage about love and lightning in "Romeo and Juliet," II, 2, is almost identical with a quotation from "Malata and Madhava," an Indian poem by Bhavabuti, written nine centuries before and not translated up to Shakespeare's time.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, April 20.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending April 18 were 2188 cattle, 82 sheep and lambs, 2403 hogs and 1666 calves, while the supply for local consumption this morning consisted of 500 cattle, 1300 hogs and 400 calves. As is always the case, the run of cattle for the first market after Easter was small; but it was ample to fill all requirements, as butchers in most cases had sufficient beef on hand to carry them over until next week; therefore the demand was somewhat limited and trade in this respect was slow. There were no outside buyers present, but some exporters were on the market, who, however, did not show a disposition to operate freely on account of the weaker cable advices received from Liverpool on Saturday, which noted a decline of ½c per lb. in prices for American and Canadian steers as compared with a week ago. The quality of cattle offered was by no means as good as last week, consequently prices ruled lower, but this does not indicate that the market is weaker, for if the same class of stock had come forward just as high prices would have been paid to-day. Choice beeves sold at 5¾c to 6c; good at 5¼c to 5½c; fair at 4½c to 5c, and lower grades at 3c to 4¼c per pound. The market for sheep and lambs was dull owing to the fact that there were no arrivals, but the feeling remains firm, with a good enquiry, and the last sales of yearlings were made at 7c to 7¼c for choice stock, while good sheep are quoted at 5¼c per lb.; a few spring lambs were offered, which met with a ready sale at $4 to $7 each. The demand for good to choice calves continues good, of which a fair supply keeps coming forward, and prices range from $4 to $7 each, but common and inferior ones are not wanted at any figure.

A weaker feeling has developed in the market for live hogs since this day week and prices show a decline of 25c to 50c per 100 lbs. This is due to the increased supply coming forward, coupled with the weaker cable advices on Canadian bacon and the fact that it is reported that one of the local leading packing concerns is about to go out of the business; consequently the demand has not been so keen of late, and the offerings were in excess of the requirements, some round lots having to be held over by packers for slaughter since last Thursday.

WHY NAMED SEQUOIA

Origin of the Title Given to California's Big Trees.

HONOR TO A FAMOUS INDIAN.

The Wonderful Work of Joseph Guess, a Half Breed Cherokee, Whose Latinized Name, Thanks to a Generous Scientist, the Giant Trees Bear.

In California's wonderland nothing is more interesting or wonderful than the Sequoia gigantea, which grows along Sierra Nevada's slopes, and its lesser cousin Sequoia sempervirens, inhabiting the lands near the coast around Santa Cruz. "What is the meaning of sequoia?" I asked a judge. "It is undoubtedly of Latin derivation, but I fail to remember its significance," was the judicial reply. The physician declared it "well chosen scientific nomenclature" and stopped. A man on the street said he "guessed it was the name of the fellow that discovered the trees," so I came to the conclusion that but few know, and yet the story is interesting.

A long time ago, as the story books say, there lived near famous old Fort London, in east Tennessee, not far from the Georgia line, a very great man of whom not one American in a hundred has ever heard. Joseph Guess, or Sequoia, a half breed Cherokee Indian, was born in 1700 and possessed qualities which would have made him great at any period or among any people in the world's history. Combined with a powerful creative intellect were indomitable energy, application, persistence, that no discouragement could affect, and a firm confidence in his own ability to overcome obstacles. In his youth he acquired distinction in his tribe as a craftsman in silver, his handiwork showing not only technical skill in execution, but unusual ingenuity and originality of design.

It was not, however, until 1809 that he began the work that was to entitle him to a place among the earth's truly great. In that year Sequoia's ambition was fired by the knowledge that the whites had a method of communication by means of writing and books and set out to devise a written language for his own people. When it is realized that Sequoia was illiterate, knew not a single letter of the English aphabet, had no basis in his own language to build upon, the stupendous difficulties of the task he set for himself may well be imagined. He began his great work without a doubt of his ultimate success, with the superb faith that belongs only to the great. From an old English spelling book he copied all the letters, giving to each a sound, modified some of the letters he found, invented others until he had eighty-five characters, by means of which might be expressed every sound in the Cherokee language. Not only would this have been impossible with our alphabet, but so simple was the system that any one speaking Cherokee might within a week or two learn to read and write it. There are not lacking learned and distinguished philologists who unhesitatingly declare that Sequoia's alphabet is the most perfect ever devised for any language.

He had at first the usual experience of inventors. Shafts of ridicule were aimed at him, and he even received violent abuse from many of his tribesmen for his attempts to introduce this remarkable innovation, but his triumph came in 1821 in California. He was then sixty-one years of age, when a council of Cherokee chiefs formally adopted his invention. Soon a printing press was established, and quite a large and varied literature was its fruit, while even a newspaper was printed in Cherokee by the aid of Sequoia's alphabet.

The desire for learning among the Cherokees was remarkable, so much so that in a very few months after the invention was given to the nation thousands of its members could read and write. Considering the difficulties of his undertaking, I think we are safe in writing the old chief who died full of honors far from home in Mexico one of the greatest of Americans.

Tennessee has given to the world many great men, Presidents Jackson, Polk and Johnson standing in the forefront. The nation they served has become one of the first of the earth, and so their names are known of all men. The people toward whose uplifting Sequoia spent his life are scattered to the four winds of heaven. Only a remnant remains, and in a few more generations they will be but a memory, and his achievement will be known only to the curious.

The old chief's life work was not in vain. No life of unselfish devotion ever is. A great American scientist with a soul attuned to the fitness of things Latinized the Indian name to Sequoia and gave it to California's great trees. And what name for the trees of American [illegible] be more appropriate than that of one of the greatest of America's early race?

Scientists tell us some of these trees are thousands of years old. Everything that lived in all the earth when they were young has long since passed away. But there are young ones coming on under the shadow of their elders, and so is it beyond the range of probability that a dozen centuries hence some broken and discouraged traveler resting under the gracious shade shall ask the reason for the beautiful name Sequoia and, hearing, become uplifted and stimulated to do noble things through the story of the humble red man who by unselfish devotion became great?—John D. Ross in Los Angeles Times.

McMIX.

One day along in ninety-six
I saw the funny name McMix,
I wondered who McMix might be—
An Irishman or Scotchman he.

My memory—was it playing tricks?
Perhaps I'd met this man McMix,
Yet did my recollection lack
That somewhat unfamiliar "Mack."

McCarty I have known for long,
McCabes, McFarlands in a throng;
McManuses—oh, five or six!
But where, now, did I meet McMix?

"You have not known him, have not met McMix," a still small voice says, "yet, But worry not—as old time ticks
The years away you'll meet McMix.

"From out the vast will he appear
And spend with you a whole long year,
About one year from now. Just wait—
You'll meet McMix, which is a date:
MCMIX."

ST. JOHN'S EASTER VESTRY MEETING

An Excellent Financial Statement—The Easter Offering for Vestry Construction Fund $1019.27.

The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Church was held in the schoolhouse last night, with a good attendance.

Rev. Canon Davidson, rector, presided, and opened the meeting with devotions.

After routine business, Mr. C. H. J. Mitchell, people's church warden, stated that the wardens had appealed to the congregation for an Easter offering of $1,000 to balance a vestry building account, and in response the sum of $1,019.27 had been contributed, the principal part in cash, and the balance in the form of written promises, payable before October 15, of this year.

The wardens' financial statement was read, showing receipts for the year of $4,717.30, and expenditures of $4,007.23, leaving a credit balance of $710.07.

The statement was received and returned to the auditors.

A very cordial vote of thanks was passed in recognition of the faithful and efficient devotion of the organist and choir in connection with the musical portion of the services of the church.

A similar vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Fred L. Roy for his contribution of an excellent framed group photograph of Assistant Bishop Reeve, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt and the two deacons recently ordained in St. John's, the picture having been hung in the rector's room in the vestry.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the members of the Chancel Guild for their services in connection with the furnishing and decoration of the new vestry.

The name of Mr. Harry Long was added to the Rectory Building Committee.

The report of the Vestry Building Committee was referred to the auditors.

The meeting adjourned to meet on Tuesday evening, April 28, when the new wardens and other officials will be appointed.

At the subsequent meeting of the congregation the following gentlemen were appointed lay delegates to the Synod: Dr. Boucher, Messrs. Jos. S. Bell and F. R. Yokome.

NEW LITANY DESK WAS DEDICATED

Handsome Addition to Furniture of All Saints' Church.

At the morning service at All Saints' church on Sunday, the Rector dedicated a new Litany Desk. It is of dull finished solid oak and is beautifully carved by hand and constitutes a very handsome addition to the church furniture. A brass plate upon it bears the following legend: "Erected to the Glory of God, as a thankoffering for special mercy, by a member of All Saints' Church, Easter, 1908."

The desk is very much appreciated by the All Saints congregation.

EASTER MUSIC AT ST. PETER'S

Choir Excelled Itself in Solo and Choral Work.

The music at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday morning was as follows: Pontifical High Mass at 10.30 a.m., the choir singing in a very brilliant manner, Festival Mass, by Wiegand, the solos being sung with expression and sweetness, morning and evening, by Misses L. Hallihan, A. Simons, E. Primeau, M. Young, J. Delaire, A. Primeau, N. Simons and Messrs. L. Kelly, J. Weyer, E. Keon, J. King, J. Picard, J. Hay, H. Quinlan and J. Mercier.

The offertory number, deserving special mention, trio, "Jesu Dei Vivi," by Verdi—Misses L. Hallihan, A. Simons and Mr. J. King.

Regina Coeli—Lambillotte.

O, Salutaris (male quartette), composed of Messrs. J. Hay, J. Weyer, E. Keon and J. King. This number was given with great expression and sweetness, their voices blending in a very harmonious manner

Tantum Ergo—Millard; solo by Miss L. Hallihan, whose beautiful soprano was heard to great advantage, and chorus by the choir. On the whole the Easter music was superior to any heard at St. Peter's for some time, the choir excelling themselves at both services.

Miss M. Doherty, the capable organist, deserves much of the credit for the Easter music.

WOMAN WAS INJURED ON THE MARKET

Rotten Board Gave Away, Injuring Her Foot.

At the market on Saturday a woman was slightly injured by the faulty condition of the board walk. One of the planks was so broken and rotten that her foot went through it, badly injuring her leg. There are many parts of the walk that should be attended to at once to guarantee the safety of those who use it every week.

BEAR'S TOOTH AND SILVER HEELS

Mr. P H Sullivan's latest comedy-drama "The Cowboy and the Squaw" at the Grand, next Thursday, April 23. Mr. Sullivan has promised us there will be no such excitement as occurred in Toledo, Ohio, last fall. One of the principal features of Mr. Sullivan's show is "Calico" a wild-eyed powerful steer weighing over 1,600 lbs. While being led from the depot to the theatre in Toledo, Mr. Calico spied in front of a commission house a dozen crates of canteloupe, and in spite of the united efforts of the crew "Calico" crossed the street to investigate. The canteloupes came from the Rockies and Calico recognised the fragrance of same and he proceeded to enjoy himself.

The commission merchant after protesting in vain, called on the police and an exciting encounter of about twenty minutes proceeded with Calico on one side and the police, the commission merchant and the crew on the other side. When hostilities were over one lone crate of melons remained. Mr. Sullivan settled a bill of thirty-eight dollars and declared he would not eat another cantaloupe for a year to come, to make up for the extravagance of "Calico." 1d-94

THE GARDENERS BEGIN TO PLANT EARLY

City's Small Gardeners Have Gardens Plowed.

According to reports from the country, the farmers and market gardeners are planting their grains and seed much earlier than last year. Among the latter is Mr. Fred Stenson, of the River Road, who planted his onions and other seeds last week. This is the earliest he remembers having planted a garden seeds in many years. It is also a noticeable fact that the small gardeners of the city have already begun to have their gardens plowed. All these are evidences of an early spring and with fine weather the results should be good.

The only drama to run 200 nights in New York last season, "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman", appears Grand Opera House, to-morrow (Wednesday) evening. A Big Dramatic Hit.

THE LAKE OF BAYS COUNTRY

A handsome brochure, artistically illustrated, has been issued by the Grand Trunk passenger department, Bays district, in the "Highlands of Ontario." A new feature of this district is the new hotel—the Wawa—telling of the beauties of the Lake of at Norway Point. The hotel itself has a page illustration reflecting the summer glories of woodland and water, with a brood of seven wild geese soaring skyward beyond the tower. The concise description embodies the story of a charming resort.

The very pretty duo tone photo engravings show the beauties of the new fairy land far more effectively than words can do. A copy can be obtained free on application to J. D. McDonald, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

TRIBUTE TO GORDON STANLEY FIFE

Has Had an Excellent Record During His Educational Career.

FROM EDMONTON BULLETIN

The Edmonton Bulletin in a recent issue contained the following tribute to Gordon Stanley Fife, who was honoured by the Rhodes Scholarship for the Northwest Territories:—

Gordon Stanley Fife, the fortunate young man who has been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship for the Northwest Territories, is quite youthful, being still only nineteen. He is now a third-year student of Queen's University, Kingston, taking an honour course in English and Philosophy, but he will go to Oxford next autumn.

He is a son of J A Fife, the Mathematical and Science master of Edmonton High School, and who filled for 5 years a similar position in Peterborough Institute. He is the eldest in a family of six children and and has been remarked since childhood for the brightness of his intelligence and his industry. He was born in Peterborough and attended the Public School and Collegiate Institute. He graduated from the latter in 1905, taking an honour matriculation in the same year for Queen's.

Whilst in Peterborough he was president of the Collegiate Literary Society, and carried off the first prize in an oratorical contest there. In his first year at Queen's he won again in the inter-year-debate. This year he and another student were selected to defend Queen's against Ottawa University in the Inter-University debate.

He is an athletic young fellow, five feet seven inches high, being particularly keen on running and swimming. Three years ago he swam three miles on a stretch. He is a member of the Y.M.C.A. Athletic Club and of the Harriers Club at Queen's.

CAVENDISH LUMBER CO. GETTING READY

Have About 200,000 Logs to Bring Down Five Gangs on the Work.

The Cavendish Lumber Company will have about 200,000 logs to "drive" this spring, and there will be no lack of water. It will take two hundred river drivers to run this lot, and they will be divided into five gangs under Messrs. Jackson, Nixon, Madill, Grady and Robinson. Mr. Wm. Cresswell expects to make good time this season and get the drives down early.

OPENING OF LANG & MAHER'S BRANCH STORE IN LINDSAY

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder gives the following regarding the successful opening of Messrs. Lang & Maher's new clothing store in Lindsay:

"The opening of Lang & Maher's new store, east of the Benson house, Lindsay, attracted a wide circle on Saturday last. The beautiful enamelled white front gives a very pleasing and attractive appearance to the bright new store and the nicely repainted and elegantly re-papered interior makes second impressions as good as the first. The building is especially well lighted by day with natural light—the best light there is—and at night the recently installed four big arc lights make a close second to the sun.

"The neat and up-to-date fixtures installed are of the best, and designed with the double purpose to display the goods in the best and most careful manner and with a view to utility and good appearance.

"The firm call their store the "Daylight Store," and the name certainly does not come amiss, either by day or by night.

"In every line carried will be found a complete new stock, attractive and well chosen, and the goods offered because of quality and price, and the fair treatment accorded all should make a strong appeal to the purchasing public.

"Lang & Maher have built up a large and profitable business in Peterborough. They have accomplished this by their methods of fair, square honest treatment to all, and these same principles will be applied to the conduct of the Lindsay store.

"The firm of Lang & Maher hardly needs much introduction to Lindsay people. Mr. Lang is very favourably known to a wide circle in this district, while Mr. Maher is a native of Lindsay and very widely known and just as widely esteemed personally as a good square business man."

"RAFFLES, THE AMATEUR CRACKSMAN."

Playgoers will enjoy a genuine treat in the engagement of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," which will take place at the Grand to-morrow evening, April 22. S. Miller Kent is the star of "Raffles." The fame of this play has preceded it here, because E. W. Hornung's stories, from which the drama has been made, have been widely read, and because it was well known that this was the only drama to remain in New York 200 nights, season before last. Much of the great success of "Raffles" is due to the original character of the play, and more to the excellence of the players. The promise is made that in "Raffles" something entirely new in theatrical entertainment will be shown.

WORK OF MISSIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA

An Excellent Account of It Given at the Bethany Tabernacle.

The Missionary meeting of Bethany Tabernacle last night, is reported to have been a real success. A large and representative audience greeted the speaker, Mrs. Walton has a warm and attractive personality, and gives an intensely and impressive account of missionary work in South Africa. She represents the field as one of the most inviting and promising in foreign work. An offering of thirty-one dollars was contributed to the work. Miss Ringland gave a very helpful address in the afternoon. Both ladies left at midnight for Ottawa, where they will address several congregations.

Cressman's Bargain Annex Extra just received 100 Duplex Folding Curtain Stretchers. On sale in the Annex to-morrow for 98c regular $2.00.

NEW LINOLEUMS AND OILCLOTHS DIRECT FROM SCOTLAND

Direct from Scotland come these fine Oilcloths and Linoleums, in new art designs. These are entirely different from anything we have ever shown, or that has ever been seen in this vicinity.

Linoleums in two and four yard widths and are firm, compact and of a durable body. They will wear and wear until you think they can't wear out. And, of course, you know that no floor covering is so easy to keep clean and immaculate as an Oilcloth or Linoleum. In more ways than one these are ideal floor coverings, wherever cleanliness is desired.

We are showing some very pretty Bedroom effects that you will enjoy looking at. A lot of pretty patterns to choose from, at prices very agreeable.

Many people are using Linoleums and Oilcloths for their Bedrooms in place of Carpets and Mattings. They find them preferable for several reasons--tidiness, durability and economy.

When you are near our store drop in and spend a few minutes in viewing these foreigners.

Ask to be shown our 2 and 4 yard wide Scotch Oilcloth at 32c. per square yard; and our Heavy Scotch Linoleum, four yards wide, at 39c., 49c. and 53c. per square yard.

EXCELLENT SERVICES AT SPRINGVILLE

Special Easter Subject and Conclusion of Series of Sermons.

On Sunday last the services in Springville Presbyterian Church were specially interesting. The morning service was conducted by the Rev Dr. Marsh, who excelled himself, selecting for his text, Matt. 28: 6—the words are "He is Risen." His introduction of the interesting subject was pleasing and appropriate as well as instructive.

The importance of the Resurrection was fully explained. On this Resurrection hangs the Christian's hope and the evidence of the event from scripture was cited. The proof of the Resurrection from nature was referred to and the application of the subject was earnest.

The sermon throughout showed special preparation and research, and was delivered in the Rev. Dr's most eloquent manner.

The service of song was also of special nature, there being between 40 and 50 voices in the choir. The floral decorations excelled all previous attempts. These were under the direction of Miss Wilson, Mrs. Pettie and Mrs Heasman, who supplied the flowers from their own collections.

The evening service was also interesting, a large congregation attending. The sermon was the concluding one of a series of sermons from Pilgrim's Progress, special singing also prevailing. A duet by Mrs Goodfellow and Miss Laing was well rendered. Mr. Cartright, who recently arrived from England, sang a solo, and these two selections were worthy of special notice.

MISS VIOLET DOVER'S BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Those who know of Miss Violet Dover's splendid abilities and intense devotion to her studies, while a resident of Peterborough, and have noted the brilliant success of her Collegiate career, will not be surprised that she continues to achieve success and gain distinction as a scholar. The following extract from an article in the Montreal Witness:—"Distinguished Teachers Who Have Passed from McGill"—shows that Miss Dover's honours are still coming:

"Miss Dover, who was a lecturer and demonstrator on Chemistry at McGill, gained a fellowship in Chemistry at the Women's University, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, and then a travelling fellowship in Chemistry. On the latter she went to Europe and she is now in the Breslau University, Germany, doing research work under Professor Abegg, the well known physical chemist."

The Examiner has pleasure in joining with Miss Dover's numerous friends in Peterborough, in the congratulations her brilliant scholastic career call for.

MONTREAL SUFFERS FROM ANCHOR ICE

Peterborough Not the Only Place—Street Railway and Water Services Affected.

They have anchor ice in Montreal, too, as the following from the Montreal Star indicates:—

Frazil ice has been forming in the rivers of this vicinity, and it had a serious effect upon public services in Montreal last night and to-day. Frazil ice at the water power plants of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company caused a diminution of the flow with consequent lessened production of electrical energy, and as a result the Montreal Street Railway Company was unable to obtain its full supply. This affected portions of the lines for two hours last evening beginning at 5.30 o'clock, during which time not a car moved in the district east of St. Denis and north of St. Catherine streets.

Again this morning there was lack of power, the company being reduced to the service of its own plant in William street. This plant can supply power to move only a hundred cars, while there are five hundred cars in daily use, and the whole service was affected for thirty minutes. During that time the power was jockeyed between the various districts so that cars could be moved in each one for a short time. However, many thousands of people were compelled to walk to business and as it was a sharp, nippy morning, walking was mighty brisk. The frazil ice got in its work at the wheel house of the Montreal Water Works. Ice blocked the water wheels at 5 o'clock this morning and for three hours the wheels were out of commission. During that time there was a steady drain on the reservoir and its contents were reduced by a third. At the same time pressure in the upper sections of the city was considerably lowered.

The steam plant was brought into operation and the reservoir is now being filled up again.

As long as this cold weather remains a continuation of these troubles may be looked for.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN PASSES AWAY

Was Messenger on Black Diamond Road Became Ill in Rochester.

At the residence of his father, 709 Water street, George Frederick Pope, only son of Mr. G. G. Pope, District Manager for the Federal Life Assurance Company, passed away yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The intelligence of his sad demise will be learned with deep regret by all who knew him. The young man became ill in Rochester, about three weeks ago, suffering from pleurisy, and as his condition became worse he decided to come home and arrived here about one week ago. He gradually became worse and congestion of the lungs set in, which is given as the cause of his death.

The young man was very popular and well known around the city, and at one time was an enthusiastic lacrosse player.

The deceased was twenty-four years of age and was born in Peterborough. Upon leaving school he entered Mr. J. D. Tully's drug store and served three years as an apprentice. He then joined the Dominion Express and after working in the city for a year was sent to Sudbury, as head clerk. From there he went to Rochester, where he worked on the staff of the United States Express Company, and was promoted to messenger on the Black Diamond Road, which position he held until he took ill. He is survived by a half brother, Allan Pope, beside his father.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, from the family residence, 709 Water street to St. Peter's Cemetery.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK

Was Perfectly Bald When he Started to use Newbro's Herpicide

Frederick Manuell, Maryland Block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide on April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead, and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and to-day my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroys the cause, and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and, finally, baldness, so that, with the cause gone, the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once, and a new growth begins. Sold by leading druggists. SSend 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

Will be Held by the A. Y. P. A. on Monday Next

The A. Y. P. A., of St. John's Church, have arranged to hold a half-pound social at their meeting on Monday night next. The entertainment will be a very interesting one and the officers hope to have a large attendance. Each person who attends is supposed to bring one-half pound of something, which will be auctioned off at the close of the entertainment. A splendid programme has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

KEEP CATTLE FROM WARBLES

What the Farmer Should Do in This Respect—Salt is Needed.

AN OUTWARD APPLICATION

Canadian Dairyman

Those who wish to keep their cattle from warbles, should place a box of coarse salt in the cow stable, so that the cattle can use it without much trouble. If each animal has a handful rubbed into the back before it leaves the stable, the flies will not lay their eggs there. Where a large number of cattle is kept, and time is a consideration, a few may be treated, every morning, so that they all receive the salt about three times a week, though I have found that once a week will render cows immune, unless the fly exists in large numbers.

This should not be done while any warbles remain on the cow's back, as it is the greatest mistake possible to destroy the grub, and to leave it to decompose. Nothing should be done for living larvea except to press them out and kill them. I had one little Jersey, with very fine hair that was so infested with these terrible pests that I made it a rule to press out 100 each morning, and the same each evening. I often took out a great many more. She was a mass from her spine, even over her ribs. After I took out the last one, I kept her salted freely, and I had no return of the trouble.

Salt is greatly to be preferred to any oily compound, for several reasons, viz., because of the improvement in the hair, if the animal is to be killed for beef, and secondly, because it promotes friendly feelings among the cattle. They will stand about licking the salt from one another's backs, and forget all animosity.

Some people may be afraid that in this way cows will swallow the eggs and that they may hatch, but there is not the smallest danger of this. I am completely satisfied in my own mind that aestrus equis is by nearly all writers confused with aestrus bovis, and perfectly misleading accounts are the consequence. Aestrus equis, or the bot fly, lays its eggs on the hair of the legs, or in fact anywhere that it considers suitable. The animal licks these off, swallowing them, and they cause no trouble, unless existing in large numbers. Aestrus bovis burrows into the skin of the back, and there lays its eggs. These are the warbles, of which we are speaking. Aestrus equis does not perforate the stomach, and work its way to the skin, but passes out with the food. Neither of these are exactly like the sheep warble, which lays its eggs between the eyes of the sheep.

However, it is sufficient for the farmer to know that an outward application is the only preventive, and no drug administered internally is necessary.

OUTLOOK FOR WOOL MARKET

Financial Stringency Cause for the Drop in the Prices.

THE DEMAND IS LIMITED

Canadian Dairyman

The outlook for wool this spring is not very hopeful. The price of Canadian wools in England is from 40 to 50 per cent. lower than a year ago. Last year at this time buyers were paying 16c to 17c for unwashed wool, and 25c to 26c a pound for washed fleece. These were Toronto quotations. At local shipping points the prices would be a little less. This spring dealers claim that they will have to buy wool at a cost of 10c in Toronto for unwashed. This will mean about 8c a pound to the grower for unwashed, and 12c to 13c a pound for washed fleece.

These are low values, and reduce the profits in wool production to a minimum. Wool production in this country is, however, largely a side line. The sheep raiser makes the bulk of his profit in selling lambs, and sheep for butcher's purposes. At $7.50 a cwt. for yearling lambs, there should be good money in the business of raising them. Then spring lambs that will not dress more than 20 pounds each, have sold on Toronto market for $8 to $9 each, making this product a luxury, that only the wealthy can afford. But wool at 8c for unwashed fleece will not do much more than pay for the clipping, and getting ready for the market.

The financial stringency is the primary cause of the drop in wools. The supply is no greater than a year ago, but the demand has fallen off, owing to the curtailment of its use for manufacturing purposes. This curtailment is due to tight money, preventing manufacturers from branching out, or even keeping their establishments running at their usual capacity. The woolen trade in Canada is said to be in a very precarious condition, and unless those in the business get assistance, in the way of increased protection, the whole industry will go to the wall. Representations are to be made shortly to the Government, and upon the success of these, so those who know, say, will depend upon whether woollen manufacturing will be a flourishing industry, or one of the has beens.

But, be this as it may, the percentage of Canadian grown wools used in this trade is not large. Even if the tariff were increased sufficiently to enable the woolen industry to flourish, it is a question whether it would materially advance the price of home grown wools. No doubt it would help somewhat. But, as Canadian wool is only used in the manufacturing of the coarser grades of clothing, etc., the demand for it is limited. If there was some way of keeping out, or regulating the manufacturing of shoddy goods, the wool producing trade of this country would receive more benefit than any material increase in the tariff on wools.

THE CARE OF GARDEN TOOLS

Spade is One of the Best—Tool House for Large Gardens.

Canadian Dairyman

Many and varied are the kinds of tools used in the work of gardening about the home. Most of them are familiar to the amateur gardener. More important than a mere enumeration of them is the difference between a good and a bad implement. One of the most commonly used garden tools is the spade. With one of the modern improved kinds, a person can do, with the same exertion, 10 per cent. more work than he could with the heavy, easily-clogged kinds formerly in use. It is the case that, with all well-adapted tools of superior description, the work is better done.

The care of tools and implements is a matter that is frequently neglected b ygardeners. Economy not only in outlay, but in labor, is secured by the proper cleaning and storing of all tools when not in use. For gardens of considerable dimensions, a tool-house should be provided with arrangements for convenient and safe storing. Brackets and hooks against walls for seives, ropes, scythes, rakes, spades, and so on; shelves, drawers or cupboards for small tools, and boxes for labels, twine and pegs, should be furnished in every orderly tool-house. Make a point always to return every article to its proper place when not in use.

Wet days may be turned to account by oiling, sharpening and repairing tools that require it. Even in small gardens a place for the storing of tools ought to be found. With good, clean tools, more and better work is accomplished than is possible when they are rusty, or blunt, or rickety.

EXCITING AERIAL TRIP

LADY'S PERILOUS VOYAGE IN A STORM-TOSSED BALLOON.

Crosses English Channel In the Darkness of Night—Attained a Height of 2,500 Feet — Lightning Played Around Car—Balloon Covered With Snow — Landed In Depths of a French Forest.

A woman's thrilling adventures in the air on a balloon trip between Battersea (London) and the village of Haudiomont, in France; her perilous descent in a forest during a pitch-dark night; and the wreck of her storm-swept balloon, make the substance of the Hon. Mrs. Assheton Harbord's account of her recent voyage in the Valkyrie. Her experiences are best given in her own words thus:

"I left Battersea gas work in my balloon, the Valkyrie, of 60,000 cubic feet capacity, to make an attempt to win the Northcliffe Challenge Cup for the longest distance traveled during the present year. J. F. Pollock accompanied me as pilot, this being his seventh crossing, and my third.

"We had considerable difficulty in getting away, owing to the high wind that prevailed, but, taking advantage of a momentary lull, we cleared a very high gasometer, and went straight up to a height of 2,500 feet.

"We had taken with us seventeen forty-five pound bags of ballast, four of which we used in the first three-quarters of an hour.

"The Valkyrie encountered a violent squall, which caused the car to sway to such an extent that we had to hold on to avoid being thrown out.

"We sighted the coast and left it an hour and twenty minutes from the time of starting from Battersea. We were then at a height of 3,700 feet. The night was very dark, but we gathered from the bend of the coast that we were leaving the land to the right of Dungeness.

"In the middle of the channel we could see the revolving lights on both coasts, and, recognizing Boulogne, we concluded that we were passing over the French coast near La Touquet—which we afterward found to be correct.

"The sea crossing was the quietest and most uneventful part of the voyage, we after experienced strong vertical currents which made the balloon shoot up very rapidly, and when it encountered a downward vertical current it fell with great speed, passing a continuous discharge of ballast necessary.

"There was a good deal of lightning, and the atmospheric conditions were very curious. The hoop and neck of the balloon seemed illuminated as if by electric light, which, when I rubbed it, made my glove appear alight.

"We then encountered a terrific snowstorm. The snow covered us and half filled the balloon, which was considerably affected by the extra weight thus thrown upon it.

"Subsequently we again found ourselves rising very rapidly, and after attaining an altitude of 8,000 feet we discovered that we were falling equally rapidly. The discharge of five bags of ballast in four minutes had no effect in checking the descent, and we denly, at a height of 1,500 feet, bottom of the car crashed down something with great force.

"The trail rope then began catching in everything it could find, giving the car very violent jerks. We were dashing along at a terrific speed, and the night was so dark that I could scarcely distinguish Mr. Pollock. The roaring of the wind, combined with the heavy snow, made us extremely anxious.

"As the last bag of ballast had had the slightest effect on the balloon and we had only three more bags left we realized there was no alternative but to make a descent, and chance where we should land, as we were completely enveloped in darkness.

"So Mr. Pollock opened the valve while I crouched low down in the car, feeling rather thrilled at what might happen.

"Down we crashed with great force straight into some trees. Mr. Pollock ripped at once, but the wind carried us up again and down we came with the basket overturned.

"'Are you in?' shouted Mr. Pollock.

"'Yes,' I called back.

"I was holding on for all I knew the violent encounters with the trees making it very difficult to avoid being thrown out.

"At last a tree caught the envelope causing a large tear, which, combined with the rip, brought us to a standstill.

"After we had collected our senses we got out, and found we were in a dense forest, far away from any habitation. There was nothing for it but to wait till dawn, and conjecture what country we had descended in.

"When it became light, we started off to get out of the forest, and after half an hour's walking we found ourselves on a main road, along which we walked for an hour, till at last we discovered a man cutting trees, whom we hailed, and learned from him we had descended in the department of the Meuse, near the small village of Haudiomont.

"If we could possibly have weathered the storm in the balloon we could have had a tremendously long run, but there was no alternative for us under the circumstances but to descend.

"A great deal was due to Mr. Pollock for his presence of mind and quick action when every minute was of the utmost importance, for it takes a good deal of nerve to make a descent in a pitch-dark night without the faintest idea of what one will land on.

"It was a thrilling experience, and though the distance accomplished was no doubt soon be beaten, it was a very sporting run, and one always to be remembered."

WOMAN JUMPS FROM DANGER

Was Left in Vehicle Behind Runaway Horses.

Examiner Special.

Keene, April 22.—Friday evening, Mrs. Benjamin Kindred had a very exciting adventure with a runaway team. Accompanied by Mr. Kindred she had driven to Keene, and as Mr. Kindred got out at the Methodist Church platform, the horses took fright, and ran up High street. Mrs. Kindred hung to the lines for a considerable distance, but was forced to let go. Mrs. Kindred jumped from the buggy and escaped unhurt. The horses ran over half a mile, parting company with the vehicle near Mr. William Miller's residence.

NO REDUCTION IN PRICE OF FLOUR

By Some Companies in the City—When It May be Expected.

The Examiner has been advised by representatives of different flour mills in Peterborough that there is no reduction in the price of flour by the companies they represent. From what can be learned the Quaker Oats Company is the only company which has seen its way clear to make the reduction. It is claimed that it is impossible at the present time to reduce the price of flour, until such time as grain is brought down from Port Arthur by boat.

Read acted as chairman and introduced Mr. Thompson, who made a short speech followed by Mr. Sexsmith, who addressed the audience until the arrival of Mr. Porter from the evening train. Mr. Porter gave a speech of about an hour's duration, criticising the Liberal administration for its increase in the public debt, and enlarging upon the various alleged scandals under Liberal rule. There was a fair attendance.

ADDRESS ON CONDITIONS AMONG THE GALICIANS

Miss Munroe Speaks to Ladies of W. F. M. S. at George Street Church

The Women's Missionary Society of the George street Methodist church held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon and a very profitable hour was spent. Miss Jessie Munroe, who has been on mission work in Japan and among the Galicians in Alberta, gave a very interesting address on her experiences. The Galician girls are numerous in Edmonton and are engaged in work which girls of other nationalities refuse to perform, particularly in the drudgeries of house and hotel work. On Sundays they congregate in Russian dance halls. Miss Munroe particularly emphasized this, pointing out the necessity for immediate action in the girls' behalf. Such a condition, Miss Munroe said, should never be allowed to exist in a Canadian city. She pointed out the need of schools to teach the children English and the women the proper methods of domestic science.

Besides this address, Mrs. R W F E Davidson sang in a clear soprano voice "Hear My Prayer." Mrs. Carlyle read an appropriate Biblical passage. Miss Gladys Pentland was heard in a recitation, and Mrs. W A Turner read a paper on the "Resurrection of Slumdom."

The thank offering was taken up, and the meeting brought to a close by prayer offered by Rev. E. A. Pearson.

INDIANS AT DEVIL'S ELBOW LIVING IN PAPER HOUSES THAT COST ONLY FIFTY CENTS

Keene, April 22.—(Special.) — The catch of muskrats in Keene marshes, and in fact in all the marshes along the shores of Rice Lake, has been exceptionally large this year, and with the prices higher than ever before, it is should prove a banner year.

Besides the several Keene men who are trapping in Keene marsh and who are making record catches, there is a couple of Alderville reserve Indians at Sugar Island, and three camps at the Devil's Elbow.

Two of the Indian families at the Elbow are living in tents, while the third family have ingeniously constructed a paper house, using a wooden framework, covered with building paper, having the seams covered with basswood bark. They claim that it is much warmer than a tent, and just as much waterproof. The house was constructed at a cost, exclusive of labour, of half a dollar, and the proprietor claims it is just as warm and comfortable as the ordinary summer cottage.

Successful Transference Of The Bell Telephone System

Connection Made With New Switch Board at Hunter Street Office in a Short Time Last Night—Work Was Well Done.

BANQUET AFTER THE WORK

The Bell Telephone Company bade farewell to its old plant and offices on George street last night at midnight, and within a short time the connections were transferred to the new switchboard in the fine new building on Hunter street. The change was an entire success, the system working from the new board distinctly and with precision. The new switchboard can supply service to 5,000, whereas the old one could meet only 1,400. The Peterborough central office is now one of the most modern in the Dominion, and from the fact that such an extensive board has been installed, the Bell Telephone Company must have great confidence in the future progress of Peterborough.

After the work was completed the company were the hosts at a happy little spread at Hooper's grill room. Among those present were Mr. C F Sise, Jr., general superintendent of Montreal; Mr. A T Smith, district superintendent, Toronto; Mr. N A Lash, assistant engineer, Montreal; Mr. F G Donnelly, chief installer of the Northern Electric Company, of Montreal, and Mr. R D Hunt, general foreman, Montreal. There were the men of the local staff, and the employees of the Northern Electric Company present, and a pleasant social time was spent.

The switchboard that was in the old office will be sent to Lindsay for the new office in the northern town.

Peterborough Light & Power Co. Change House Lighting Rate

Mr. J. H. Larmonth Issues Notice to Customers—All Using Over Nine Lamps Must Have Meters Installed—This Step Necessary.

THE LINES ARE OVERLOADED

The Peterborough Electric Light and Power Company have found it necessary to change their house lighting system, and Mr. Larmonth, the general manager of the company, has issued the following notice to every customer:

We wish to notify all our customers that, in future, current for house lighting will not be supplied on a flat rate to any customer having more than nine (9) lamps.

This step is necessary, as our lines are getting very heavily loaded, and we find we have to economize in current. By having the majority of our customers on a metre basis, we believe we shall accomplish the desired results, which should work to the advantage of both our customers and ourselves.

Notices will be sent to all those having ten (10) lamps and over as their contracts expire, when new contracts will have to be made, so that metres may be installed in all houses where ten (10) lamps or over are continued in use.

FARMERS AND LABOURERS SHOULD CALL AT PROPER TIME

On Saturday of last week, by bringing the farmers and labourers together, the Examiner was able to get positions for six young men and incidentally to supply the demands of as many farmers. The hour of meeting was set for 1 o'clock, and almost all who called at the Examiner office were rewarded with work. Some farmers and some labourers neglected to call at the proper time and missed opportunities.

Next Saturday the same conditions will exist. By calling at the Examiner office sharp at one o'clock and at 7.30 on Saturday evening, arrangements may be made between the two parties.

The Examiner requests the farmers and labourers to call at those hours and also requests those who secure help or work to inform the office, so that their names will not be given out again.

Construction Department Car Of The C. P. R. On Private Work

The business car of Mr. J E Sullivan, of the construction department of the C.P.R., was attached to the local this morning and left the city. Mr. Sullivan and staff have been in the city the last three days on business, which was kept strictly private. From the many trips made into the country and the surveying observations that were taken, it was rumoured that the visit here was in connection with the Victoria Harbour railway.

SPLENDID ADDRESS LAST NIGHT

"From Childhood to Manhood Without Sight," by Rev. Mr. Coburn of Toronto.

The address given last night by Rev. Mr. Coburn, of Toronto, the blind preacher, in Charlotte street Methodist Church, was not very largely attended, but those who were present thoroughly enjoyed the address. Rev. A H Manning, the pastor, occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker, who received a great ovation.

The subject was "From Childhood to Manhood Without Sight," and was very pathetic, coming from a man whose experience this had been. He told of his early childhood and his education in the Belfast Blind and Deaf and Bumb Institute, where he learned to read the Bible. There his heart became rapped up in his fellow men and he studied theology.

His lecture was intensely interesting and was deserving of a crowded school room.

BATTERY OFFICER HAS QUALIFIED

Lieut. Leary Receives Good News To-day From Headquarters.

Lieut. Leary of the 21th F. B. C. A., of Peterborough, who went to Kingston some time ago, for two weeks to qualify as an artillery officer, received word to-day that he has passed his examination and is now a qualified artillery officer.

The artillery course is one of the most difficult in the service, and to qualify in two weeks requires a great deal of study and hard work. The Peterborough officer deserves great praise and is being congratulated by his many friends around the city.

MAYOR RUSH WISE MAN, SAID BOY

Compliment to the Mayor From a Sunday School Scholar.

One of the scholars of Mr. E G Braund's Sunday School class has paid Mayor Rush a compliment that that gentleman, no doubt, will appreciate when he hears of it. The lesson that was being taught involved the story of the wise men from the East, and the question was pronounced to the class, "What is a wise man?" where upon the little fellow held up his hand, and replied, "Mayor Rush." This is a genuine tribute and if the saying "out of the mouths of babies," etc., is true, His Worship must feel grateful.

A LOWER TARIFF RATE.

The financial interests of Canada have been, and are being, well looked after by the Liberal Government at Ottawa. Last year the net public debt was reduced $3,375,317, with some $19,000 000 of a surplus. And this has been accomplished by a reduction of Customs duty. The average Customs duty paid on all imports from 1887 to 1869—under Conservative rule — was 19.64 per cent., and during the ten years of Liberal administration the average Customs duty paid on all imports was 16.88 per cent. The decrease on ten years, therefore, amounted to 2.76 per cent. During the past ten years the total revenue proceeding from Customs dues on imports amounted to $1,932,262,271. Under the higher Customs duty prevailing under Conservative administration, this total would have been greater by $52,330,438, so that, with the lessened rate of Customs taxation under the Liberal Government, the revenue, as great as it was, was reduced more than fifty-two millions in ten years.

IMMIGRATION POLICY.

The immigration policy of the Liberal Government of the Dominion, is a policy of advancement, and, considering its importance, as an element in the development of the resources of the country, will be endorsed by the vast majority of intellient and thinking Canadians. It is not a fact, as asserted by Opposition critics, that this policy involves indiscriminate immigration, without regard to the capability and character of the new-comers. On the contrary, it is a policy of getting the best, and of excluding those who are undesirable, so far as this can be done. It is inevitable that with the most careful sifting of the chaff from the wheat, there will be some disappointing immigrants. As a policy and as a definite object, the Government is endeavouring to bring into the country the most of the best class of immigrants it is possible to get, doing the most it can to meet the one great need of the country, population. Unless our great areas are settled and converted into producing centres, the advance of our growth will be stayed and we shall have stagnation, instead of progress. We should aim to build up a home market, by increasing our population and thereby increasing demand, instead of creating a restricted market by means of a policy of exclusion. Increase of population is the only means by which a home market can be established.

FOR A CLEAN ELECTION

It is understood that Mr. T. E. Bradburn has been out of the city for two or three days, and on his return it is probable that he will give due consideration to Mr. Gillespie's open letter to the former in regard to a mutual agreement to conduct the coming Provincial election contest on clean, that Mr. Gillespie's intention is to go even further, and he offers a substantial reward to those who supply information that will lead to conviction for electoral wrong-doing on the part of anybody. If the friends of Mr. Bradburn, and Mr. Bradburn himself, desire to conduct, as the latter claims he does, "a straight, clean fight," there is no reason why he and they should not be parties to such an agreement as that proposed by Mr. Gillespie.

It is held by some that a verbal agreement between the candidates should be enough. Would it be enough? At the last Provincial election in West Peterborough, an agreement was arrived at between the two candidates. It was verbal, it is true, but binding on any gentleman. But was it effective? Mr. Bradburn can tell to what extent he and his friends lived up to the verbal agreement.

The general character of the arrangements made in the by-election in Kingston in 1896 to promote a pure election should be effective in West Peterborough. As far as can be remembered, the general arrangement was substantially, if not in detail as follows: Each political side selected 150 of its opponents, who were obliged to pledge themselves against any action that could be construed into undue solicitation. These 150 on each side were recognized as party workers. Each man of the 300 so named had to sign an agreement to the effect that there could be no driving of voters to the polls or for registration, even in one's own private vehicle. There was to be no giving of bribes, even cigars being prohibited—no breach whatever of the election law committed. Three judges, or arbiters, were chosen, and the respective candidates agreed to abide by their decision as to complaints, and as to the legality of the conduct of the election.

Mme. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you that without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I would not be alive. For months I suffered with painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the feminine organs. Doctors could do nothing for me, and said I must submit to an operation as I had a tumor. One of my cousins advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had cured her.

"I did so and now I have no pain and am entirely cured. Your remedy is deserving of great praise."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

POLITICAL SENSATION.

Belleville Ontario.

The greatest political sensation that has been experienced in Belleville in many a year was sprung upon Saturday, when the announcement was made that Sheriff Hope had been dismissed from office by the Whitney Government and that Mr. M B Morrison, M.P.P., had been appointed to succeed him.

Why the axe, which has been so often and so remorselessly used by the Whitney Government, should have been wielded for the decapitation, officially, of an capable an official and so amiable a gentleman as George F Hope, who is beloved by a host of friends in this city, irrespective of party, people were at a loss to imagine.

There had not been, so far as the public were aware, any complaints made against Sheriff Hope — any charges preferred against him in his official capacity — consequently the announcement of his dismissal came as a thunder-bolt from a cloudless sky. And the news was none the less unwelcome because unexpected. It was received with expressions first of incredulity, then of indignation on all hands. So strong, indeed, is the feeling of indignation over the matter in this community that, unless the Government can produce the strongest possible evidence in support of the course which they have taken, the candidate who is chosen to represent them in the now nearby elections will certainly experience the weight of resentment which the people of Belleville feel over the dismissal of Sheriff Hope.

The course of Mr. Morrison, in accepting the office after having accepted the nomination of his party for another term—of indeed, appointing himself to the position—is commented on most unfavourably. It is felt by many of the stalwarts that Belleville has been passed over — treated with contempt—in the distribution of the good things going, because the Tory machine is sure of a big majority in the city, no matter whom they put in the field. In the forthcoming election they will find not only a vast change of public opinion in this respect, but so many aspirants for the nomination that it is not at all unlikely that the dismissal of Sheriff Hope may lead to the defeat of the Tory nominee in West Hastings.

DECENT JOURNALISM.

The Kingston Standard, an old and staunch Conservative journal, reprints the following from the Peterborough Review:

Mr. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Ontario Opposition, was in the city yesterday for the Liberal Convention. He didn't tell the public who paid his salary as Opposition leader.

Upon this the Standard comments as below:

If the Review thinks to make friends for itself or for the Conservatives by such nasty innuendoes as the foregoing it is seriously mistaken. Such a fling at a man like Mr. MacKay, whose personal honour is unquestioned, is unworthy of any decent paper. It is not even politics; it is simply maligning of the most contemptible kind. For ourselves, we have not the least doubt that from wherever Mr. MacKay's salary comes, it comes honestly. It is not right—especially when the purpose sought to be served is bitterly partisan—to let the impression get abroad that our public men are all venal.

If newspapers can not be fair they should at least be silent.

Our evening contemporary should lay this lecture to heart. It will find that decent people and decent journals, even those of its own political stripe, will not stand for journalistic nastiness. Decent journalism is the demand of a decent community.

One of our ex-pupils now attending Queen's University, Kingston, has kindly given us the following information. It will be noticed that two of those whose names appear below have been honoured by being elected, one vice-president and the other president of their respective years. Our informant's letter breathes the same spirit of enthusiasm for the university that has always characterized the graduates and under-graduates of Queen's:

T. H. Millburn is a '08 man in medicine, well known and loved among ladies as well as men.

Arthur Wood (matriculation '03) is a member of the final year in arts. He expects to continue his work in the Science Faculty after graduation.

Miss Florence Corkery and Miss Lexa Howson belong to '09 Arts.

Albert Nelson (Sr. Leaving '04) represents Peterborough in the Mathematics Departments.

Garnet Greer (Matric. '06) and Stanley Fife (Sr. Matric. '06) complete the number of P. C. I. students in '09. It is said that both are "law-abiding citizens." The latter is president of his year.

Miss Hazel Sanderson and Miss Jean Campbell belong to '10 Arts. The one is prominent in musical circles, and the other astonishes the Philistine graduates of other Collegiates by her erudition in Latin and Moderns.

Percy Skinner (Matric. '06) represents the school in '10 Science.

Misses E. Hunter, H. Denne and M. Robertson, who all left school last year, belong to '11 Arts. Miss Robertson is vice-president of her year.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. O! MY POOR HEAD"

Stop Those Headaches.

Headache and neuralgia are pronounced signs of blood poisoning. Blood poisoning of the blood comes from the waste matter of the body being left in the system, instead of being regularly carried off by the bowels, kidneys and skin.

When the bowels do not move regularly, the refuse is absorbed by the blood. Thus, the blood is loaded with foul poisons which irritate the nerves.

Poor skin action also causes headache and neuralgia. Impurities cannot escape through the skin, so the blood must take them up and deposit them on the nerves.

If the bowels and skin are not ridding the system of waste, the kidneys have to do so and are overworked.

There is just one way to cure headaches and neuralgia—to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin so that all the poisons of the body will be properly carried off.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep blood pure and rich—relieve the stomach and kidneys regulate the bowels; and invigorate the skin to healthy action. "Fruit-a-tives" are a Wonderful discovery, being a combination of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box—six for $2.50. At all dealers, or from "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

THE DOMINION'S NATURAL RESOURCES TO BE EXHIBITED

At Franco-British Exhibition Building---Building Will Cover 120,000 Square Feet---Empire is Being Shown at Shepherd's Bush---A Great White City.

The great white city which has sprung up for the housing of the Franco-British Exhibition at Shepherd's Bush is now nearing completion, and it is at length possible to obtain some idea of the magnitude and splendour of the place. Upon the bare waste of twelve months ago buildings have grown which will merit the title of palaces, and whose walls glitter in the sunshine like the walls of some fairy city. Yesterday one of our representatives visited the exhibition grounds and made a thorough tour of the 200 acres comprising it. The chief entrance, in the Uxbridge road, is not yet completed, but by entering from Wood lane it is possible to visit all the buildings.

The first court, which is called the Court of Honour, is flanked by two long buildings beautiful in their dignified simplicity. The one on the right is devoted to various French industries; that on the left to British textiles and chemical industries. In the centre, and extending the entire length of the Court, is a lake, crossed midway by a bridge, and with pavilions projecting out at intervals. At the end opposite to the entrance stands one of the chief glories of the exhibition—the Congress Hall, in which are to be held international congresses. It is built somewhat in the Oriental style, with domes and cupolas, and from the hall down to the lake extends a wide range of crystal steps, which is to form a glittering cascade of running water. The scene by daylight will be splendid enough, while at night it is to be enhanced by various lights shining through the water. At the back of the Textile Hall is the building devoted to British education. Here demonstrations of classes from schools in all parts of Great Britain are to be given, and the gardens about are to be used for teaching nature study. Beyond the Congress Hall lies another court, enclosed by wide lagoons and dotted with fountains. The court is square and in each corner stands a hall. It is the Court of Arts, and on either side stand buildings to house paintings, sculptures, engravings, drawings, and etchings. To the right of this court lie the Stadium and the Sports Club.

The Empire's Resources

The Olympic Games are to take place in this Stadium, which is now ready for the contests. A stand, capable of holding 150,000 people surrounds the oval-shaped ground, round which run two tracks. That nearest the stands is the cycle track, with 23-4 laps to the mile. The inner ring is the cinder path for foot racing. It is exactly a third of a mile in circumference, and extending alongside this is a swimming lake, 240 ft. long. Beyond the Court of Arts are the gardens, which will be referred to later on, and to the left stands the Court of Progress, surrounded on three sides by the immense Palace of Machinery, in which exhibitors had yesterday commenced to prepare their stands.

A broad avenue runs further on into the exhibition grounds. It is bordered by trees and green turf, and is called "The Avenue of the Colonies" although the workmen have nicknamed it "Flip-flap Avenue," because of the proximity of that quaint engine of amusement. The first building that attracts the eye is the Canadian Pavilion, covering 120,000 square feet, and costing over £90,000. Here will be seen a complete representation of the Dominion's natural resources, as well as the arts and manufactures. Opposite stands a smaller building, devoted to New Zealand. Wool is to find a prominent place among the exhibits of this Colony, while her great oversea trade in perishable food products is to be represented by means of refrigerating plant, displaying mutton, lamb, butter, cheese, and other produce. Deer heads, monster trout and other sporting trophies are to be shown there, and a touch of Maoriland is to be added by a display of native handicrafts.

The Australian building is one of the finest in the exhibition. On entering at the principal gateway the visitor finds himself in a central hall, whose chief feature is an Australian garden. Here, too, are shown the numerous minerals of the Commonwealth. Various courts devoted to the individual States lead off from the hall. The New South Wales court has a rookery, with a miniature waterfall, a series of rooms streeted of woods from the native forests, and an opal cutting section. In the Queensland court will be found a block of beautifully veined marble, weighing two and a half tons; and Victoria sends timber, grain, wool, dried fruits, gold, tweeds, leather and frozen meat. South Australia will maintain her title of the "Farinaceous Colony;" and Western Australia is to show her mineral wealth in gold quartz, and also what her pearl fisheries can produce. Tasmania will also have a court to herself.

Next to the New Zealand building is that devoted to the Crown Colonies, including Gambia, Southern Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Mauritius, and the Fiji Islands.

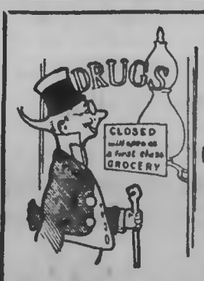
Wonders of India

At the far end of the exhibition grounds stretches the Grand Crescent, and in the very centre rises a magnificent white building, with minarets and pinnacles glittering above its white walls. This is the Indian Pavilion, and one which every visitor will doubtless make a point of visiting. In the main hall of the building is to stand a carved wood show case, which is a splendid example of the combined skill of native carvers from all parts of India. It is made out of every kind of indigenous wood, and the delicacy of its lace-like tracery is marvellous. There will be silks from Kashmir, sandal wood carvings from Mysore, pottery from Jaipur, muslins from Gwalior, art objects from Bikaner, curios from Hyderabad, Amritsar will send rugs, and from the Punjab looms will come choice carpets. A Bengal village and a tea garden are to be included also; while across the way there already stands a cluster of Oriental houses, forming a little Ceylon village. In a few weeks the bazaars will be full of life, brown skinned artisans working at their native trades, Nautch girls dancing, and jugglers performing their mysteries. In the background a pagoda towers over the village.

On the opposite side of the Grand Avenue of the Colonies, which bends round the crescent, stands a pretty little Irish village. Here are to come "modest-eyed colleens"—so it is whispered. Here already stands the actual cottage where President McKinley lived, transported bodily to Shepherd's Bush. A small charge is to be made for admission to the Irish village, the proceeds being devoted to the suppression of consumption in Ireland.

It is quite impossible, however, to describe one-tenth of the beauties of this great white city. Yet a word must be said about the gardens. Never before has there been such a display of fruit and flowers in this country. The espalier and other trained fruit trees are already planted, and by the time the Exhibition opens will be gorgeous in their sweet smelling blossoms. Thousands of roses—dwarfs, standards and climbers—are already sending out their young leaves, and landscape gardeners are working to get the beds into order. The Exhibition will be opened by the King early next month. The main entrance is quite close to the Shepherd's Bush station of the Central London ("Tube") Railway. It is possible to reach the Exhibition from practically any part of London under twenty minutes. A special service of motor omnibuses will run through the grounds. Nine separate lines of railway will connect the place with every district of the Metropolis and all parts of the kingdom. In fact, a foreigner can be taken direct from the landing stage at Dover to a station inside the Exhibition grounds. There are 11,000 men at work. Everything has been made on the spot, the clay being obtained from the ground itself, and there are twenty miles of roads in the grounds. There are a Customs House, post-offices and newspaper offices, and at least three banks will open branches in the Exhibition. A number of restaurants will be established.

The Exhibition will be open from May to October.—London Standard.



Food Foolishness

The druggist lives on your "food follies." If every one ate the druggist would have to turn grocer. There's no stomach so weak that it cannot digest "FORCE" Its thin, crisp flakes are quickly penetrated by the digestive fluids.

"FORCE"

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring it into a pan and warming it in oven. 102

A LINDSAY STORE WAS BURGLARIZED

Only a Few Coppers Were Stolen—The Thieves Escaped.

Lindsay is becoming famous. It actually attracted robbers to its peaceful precincts on Monday night, who invaded Mr. Wakely's dry goods store. But, possibly, in keeping with the character of the spot, the thieves were too slow to find the cash box, and got away with only a few coppers. The same bunch is supposed to have committed a robbery at Cannington the same night.

P. C. MEAHER MAKES HIS FIRST ARREST

An Unfortunate Drunk Was the Victim—Fined $2.

P. C. Meagher, the popular officer who has only been on the force a few weeks, arrested his first prisoner last night—a drunk. He made the arrest like a veteran officer, and in the witness box this morning, when he appeared against his prisoner, he gave his evidence fully and concisely.

Hartley McConnell, of Emily, was the unfortunate, and the evidence showed that he had been sleeping in a buggy, at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets. A crowd of children were holding his horse when the officer arrived and placed McConnell under arrest.

The prisoner did not know whether he was drunk or not, but his Worship decided that he was.

"Does whiskey have the same effect with you over in Emily?" queried his Worship.

"No," replied the prisoner, with a smile, but the laugh gradually disappeared when his Worship fined him $2, to be paid in ten days.

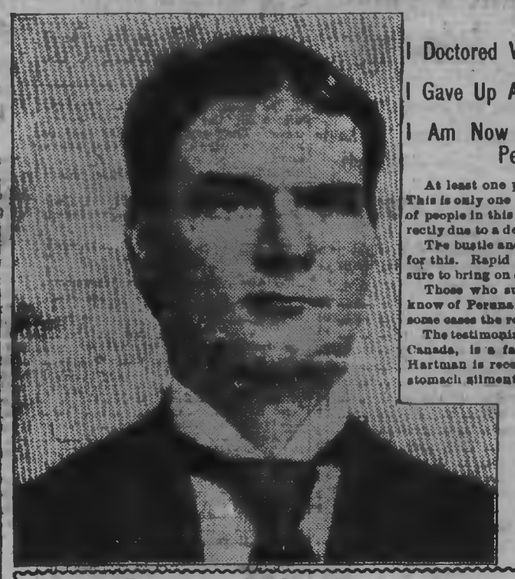
TROUBLED WITH STOMACH FOR SEVEN YEARS.



Mr. George H. Simser, Grant, Ont., Can., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for about seven years.

"I doctored with six different doctors. Some of them seemed to help me at the time, but failed to cure me. Some said it was cancer of the liver, others said it was dyspepsia or indigestion.

"Last fall I suffered so much that I gave up all hopes of ever being cured. I had headache, toothache, and lots of other troubles too numerous to mention.

"At that time, my wife was taking Peruna and Manalin and she urged me to try them. I took them, but without the least faith.

"After a week or so I felt a great deal better, so I continued to use them.

"After I had taken two bottles of Peruna and half a bottle of Manalin, I felt real well.

"I am now like a new man, thanks to Peruna and Manalin."

I Doctored With Six Different Physicians.

I Gave Up All Hopes of Ever Being Cured.

I Am Now Like a New Man, Thanks to Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin.

At least one person in ten has some stomach difficulty. This is only one way to say, that there are a vast multitude of people in this country who are suffering from ailments directly due to a deranged stomach.

The bustle and hurry of American life is mainly to blame for this. Rapid eating, worry and anxiety after eating, is sure to bring on stomach difficulty sooner or later.

Those who suffer from stomach derangement ought to know of Peruna. Peruna rarely fails to bring relief, and in some cases the restoration is almost magical.

The testimonial of Mr. George H. Simser, of Grant, Ontario, Canada, is a fair sample of the sort of testimonials Dr. Hartman is receiving concerning Peruna as a remedy for stomach ailments.

Dyspepsia for Twenty Years.

Mr. Sidney Wessels, Merritton, Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia and indigestion for twenty years, during which time I tried different doctors, but did not get the desired results.

"I have been compelled for weeks at a time to give up work, being completely prostrated. I had to confine myself to a milk diet, as nothing would remain on my stomach.

"I had about given up, thinking my case incurable, when I heard of Peruna and decided to try it.

"One bottle made a great change and after using another bottle of this wonderful medicine, I had complete freedom from pain, my appetite had returned and I could again enjoy my meals.

"I believe Peruna is the grandest medicine under the sun.

"To-day I weigh over two hundred and twenty-five pounds. Is it any wonder that I praise Peruna?"

Catarrh of Stomach.

Rev. J. T. Peeler, Hendersonville, South Carolina, writes:

"I desire to make known for the benefit of suffering humanity my experience with Peruna.

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the stomach, and though I tried several remedies and applied to several doctors, it was all in vain.

"Had it not been for Peruna I believe I would have been in my grave to-day.

"I have every reason to believe that Peruna is the greatest remedy for catarrh known to the world. Therefore I have been, and shall continue to recommend it to those who are unwell."

Tonic Effect of Pe-ru-na.

Mr. J. E. Carson, 218 St. Clarens Ave., Toronto, Canada, Inspector London Life Insurance Co., London, Canada, writes:

"I have used the popular remedy known as Peruna, and I can testify as to its merits. I regard it as one of the best tonics now on the market."

Other Cases of Stomach Trouble.

MR. H. J. HENNEMAN, Oakland, Neb., writes:

"I waited before writing to you about my sickness, catarrh of the stomach, which I had over a year ago.

"There were people who told me it would not stay cured, but I am sure that I am cured, for I do not feel any more ill effects, have a good appetite and am getting fat. So I am, and will say to all, I am cured for good.

"I thank you for your kindness.

"Peruna will be our house medicine hereafter."

MR. H. W. NAGEL, 68 Church St., Meriden, Conn., writes:

"For several years I had been troubled with catarrh of the stomach.

"After trying about everything else, I was advised to try Peruna.

"I could not eat any solid food for some time; now I can eat most anything that comes along.

"I have taken several bottles of Peruna and Manalin and am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Peruna and Manalin to every sufferer of catarrh.

"I thank you for your kind advice."

MR. CALEB H. BORTELL, Police Officer, 212 N. Paca St., Baltimore, Md., writes: "For several years I was troubled with catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. Many times I would vomit before and after eating.

"I took seven bottles of your Peruna, and I am glad to say that it has cured me. I feel more like living and working, and am not bothered at all with my old troubles.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Peruna to all sufferers with catarrh, and I thank you for what you have done for me, for none but those who have suffered as I have can appreciate a great cure as I have found Peruna to be."

The fall in was sounded about eight o'clock, and the different companies took their places. Shortly afterwards the brass band swung into line and the regiment started on its first parade through the city. The streets were lined along the route taken, which was George to Charlotte, to Water, to Hunter, to George, to the Central Park and from there to the Armouries. The parade was headed by the Signal Corps, followed by the two bands, Colonel Stevenson, Sergt.-Major Brittain and the remainder of the regiment. The bands played all along the route, and the regiment made a fine showing. The Signal Corps marched as one man and among the different companies No. 8 made a splendid showing.

After the parade, the different companies held a drill in the Central Park, and the signal corps also held a practice. Several new recruits have been added to the strength of the regiment.

The officers were nearly all present and held a meeting afterwards in the mess rooms, to make arrangements for the laying of the corner stone. They are looking forward to having a large turnout this afternoon.

Street Watering Contracts Let For Three Divisions

Board of Works Deals With Questions That Had Cropped Up—Petitions for Sewers and Sidewalks—Diversion of Drain.

SEVERAL DEPUTATIONS

The Board of Works met last night to deal with regular business that had been presented. Ald. Phelan was in the chair with Ald. Elliott, Buller, Bradburn, Morgan, McIntyre, Mayor Rush, Engineer Hay, City Clerk Armstrong and Street Commissioner Evans around the board.

Mr. A. P. Poussette was present, asking that the Board make some sewer arrangements by which connection could be made to the new St. John's Rectory that is to be erected at the corner of Sheridan and Brock street, and also to a new house on the former street nearer Hunter street. On motion of Ald. Buller and Morgan the question was left to the City Engineer to examine and make a report.

Requests for Sidewalks

Messrs. Robt. Fair, Dickson Davidson and H C Conway, constituted a deputation asking that when a cement walk was being laid on Dickson street, that one also be laid on Murray street, between College and Dickson streets. They advanced several strong arguments supporting their petition for this walk. Chairman Phelan suggested that this street be visited by the Board of Works in their itinerary which is proposed for next week, and that they decide then on what action to take.

A request, properly signed, was received from residents in the vicinity of Aylmer and Dublin streets, asking for a cement sidewalk on the west side of Aylmer street from a point 177 ft. south of Dublin to McDonel street.—Received.

Street Watering

A communication was received from Mr. Luke Maloney, tendering for the street watering of the western division of the city for 1908 for the sum of $415.00. Mr. George Blodgett's tender for this same work was $390.75. Mr. Jermiah Carew tendered for the western division at $398.00, and Mr. George McClellan at $397.00.

Mr. Justice Blodgett tendered for the northern division at $430.50, being the only tenderer.

No tenders were received for the eastern districts. Last year's contract for the west division was $399.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Bradburn, the contract for the west division was let to Mr. Geo. Blodgett at $390.75.

Mr. Justice Blodgett's contract of $430.50, for the northern division, on motion of Ald. Buller and Bradburn, was accepted.

In regard to the contract for the south division it was moved by Ald. Bradburn and Elliott, that the matter be left with the Street Commissioner and Chairman of the Board.—Carried.

The tender of Albert Valois of $400 for the street watering in the eastern division, was accepted on motion of Ald. Buller and Morgan.

Petitions for Sewers

A communication was received from Mr. J C Shook, representing the Dickson Company, asking for sewerage accommodation for residences east of Harvey street, between London and Dublin streets.—Received.

From Mr. G M Roger, also representing Messrs. G Walter Green and D W Dumble, asking for sewer accommodation on Park street, north of McDonel street. On motion of Ald. Bradburn and Elliott, it was decided that the city engineer prepare a report regarding this request.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company, on motion of Ald. Elliott and Buller, were given permission to reconstruct their light service on several streets of the city including from Aylmer to George on London street, and on Aylmer street south of Lake street.

Division of Drain

A communication was received from Mr. W R Tiffin, of the G.T.R., stating that the company was not prepared to proceed with the arrangements proposed in connection with the diversion of the drain in the north end of the city. The City Engineer has prepared plans to divert to Argyle street, having it run down to the river. This will prevent the water from taking its present course which extends along the G.T.R. 2,570 feet. Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the G.T.R. officials be communicated with in regard to the matter, and that in the meantime the chairman interview the officers of the Hydraulic Power Company to obtain permission to have the drain cross their property.

Mr. F W Skitch called attention to the condition of the trench on the east side of Aylmer street, near Dublin street, asking that it be remedied.

Mr. Samuel Stewart, Ross street, asked permission to get sewerage connection between his house on Buthuna street and the Aylmer street sewer.—Received.

COMMISSIONER COOMBS RETURNING

Monster Reception Will be Held in Toronto—Local Representatives Will Attend.

The Salvation Army all over the Dominion is looking forward to the return of Commissioner Coombs from his trip to England, and invitations are pouring into headquarters from different corps to have the Commissioner go to their towns and give addresses shortly after his return.

The Toronto branch of the Army is preparing a monster reception in Massey Hall for the Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs, and on Monday night two couples will be married by him in the hall. A massed band, composed of all the Salvation Army bands in the city will render special music during the evening.

The local corps is taking a deep interest in the Commissioner's return, and representatives will be sent to attend the reception.

ICE DISAPPEARING FROM RICE LAKE

Almost All Gone—Navigation Will Open Soon.

Rice Lake is now almost clear of ice. The high wind of a few days ago is chiefly responsible for this, and it is expected that within the course of a week or more, navigation will open between the city and the various landings on the lake.

Lindsay, April 22. — (Special.) — Jack O'Brien has created a record for a muskrat catch this season. For each skin he received forty forty cents, making about $170. He expects to secure 1,100 more this season.

The Grand Trunk Railway System announces that arrangements have been completed for two handsome additions to the chain of hotels throughout the Highlands of Ontario.

The Wawa Hotel on Lake of Bays, one of the finest hotels in the Northern Resorts of Canada, is nearing completion, and work is under way on the new Highland Inn, situated overlooking Cache Lake, at Algonquin Park station. The Highland Inn will be of the cottage type, cosy and comfortable in its appointments, all modern conveniences, colonial fireplaces in the dining and living rooms, spacious piazza and most charming outlook over lake, mountain and virgin forests; in fact, all the comforts of civilization are transported into this virgin wilderness. Double daily mail service, telegraph and express facilities at this point, with excellent train service, will make this hotel unique and attractive for a restful sojourn, so remote from the turmoil of the cities, but yet with all necessary facilities for communication with the outside world. The Highland Inn is situated about 1,500 feet above sea level, giving it by far the highest elevation of any summer hotel in Eastern Canada. A good boat livery and corps of guides will be maintained, and tourists who desire to make extended trips through the waterways of the park will be outfitted and provided for in every respect without rendering it necessary to bring any baggage excepting wearing apparel, according to length of sojourn. These new hotels will provide every comfort and facility for the enjoyment of guests, and the cost of accommodation will be so reasonable that it will not deter anyone of moderate means from patronizing them. In addition to this they will cater to tourist trade from Great Britain, where the Grand Trunk is organizing trips of parties and individuals for a lump sum of expense, including hotels, from the time tourists leave home until they return. Such trips need not occupy more than the average holiday, say one month, and will embrace the ocean trip, an opportunity of becoming acquainted with Canadians and Canadian affairs, and the entire cost will not exceed that of the usual summer holiday in Switzerland or other European haunts.

THE BOYS GETTING INTO TROUBLE

Windows and Shutters Broken at the Brock Street Rink.

The small boys should always be kept under watchful eye. On Monday a couple of boys raised the window of the ticket booth at the Brock street rink and stole twenty tickets. A roll of white 25-cent tickets had been left in the booth for a few minutes, and the boys were not at all slow in taking advantage of the absence of the officials. The latter learned that the young thieves had each retained a ticket for the six nights, and had given the rest away.

WILL MR. BLAKE FORGIVE MR. LOWRY?

For Calling Him the Assistant Astronomer—An Equinoctial Brain-Storm.

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—During the equinoctial brain storm that lately passed over, in one of my letters I did an injustice to Mr. F. L. Blake, O.L.S., D.L.S., Government Astronomer, Toronto, by referring to him as the assistant astronomer. Mr. H. B. Collier has pointed out the mistake, and I hasten to make public apology. I know Mr Blake to be a very estimable gentleman, as well as a courteous and competent official, and so I feel certain that he will forgive me, knowing as he does, that errors of this kind will creep into even the handbook sometimes.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
S. W. LOWRY.

THE HOME OF THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS

CONVERSAZIONE HELD AT ST. JOHN'S

Paper on Life of Miss Florence Nightingale Read by Mrs. Palmer.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

The Women's Auxiliary of the St. John's church held a very successful conversazione in the school room yesterday afternoon between four and six o'clock. The different churches were well represented and a very enjoyable and profitable time was spent. Mrs Palmer who had charge of the affair read an excellent paper on the life of Florence Nightengale, from her childhood to the present day. Mrs. Palmer is a personal friend of this heroic old lady and trained for a nurse under her, and her remarks showed that she was very familiar with the life of this great mother of nurses. She touched upon Miss Nightengale's work among the soldiers of the Crimea, during the awful war with Russia, and told of the charitable work she was doing amongst the poor of London.

Following the lecture a splendid programme was rendered and refreshments served. Mrs. Palmer had an excellent collection of curios of all descriptions which were shown to those present.

VAGRANT MUST GET OUT OF THE CITY

Or Take Out a Peddlers' License—Sold Two Pair of Lacings to the Magistrate.

"Where does this man come from?" asked His Worship, as Joseph Davis who had been remanded for a week, appeared before the magistrate this morning as a vagrant.

The Chief informed the magistrate that he came from Toronto.

Davis is the smoothest talker that has appeared in the prisoner's dock for some time. He claimed he was a cripple and was selling shoe laces for a living. He told the magistrate he remembered selling him two pair. On the night of his arrest he had very little money and could not pay for an expensive bed, so he went to the station house. He was taken in and locked up.

The magistrate, after listening to his story, said he would allow him his freedom if he would leave the city or take out a license. Davis decided to get out.

District Veterinary Surgeon Will Begin His Investigation

Lt.-Col. Massey, principal veterinary officer of this district, arrived last night from Toronto, and will remain in the city for a few days investigating the cases of the horses injured at the Kingston Camp last year, from the 24th Field Battery and the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons. Before leaving the city, Lt.-Col. Massey will see that all damages are paid to the owners of the horses that suffered during the last camp. It is expected that this officer will be present this afternoon at the laying of the corner-stone.

Surface Drain Proposed For Stewart Street To Relieve Floods

It is probable a surface drain will be laid on Simcoe street, from Rubidge street to the creek, to help carry off the water that flows down from the neighbourhood of St. Peter's Cathedral. At the meeting of the Board of Works last night Dr. Amys presented the matter as he had experienced it in the vicinity of his home on Charlotte street. He stated that the water flows down Rubidge street to Simcoe and Charlotte streets and down these streets to Bethune street, where it collects in a veritable lake. The drain and sewer on Charlotte street cannot let it away, and the remedy, Dr. Amys suggested, was a surface drain on Stewart street, built to catch the water as it flows down the hill on Rubidge street.

On motion of Ald. Buller and Bradburn, an estimate will be taken on the cost of a surface drain, as suggested, and a report be made to the Board.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

Henry Miller's production of "The Great Divide," which New York critics hail as the long awaited great American play, will have its first representation in this city at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and night. This truly great drama comes to town fresh from a two seasons' run in New York. The production is identically the same in every detail as that used in the Empire City, and the cast was selected and rehearsed by Mr. Miller until that past master of stage art pronounced it perfect.

The story of the play is of unusual interest, because of its daring and force. The scene of the first act is laid at the ranch of Philip Jordan, in the desert of the Gila, in Arizona. Philip's wife is about to start for San Francisco, and he leaves the ranch to take her to the train. Dr. Newbury, a young physician from Massachussetts, is called out to attend a man with a broken leg, and Ruth Jordan, Philip's sister, who has come out from Massachussetts to help her brother, is left alone in the house. The ranch is attacked by Stephen Ghent, Dutch and Pedro, three desperadoes, and Ruth is captured. They are about to throw dice for her, when she appeals to Ghent to save her, offering to become his wife. He accepts the offer, buys off the Mexican with a necklace of gold nuggets, and wounds the other in a duel. When he returns to the house to claim Ruth he sees the horror which she has for him, and purposely lets her gain possession of his revolver. She starts to kill herself, but her nerve fails her. Ghent finally cows her and she goes with him to the nearest justice of the peace, to be married, leaving a note to tell her brother that she has eloped.

In the second act the obligation has been kept and the strangely wedded pair are living in a cabin in the Catalina mountains. Stephen Ghent, the man, has seen a great light. The spectacle of the woman, crushed by her humiliation, yet true to her bond, has made him realize his own brutality, having re-awakened in him the better instincts of his original nature, and aroused in him the ambition to win by fair means what he has possessed himself of by foul. He has discovered gold on his reservation, is going to be rich and can offer his wife luxury and power. But the iron has entered her soul. She perceives that there is the essence of a true manliness in her captor, but the fact that she was bought with a price rankles in her heart and puts a barrier—a great divide—between him and her. While he is preparing to surprise her with the plans of a palace, she is working hard, weaving rugs and baskets, in order to make money enough to buy back from the Mexican who sold his share in her, the string of nuggets which was the price paid. Of the money with which her husband provides her she will not touch a cent. Meanwhile she repulses efforts at reconciliation with ill-concealed scorn and aversion, while he endures all with rough but wistful stoicism. Finally her brother and other old friends trace her to her retreat. To them she tries to offer a bold and cheerful countenance, vehemently defending her husband against the upbraidings of her indignant brothers; but when—after a passionate scene with Stephen, in which she tells how she has striven in vain to overcome her original loathing—the issue is clearly placed before her, whether she will remain in bondage or go home to her mother, she turns from her husband and throws herself into her brother's arms.

The third act is supposed to occur after a considerable interval. Ruth is in her old home and is herself a mother. She affects to regard the child as a living symbol of her degradation, but actually finds in it an advocate for its father. Later she learns that the latter has followed and watched over her, that he has interposed to save her mother and family from absolute ruin, and that he comes to bid her farewell. When they meet he makes no effort to extenuate his fault, but pleads that he has paid the full penalty for it, and that he, after all, is as great a sufferer as she, for she has taken from him heart, hope and respect. As he is about to withdraw, she melts, throws the string of nuggets around her neck in token of her reassumption of the marital bond, and for the first time, clasps him in loving embrace.

WEDDING BELLS

ALEXANDER-O'HARA

The marriage of Mr. Walter P. J. Alexander and Miss Blanche V. O'Hara, daughter of Mr. Benson O'Hara, took place at 11 o'clock on Tuesday at the residence of the bride's father in the presence of a goodly number of guests, Rev. Mr. Bamforth officiating. Miss O'Hara is choir leader and organist of the Methodist church, and the very popular young lady was brought in and given away by her father, and looked very charming indeed in bridal robe of white net over white satin. Her bouquet was white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Myrtle O'Hara, wore a very pretty mauve mull over taffeta silk and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. P. J. Hoover was best man. Miss Jennie H. F. O'Hara played the wedding march as the contracting parties took their places at the end of the drawing-room. After the ceremony the bride and groom and guests proceeded to the dining-room, where a dainty lunch was served. Miss Sadie Bristol and Miss Ketcheson, Mr. W. E. G. Murphy and Mr. B. Connor looked after the guests in the dining-room. Little Miss Minnie O'Hara answered the door bell and admitted the guests, and she did it most graciously. The groom's present to the bride was a large gold "B" set with pearls, to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent, to the best man a Swastiki pearl stick pin, and to each of the other sisters a pearl crescent. Mrs. Alexander changed her bridal gown for a travelling costume of navy blue Venetian, and a pretty navy hat trimmed with flowers. The happy couple left on the afternoon C. P. R. train for Toronto. There were some very beautiful and useful presents given to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will reside in Madoc. — North Hastings Review.

PURDY-DRAIN

The wedding took place on Wednesday, April 15, of Miss Ruby Drain of Dummer to Mr. A. Purdy of Bobcaygeon, Ont., at the residence of the former's parents in Dummer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geo. Nickle of Warsaw. The bride was attired in white silk trimmed with white chiffon and insertion and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She wore also the usual bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Emily Drain, a sister of the bride, was dressed in cream voile trimmed with lace and insertion and she also carried white carnations. The groomsman was Mr. J. C. Anderson of Marquiston, Ont.

Among the several presents to the bride was a purse from the Carmel Methodist church, in which she was organist for four years, and a cheque for $500 from her father and mother.

Mr. Purdy is the popular cheese maker in East Emily, where he and his bride will reside.

MODERN METHODS

How They Have Improved a Standard Remedy.

In the seventeenth century a wave of excitement swept over England and France when the medical profession discovered such wonderful curative elements in the cod's liver.

In the eighteenth century cod liver oil was imported and used extensively by physicians in this country, but it was found to be adulterated to a great extent, and the useless heavy oil, which enveloped the medicinal elements, a great hindrance to its medicinal value.

In 1855, a famous physician from the Hague went to Norway, and after two years of experiment and research, produced a light brown oil from the cods' livers which was said to be more valuable than the pale yellow oil, but the taste and odour was so repulsive that it frequently caused such nausea that it made it unpopular.

The most valuable discovery, however, was later made by two eminent French chemists, who after years of research discovered an extractive and concentrating process by which all of the medicinal, healing and body-building elements of the cod's liver are separated from the useless and nauseating oil, these recovered medicinal elements, combined with peptonate-of-iron, make Vinol the most scientific and valuable cod liver preparation which the world has ever known.

Vinol is so rich in the elements of life that it imparts vigour to all debilitated and feeble conditions, and is unexcelled as a remedy for all pulmonary troubles.

Try Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough, Ont.

DAMAGES FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

West Luther Blacksmith Has to Pay Young Lady $500.

WERE NO WEDDING BELLS

Miss Barbaree Sues Former Lover For Breach of Promise—Springtide Romance Ends In Prosaic Fashion—Dainty Trousseau Which Proved Useless—The Story of a Broken Engagement—No Defence.

Orangeville, April 22.—It was in May, 1906, when the leaves were budding forth on the trees and the birds were warbling in the fulness of joy in the spring sunshine that Charlotte Barbaree, a prepossessing and charming young woman of East Luther, met Joseph L. Eaton, a blacksmith of West Luther, and lost her heart.

The young man of 29, a widower without family, paid her marked attention until Jan. 24, 1907. They had previously become engaged, as far back as 1906, and her trousseau was ready for the wedding. Last May the engagement was broken and Miss Barbaree, who is a daughter of J. L. Barbaree, sued for damages.

The defendant did not appear in court, nor was he represented by counsel. Miss Barbaree told her story timidly, encouraged by I. B. Lucas, M.P.P., counsel for the plaintiff. Justice Britton charged in favor of the young lady and the jury awarded damages of $500, costs to be paid by the defendant.

FIRE AT OTTAWA HOSPITAL.

Operation In Progress at the Time—All the Patients Safe.

Ottawa, April 22.—Fire in the roof of the Protestant Hospital on Sparks street at noon yesterday did damage to the extent of about $600, and was attended by considerable excitement, both at the hospital and among the citizens generally, who soon learned where the fire was. Fortunately the presence of mind of the lady superintendent, house surgeons and nurses and the effect of the systematic fire drills which are in vogue in the institution prevented anything like a panic, and it is not thought that the condition of any of the patients will be seriously affected. The fire was discovered by a charwoman in the attic and she immediately gave the alarm, which was sounded through the hospital and turned into the fire department. In an instant the house surgeons and nurses responded. The house surgeons sprang to the hose, and soon had a stream playing on the fire from the inside. They prevented the fire spreading till the department arrived. Practically the whole brigade responded, as there was a high wind blowing. At the time the alarm was given an operation was in progress, and though those in charge of it was notified they continued just as if nothing was wrong and finished the operation without any excitement. None of the patients had to be moved from the building, although they were hastily transferred from the wing of the hospital in which the fire was.

Fell Asleep on the Tracks.

Bunki, La., April 22.—Three men went to sleep on the Texas & Pacific tracks near here shortly before midnight Monday night and as a result two of them are dead and the other so badly mangled that he is expected to died. The dead are:

William Regan of New Haven, Conn., and O. Cole of Buffalo, N.Y.

The injured man is Pat Melie of Greenock, Scotland. He said that he and his companions knew that a train would pass, but expected to be awakened by the noise. He did awaken, but was so late in trying to arouse his companions he himself was struck. He said that all three men were out of work.

Burglars at Cannington.

Cannington, Ont., April 22.—Monday night burglars entered W. A. Mathew's hardware store, where they secured a crowbar and a hatchet. They then went to C. E. Stone's grocery and boot and shoe store, where they got several pairs of boots, and, after helping themselves to some fruit, they left and went to R. L. Corlett's drygoods store, where they took several suits of clothes and about $9 cash out of the till. They left the hatchet at Mr. Corlett's door, and it is supposed drove out of town.

Ottawa, April 22.—R. L. Borden and some of his followers yesterday had a host of enquiries for information.

Replying to Mr. Benetnt, who called for the production of the order-in-council awarding contracts for dredging at Midland, Tiffin and Victoria Harbor, without calling for tenders, Mr. Pugsley informed the House that it has been decided not to extend the time for completion of the work, but to call for new tenders. The order-in-council awarding contracts had been rescinded.

Mr. Borden again asked concerning the delay in bringing down the treaties recently signed between Great Britain and the United States with regard to the boundary and fisheries.

The Prime Minister replied that the treaties had not been received by the Government and he had telegraphed the British embassy at Washington to enquire the reason.

Mr. Borden then asked the Minister of Railways if any intimation had been given the employes of the Intercolonial Railway at Halifax as to how they shall vote in the coming municipal elections. He understood that certain officers of the railway were giving directions to voters. Was it not, asked the leader of the Opposition, the policy of the Government that its employes should be allowed to vote as they pleased?

Mr. Graham asserted that this was the first intimation he had received of the matter. It was certainly the policy of the Government to permit employes to exercise their full rights as citizens without interference.

Mr. Borden interrogated the Minister of Marine concerning counsel appointed to act in connection with the investigation before Judge Cassels. Whom did they represent? Had counsel been appointed to represent Messrs. Courtney, Fyshe and Bazin, whose report was to a certain extent under review by the new commissioner?

Mr. Brodeur stated that Geo. Watson, K.C., and J. L. Perrin, K.C., had been appointed to assist Judge Cassels. It had been intimated to him that Judge Cassels desired counsel to assist him.

Further questions elicited the information that the appointments were made at the request of the judge. "These particular gentlemen," said Mr. Brodeur, "were not suggested. I don't know. I think Mr. Watson was mentioned by Judge Cassels."

Mr. Courtney and his colleagues would not be represented at the enquiry, the Minister said.

"Is Mr. Watson," asked Mr. Northrup, "the same man who was appointed by the late Ontario Government to investigate the West Elgin election?"

Mr. Brodeur did not know as to that.

Mr. Lake drew attention to a despatch that the Deputy Minister of Justice had wired the police magistrate at Fort William asking him to "Please report pardon" for 19 Doukhobors who had been sentenced to the Central Prison for a crime against decency. He asked if it was true that the Minister had pardoned them or contemplated doing so; if the Doukhobors were to be sent back to Saskatchewan and at whose expense? On what grounds was the pardon to be granted, and further, would the Government undertake to be responsible for their good behavior in the future?

The Minister of Justice was about to reply when the Prime Minister headed him off. This question was rather involved, he said, and Mr. Lake should give notice. It was a large proposition for the Government to give bonds for the future behavior of the Doukhobors.

Mr. Talbot referred to the disaster in Bellechasse County where nine men was killed on the National Transcontinental Railway. The commission should take immediate steps to prevent further disasters.

Mr. Graham replied that he had been informed that for the number of yards of rock taken out the accidents were less numerous than on any other railway construction in America. He had learned that the accident was due to premature explosion. The matter was serious and would be looked into.

Mr. Smith (Nanaimo) read a newspaper report that conferences between Mr. Bastedo, on behalf of the Dominion, and the British Columbia Government with regard to the fisheries had proved fruitless and that the Provincial Government would take charge of the fisheries and a legal battle would ensue. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries stated that Mr. Bastedo had arrived in Ottawa yesterday morning and made an oral report of his mission. Some claims made by the British Columbia Government were receiving consideration.

Mr. Smith (Nansimo) introduced a bill to amend the Railway Act. This is a bill to make the work day for despatchers and telegraphers eight hours, but he explained it was not expected that it would be put through this session.

Mr. Lavergne (Montmagny) yesterday moved adjournment to discuss a matter of "urgent public importance," but Deputy Speaker Marcil, who was in the chair, was not convinced of the urgency and required the mover to produce 20 members who desired the issue raised.

Mr. Lavergne had on his side of the House young Lorenzo Robitaille of Quebec, but 14 Conservatives rose in their places. Then was a real school question hurled into the debate of Parliament.

What Mr. Lavergne proposed to discuss was that on April 13 he asked if the Government was aware that chapters 2 and 25 of the statutes of Saskatchewan respectively, "An Act for raising Money on the Credit General Fund of Saskatchewan," and "An Act to Provide for the Organization and Maintenance of Secondary Educational Sections," contained clauses contrary to the educational clause of the autonomy act of 1907, and if it was proposed to disallow said acts. Mr. Aylesworth returned the monosyllable "No" to each question.

The first point, said Mr. Lavergne, was that the Government did not know if the statutes were ultra vires or not, and would not disallow them. He complained the Minister of Justice had not taken trouble to look into the laws. When the Province of British Columbia saw fit to exclude a few Asiatics the House saw the Government jumped up immediately and disallow the act, yet is seemed that 40 per cent. of the people of Canada were less, in the estimation of the Government, than a few Japs who had come to the country against the will of a whole province.

It was a fact that the minority of Saskatchewan thought that the statutes were in contravention of the rights granted them by this Parliament two years ago.

Mr. Lavergne was not offering a legal opinion, but it looked to him that the rights of the minority were being jeopardized. "If," he said, "confederation is to go on this way, that there is a superior race and an inferior race, and a superior religion and an inferior religion. I will say that confederation has seen better days."

Mr. Aylesworth replied, first regretting that his answers to questions of Mr. Lavergne should have been deemed pert. What he had intended to say was that the Government was not aware that the statutes of Saskatchewan was opposed to the provisions of the act constituting the new province. The subject had been given most careful consideration of the statutes. Mr. Lavergne himself, an able counsel, was not able to state that they were illegal. All that Mr. Lavergne could say was, they had a distinct flavor of illegality. But the statutes were not to be disallowed for a flavor. Unless it could be clearly seen that provincial legislation overlapped the limits of jurisdiction fixed by section 93 of the British North America Act, there should be no interference by His Excellency in council. The advisability of a provincial act, its justice or injustice even, did not give cause for disallowance.

As to the legislation of British Columbia, it had not been disallowed by Federal authority, but declared invalid by decree of the courts.

Mr. Lavergne was surprised at the result. What would he say to find that when Premier Roblin was trying to do his best for the minority in Manitoba, it was Roman Catholics who spurred on The Winnipeg Free Press to attack him first.

There were more surprises in store for Mr. Lavergne, he predicted. Roman Catholics couldn't go on forever depending upon Protestants, and even Orangemen, to do as they did in 1895-6, when they stood up for the rights of the minority.

Sir Wilfrid replied that this wasn't the first time, inside and outside of the House, he had seen people like Mr. Bergeron trying to be more Catholic than the Pope. That hon. gentleman had boasted of having postponed his meeting in Saskatchewan so as not to interfere with Mr. Turgeon's election, but he forgot to say he had only postponed it until the day after, as he might have done. If Mr. Bergeron didn't realize that this was too thin, he was very much mistaken. As for those Roman Catholics who dropped a tear on Mr. Bergeron's bosom, it was strange if they had any complaint to make that they didn't make it to the Government, who could do them some good, and not to Mr. Bergeron, who couldn't do anything. From the day the act passed until now not one word of complaint had reached the Government from the minority in Saskatchewan. There had been no appeal for disallowance as in the case of Manitoba. Clause 16, number 2 of the autonomy bill had been passed partly with Mr. Bergeron's consent, although not with the consent of the Opposition members who sat beside him.

The Government had done its best for the minority and would have done more if it were possible. Members from Quebec should be especially chary about raising the cry for disallowance.

Mr. Bergeron asked the privilege of making a brief reply, but Sir Wilfrid refused.

Mr. Lavergne spoke briefly in support of his contention as to the alleged unfairness of the new Saskatchewan acts, and this concluded the debate.

Progress was reported on Mr. Fisher's bill to amend the Meat and Canned Goods Act.

Mr. Macpherson (Vancouver) moved an amendment, which was accepted, providing that the first purchaser of canned goods may place his name on the package instead of the packer. This has been asked for by wholesale men.

Another bill to amend the Inspection and Sale Act was reported. It increases the penalties for false marking of fruits and adulteration of cheese. Mr. Fisher explained that one object was to prevent the practice of enclosing love tokens in cheese for export.

Mr. Fielding's dry docks bill was also reported. It provides for payment of subsidies amounting to 3 per cent. of the cost of a dry dock every year for 20 years, the payments not to exceed $45,000 in any one year.

Two Thousand Men Sent In Response to Demand For Reinforcements—Situation Considered Grave—Endangered Forces Sixty Miles From Nearest Railway—Help to Reach Them Shortly.

Tiflis, April 22.—On account of the threatening situation on the Persian frontier and the urgent demand for reinforcements received from the commanders of the Russian forces in that district, 2,000 men have been sent from here into the disturbed territory. These reinforcements will take several days to reach the scene of hostilities, which is 60 miles from the nearest railroad point, through a difficult country.

No further news from the commanders of the detachments at Belesuver and Shirin, which are menaced by the Kurdish brigands, has been received here, but information has come that communication along an important trade route, running southward from the Caspian Sea into Persia, has been interrupted by an uprising of the bandit population. As a result caravans are afraid to venture out of Lenkoran.

Slater Jumped From Sixth To Third In Grind Last Night

Hoagland Increased His Lead While Harrison Still Holds Gamely on to Second Position---A Great Struggle Between Slater, Harrison and Blake for the Positions---Graham is Coming.

1—W. A. HOAGLAND, Auburn, N. Y., 46 miles 6 laps.
2—JAS. HARRISON, Peterborough, 45 miles 9 laps.
3—TOM SLATER, Oswego, N.Y., 45 miles 7 laps.
4—J. E. BLAKE, Syracuse, N. Y., 45 miles 6 laps.
5—CHAS. A. STEVENS, Peterborough, 44 miles 7 laps.
6—DAVID HARTLEY, Peterborough, 43 miles 3 laps.
7—JAS. G. GRAHAM, Buffalo, N.Y., 41 miles 1 lap.
8—CHAS. STENNER, Warsaw, Ont., 40 miles 12 laps.
9—R. J. HATTON, Toronto, 40 miles 4 laps.
10—RAY FENTON, Auburn, N Y., 38 miles 6 laps.

When the second four-hour period came to a close in the six-day walking tournament at the Brock street rink last night, there was a noticeable shaking up in the positions of the men, as the above table will show. The most noticeable is the jump made in the four hours by Tom Slater, the Oswego crack, who started last night in sixth place and finished in third position, only two laps behind Jim Harrison, the local walker, who clung to second after a desperate duel all night. Charlie Stevens dropped from third to fifth. Blake, the negro, continued to hold his own in fourth place, while Dave Hartley went back one, ending up in sixth position. Stenner, the Warsaw man, and Graham of Buffalo changed places, the latter gaining five laps and taking seventh place. Hatton, the Toronto pedestrian, and Fenton, the boy from Auburn, N.Y., shifted, Hatton gaining two miles and six laps and getting a substantial grip on the ninth peg.

The outstanding feature last night was the great work of Tom Slater, who went at a terrific clip for the first two hours or more and cut down Harrison's lead of ten laps to two before the night was over. Slater was out to make up the ground he lost on Monday night when illness kept him back, and although he was not feeling any too well last night, he put up a game exhibition. Starting at a rapid clip, he began to overhaul the man ahead of him. At the third mile he had passed out Dave Hartley, despite the latter's sprints, and kept on going after Blake and Stevens, both of whom were ahead of him. At the end of five miles he was on even terms, and then pulled ahead, drawing away from Stevens, while Blake loosened up and followed him, the two leaving Stevens.

Then came the exciting tussle of the night, with Slater cutting loose after Harrison. He gained several laps on him until, with one hour and a half to go, he was only one and a half laps behind. Harrison increased his lead to two laps and anchored at Slater's heels, resisting all attempts at being shaken off, while Blake remained a few feet behind the Peterborough man. Try as he might, Slater could not get any closer, Harrison clinging to his lead for the remaining hour and finishing second, while Blake was but a lap behind Slater.

Hoagland's Lead Bigger

Meanwhile Hoagland had been increasing his lead on Harrison, gaining nine laps during the night, and barring accidents the race is conceded to him, as he is ten laps ahead of Harrison, and twelve in advance of Slater. The champion covered 28 miles, 2 laps last night, and after the first hour did not extend himself very much except when the band played "Yankee Doodle," which was a signal for a terrific sprint by Hoagland, who did some of the prettiest walking ever seen in Peterborough, one time gaining a lap on Slater and the rest, while two laps were being covered. The crowd were not slow to recognize the grand work of the American and cheered him to the echo. His sprints were the sensational feature, but the real excitement was in the duel between Harrison, Slater and Blake, which will be continued to-day, Harrison going on the track this afternoon two laps ahead of Slater and three in advance of the negro.

Dave Hartley lost ground last night, owing to an attack of illness, after he had covered 34 miles. He left the track for a few minutes and lost a number of laps before he was able to go on again. He is expected to do better this afternoon in the long grind of ten hours, which started this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

Charlie Stevens, as on the previous night, showed great sprinting ability, but he was not in as good shape as on Monday, and had to slow up pretty well after each sprint. Blake hit a pretty lively gait all night and started this afternoon right at Slater's heels.

Jim Harrison kept up his good work last night and although Hoagland increased his lead to ten laps, the Peterborough man stalled Slater off from second place, dropping in behind the Oswego man, and, ahead by two laps, he remained there, taking step for step with Slater until the bell rang, and the men were released from the track.

Graham showed good form last night, and it would not cause much surprise if he were in the money to-night. He looks as if the ten hour performance would agree with him, and if it does, he will make up ground fast this afternoon.

Stenner and Hatton continued to plod along apparently as fresh as ever and Fenton remained on the track until the finish last night, although he was very tired. Several times towards the close of the evening he sprinted when he was thought to be all in, and the crowd cheered.

The following table shows how far the walkers travelled last night. It will be seen that Hoagland travelled but one lap more than Slater in the four hours:—

Hoagland, 23 miles, 2 laps.
Slater, 23 miles, 1 lap.
Blake, 22 miles, 7 laps.
Harrison, 22 miles, 5 laps.
Stevens, 21 miles, 8 laps.
Hartley, 20 miles, 7 laps.
Hatton, 19 miles, 10 laps.
Graham, 19 miles, 8 laps.
Stenner, 19 miles, 3 laps.
Fenton, 17 miles, 4 laps.

WILL BE A GREAT STRUGGLE TO-NIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

There will be doings at the Brock street rink tonight when the crucial period in the big six-day race will be reached. Hoagland looks a certain winner, but there is a grand race on between Harrison of Peterborough; Slater, of Oswego, N.Y., and Blake, the negro, for the three next positions, and it may be decided to a great extent to-night, when the walkers will finish up the ten-hour grind started at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. The record crowd of the week should be present to-night to see Harrison's struggle against the American cracks and, by to-night, too, Graham and Hartley may be up in the running and if they are, there certainly will be excitement.

The result of the wrestling match in Toronto between Eugene Hurtubise, of Peterborough, and Frank Kennedy, the Russian heavyweight, will be announced at the rink.

Jack Cooper, the English pedestrian who has travelled the fastest mile made so far, may make an attempt on the Canadian record for an hour, and if he does the crowd will see some lively stopping.

Messrs. T T Boyd and C E Frost, returned last night from Detroit, where they have been rolling in the Michigan state tournament. They bring back with them the distinction of being the only Canadians to land able visit. in the money class, the pair rolling 1,153 in the doubles, giving them fourteenth position. No other Canadians got a place, either in the doubles or singles. The local cracks rolled with a Canadian team in the five-man event, the quintette getting 2,802 which would have been well within the mony, but the score was disqualified because the Canadian team was not composed of members of one club. It consisted of Boyd and Frost, of Peterborough; Archambault and Humphries, of Toronto, and Thompson, of Hamilton. The local men report a very enjoy-

NO EASTERN TEAMS AT THE COAST

Shield Games Not Going to be as Important as First Expected.

Vancouver, April 22. — (Special.)—The schedule for the People's Shield was arranged at a meeting of the committee on Saturday night, and now that it seems definitely settled that the eastern teams are deterred by the expense, except Calgary, the holders, it does not look as though the competition will be as big an event as was first expected. It is disappointing, but it is not the fault of the local committee, and though a large number of games could be arranged among local teams, it is thought better to let the champion teams only stack up, and the winners take on Calgary.

EUGENE WILL WRESTLE TO-NIGHT

Local Heavyweight Will Meet Frank Kennedy in Toronto.

Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's big wrestler and ex-heavyweight champion of the Dominion, left this morning for Toronto where to-night he will meet Frank Kennedy, the Russian heavyweight, in a wrestling match at the Mutual street rink, under the auspices of the new Crescent Athletic Club. Gene is in good shape and confident of winning his match although he realizes that in Kennedy he meets a rough, strong wrestler who will take a lot of beating. The contest is attracting considerable attention in Toronto.

CURLING CLUB GETS THE DISTRICT TROPHY

SLATER IN SECOND POSITION

Oswego Crack Gained in First Hour and One Half This Afternoon—Hartley's Good Going.

HE HAS GAINED SEVEN LAPS

At three o'clock this afternoon, Tom Slater was in second place, with Blake, the negro, two laps behind and one lap ahead of Harrison, who dropped from second to fourth in the first hour and one-half. One of the features this afternoon was the work of Dave Hartley, who gained seven laps on Stevens, and looks fit to be in the money class before night. He is walking well and strong.

Hatton, the Toronto man quit at 2.30 o'clock. Hoagland is apparently satisfied with his lead and is taking things easy, only sprinting once this afternoon. Blake is hitting a lively gait and giving Slater a hard run, while Harrison is paying no attention to the sprinters and is going easy and apparently with plenty of reserve. Following is the score at 3 o'clock:

Hoagland, 54 miles, 2 laps.
Slater, 53 miles, 3 laps.
Blake, 53 miles 1 lap.
Harrison, 53 miles.
Stevens, 51 miles, 1 lap.
Hartley, 50 miles, 6 laps.
Graham, 47 miles 1 lap.
Stenner, 46 miles, 11 laps.
Hatton, dropped out, 45 miles 1 lap.
Fenton, 44 miles, 1 lap.

SIR FREDERICK BORDÉN IN THE CITY

Laid the Corner Stone of the New Peterborough Armouries.

The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Armouries took place this afternoon. Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, who was the central figure in the demonstration, arrived in the city this morning from Toronto, per C. P. R., and was met at the station by Hon. J. R. Stratton. He was a guest at Strathormond until this afternoon, when he was driven to Central Park.

On his arrival, about three o'clock, he was received with a general salute by the military bodies drawn up, after which the ceremony of laying the corner stone took place, followed by a reception to the Minister in the Drill Hall.

Sir Frederick was afterwards driven to Strathormond where he will be Mr. Stratton's guest until the banquet in his honour this evening at the Oriental.

The complete report of the proceedings will be given in to-morrow's issue.

FIRST SIGNS ARE IN THE BACK

Best Not to Neglect Nature's Danger Signals When Kidneys are Involved

ANYONE CAN PREPARE IT

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here, also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered, and absolutely no strongly alcoholic patent medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless, and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy, and anyone can mix them: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys so that they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared, and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying, and may prove just what many people here need.—12.

DR. MARSH LECTURED LAST NIGHT

The Social Adult Bible Class, of the Gorge Street Methodist Church, held a successful meeting last night in the Sundays chool room. The feature of the evening was an address by Rev. D. Doidge, and the class quartette, composed of Messrs. Walton, Cunningham, Zepp and Fretheway, in a pleasing number. Refreshments were served during the evening.

We've sped the parting guest, "Winter" and we turn to make our bow to Spring, embodying among other new things the latest evolution of Men's suit styles — this year we've struck out and away from the beaten track and have distanced all our past accomplishments—all lines making up the new spring styles, combine to spell "GRACE", —no angular corners; instead they're softly rounded, the lapels sweep gracefully down over the chest, while the question of button arrangement is answered in a variety of ways.

From now on we'll present from time to time the proper styles for Men, which it will pay you to look over Sir, if you're at all interested in nobby clothes. SEE OUR WINDOW

The "Hard Times" dance at the Conservatory of Music Hall last night, was one of the most pleasant social events of the present social season. The evening was enjoyably spent by the forty couples who tripped the light fantastic. Splendid dancing music was provided by Mr. Musgrave, of Toronto, and at midnight dainty refreshments were served, the ice cream and coffee being provided by the Coleman Bros., and the rest by the ladies. Mr. R H Marlowe, the honourary secretary of the committee, was congratulated by the guests for the splendid arrangements made.

Sale Of Clover Seed Will Be Small Owing To High Price

The Fertility of the Soil Will be Lowered and Crop Production Will Be Lessened.

TIMOTHY BEING BOUGHT

Canadian Dairyman

Not for 40 years, so a seedsman told us the other day, has red clover seed sold for the price it is this spring. At $15 a bushel, its use is largely prohibited, though we believe it will pay farmers to sow it, even at this figure, rather than allow their farms to go without the necessary seeding to clover. But farmers are not buying, only in limited quantities, and the area sown this season will be small. Especially is this true of Eastern Ontario and Quebec. Many farmers in those sections are not in a position to buy at the price it is now selling at, and consequently very little will be sown.

But red clover is not the only seed that is high in price. Alsike, alfalfa and timothy sell at a high figure. One large Toronto seed firm informed us the other day that they had handled this season as much alsike as had been sown in the United States last year. Timothy, because it is cheaper, is being bought more than clover, by farmers. This extra buying has advanced the price of this also; $7.25 a cwt., is a good figure to pay even for choice timothy seed.

There has been an increased demand this spring for alfalfa seed, and it looks as if farmers were going more extensively into the growing of this splendid fodder crop. There is a danger, however, of some going more extensively into its culture than they should. It would be better to go a little slowly at the start, and find out if the land is in condition to grow it successfully. To go into it extensively, as some are doing, judging from the amount of seed they are buying, is somewhat risky, and especially if they have not grown it before. Alfalfa is one of the most profitable crops a farmer can grow, and five to ten acres on every farm would add immensely to the number of live stock that could be kept in this country. We are, therefore, glad to see this desire on the part of farmers to grow more alfalfa. At the same time, go slowly, until they have tested the matter and thoroughly understand the handling of the crop, is sound advice. We would be pleased to have the experience of alfalfa growers on this point.

The general effect of less clover seeding this spring will be serious. Less clovering means a lowering of soil fertility and, consequently, a lessening in crop production.

To Obtain Best Results From Poultry Feeding

Hopper Style Considered Excellent Experiments Made at Agricultural Farm.

PROFITABLE EGG TRADE

Canadian Dairyman

Best results in feeding seem to come from the hopper style of feeding, with a supplemental feed or two during the day of whole grains.

At Guelph Agricultural Farm, some hens that were put out, in a corn field with a flock of chicks, and given no more than they could pick up in their wanderings, not even water, came out in the fall ahead of the yard fed birds. Conditions were ideal for that kind of experiment, however, and the chicks never lacked an abundance of food, mostly grasshoppers and other insects.

Do not try to raise your chicks in a yard where there is no shelter from the hot sun. Give them a shady place, and a nice loose spot of soil in which to roll and take their regular bath. This idea of the chicken's bath is no joke. They will be found to take one as regularly as their owner (perhaps oftener), if only given the chance. It is also just as healthy for the fowl as for the man. If allowed free range, the chicks will find enough meat food for themselves in the summer time, but if yarded up, it is difficult for them to forage in this line, and some thing to take the place of the bugs they miss must be provided. This can be done by getting some cut bone from the butcher, many of whom now have it prepared fresh every day or so, and sell it at a low price.

The writer always advises the beginner to use some pure breed of fowl for the reason that while it costs no more to raise a pure bred chicken than a cross bred, there is a possibility of some other beginner wanting to buy one of your spare cockerels at a better price than you can get in the market. Sales of this kind are the cream of the business. Another chance the breeder of pure bred poultry has to get back some of the money he has invested, is in the selling of eggs for hatching at an advance on the market price, that is quite an addition to the profit side of the business.

It looks easy to sit down and figure out that because in your first season in the poultry business you have made each hen show a profit of $1, if you now go into it with 1,000 hens, your profit will be $1,000, with 2,000 hens a profit of $2,000 and so on. There has always been found to be difficulties in management of the big flock, however, not met with in caring for a small one. Hundreds of birds together seem more liable to disease, and often endless troubles are the lot of the poultryman who after one season of fair success launches out in the hope of multiplying his success by hundreds or perhaps thousands. This is not said with the object of discouraging but of warning the beginner not to relax his or her care in the slightest degree, and to be ready if trouble comes, to combat them by trying to make the surroundings of the flock as near to nature's way as it was for the small flock that paid so nicely the first year.

The experience gained will be found very useful.

Probably the first difficulty will be that with a flock of thousands, the land becomes foul. That will show that the range is not as abundant accordingly, as is was for the small flock. This makes it necessary to renew the soil by turning it over, either with spade or plow. At the same time a seeding down may be done with some kind of grain, and the birds will eat the young shoots, and thus receive the benefit of a green food. As the difficulties are successfully met, and overcome, it gives the novice confidence, and the experience thus gained by practical test, will be worth more than bushels of theory.

Some of the branches that are now being followed with profit by those in the poultry business are, the raising of broilers, the marketing of a particular brand of strictly fresh eggs, for which they receive a nice margin over the regular market from their customers, and the catering to the market for roasters. The quickest returns, and the nicest, are those resulting from the sale of a nice lot of early broilers. There is an unlimited market for this product. The chicks are hatched in incubators on a large scale, and are forced to a rapid growth in brooders till they are 2½ to 3 months old, when they are dressed and sent to the city market for use in the higher class restaurants and hotels, a choice broiler bringing anywhere from 20 to 40 cents a pound. This is the quickest return, and a nice branch of the business, one well worth cultivating and making a special feature. The market can be developed by personal arrangement with the consumer, who, if he has a demand for broilers, will be very glad to take all you can supply, and it will pay you to only send him first quality all the time, so that he can depend on it being up to the standard and there will never be any kick on price.

The egg trade is one that can be made more profitable if some trouble is taken in marketing the product. Many stores have a lot of special customers whom they are careful to supply with nothing but the best, and who are willing to pay higher prices for eggs if they are sure they are fresh, than for an inferior grade. These dealers will be glad to arrange to handle your eggs as soon as you establish their name as always to be depended on as fresh. Many who are in reach of a city, have their own customers, and can get rid of all they have at the highest prices. These have the advantage over those who must sell to a dealer.

There will always be some roasters every season, as a lot of the early birds must be raised in order to have a new flock of layers for the next winter, and the cockerels must be disposed of in that way. This, however, is not the most profitable part of the business, unless a good many can be sold for breeding purposes to other poultrymen.

CHURCH MOVEMENTS IN WARSAW

Maple Sugar Season a Good One—Summer Residents Who Are Ill.

The House Of the Ogre.

By TROY ALLISON.

Copyrighted, 1908, by P. C. Eastment.

Kittie Truesdell clung to her governess' hand and told the story with tremors of delight.

"He lives up there all alone, Miss Jarvis," she said in her shrill, childish voice, "and nobody knows—just what—he—eats!" She peered closely at Miss Jarvis' face to see if it were covered by an appreciative pallor or other sign of overwrought nerves.

"Now, Kittie, some one has been filling your little head with fairy tales," Katharine Jarvis said indulgently. It had not been long since she herself believed in fairy tales, and even at twenty-four she could enjoy a game of "make believe."

"Oh, but Jimmie Darnell said he saw just an awful looking man there. Jimmie peeked through the hedge and didn't dare let himself be seen. He was afraid even then that the man would say:

"Fee-fi-fo-fum,
I smell the blood
Of an English-man!"

"AN' THEY LIVED HAPPY EVER AFTERWARD."

Kittie lent herself to the dramatic possibilities of the poem and cake-walked solemnly to its rhythm. The afternoon walks were part of their daily routine, but today they had started later than usual owing to the threatening clouds of the early afternoon. A sharp peal of thunder startled Katharine from her meditations, and she was alarmed by the sudden downpour of rain.

"Come on, Kitty; we must run for your ogre's house. This is awful on you after your attack of tonsilitis."

Kitty hung back, the heavy rain trickling from the red wing on her hat in a red stream down her cheek.

"Oh, Miss Jarvis, I—I guess I'd rather get wet," she said, her teeth chattering with cold and fright.

"Nonsense!" said the girl, taking her by the hand and running toward the shooting box at the top of the hill. "You are so thin you would never do for an ogre, childie. And, besides, I expect it's a nice old man who will tell us stories and let us sit by his fire and get dry while the storm is passing. Think of that dreadful sore throat you've just had, dear! We mustn't let it come back."

She pounded breathlessly against the door, and when it opened suddenly the force of the wind sent them staggering into the room, which, except for the log burning in the open fireplace, was darkened by the shutters closed against the storm.

The man had evidently been smoking on the couch drawn in front of the fire.

"It's fortunate you were near enough to run in—it's almost a cloudburst," he said, throwing on another log and apologizing for the amount of tobacco in the atmosphere.

Katharine's fingers, clasping the child's hand, tightened convulsively.

"It's fortunate for the little girl. She's been sick, and if you will allow me I will dry her shoes and stockings immediately," she said constrainedly.

At the sound of her voice Bradley turned in amazement.

"You—you!" he exclaimed, putting his hand on her shoulder and peering at her in the flickering light. "I've been hungering for the sight of you for months."

Kitty's overwrought nerves gave way in a shriek of dismay.

"Oh, Miss Jarvis—you're not two thin, and he—he wants you!" she gasped, hiding her face on her governess' shoulder.

Bradley's astonishment was mixed with mirth.

"By Jove! That's a precious kid. Didn't take her a minute to diagnose the case. He certainly wants you—and has for ages."

Katharine, seating herself by the hearth, took off the child's shoes and tried to quiet her.

"She is dreadfully wet. Have you a blanket we could wrap her in until her clothes dry?"

He brought the couch over, and Kitty, forgetting her woes, succumbed to the warmth of the fire on the soles of her bare little feet and was soon fast asleep. Bradley laid her on the couch and drew it close to the fire.

"Now tell me why you refused to answer my letter and how you dropped so completely out of sight," he demanded eagerly.

Katharine smiled faintly.

"I thought you seemed undecided as to whether you liked Miss Hindly or me better, and I knew she was far more suited to be your wife than I—your aunt's companion. So I accepted a position that was open to me and came here in the country to be Kitty's governess. That's all. There was nothing secret about it. I thought if you cared very much that you could easily find me," the girl said bitterly, thinking of the long months she had waited—first hopelessly, then despondently.

Bradley seized her hands eagerly.

"But, Katharine, you forgot that your brother and his wife have given up their flat—they are not in the directory—and I had absolutely no means of getting your address. I didn't know a soul who knew you except the people at Aunt Em's, and Aunt Em only knew your brother's address before he gave up the flat on Harvard street."

She gazed at him wonderingly. "I never thought of that," she said slowly, "but you seemed to like Miss Hindly."

Bradley laughed boyishly.

"My dear girl, Miss Hindly was engaged to my brother. It had not been announced at the time, but he asked me to be nice to my future sister-in-law and get acquainted with her."

Katharine leaned forward impulsively.

"Then you didn't like her a bit?" she demanded.

"Not a bit—that is, well enough for a sister-in-law," he conceded.

"Oh!" she breathed contentedly.

"Oh!" he mimicked happily, drawing her head to his shoulder.

"Oh," said Kitty, awakening suddenly and gazing sleepily at the couple by the fireside, "he isn't a bit of an ogre! He's more like a hero in my story book that says, 'An' they lived happy ever afterward.'"

Which Are You?

In this world there are two kinds of men—those who look upon the bright side of things and those who walk in the shadow and see nothing but discouragement ahead.

The cheerful man when he sees work accumulate attacks it heartily and soon clears it away, regarding his work as fun. The other looks and looks, his face growing longer each minute, and then says to himself: "How much work do they expect me to do on my pay? I can't possibly get through all this today."

Then presently when he settles down to work he finds that the cheerful man has nearly finished and envies him his light job.

He never thinks that the optimist gets through by working steadily, without loitering to growl at what he has to do. The thought that he might work too hard never occurs to the cheerful man.

Again, the discontented one imagines that his employer does not notice his merits or the reverse and loses interest in his work. This is wrong, for every employer knows when a young fellow is doing his duty well. He may not have time to give praise personally, but he knows just the same.

Just Like a Woman.

A well known judge had a habit of slipping his watch under his pillow when he went to bed. One night, somehow, it slipped down, and as the judge was restless it worked its way to the foot of the bed.

After a bit he awoke, and his foot touched it. It felt very cold, and he was scared and jumped from his bed and shouted: "My gracious, Maria! There's a toad or something under the covers! I touched it with my foot!"

His wife gave a loud scream and was on the floor in a moment.

"Now, don't go waking the neighbors up," said the judge. "You get a broom or something, and we'll fix it quick."

The broom was given him.

"Now turn down the covers slowly while I bang it. Put a bucket of water alongside the bed, so as we can shove it in and drown it."

Maria fixed the bucket and removed the covers. After three or four good bangs they pushed it in the bucket, and then they took it to the light to investigate.

When the judge saw it was his watch he said: "I might have known. It is just like you women to go screeching and fussing about nothing. It's utterly ruined now."—London Mail.

The Pipe's Antiquity.

In Asia and Africa, besides America, the pipe dates from prehistoric times, and in Europe generally it has been in use since and during the Roman period, if not before. One of the most learned antiquarians says that smoking pipes of bronze are frequently found in Irish tumuli, or sepulchral mounds, of the most remote antiquity.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Douro, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

"Roses Red and Violets Blue."

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

The waiting room in the big department store was in a balcony that formed a sort of halfway house between the first and second floors. From a seat in one of the bulging corners one commanded the whole sweep of busy counters—all the sparkle and glitter and color of attractively displayed goods.

To Jessica, nineteen, pretty and visiting the great city for the first time, it seemed like fairyland.

"I want to buy everything," she said to Aunt Theodora Hancock, who had brought her there.

Aunt Theodora smiled indulgently.

"All is not gold that glitters," she said.

Jessica smiled back. "But I like the glitter," she said. "I never use scented soap, but I shall surely buy some because of the pretty boxes, and that pale green note paper is a dream, although I never write on anything but white. And I am awfully drawn to those strings of glass beads, even though I am sure that I should never dare wear them in public."

But Aunt Theodora after years of city residence was an experienced shopper. "Beware of temptation," she warned. "Come on upstairs and look at the sensible things."

"I don't want to be sensible," Jessica pleaded. "I want to stay here and see people buying things that they don't want for the mere pleasure of buying."

Aunt Theodora hesitated.

"Do you really want to sit here for awhile?" she asked, with an air of relief. "I could leave you and slip up to the grocery department and give an order. But you mustn't stir from this corner, or I should never find you."

"Oh, I'll stay," Jessica promised. "You run along, Aunt Theo. I am perfectly happy right here."

So Aunt Theodora took her stately way through the crowds, and just as she disappeared Jessica's eyes fell on the valentines.

There was a marvelous display right in the middle of the store, and strung from post to post were plump red hearts transfixed with golden darts, while fascinating pink cupids bobbed and bowed with every tiny current of air that swept through the store.

Jessica's heart gave a little throb of delight. She would buy one for Cousin Bob. He would never know who sent it, and she would like to see his eyes on St. Valentine's morning when he opened his mail at the breakfast table.

Without a thought of Aunt Theodora she hurried downstairs to the crowded counter.

It was not easy to make a choice. There were so many beauties—exquisite, modern, hand painted cards, with verses from all the love poets and old fashioned valentines with old fashioned rhymes.

Jessica's eyes rested lovingly on a quaint affair of lace paper with a nosegay of fat pink roses and huge violets in the center. It was very like one that Cousin Bob had sent her when she was a little girl, and she had kept it among the most precious of her treasures. The verse, too, was the same:

Roses red and violets blue,
My heart to you is ever true.

She smiled a little wistfully as she read. Probably Cousin Bob had forgotten that other valentine—had forgotten the later days when at twenty-two he had visited the old farm and had made a new world for little Jessica of fifteen. He had seemed wonderful to her then, and he was still wonderful, with his frank, kind ways and his pleasant manner. But now he was a man of the world, and he might marry almost any of the beautiful women of his set.

Again she fingered the valentine. Why not send it?

And even while she hesitated into the balcony waiting room came Aunt Theodora, escorted by a tall young man with a frank smile.

"Where has that child gone?" Aunt Theodora said blankly to her stepson. "I told her not to stir. You'll have to go and look for her, Bob. I'm dead tired. It's lucky I met you."

"We'll wait a minute," he advised. "She can't have gone far."

And even as he spoke Jessica hove in sight, eyes shining, her cheeks as red as roses and in her hand a paper package.

"By Jove, she's a charming little thing," said Cousin Bob, noting with appreciation the ripple of her hair, the delicate oval of her face above her soft gray furs, the becomingness of the violets in her hat.

Aunt Theodora looked at him reproachfully.

"Well, have you just discovered her attractions?" she asked. "I brought her down here because she is the sweetest little gentlewoman I have ever met, and I wanted to show you another type from the gay young ladies that you meet in society. And you have hardly noticed her."

Cousin Bob laughed.

"You're a matchmaker," he teased. "Do you really want me to marry Jessica?"

Aunt Theodora looked at him scornfully. "I love you both," she said, "and I'd like to leave my money to both of you. But you've been so slow making up your mind that some one may have got in ahead of you."

"Oh," began Cousin Bob. And just then Jessica joined them, and Cousin Bob insisted on taking them to a wonderful restaurant, where they had lunch to the sound of music played amid the palms, and he was so devoted that Jessica's heart beat high.

The week that followed was full of delights and of attentions from Cousin Bob, and it was on St. Valentine's eve that Aunt Theodora came into Jessica's room and found that young lady in a pink dressing gown braiding her shining hair.

Aunt Theodora was in gray flannel, and her hair was in crimping pins.

"Jessica," she said solemnly as she sank into a big chair, "if Bob proposes to you, don't accept him the first time he asks."

Jessica stared at her.

"Oh, Aunt Theodora," she stammered. "Cousin Bob isn't a bit in love with me."

Aunt Theodora sniffed.

"Well, he has reached a condition very much like it," she informed her niece. "It doesn't take Bob very long to make up his mind, and he has known you for years. But I know him, and he'll value your love if you don't let him see it too easily."

And then she went away, while Jessica sat like a crumpled rose leaf on the foot of the bed and wept.

For that afternoon she had mailed the lace valentine to Cousin Bob. And now if he should discover that she had sent it and should despise her for showing her real feeling!

She made up her mind that he should not find out, and then she went to bed to sleep fitfully, but through her troubled dreams ran the comforting hope that Cousin Bob really loved her.

It was a pale little Jessica who came down to the breakfast table the next morning. Aunt Theodora was not there, but Cousin Bob was. He was opening his mail, and to hide her agitation Jessica began to open hers. On top was a great box, and within was a bunch of violets and two fragrant American Beauties, and on a card was written in Cousin Bob's familiar writing:

Roses red, and violets blue,
My heart to you is ever true.

She looked up, and her eyes met his. In his hand he held the valentine she had sent. But his eyes were not dancing. There was in them instead a very tender light.

"Jessica," he said softly—"Jessica, did you send me this?"

Remembering Aunt Theodora's warning, she tried to say "No," but she was a truthful little thing.

"Yes," she whispered and bent over her flowers. Then she explained elaborately: "But of course valentines don't mean anything. Everybody sends lots of them."

The brightness went out of his face.

"I sent only one," he stated sternly. "The roses and the violets spoke to me of you, Jessica, and took me back to the verses I sent you when I was a little lad. And I meant every word of it. Will you marry me, Jessica?"

The proposal came so suddenly that it found her all unprepared. Her heart pounded madly. She forgot Aunt Theodora. She forgot everything but that he loved her.

"Yes," she whispered as she heard her aunt's step upon the stairs.

"And the beauty of it," was the way Cousin Bob upset Aunt Theodora's fine theories when that night he told her of their engagement, "was her girlishness. A woman of the world would have held me off, but it was her sweet surrender that won me. I was sure she loved me from the first."

The Taste of Tin.

A man may live in the city and buy a squash and eat it. That is all he can do with a boughten squash, for a squash that he cannot raise he cannot store or take delight in outside of pie. And can a man live where his garden is a grocery, his storehouse a grocery, his bins, cribs, mows and attics so many pasteboard boxes, bottles and tin cans. Tinned squash in pie may taste like any squash pie, but it is no longer squash. And is a squash nothing if not pie? Oh, but he gets a lithograph squash upon the can to show him how the pulp looked or God made it. This is a sop to his higher sensibilities. It is a commercial reminder, too, that life even in the city should be more than pie. It is also the commercial way of preserving the flavor of the canned squash, else he would not know whether he were eating squash or pumpkin or sweet potato. But, then, it makes little difference. All things taste the same in the city—all taste of tin.—Dallas Lore Sharp in Atlantic.

Buying Books.

A library is something more than a collection of books. An imposing array of sumptuous and untouched volumes does not make one. Your books should express your own individuality, says a writer in the Delineator. Do not let any one persuade you to buy a book you know is not your kind of book. Do not be lured into buying a handsome library edition of some author that you do want if the library edition is heavy and uncomfortable to hold and your own preference is a comfortable pocket edition with flexible covers. And, above all, if you are building up a home library to which the whole family is to have free access do not choose bindings of such delicate colors or expensive texture as to destroy all the comforts of reading.

Two Views.

"I suppose," said the young statesman, "that the first thing I want to do is to learn to say exactly what I mean."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "and after that you may find it necessary to say exactly what you don't mean."—Washington Star.

HANDED OUT 115 YEARS.

Three Italians Receive Heavy Sentences at Montreal.

Montreal, April 22.—Yesterday was sentence day in the court of King's Bench. Seventeen prisoners received 115 years among them.

The three heaviest sentences were handed out to Italians, who were arrested during the past month for murderous assaults.

Fortunato Plutino got 19 years for attempted murder on two charges of assault with intent to kill.

Geolino Fazari got 15 years for attempted murder.

Antonio Carboni got 12 years for attempted murder and assault.

Thomas Hudson got ten years for shop-breaking, and his side partner, John Brown, seven years. Other sentences ranged from four years to one year.

In passing sentence Justice Lavergne said:

"For the last year or so crime seems to have become epidemic among Italians of the lower classes. Men with the worst of records in the old country invade our shores and lead here a life of crime. Examples should be made so that the others will not want to do likewise. I could sentence the prisoners for life. One of them has shot at five men, wounding four, and there is no doubt that he intended to kill."

TORN BY A TORPEDO.

German's Curiosity Caused Him Painful Wounds at Alberta.

Medicine Hat, Alta., April 22.—At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon Jacob Wenner, a German, reached Irvine and reported at first that he had been shot. Later, he stated that he had heard an explosion along the track, though he saw none. He had remained unconscious for a while, and found himself in the middle of the track when he came round. He walked into Irvine, though his hands and legs were badly shattered, and a piece of metal had entered his body over the heart. The police concluded that it could not be a bullet wound, because of the nature of the injuries, and conjectured that Wenner had found a C.P.R. torpedo.

Roumania For Roumanians.

Bucharest, Roumania, April 22.—The Roumanian Government has laid before the Chamber of Deputies a bill directed against the petroleum combine. This action is a result of the agitation against the Standard Oil Co., which the Roumanian oil dealers have carried on for some time past. Several municipalities in which the Standard company has attempted to establish oil tanks, have made regulations particularly with regard to taxes which have rendered it practically impossible for the Roumanians to conduct business, Minister of Finance Costinescu, speaking in the Chamber in behalf of the proposed measure, said amid unanimous applause:

"The Americans say America for the Americans, we will say Roumania for the Roumanians."

Strikers In Court.

Brantford, April 22.—The Police Court was crowded with striking moulders yesterday, when Roxy Farrell, one of the strikebreakers employed at the Buck Stove Works, who was arrested Monday night following the clash between union and non-union factions, was arraigned on the charge of assaulting George Batyne, the union moulder who lies at the hospital with a broken cheekbone and nose.

The injured man was unable to appear, and the case was adjourned until Tuesday, Farrell being released on $100 bail, furnished by the Buck company.

Barge Juno Ashore.

Windsor, April 22.—During a thick fog the steam barge Juno, bound for Pelee Island for stone, ran ashore in five feet of water. Her bottom was injured and she filled with water. A tug carried divers and steam pumps to the scene, and she was pumped out and has been taken to the dry-dock of the Toledo Shipbuilding Co. The bottom planking is damaged, and quite a job of repairs must be done.

The Juno was sold earlier this year by J. Pulling & Co. of Windsor to Haney & Miller, Toronto, marine contractors.

Strikers Fire on Car.

Pensacola, Fla., April 22.—The street car strike situation here took a serious turn yesterday, when a number of strikers attacked a car about five miles out of the city limits and fired a fusillade from rifles. The conductor was wounded, three bullets striking and seriously injuring him. The motorman was not hurt.

Street Cars Run Empty.

Chester, Pa., April 22.—Carrying no passengers, cars manned by non-union men were running yesterday on all of the lines of the Chester Traction Co., the employes of which have been on strike for more than a week. The cars are not accompanied by delegates of the state police, as the strikers and their sympathizers are not molesting the crews. The strikers are advocating a boycott and some of them have busses in operation in competition with the company.

King and Queen In Denmark.

Copenhagen, April 22.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived here yesterday from London on a visit to the Danish royal family. They were welcomed by King Frederick and Queen Louise, the diplomatic corps and the civil and military dignitaries.

The streets through which Their Majesties drove to the palace were gaily decorated and crowded with people.

Dynamite Kills Four.

Heber, Ark., April 22.—A premature explosion of 1,000 pounds of blasting powder and several cases of dynamite at Burke's construction camp, six miles west, resulted in the instant death of four Italian laborers and the serious injury of a score of others.

About 75 men were working in the cut at the time.

Niagara Legislation.

Washington, D.C., April 22.—It is practically assured that there will be no legislation during the present session of Congress affecting the waters of the Niagara River. Some time ago it was intimated that the whole question was to remain in abeyance pending negotiations between this Government and that of Canada.

Since then the subject was referred to a joint commission and it has been the subject of negotiations between the two countries for the past two months. But international affairs of this character are conducted with proverbial slowness and in spite of the desire of those most interested to have the question of the amount of water which may be diverted definitely settled before the adjournment of Congress there is no probability that such a consummation will be reached.

In consequence the committee on rivers and harbors of the House, which has the subject in charge has given up the idea of securing any legislation whatever on this problem before the convening of the next session of Congress in December.

Judgment Was Reserved.

Chatham, April 22.—Thomas Bissell of Dover, aged 17, faced Judge Houston yesterday morning on a serious charge, brought against him by the parents of a girl under 14 years of age, who claimed she had been wronged by him. On account of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case, judgment was reserved until May 28.

Samuel Eagleson, aged 46, who employed Bissell, came in for a severe censure from the court. It seems that Eagleson had been in the habit of telling the boy of his own escapades and gallantries, and the judge blamed him for putting evil ideas in the young man's head.

Shot at Cabrera.

Washington, April 22.—Through United States Ambassador Thompson, at the City of Mexico, the State Department was informed yesterday of the attempt on the life of President Cabrera, in Guatemala City, as he was going to the National Palace to receive United States Minister Heinke.

While the President was entering the palace several shots were fired and one of them hit the President in the finger. The country is tranquil.

Would Increase Freight Rates.

New York, April 22.—That railroad freight rates should be increased was the consensus of opinion at a conference of the presidents of nearly all of the eastern trunk lines held at the office of the Trunk Line Association Monday.

No final action was taken in the matter, which will be further considered by the individual roads.

George Baer, president of the Reading road, presided at yesterday's conference.

Fined For Duck Shooting.

Bowmanville, April 23.—Arthur B. Werry and Blake O'Kee, two well-to-do farmers of South Darlington, appeared before Magistrate William Horsey yesterday, charegd with shooting ducks out of season at the marsh on shores of Lake Ontario. They were fined $18.75.

Who Is the Bigamist?

Kingston, April 22.—Magistrate Farrell has received an anonymous letter from a citizen, who claims that Kingston has a bigamist. Names are mentioned, but the magistrate says that nothing can be done unless the facts are placed before him or the crown attorney.

List of Dead Grows.

The Red Haired Divinity Student

An Easter Story by Olive Harper.

ALL New Yorkers know the General Theological seminary in Chelsea square, with its old and weather beaten buildings covered with ivy, its trees, its well kept lawn and pleasant paths. Here three times a day those who dwell in the houses opposite may see the students in their caps and gowns marching back and forth from one building to another, their bright young faces a pleasant sight.

Every morning of the year save one the chimes in the chapel tower ring out some old familiar hymn, and the young men gather by twos and threes at the open chapel doors and enter.

Facing this chapel, on the lower side of Twentieth street, are pretentious private houses built by people whose names are well known to old New Yorkers. One of these houses was occupied by a retired merchant, his wife and their niece, whom they had adopted. The seminary was a great delight to Ada Barnes, and she loved to listen to the chimes which seemed to her to shed a benediction on the day before her or a blessing on the day just done. Everything else about the college as seen from her window interested her, but unknown even to herself she was particularly interested in one of the students.

This young man was in his fourth year and expected to receive his diploma on commencement day in June. It was early spring now. Harvey Beach was his name. Had not the mortarboard betrayed him for a divinity student no one would have thought him serious enough for such a calling, for his red head and rosy face were seen bobbing about in play while the other students walked sedately to and fro from the class rooms, dormitories and refectory. Ada could not help watching the overflow of his exuberant spirits. She saw that when the little children of the neighborhood went into the grounds to play he always stopped to talk to them and often stood until the last stroke of the bell turning the rope for the little girls to jump.

She saw him stop always on his return from the refectory to feed a homeless yellow cat which slept cuddled among the vines by the chapel. He brought food in a scrap of paper, and after petting the cat he would turn and literally jump up and down and dart back and forth over the lawn.

Health, abounding and splendid, shone in his face, while his whole tall form was instinct with bodily strength. The light of kindness, mingled with fun, twinkled in his blue eyes.

Ada met him in a neighboring drug store, where he was bandaging the foot of a little wounded dog. She almost dared to speak to him and ask him to let her help him, for had she not graduated in "first aid to the injured?" But she did not.

This little episode seemed to make the unknown student a reality to Ada. Heretofore he had been interesting, but only as a part of the college life opposite. Now the young man became an entity to her—an individual. As women do, she set him up as a modern Sir Galahad. He was knight of the cheerful countenance to her. But she drew the line at the roots of his very red hair and carefully refrained from thinking of that at all. Harvey was undeniably ugly, with no redeeming feature but his white teeth and merry blue eyes.

Harvey, too, had found his thoughts wandering to the young girl with the soft brown eyes and tender, quivering lips who had been so sympathetic while he was caring for the wounded dog and who was yet too shy and maidenly to speak to a stranger even under the circumstances. The vision of the sweet girlish face showed often between him and his books as he tried to study. Instead of Greek roots he saw pity and goodness shining in a pair of brown eyes, and dark hair blotted out the letters on the page.

The one day in the year when the chimes do not ring at 7 o'clock in the morning is Easter Sunday. It was still dark on Easter morning when Ada heard strains of music, a silvery cornet and voices, sweet, far away, yet so clear and penetrating that she awoke fully and sat up, straining her ears to hear the sound. She raised her window to hear it better and to locate it. There was a sleety, drizzling rain falling, driven by an icy wind. Wrapping herself up, Ada listened, and again there rang out the triumphant melody with many men's voices supported by the cornet. "He is risen; he is risen," she could hear and knew it for the Easter anthem. The voices were so far away they seemed to come from the very clouds. A sense of awe fell upon her when the faint light of a stormy daybreak touched the turreted roof of the steeple to the chapel where she had so often looked when the chimes rang out.

At first she saw but a confused mass of moving objects, but with her field-glass she discovered that the curious sights up there were men with umbrellas raised. The cornetist was Harvey Beach. She saw his red hair by the first gleams of light.

The singers faced to the four points of the world, singing their joyful tidings from the top of the square tower. It was beautiful—almost sublime.

Ada felt her heart swell with the sense of the grandeur and mystery of it and kept her eyes fixed upon the dim outline of the tower following the beacon of the bare head of Harvey as he moved about with the others, facing the east, north, south and west. Clear and sweet and penetrating was the cornet solo which preceded the last triumphant chorus. It stirred to the depths of the young listener's heart. With bated breath Ada stood there when a ray of sunlight broke through a cloud and touched the top of the tower. Then the song ceased, and in a minute every one of the singers had disappeared.

Ada felt like one in a dream all day. She was lifted above everything earthly and to a higher spiritual plane.

That afternoon Harvey was taken suddenly ill with acute pleurisy, the result of his exposure on the tower to the rain and sleet.

Ada had been out for a walk, had seen the unconscious man carried away in an ambulance and had made a mental note of the hospital to which it belonged. How glad Ada felt as she remembered her active membership in the Flower mission! Every summer she had carried flowers to the different hospitals. This was April, but there were florists. With a great armful of fragrant blossoms Ada went to the hospital and found no difficulty in seeing the patient.

The doctor told her he was extremely ill. "But," he added, "with his fine constitution and splendid vitality he ought to pull through."

So every morning Ada went with the flowers and saw the sick man. He did not know her, but there came a day when he knew things again, and yet he thought he was dreaming when he saw the wistful brown eyes looking into his with pity and sympathy.

The Flower mission kept up its activity until the patient could be taken back to the college, where in the warm spring sunshine he was soon himself again and studying with all his strength to make up for lost time.

During those days when his life hung in the balance the boy and girl learned to read their own hearts and that of each other, but no word of love had passed between them. But Ada looked out at the students as they went back and forth, seeing now but the blithe upturned face under the gleaming red hair, which set all her dimples to work and made her happy all day. He in turn took the vision of a sweet face back to his lessons with him.

Ada's family took to worshiping in the college chapel every Sunday, but they had no idea of the real state of things.

Then commencement day came, with its imposing ceremonies and the presence of the high dignitaries of the church in splendid vestments and many guests whose sons or other relatives were to receive their diplomas to enter the service of the Master.

Ada in her prettiest gown was there early with her aunt and uncle. Harvey wandered restlessly about, making no sign of acquaintance with Ada, but when the precious piece of parchment was in his hands he hesitated no longer and went straight to Ada without a word, but with his emotion showing in his trembling hands and quivering features he handed her the diploma.

Ada understood. She could scarcely speak the words to make them all acquainted. Her sweet and gentle beauty glowed with a joy beyond the power of words. Her aunt, too, understood and drew her toward home, while the uncle took the strong arm held out to him, and all four went across the street together.

On Trail of Husband.

Welland, April 22.—Mrs. Arthur Dewey of Toronto has returned to her home after an ineffectual patrol of Welland in search of her husband. She, however, has had the satisfaction of leaving a summons from Magistrate Burgar in the hands of Chief Jones, charging desertion.

Building a War Vessel.

Washington, April 23.—A United States war vessel will be sent to Venezuelan waters, but her mission is to be an entirely peaceful one. The closing of the port of La Guaira because of the existence of what is believed to be bubonic plague there, has made it necessary for the American State Department to have at hand some vessel to be used as a despatch boat by Minister Russell in sending messages to Curacoa or Port of Spain.

Chateau Basin Fire.

Montreal, April 23.—Fire at Chateaugay Basin yesterday morning caused a loss estimated at $20,000. Sampson's Hotel, a large wooden structure, took fire from a defective chimney and was destroyed.

Anne's Way of Winning.

By MARTHA COBB SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Jessie Morgan.

Young Mrs. Maxwell was in tears. All her happy plans were overturned, and just because a faithless maid had failed to put in an appearance. It was only history—domestic history—repeating itself, but Mrs. Maxwell was too newly married to look upon the misfortune in the light of anything but a purely personal affliction.

Her husband found her disconsolately stirring the cereal for breakfast, while the hot tears ran unheeded down her flushed cheeks.

"Aren't you afraid the oatmeal will be a little too salty, sweetheart?" he asked jovially, at the same time kissing away a few of the salty drops from her eyelids.

"How can you joke, Bob?" she gasped between sobs that now burst out afresh. "She—she didn't come."

"Who? Bridget? Well, never mind, dearest; that's a trick they all play. I don't care what we have for breakfast."

"But Mr. Cabot does. Is he up yet?"

"Not Jack! He sleeps and sleeps on Sunday mornings. And he won't care if we skip breakfast altogether. You don't know him as well as I do, Norah. You see, I roomed with him two years when I was a—bachelor. He's the best natured fellow living—present company excepted. If he wasn't I would never have consented to this three cornered loving cup. Here, hand me a spoon, dear! I'll make the coffee."

The "three cornered loving cup" was an arrangement by which the Maxwells had agreed to let Bob's chum, Jack Cabot, share their cozy apartment and take breakfast with them, thus giving them the pleasure of using his piano and the luxury of keeping a maid. It had seemed the rosiest scheme imaginable, but behold it, on the very first morning after Jack's arrival, shattered discouragingly!

In the midst of Bob and Norah's joint preparations for breakfast the doorbell rang unexpectedly.

"She's come!" exclaimed Norah triumphantly as she rushed breathlessly to the door. Bob stood on the kitchen threshold, listening.

"Oh, it's you!" he heard Norah say in a tone of unmistakable disappointment.

"Well, is that all the welcome I get?" responded a cheery young voice.

"I thought you were the cook," was Norah's half apologetic, half laughing reply.

"Hello, Anne Morris!" called Bob hospitably from the kitchen. "Stay and have breakfast with us."

"Breakfast!" returned Anne, pretending to be shocked. "You lazy, lazy people! Why, I'm out for my morning constitutional. Boarder arrived?" she asked mischievously.

"Oh, yes," answered Norah resignedly. "Mr. Cabot's here, of course, but not a sign of the cook."

"Look here," suggested Anne suddenly. "I'm a dandy cook and engage to get your breakfast on the spot." And without waiting for approval or invitation she began to toss off her coat and hat.

"Oh, dear!" said Norah flutteringly. "Mr. Cabot is coming. I heard his door open. Hurry, Anne!"

Once in the kitchen Anne rolled up her shirt waist sleeves and arrayed herself in one of Norah's comprehensive gingham aprons.

"Now, you both skiddoo!" she commanded. "Just leave everything to me. The idea of a bride and groom getting breakfast for a boarder!"

Norah's greeting to "the boarder" when she reached the living room was most cordial.

"Good morning, Mr. Cabot. You slept well apparently. Bob and I have been up this long time."

"I hope you didn't keep breakfast waiting, Mrs. Maxwell. Did your maid put in an early appearance?"

"No; she didn't come—come as early as I expected. But breakfast is ready now."

Anne, becomingly decked in frilly cap and apron, served the grape fruit irreproachably. When she had left the dining room Bob cleared his throat and ventured a comment.

"Fairly good looking, isn't she?"

Jack looked up absentmindedly from his paper. "Mrs. Maxwell?" he inquired. "Of course, Bob; of course!"

"I was speaking of the maid," Bob corrected, his tone indicative of wounded feelings.

"Oh, I didn't notice. Will be more observing next time."

And he was. In fact, so observing was he that Anna became quite embarrassed, and Bob and Norah with difficulty kept their faces straight.

"She's a peach, Mrs. Maxwell!" Jack exclaimed after Anne's second disappearance. "Where did you find her? She seems decidedly above the ordinary type."

"Oh, she first dropped in," replied Norah casually, "and asked for the place."

"Well, you've got treasure. I hope she won't prove too cocky for her position."

Breakfast over, the men lingered at the table to smoke and read their papers, Anne meanwhile clearing away the dishes. When a second time Jack came up and caught Bob smiling at waitress in an outrageously flirtatious manner, he could stand it no longer.

"Bob," he remonstrated as soon as Anne was out of sight, "this will never do in the world. Why, old man, you can't keep a servant at all if you condescend to flirt with her. What under the canopy are you thinking about?"

"I'll reform," promised Bob meekly. "I just thought if we jollied her along a bit perhaps she'd be more contented."

"That's a very weak bluff, Bob, and as the mental, moral and matrimonial adviser of this happy home I must insist on your ignoring the presence of the maid altogether."

"But you'll be making eyes at her yourself in less than a week," Bob retorted, "if we're fortunate enough to keep her that long."

Jack shrugged his shoulders.

"I might like to, but I have more discretion," he replied sententiously. "After all, we old bachelors are the steady ones."

On the other side of the dining room door, doubled up with laughter, stood Anne and Norah plotting the downfall of the "discreet bachelor."

"No; he just takes breakfast with us," whispered Norah.

"Then I'm coming over to wait on the table every morning," whispered Anne.

"You can't," objected Norah, "because on week days he breakfasts before we do. He has to start into town earlier than Bob does."

"So much the better," giggled Anne.

The arrangement worked out smoothly enough for the next three mornings. Jack and Anne got on capitally together, but all in quite a discreet and proper way of course.

On the fourth morning, however, as Anne tripped quietly out of the dining room after serving him, Jack looked up just in time to catch her reflection in the sideboard mirror as she, unconscious of this betrayal, blew him an audacious kiss from the tips of her fingers.

It gave Jack a thrill that somehow, for a little thing, upset the equilibrium of his workaday world to a most remarkable degree. Nevertheless on the following day, for reasons best known to herself, Anne chose to be haughty. She neglected to bring him his cream for his coffee and the sirup for his waffles. He was obliged to ring for her several times. Each time she was haughtier than the last, and once, through that same transparent go-between, he distinctly saw her make up a face at him. It was such a comical little face that he nearly laughed outright. But he checked himself and decided to try a course of discipline instead.

"Anne," he said, and his voice sounded almost stern, "I want you to dust the piano keys. You may do it now. They were so dusty last night it was agony to play on them."

Anne stared at him a moment in unconcealed astonishment, then flounced into the kitchen. The next moment she flaunted back again, ostentatiously flapping a dust cloth.

At the first awful discordant crash that followed close upon her disappearance Jack gritted his teeth and held on to his chair. At the second he got up and walked determinedly into the living room.

"If you could, be a little more careful," he suggested icily.

Anne shot him an inscrutable look from the corner of her eye, sat down after a flourish of the piano stool and began to dash off a Chopin waltz with a brilliancy of touch that left Jack speechless with astonishment.

After she had struck the last fortissimo chord she remained motionless, her hands resting on the keys.

Jack came toward her until he stood looking down upon her.

"Who are you?" he asked finally, "girl or witch or goddess?"

Anne covered her blushing cheeks with her hands.

Jack tried to take them down again, but she would not let him.

"It makes no difference who you are, Anne," he said at length huskily. "You need not tell me. All that matters is that I love you, and all that I want to know is do you"—

But Anne had run away from him. She ran straight into Norah, who was coming down the hall.

"Why, Anne Morris!" Norah exclaimed. "What is the matter?"

For answer Anne pulled off her miniature headgear and her ruffled apron and said laconically, "Introduce me."

Then Norah guessed and, holding Anne's hand in a tight little squeeze, went back with her to the living room.

"Mr. Cabot," she began dramatically, forgetting to say good morning, "I want you to know my very dear friend, Anne Morris. Anne, this is Mr. Jack Cabot, a bachelor friend of my husband's. Oh," she added, stooping just long enough to note the mingled consternation and joy upon Jack's countenance, "I just must go and tell Bob."

"Tell him what?" flashed Anne. But Norah had disappeared.

"Can't you guess?" pleaded Jack, holding out his arms to her. "Isn't it going to be true—what Norah tells Bob?"

"Don't you worry about that," laughed Jack. "But this time I'm going to get the kiss that I saw in the mirror."

Anne protested, but he got it.

Sixteenth Century Surgery.

Surgery in the sixteenth century was by no means the refined and gently humane science of the present day. Anaesthetics and antiseptics were unknown, and the operating theater was often just where the poor patient fell. In one of the many battles in which the fighting Duke of Guise engaged he was knocked down by an arrow from the enemy's ranks, which pierced his head between the nose and one of the eyes. Pare, the famous French surgeon, was on the field, and he immediately put his foot on the duke's face and drew the arrow out by sheer brute force. The operation inconvenienced the duke somewhat, but he survived it and lived to be assassinated.

The Spanish Stiletto.

The classic "navaja," without which no romance of Spanish life is conceivable and which, according to tradition, all the fair sisters of Carmen carry as well as their brethren, is doomed to disappear. The Spanish minister of the interior, Senor Laclerva, has just issued a decree forbidding the sale or the use of any pointed knife, dagger or stiletto having a blade longer than six inches.

EASTER EGG HINTS.

Some Funny Things Which May Be Made of Shells.

The torpedo boat that floats is sure to please the children. Blow out the contents of an egg by making a pinhole in both ends and blowing steadily in one. Make a hole in the middle of the side of an egg and pour in melted sealing wax and lead. Paint a row of portholes around the egg and glue on a bow and a stern cut from a cigar box or a shingle. The smokestack is made of black cardboard and the railing of wooden toothpicks glued on a circle of cardboard, which slips over the smokestack and is kept in place with a touch of glue. The American flag flies from a toothpick. If a needle is put into the bow, the boat can be drawn through the water by a magnet.

A more peaceable toy is the duck. Weight the shell and paint it to represent a duck. Cut head and tail of pasteboard, and after gluing firmly to the shell paint in colors.

For the little girl's doll house an eggshell cradle can be made. If the maker is skilled, it can be cut in one piece from the egg. Pasteboard rockers are glued on, and the cradle can be fitted with tiny mattress, pillow and spread. A penny doll, clad in its nighty, should repose beneath the covers.

A Chinaman penwiper is made by painting the face on an egg and by pasting on the back of the head a small round piece of brown muslin, through the center of which have been run three long strands of black cord. These, when braided, form the pigtail. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

EASTER AT BETHLEHEM.

Picturesque Services of the Pious Moravians of Pennsylvania.

Easter is celebrated in a very quaint manner among the Moravians dwelling in the United States of America. On Good Friday, in the afternoon, is held a crucifixion service. This solemn feature is made more realistic by the tolling of the great bell in the belfry of the church three times at 3 o'clock, indicative of the hour at which Christ was crucified.

About 2 o'clock on Easter Sunday morning the trombone choir starts out on a tour of the town. At each street corner quaint old German chorals are played. The object is to awaken the people and to inform them that it is time to be on their way to attend the early resurrection services in the church.

The Moravian church at Bethlehem, Pa., at the time of its erection in 1803 was the largest church in America. The services are started by the trombone choir stationed in the belfry. They play several selections, and then the church services begin. These consist of reading a brief litany and songs and last half an hour. The remaining part of the service takes place in the cemetery which adjoins the church. The services are so regulated that the procession reaches the center of the graveyard just as the sun rises if the day is clear. The graveyard services are simple and similar to those held in the church.—Leslie's Weekly.

EASTER FLOWERS.

How Florists Have Learned to Time Them to the Minute.

"One of the most interesting features of the florist's business is the timing of the blossoming of certain flowers to meet the requirements for church services on Easter," said one of the scientists of the United States agricultural department.

"So carefully have florists studied the system that by forcing the plants or retarding their growth by the withholding of water or sunshine they can calculate to a nicety the exact date, sometimes far in the future, upon which a certain plant will burst into blossom. Long experience in this line has enabled the florist in many instances to decorate a church with plants bearing buds the day prior to Easter and have them open their blossoms on Easter morning. To the uninitiated this statement may appear rather farfetched, but floriculture has been reduced to an exact science, which enables us to calculate the precise time required for the plant to blossom after it has put forth its first leaves. Naturally we have to make allowances for the condition of the plant upon which we are experimenting, but only in the case of unhealthy specimens are we ever more than a day out of the way."—Washington Star.

Easter Eve in Greece.

On Easter eve in Grecian cities the square and streets are thronged with people carrying unlighted candles and waiting for the midnight hour, when the watchman cries, "Christ is risen!" and lights a candle. Friend greets friend with the joyful tidings, "Christ is risen!" and the reply, "He is risen indeed!" is heard on every hand. Candle after candle flames out until squares and streets, windows and balconies, towers and housetops, are in a blaze of light. Church bells ring, and the high dignitaries come out carrying banners, while the priests chant over and over again, "Christ is risen from the dead," to which the people acclaim, "Christ is risen!" and for weeks after Easter this is a common greeting of peace and joy.—New York Tribune.

Pious Canute's Lenten Law.

Among the laws of Canute in England in 1032 hunting was forbidden on fast days and Sunday, and a strict observance of Lent was enjoined, the law quaintly reading, "If any one, by fighting, marrying, plundering or the commission of any other flagitious crime, shall violate the fast to be kept in Lent, he shall pay a double compensation."

NEW YORK'S EASTER EXPENSE

Millions Disbursed For Bonnets, Spring Raiment and Flowers.

Easter—Christian Easter—may or may not be of pagan origin, but certain it is that as now celebrated it has some pagan characteristics. Lavish display, which means lavish expenditure of money, is the most striking feature of the festival in New York. People who have never thought of this phase of Easter may be surprised to hear that the metropolis spends $9,000,000 at this season for clothes, flowers, presents and church contributions. And of course New York is not alone; it only leads in the "spring opening" business. Here is New York's Easter bill:

The Easter bonnet	$3,000,000
Easter gowns	2,750,000
Men's apparel	1,000,000
For dressing the children	500,000
Flowers	1,000,000
Candy and fancy boxes	250,000
Church contributions	250,000
Total	$8,750,000

These figures are based upon careful estimates of a large number of the leading milliners, dressmakers, tailors, haberdashers, florists and other storekeepers. The figures probably do not represent the actual proportions of the average New Yorker's material and spiritual interests, but there is the bald fact—out of nine millions spent in connection with the observance of Easter the church gets a thirty-seventh part. —Washington Star.

The Swan.

The common or mute swan (the latter is the correct name) is really an English bird, though it is better known, less rare and less expensive than the three American breeds, the whistling swan, the trumpeter and the whooping swan, named obviously for the peculiar note each sounds. American swans are less common than the mutes because of the fact that they will not breed in captivity and also because they are being killed in great numbers by hunters, especially by the Eskimos during the breeding season, when the birds fly far north. The swans molt early, before the newly hatched birds are able to take care of themselves, and it is a peculiarity of the molt that all of the wing feathers drop off almost at the same time, leaving the birds helpless. While the swans are in this condition the Eskimos slay them with clubs, and the destruction of one pair of adult birds of course means the death of a nestful of little ones.—St. Louis Republic.

Bloodhound Tracking.

The bloodhound does not necessarily follow blood. He hunts what is technically termed "the clean boot"—that is, the hound follows the trail of the hunted person without any adventitious aid, and it is the possession and gradual development of this particular quality which makes him so interesting a possession to the sportsman and renders bloodhound tracking a sport in which large parties can engage with all the pleasure of the chase.—Fry's Magazine.

Jack Horner Pies.

Jack Horner pies of all sizes are fashioned for Easter entertainments. A huge one is handsomely trimmed and decorated and filled with the four and twenty, not blackbirds, but downy little yellow chickens, each holding a ribbon in its beak, to which is attached some Easter favor. These pies are rather expensive when purchased at a shop, but would not be difficult to arrange at home, as the chickens can be bought by the dozen at various places where cotillon favors are sold. Some hostesses will use a pie filled with Easter eggs arranged in duplicate colors as a means of sorting partners. When the pie is opened each lady picks out an egg, and afterward it is handed around to each man, who must find his companion for the evening in the lady who has chosen an egg of the same color as the one selected by him. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

Easter Kisses.

The Saxons, and in fact all the Teutonic races, worshiped Easter and kept her feast day about the time of the spring equinox. Unbridled license was allowed on this occasion and jests of every kind played. Many of these survive, notably that practiced by the sturdy countrymen north of the Humber, who, during Easter, sally forth into the streets and claim a kiss or a silver sixpence from every woman they meet. Not long ago in the town of Bedlington, Northumberland, a coal miner was sued for kissing a woman on Easter. He pleaded the old custom and was immediately released.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Singular Egg Trick.

With a large decanter and a hard boiled egg a novel trick can be performed. The decanter, however, must be quite dry, and the egg must be shelled. First drop into the decanter a piece of lighted paper and as the flame dies out put one end of the egg into the neck of the decanter after the manner of a stopper. In a few minutes the air will cool in the decanter and contract in volume, when the superior pressure of the atmosphere will force the egg through the neck down into the decanter without breaking.

Real Skin Game.

"There goes a man who has been working a skin game all his life."

"Ever been arrested?"

"Nope."

"That's strange. What kind of a skin game does he work—shell game?"

"No, he is a tattoo artist."—Pittsburg Post.

BONUS QUESTION AGAIN BEFORE HOUSE

Mr. Monk's Resolution Again Before House of Commons.

POOR CLASS OF IMMIGRANTS

Mr. McIntyre Defends Government Policy—Member For South Perth Crosses Swords With Armand Lavergne — Bonus System Encourages Undesirables—Steamships Need Watching.

Ottawa, April 23.—The debate on Mr. Monk's resolution to abolish the bonus system in connection with Canada's immigration policy was continued yesterday and again adjourned.

Mr. Lalor was informed that the patronage committee of Dunnville had not nominated W. W. Kirk as inspector of the Port Maitland pier. Replying to Ralph Smith (Nanaimo) Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that six shipping companies doing business on the Pacific coast are receiving subsidies, including Canada and Mexico, $50,000 per annum; Victoria and Skagway, $17,500; Victoria and San Francisco, $3,000; Canada, China and Japan, $73,000; Canada and New Zealand, $50,000; Victoria and Coastwise, $100 per trip.

The Government was not aware that any of these encouraged the immigration of Orientals, but such a practice, if it existed would be deemed a violation of the Subsidy Act.

Mr. Monk was informed that of the 1,761 passengers who arrived at St. John, N.B., on the S.S. Montreal, April 5, 19 destined for Canada and 7 destined for the United States were rejected. How many of these would be deported was not yet known. Of the 1,714 destined for Canada, 443 were Bockowians, 961 Galicians and 116 returned Canadians.

Mr. Zimmerman drew attention to several alleged tariff anomalies. He wanted to know why coke, a manufactured article, was free, while coal was taxed; why binder twine makers could import coal free while gas producers had to pay a tax; why coal tar was free while coal for its manufacture was dutiable.

Mr. Fielding replied that it was necessary to consider the tariff as a whole and it would be obviously inconsistent to discuss isolated items.

Mr. Ames was informed that up to Nov. 1, 29,550,179 acres of land had been granted to railways in Manitoba and the Northwest. The total acreage given in homesteads pre-emptions was 31,513,990.

Mr. McIntyre (South Perth) resuming the debate on Mr. Monk's immigration amendment, expressed the hope that Mr. Oliver would carefully guard the inspection regulations, but he quite admitted that Canada had not yet arrived at the stage of her development where she could pick and choose. The best classes did not migrate to Canada. They were content with their cot on the other side of the Atlantic. Mr. McIntyre crossed swords with Armand Lavergne, who had contended that the immigrants who were being brought in by the Government were not of the class which would assimilate with the Canadian people. Mr. McIntyre reminded the House that the pioneers of this country were immigrants.

"But they were not Doukhobors," said Mr. Lavergne.

Mr. Paquet (L'Islet) declared that the present inspection regulations were sufficient if properly enforced, and he suggested that we should amplify our immigration laws by providing for fines on steamship companies for carrying tubercular and other contagious patients if it can be shown that they have omitted taking proper precautions. Our agents in Britain and France should be instructed to cover the rural districts for farm immigrants and he suggested that it would be much easier to repatriate the Canadians now resident in the United States and he would also induce industrial workers in the New England States to come back to our cities. Further Mr. Paquet urged the necessity of requiring the court record of immigrants. He strongly opposed the bonus system.

Dr. McIntyre (Strathcona) defended the bonus system on the ground that the west was only beginning to become settled. The west unanimously endorsed the immigration policy of the Government. He said if Canada had 80,000,000 people he would hold up both hands for the resolution, but at present we had great natural resources which had not been developed.

"Is it the proper thing," asked Mr. Monk, "to bring in the wrong people to develop the country?"

Mr. Robitaille (Liberal, Quebec), who supported the resolution, said the efforts had been made to convey the impression that the opponents of the immigration policy of the Government were anxious to retard the progress of the west.

The bonus system was one of the first causes of bringing in the undesirable element.

Farmer Burned To Death.

Dubuc, (Sask., April 23.—Michael Manton, a farmer eight miles north of this town, was burned to death yesterday while trying to save his cattle from a stable which had taken fire. He got bewildered while endeavoring to unite the halters and was unable to find his way out. Finally he crawled out, but his injuries were such that death occurred in a few hours.

Engineer Killed.

Roblin, Man., April 23.—A Canadian Northern locomotive, drawing a freight train, jumped the track in a cut and rolled over, crushing the engineer, Edward Rigger, to death. The fireman jumped and escaped without injury. Rigger was a single man.

Bishop Capers Dead.

Columbia, S.C., April 23.—Bishop Ellison Capers of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of South Carolina, died at his home in this city at 2.30 yesterday. Bishop Capers had been a brigadier-general in the Confederate army. He was 70 years of age.

WHO GAVE THE POISON IS A MYSTERY

Omer Rochette Charged With Wife Murder at Quebec.

ARSENIC FOUND IN BODY

Accused Man's Re-marriage Within a Few Days of Wife's Death Aroused Suspicion — Doctors Say Doses Were Taken in Small Quantities —Prisoner's Relatives Give Favorable Evidence For Him.

Quebec, April 23.—Evidence in the trial of Omer Rochette for the murder of his wife, Marie Plamondon, was taken in the Criminal Court here yesterday morning before Justice Cross of Montreal, replacing Judge Blanchet, who was taken ill a few days since. The case has aroused profound interest throughout the entire district, and yesterday morning the court room was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Rochette is accused of having administered arsenic to his wife and the evidence elicited at the coroner's inquest showed that doses of poison must have been taken into the system of the deceased in small quantities. The story of Rochette's marriage to a young French-Canadian girl 12 days after his first wife was buried, his subsequent trip to Chicago, followed by his arrest there and his return to Quebec has been told.

The only witness heard yesterday morning was Dr. Marois, who conducted the autopsy. He declared that he found sufficient poison in the stomach of the deceased to cause her death. He also found traces of arsenic in the brain and intestines, which went to show that the deadly drug had been absorbed by the deceased for several days at different intervals. He declared emphatically that he attributed the death of Rochette's wife to arsenical poisoning. J. N. Greenshields of Montreal is defending the accused.

Rochette, who is a young man of 28 years of age, is tall and fair, and evinces keen interest in the legal battle which his attorney is making to save his life.

The trial was continued in the afternoon. Dr. William Verge gave testimony as to being called on Oct. 26 to visit Mrs. Rochette, who was ill and made several subsequent visits up to Nov. 16, when she died. Dr. Verge told the prisoner at the time that the illness of Mrs. Rochette was probably due to eating canned food, as at that time he had no reason to suspect anything criminal. Mrs. Telesphore Rochette, sister-in-law of the prisoner, and his sister, Miss Valeda Rochette, were examined yesterday afternoon. Both testimonies were strongly in favor of the accused.

Bank Clerk Suicides.

Fergus, April 23.—Percy Perry, a clerk in the Bank of Toronto at Collingwood, shot himself to death in the lavatory of the Grand Trunk station here yesterday morning. He is 20 years of age and the son of Peter Perry, until last week principal of the high school at Waterdown, who recently accepted a position on the high school staff at Fergus.

The motive of the young man's rash act is shrouded in mystery. Until about a week ago he had been a clerk in the Victoria Harbor branch of the bank, and had been transferred to the Collingwood branch, under Manager Copeland. At Victoria Harbor he was popular and reliable. He was not eccentric, nor was there anything to indicate that he was in ill-health. His accounts are also said to be correct.

Unrest In C.P.R. Shops.

Ottawa, April 23.—There appears to be a feeling of dissatisfaction among the mechanical employes in the local shops of both the C.P.R. and the G.T.R. over the fact that the short hours are being continued and that some men are still being dismissed. The feeling of unrest, arising as it does concurrently with the protest meetings being held in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, would seem that a crisis was at hand.

Officials of both roads say they have received no intimation from the employes that there is any dissatisfaction, but the men express themselves as being put out at the continued short hours.

Traffic Fight to Finish.

Vancouver, April 23.—The fight between the Inland Navigation Co., a subsidiary corporation of the Alaska Steamship Co. and the C.P.R. over the passenger business between Victoria and Seattle is to be to a finish, according to instructions received from Montreal by the Vancouver officials of the latter company.

Practically the orders from headquarters of the C.P.R. are to stay with the game even if it leads to giving bonuses to people to travel on the Canadian Pacific boats.

Farmer Commits Suicide.

Smith's Fall, April 23.—In March Township, Carleton County, W. A. Younghusband, aged 70, a highly-respected farmer, took his life. His wife, going downstairs at 6 o'clock in the morning, found him dead on a sofa in the dining-room, and a gaping wound in his head with a rifle resting on his breast.

Burned Saving Furniture.

Minto, Man., April 23.—The residence of Edward Shaw, a farmer, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

Mrs. Shaw was badly burned in trying to save the household effects.

Schooner Blown Up.

Vancouver, April 23.—The gasoline fishing schooner Clara C. of Tacoma, was blown up off Cape Scott on Sunday night, and the crew of 11 men had barely time to escape in the dories with nothing but the clothes on their backs.

Capt. Hansen and his crew were picked up by the halibut fishing schooner Celestial Empire of this city, on her return from the north on Tuesday, and brought into New Westminster yesterday.

PASSING OF CAMPBELL BANNERMAN

Britain's Ex-Premier Died in London Yesterday Morning.

HEART TROUBLE THE CAUSE

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's Distinguished Career in Politics—Was Father of the Commons—Last Published Utterance Letter of Thanks to Scotch Friends —Wished a Quiet Funeral.

London, April 23.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former British Premier, died at 9.15 yesterday morning, at his official residence in Downing street, after a long illness. The end was peaceful. The cause of Sir Henry's death is officially given as heart failure.

In the death chamber when the ex-Premier breathed his last were his niece, Mrs. Campbell, who had acted as Sir Henry's hostess since the death of Lady Campbell-Bannerman, a little more than a year ago; Dr. Burnet, who was Mr. Campbell-Bannerman's personal physician, and who had been in constant attendance during his long illness, and Sir Henry's butler.

The ex-Premier had been unconscious most of the time during the last two or three days, and his sinking was gradual. A few hours before his death, telegrams were despatched to King Edward, who, with Queen Alexandra, is visiting the Danish royal family at Copenhagen; the Prince of Wales and the Cabinet Ministers. In the immediate vicinity newspaper reporters were keeping vigil before the house of the dying statesman, but the only news handed to them was in the form of a bulletin more than an hour after his death. A few minutes thereafter a crowd assembled in Downing street, but all persons were barred from approaching the house by a cordon of police from Scotland Yard, near by.

SIR H. CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's final illness dates from Feb. 12, when he last appeared in the House of Commons, and moved the closure of the Scottish land bills, although he had been ailing since Nov. 13, 1907, when he participated in an entertainment in honor of Emperor William at the Guildhall.

Few invalids have been the object of so much solicitude and attention as was bestowed upon Sir Henry, there having been a constant stream of callers at his Downing street residence, including King Edward, who visited him on two occasions; Queen Alexandra, the Dowager Empress of Russia, the Prince and Princess of Wales and many prominent men in public life.

Sir Henry's last published utterance was a warm letter of thanks to his Scottish friends, who presented him with a portrait of himself.

It is known that the ex-Premier was opposed to a public funeral, and it is believed that he will be buried without ostentation beside the body of his wife at Perthshire, Scotland.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman resigned the office of Prime Minister on April 5. He was born Sept. 7, 1836, the youngest son of the late Sir James Campbell of Stracathro, Forfarshire, once Lord Provost of Glasgow. He assumed the additional name under the will of his maternal uncle, the late Henry Bannerman of Hunton Court, Kent, who bequeathed to him a large estate. He attended Glasgow University and Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1860 he married Charlotte, daughter of Major-General Sir Charles Bruce. She died in 1906, and since then Sir Henry's decline in health may be dated.

For nearly forty years he sat for the same seat—the Stirling Burghs—and his record of office goes back to 1871, when he was Financial Secretray to the War Office, which post he held a second time, from 1880 to 1882. During the next two years he was Secretary to the Admiralty, and in 1884 he succeeded Sir George Trevelyan as Irish Secretary, filling that office ably until the fall of the Gladstone Ministry in 1885, in spite of the fact that the Irishmen described him as "the Scotch sand-bag." In the short Government of 1886 he was Secretary for War, and to that post he returned under the last Liberal Government. The Unionists suggested him as a candidate for the Speakership, to which Mr. Cully was appointed.

He was chosen leader of the Liberal opposition in succession to Sir William Harcourt in February, 1899.

On the resignation of Balfour Ministry in December, 1905, Sir Henry was summoned by the King and formed a Liberal Cabinet. The general election followed, and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman entered the new Parliament with the greatest majority ever given to a British Premier.

ENTRAPPED HER RIVAL.

Wife Kissed Good-Bye at Point of a Revolver.

Detroit, April 23.—"Deserted at the Altar," or how the girl who played the bride in that thriller of sobs and sighs had the same experience in real life, with the climax in Detroit, is the story of Agnes Mullen, actress, aged 21, of Montreal, Que.

Agnes fell into the clutches of the police Tuesday evening, the result of a clever trap set by the wife of the man, with whom she is alleged to have eloped from Toronto five months ago. The man in the case told her his name was Frank Creighton, but the wife says she married him in Buffalo eleven months ago, under the name of Frederick J. Watson.

Watson forced his wife to kiss him good-bye at the point of a revolver, she tells the police. Recently the wife's parents moved from Toronto to Detroit. Agnes was astonished one day last week to meet her husband on the street in company with a girl, and succeeded in worming his address out of him.

"I met Frank in Toronto five months ago," said Agnes. "He proposed marriage right away, but said the ceremony would be performed in the next town. He kept putting it off until I finally learned that he had a wife. Then he said he would never live with her; that he would get a divorce and we would get married. I had faith in him, but I guess he fooled his wife and me."

The wife's maiden name was Kittie Connor. She is an accomplished musician, having taken part in some of the big Toronto concerts. Her father is a contractor. The husband cannot be found by the police. Agnes was turned over to the immigration authorities, and will be deported to Montreal.

SISTER SUES BROTHER.

Says He Promised Her Not to Marry —Claims Damages.

Sandwich, Ont., April 23.—At the spring Assizes beginning next Tuesday, Justice Anglin will be called upon to decide whether a promise to not marry is binding.

A suit has been brought by Miss Susan Bradley against her brother, a Windsor man. Miss Bradley alleges that in 1895 she gave up a lucrative position in Toronto to become her brother's housekeeper and care for his motherless children upon his promise that he would not again marry, and that he would always provide her with a home. Mr. Bradley married a second time last January, and his sister sues for $6,000 damages, or, failing this, for a salary at the rate of $450 per year for 12 years.

The defence will claim that even if such a promise was made it would not be binding as it would be against public interest, and further, that Miss Bradley still lives in a house owned by her brother and that he still tries to provide her with all necessaries.

Prisoner Confessed Burglaries.

Ottawa, April 23.—A prisoner named Samuel Lester, an Ottawa man now under sentence in Toronto for burglary, has confessed that he was the perpetrator of a series of burglaries last summer and this winter in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Quebec. He has offered to come to Ottawa and reveal where he fenced jewelry to the amount of $4,000 and will be brought to the capital on April 29.

The Ottawa detective struck the trail by the arrest of a Hull jeweler, on whose premises much stolen valuables were found. The Hull prisoner admitted that Lester sold him the jewelry, and identified Lester's picture.

The Ottawa police have a letter from Lester, offering to tell where the proceeds of many thefts are located. The robberies were particularly daring ones, and the confession of Lester has aroused much interest.

Fined Striking Moulders.

Brantford, April 23.—Bruce Swart and Dominique Sestie, two striking moulders, were fined $10 each in the Police Court yesterday. They were charged with assaulting George P. Buck and endeavoring to prevent Mr. Buck from conveying into the shop a strike-breaker on Monday afternoon.

The offenders were in a gang who blocked the streets and were recognized as former employes. Mr. Buck succeeded in lashing his horse through the crowd amid a fusilade of missiles.

Magistrate Livingston intimates that more severe penalties would in future be inflicted if unions [illegible] issued to intimidate strike-breakers.

Mr. Connelly, of Brockville, is visiting friends in Hastings.

Mrs. Daly, of Oshawa, is visiting her sister in Hastings.

Mr. Frank O'Leary, who has been home from the West, returns on Wednesday.

The prevailing weather seems to go hand with the aged residents of Hastings, as several have passed away within the last few weeks. Mr. Charles Monday, an old resident of Hastings, passed away suddenly last Wednesday. His funeral took place on Saturday, to the Trent Valley Cemetery.

Mr. Thomas Bickey, of Toronto, was visiting friends in Hastings.

Many of the Hastings residents and the surrounding community, took advantage of the half fare, to make a call to the city.

Some of the farmers in the surrounding community have commenced their spring seeding.

The water in the Trent is very high this spring and the large masses of ice from the lake have given considerable trouble.

The syrup makers have been very successful this spring, and every person has received a liberal supply.

MISS DIXON'S PLAYING APPRECIATED

As Organist of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Stanabee.

St. Luke's Parish Magazine says; Miss Maud Dixon, who is the organist at St. Mark's church, deserves much credit for her nice playing every Sunday, and the readiness with which she accepted the position at the resignation of our esteemed friend, Mrs. Robert Scully, who for many years filled this office so readily. We appreciate Miss Dixon's help very much, since she, like her predecessors, does it without any remuneration.

TAKES OBJECTION TO LETTER

Bridgenorth Writer Says the Contribution of the "Busy Bee" is Astray.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In your paper a few weeks ago I noticed, and read with interest, an item entitled "The Labour Question in Bridgenorth." The article left the impression that Bridgenorth, its surroundings and citizens are of a useless, good for nothing sort.

So far as a picturesque place, Bridgenorth, as a village, has a reputation of its own, as I presume you are aware. As to the citizens of the lakeside burg, I think on the average, it can compare with any village, town or city in Canada, as it takes all kinds of people to make a world, and, because one does not think as another, is no reason why every person don't carry a "black-book." This seems to be the writer's blocker; wonder if he would be guilty of carrying a hymn-book to church, or if he ever goes?

The writer terms himself as the "Busy Bee." I fail to see any sweetness in his sentiment, and think he is a genuine specimen of "wasp." He surely got his ink at cost, and must have had little or nothing to occupy his time and attention, and nonsense must be his particular tact and talent.

Not "Did anybody see our cat?" but "Did anybody see our car?" So, on behalf of the "black-bookers," I extend to the "Busy Bee" their sympathy.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the short space in your column I have occupied.

As ever,

HOLSTEINS AS HIGH TESTERS

At the recent annual meeting of the Peterborough Cheese and Butter Makers' Association, a discussion on the tests of milk took place. Reference was made to tests of two certain lots of milk of a high percentage from Holstein cows. Mr. Ward, of Foxboro, inspector for this district, said it was seldom this breed of cow give such high tests, but added that he was aware of some tests from the Westwood and other factories which showed the very highest percentage of butter-fat from fine breeds of Holstein cows.

Kokomo Woman Gives Fortune
To Help Women Who Suffer.
In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women.
Sometime ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.
More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for awhile longer at least.
This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their own homes after doctors and other remedies failed.
It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumours or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause, or no matter of how long standing.
Every women sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now without delay, will receive by mail free of charge, a 50-cent box of this simple home remedy, also a book with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer and how they can easily cure themselves at home without the aid of a physician.
Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B Miller, 2,391 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

KNOWLEDGE NECESSARY TO START BUSINESS

Essentials in the Raising of Poultry—The Choosing of the Flock—General Purpose Fowls.

Canadian Dairyman

Knowledge is necessary before launching out in the poultry business on a large scale. Start with a few hens, study them and work up gradually. That is the surest method for success. But it is a long way from the beginning, to the point where the profits beg to accumulate on the right side of the accounts.

The first essential is to have a place to raise the poultry. Then a suitable building should be erected for the housing of the flock. Then the floor should be of earth, or better still filled in to the depth of six inches with coarse gravel. The building should face the south and have all the light it is possible to get into the pen on the south side, making the lower half of the windows of glass, and the upper half of simple factory cotton. The advantage of the cotton is in the fact that it is not only quite warm enough, even for the high combed varieties, but it is much drier than the house that is completely closed with glass. With such a house, fitted to suit the ideas of the poultryman and kept clean and sweet, the comfort of the flock is assured. More depends on that than may occur to the beginner who looks for success in handling poultry.

Next comes the stock to be used in the venture. The beginner has probably seen a few good flocks at the neighbors, or admired the birds seen at the fall fairs, but has had no means of discovering the good and bad qualities of any one particular breed. He is undecided what variety to secure. He must make up his mind whether he wants to cater to the egg trade, or the broiler and market poultry trade, or wants a combination of all these. If an egg farm is his ideal, then the choice will naturally fall on some Mediterranean breed, the "egg-machines." These give a wide choice, including all colors of the Leghorns, both rose and single comb, the Minorcas, and the English favorites, the Hamburgs. If a visit is paid to a winter poultry show, and a study made of these classes, it will soon be determined which of the breeds enumerated catch the fancy, and another step has been taken. He can then get in touch with a breeder of this class of stock.

If a general purpose fowl is wanted, then the choice will fall on some heavier sort, Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Asiatics, and French breeds will be examined. When the final choice has been made, and the stock procured, it is not time to sit down and let the hens begin to make you rich. The work is just starting. The advice of the writer is not to start in with a big outlay, but to spend a year getting acquainted with the needs of the flock, and the ways of making a few pay. Let the incubators alone for the first year, and let the hen show you how to hatch and care for the young chicks that are the nucleus of the future ranch. This year will give you a chance also to discover whether you are yourself adapted for a poultryman or not. If not, then you have no big investment to dispose of, perhaps at a sacrifice, and are nothing out except your time.

If you already have a flock of mongrels, or mixed stock, then the best way will be to get eggs and give them to one of your hens to hatch, securing them as early as possible in the season so as to have your next season's breeders well matured by fall, and ready to lay enough to pay their board bill when the snow is on the ground.

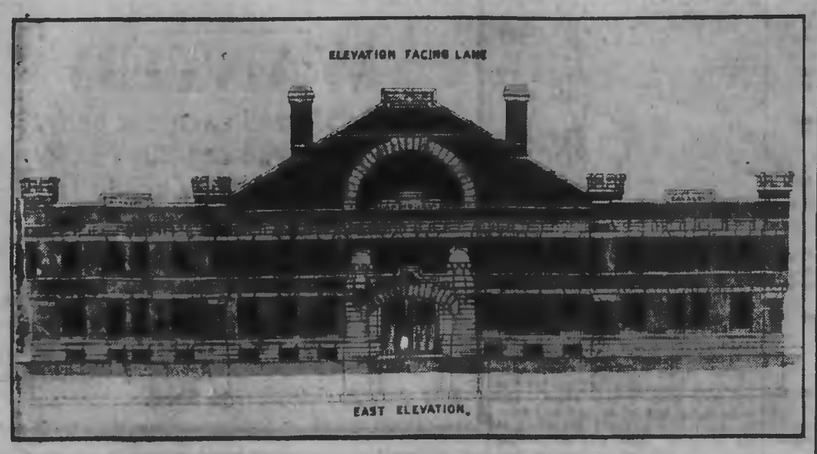
PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY APRIL 23 1908

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.



The Main Entrance of the new Peterborough Armouries, facing Central Park.

THE ARMOURIES' CORNER STONE WELL AND TRULY LAID BY SIR FREDERICK BORDEN, THE MINISTER OF MILITIA

Lowering Skies of Early Morning Cleared Away And The Military Ceremony Was a Grand Success--Immense Crowd of Peterborough Citizens and Soldiers Gather at Central Park For The Occasion.

Corner Stone Laid by the Hon. F. W. Borden K.C.M.G., Minister of Militia April 22nd, 1908.

"I declare this corner stone to be well and truly laid." Sir Frederick Borden.

A military triumph! Such was the expressed opinion of the large concourse that witnessed the ceremony of the laying of the corner-stone at the new Armouries yesterday afternoon. Favoured with spring weather of ideal warmth and sunshine, graced by the presence of the Minister of Militia, Sir Frederick Borden; of many officers of rank and of civilians prominent in the public eye; favoured, too, by the large assembly of citizens, the occasion was, indeed, appropriately celebrated. It was a tribute to the military of the city for the many laurels they have won in the past, and for the consequent honour they have brought upon themselves and Peterborough's fair name. The officers and men of the infantry, of the dragoons and of the battery must feel deeply gratified that the citizens showed such marked sympathy for their welfare by turning out en masse to attend a ceremony which begins a new era for the militia in Peterborough.

Troops Inspected

Prior to the laying of the corner-stone the men were inspected by Sir Frederick Borden in Central Park. The 57th Regiment and the 24th Field Battery saluted him as he arrived at the park, after which he made a brief inspection, assisted by Col. W D Gordon of Kingston, commanding Eastern Ontario. Sir Frederick was accompanied by a staff consisting of Col. Gordon, Col. Young, D.A.A.G., of Kingston; Col. McNaughton, Cobourg of the 10th Brigade, C.F.A., and Lt.-Col. Massey of Kingston.

The 57th Regiment, numbering 120 men, acted as a guard of honour to Sir Frederick. The officers in command of the guard were Capt. Mills, Capt. Hounsell, and Lieuts. Langford, Best and Carruthers. Those in charge of the colours were Lieuts. M. Comstock and F. Neal.

At the Armouries

At the conclusion of the inspection in the park the soldiers marched to the Armouries, where already the citizens had gathered in large numbers, and every point of vantage outside the guard line was occupied. Besides the regiment and its officers, the veterans of '66 to the number of thirty had a prominent position. With them were the men of the 24th Field Battery, under the command of Major T H W Young and Capt. W Ackerman. The 3rd Dragoons were represented by Major T J Johnston R Cleghorn and Capt. Medd.

The band of the 57th assisted in all the events of the day, rendering in its usual artistic manner appropriate music.

A canopied pavilion had been erected beside that part of the building where the corner-stone was to be laid. Those who occupied seats there-

SIR FREDERICK BORDEN, Minister of Militia, who Honoured Peterborough by his presence yesterday.

SPRINGVILLE MAN FOUND DEAD ON HIS CULTIVATOR IN A FIELD THIS MORNING

Lying dead on his cultivator in a field was the startling discovery made this morning of the body of David Smith, near Springville by a member of his family. He had gone out to prepare the field for the sowing of the spring crop, but the sudden summons of death prevented him from beginning his day's duty.

Apparently either heart failure or a paralytic stroke was the cause of his death, as he was found lying on the cultivator.

Mr. Smith was 46 years of age, and he is survived by a wife and one child. He was a son of the late Thomas Smith.

Mr. A. A. Goodfellow, 518 Water street, is a cousin of the deceased.

Cow Caught In Cracks Of The Railway Bridge Brings Assistance By Its Bawling

The bawling of a cow on the C. P. R. bridge yesterday afternoon caused several men, who were passing on George street, to come to its aid. They found that the cow's legs had been caught between the ties, and were dangling in the air. The cow was pinioned fast to the bridge and would likely have remained that way, had its bawling not been heard. Several men from the packing house came to the animal's assistance with ropes, and after some difficulty, extracted it from its dangerous position. How the cow came to get on the bridge is a mystery.

Walls Of The Peterborough Framing Building Collapsed At 9.30 O'clock This Morning

With a crash that could be heard blocks away, the old Peterborough Framery building, which has been lying idle for a considerable time, collapsed this morning about 9.30 o'clock, causing considerable excitement in that part of the city.

The building was an old brick structure, situated at the corner of Bethune and Dublin streets. It was owned by Mr. John Winslow, formerly manager of the Framery. The German Card Case Company, at the rear, was not touched in the collapse.

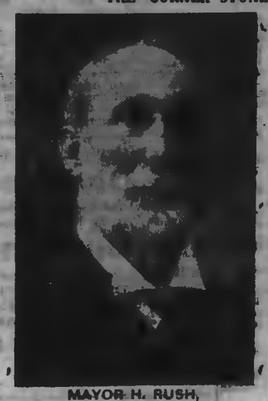
Only the roof and the north and south walls are left now. The west wall, in the collapse, fell towards the centre, and the east wall fell outward. It is supposed that frost got into the foundation and cracked the wall.

There Are One Thousand Dog Owners In The City And Only Forty-Two Have Secured Tags

By the way the dog tags have been issued it is evident there will be a large number of the citizens of the city summoned to appear in the police court after May 1. There are about one thousand owners of dogs in the city who will have to secure tags, and up until noon to-day only 42 of these had been taken out. The Chief, when interviewed to-day said that the licenses must be taken out during the next week, and those who failed to do so would be brought before the magistrate.

Citizens And Soldiers Honour Militia Minister Around Banquet Board

HE TOOK PART IN THE CEREMONY OF LAYING THE CORNER STONE



MAYOR H. RUSH, One of the speakers and Chairman of Citizens' Banquet to Sir Frederick Borden.

Excellent Address by the Guest of Honour on Canada's Greatness and on Her Military Situation.

MANY PATRIOTIC SPEECHES

It was a truly representative gathering of the various military organizations, and of Peterborough citizens, who assembled at the Oriental last night, to do honour to the visit of such a prominent personage as Sir Frederick Borden, K.C.M.G., Minister of Militia for the Dominion of Canada, and to honour the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of Peterborough's new Armouries. The spacious dining hall of the Oriental was beautifully decorated with flags and pennons, and several mottoes bearing the inscriptions "Welcome," "Health and Prosperity to All," and "Accept the Pleasures of the Hour," hung from the walls, and lent a military tinge to the pleasing function.

Among those present were officers of the 57th Regiment, the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, the 24th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, a number of prominent citizens, including representatives of the City Council, the Board of Trade and the Board of Education.

The toast of the evening—to Sir Frederick Borden—was most heartily received, and the honourable gentleman, in response, dealt eloquently with the trade and military situation in Canada to-day, eulogizing in glowing terms Canada's superiority over the country across the line, and Canada's patriotism to the Mother Country.

The various other addresses of the evening were also splendidly received. They were intermingled with songs, military and humourous, by Messrs. W. McIlroy, W. S. Davidson and John Crane, all of whom excelled themselves. The piano accompaniments were gracefully rendered by Miss Katie Graham, who also provided delightful music, while the company was engaged in the preliminary

COBOURG AGAIN IS FREE FROM THE SMALL-POX

MESSAGE COMES FROM CITY OF EDMONTON

Just as the corner stone of the Armouries was being laid by Sir Frederick Borden yesterday, a telegram was received by Lieut.-Col. Stevenson from Lieut.-Col. E. H. Edwards, of Edmonton, congratulating the colonel and the regiment, and expressing regret that he was unable to be present.

The Old Drill Shed Has Sheltered The Militia For 40 Years

Structure Was Built in 1866 by the Late Jas. L. Hughes, And There Have Been Many Changes Since That Time.

SOME INTERESTING HISTORY

In view of the ceremony connected with the laying of the corner-stone of the new Armouries yesterday, some information about the old drill shed which has done service for so long, and which will be abandoned on the completion of the new building, will be of interest. The passing of the old shed will not be regretted, either by the militia or the citizens generally, for it has practically outgrown its usefulness, and never had any claims to beauty, being an eye-sore to everyone.

However, it has one claim to distinction on the ground of long life. The shed was built in 1866 by the late Mr. James L. Hughes, and was one of a number of similar size and construction that were built in Ontario about that time. Whether the

Launches In Course Of Construction For The Summer's Sport

Peterborough Canoe Co. Building Pleasure Launches — Mr. T. Hooper Buys New Gasoline Launch— Family Launch For Col. H. C. Rogers.

THE SEASON'S OUTLOOK

Launch building is booming at the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory and some fine boats are under way that will be added to the fleet that ploughs the Otonabee, and others are being shipped out of the city. One of the boats that has just been begun is a large pleasure launch, 45 x 11 ft, that is being built for Col. J. Z. Rogers. In the fittings and equipment it will be of the house-boat variety, and will be divided into apartments which will make it a commodious family boat. Of course it is built on the lines of an ordinary launch and will have its own motive power.

Among the popular types of launches is a 29 footer with French stern. It is a new model and five have been recently built. The purchasers have expressed their pleasure

This morning about 8 o'clock, Edward White, Bolivar street, who claims to be Peterborough's youngest climber, of the Light and Power Company's staff, went to the top of the flag pole of the City Buildings to fasten a rope in the pulley for a new flag. The pole at the base is six inches in diameter, while at the top it only measures two inches. It is 90 feet from the ground.

Mr. H W Clarke, the secretary of the Peterborough Cricket Club, has received word from the Toronto Cricket Club, that they would like to arrange for a match in Peterborough in July. Needless to say, the challenge has been accepted.

Hurtubise Won On A Foul From Frank Kennedy Of New York

Eugene Hurtubise won last night's wrestling match in Toronto, with Frank Kennedy, of New York, getting the first and third falls, the last on a foul. The Globe has the following to say of the bout:

A large crowd witnessed the wrestling bouts at Mutual Street Rink last night. The main bout of the evening was between Eugene Hurtubise, of Peterborough, and Frank Kennedy, of New York. This was the most sensational bout ever witnessed in the city. Hurtubise, who is the ex-amateur heavyweight champion of Canada, made his first appearance as a professional. He secured the first fall in 49.47 minutes with a combination arm and stomach hold. Hurtubise was very aggressive, and was much stronger than Kennedy.

Kennedy got the second fall with a combination leg and shoulder hold in 18.45. Hurtubise had much the better of the second bout up till the fall was secured, but his opponent showed more knowledge of the fine points of the game.

In the third period, after the men had been on the mat a short time Kennedy secured a strangle hold, which he refused to break, though cautioned several times by Referee Art Edmonds. Inspector Cuddy and several outsiders entered the ring and separated the men. When the crowd became quieted Art Edmunds announced that Hurtubise had won on a foul. The winner was looked after by Jack Moriarity, who recently returned to the city. Charlie Conkle, who refereed the preliminary bouts, challenged the winner.

Hurtubise and Kennedy will come together in a match here on Wednesday night, of next week.

MAN LOSES MONEY IN BARLEY

A business venture of a man living at one of the C.P.R. stations between Peterborough and Toronto has proved a failure, as the following will show. He purchased 3,000 bus. of barley, paying from 80 to 83 cents. He has been holding it until now he cannot get over 60 cents per bus. The malting season is over by the first of May, hence the demand for barley is greatly diminished. It was simply a case of not taking the tide at the flood.

THE CORNER STONE WAS LAID.

CHEMONG BRIDGE IS IN DANGER

From the Inroads of Great Blocks Of Ice.

On account of the ice in Chemong Lake, gathered around the floating bridge, that structure is in danger of being swept away. Farmers coming from Ennismore and persons crossing from the Smith side do so at their own risk. It is expected, however, that the ice will disappear soon, and in that case the bridge can easily be readjusted to its proper position.

IMMIGRATION.

In the latest publication issued by the Dominion Department of the Interior, there is found in large type, conspicuously on the front page, the following:

"IMPORTANT! FARMERS, FARM LABOURERS, RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION MEN, ARE THE ONLY PEOPLE THE CANADIAN IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT ADVISES TO EMIGRATE TO CANADA. ALL OTHERS SHOULD GET DEFINITE ASSURANCE OF EMPLOYMENT BEFORE LEAVING HOME, AND HAVE MONEY ENOUGH TO SUPPORT THEM FOR A TIME IN CASE OF DISAPPOINTMENT."

This indicates that the Government is alive to its responsibility and has no desire to fill the country indiscriminately with an undesirable element of population. It is a definite expression of immigration policy which cannot be misunderstood, while at the same time it is a policy of aggressive immigration, with proper safeguards. As Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, pointed out in the House, the immigration policy of the Dominion Government is a policy of progress. This is in contrast to the policy of the little Canadians, who decry immigration altogether, and advocate a policy of retrogression. The Government pursues a policy of discriminating immigration, which aims to get only the best and exclude those who are not the best, as far as possible. The public should bear this in mind when they are compelled to listen to the cry of those Conservative journals and critics, who demand a cessation of the stream of population, which is the one great need of Canada for the peopling of its vacant acres, the development of its resources and the creation of enlarged demands upon the manufacturing and other commercial resources of older Canada. One policy—the true policy, is patriotic; the other is petty, and unworthy the aggressive spirit which animates Canada as a whole.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The brilliancy of Hon. Mr. Foster, when he was Finance Minister in the Conservative Government, is shown by the fact that during the last five years of his official tenure, he borrowed $5,000,000, to meet ordinary expenditure. There was no money in the treasury, the revenue was unequal to the expenditure, so that Mr. Foster had to go a-borrowing to meet household expenses.

The Ontario political situation is interesting. Up to a few weeks or almost a few days ago, the Whitney Government was, according to the Montreal Herald, getting along beautifully on the path of high moral rectitude, with the genial approval and sympathy of a large section of the Liberal press and the Liberal electorate. Then it occurred to its leaders that an election was imminent, and it proceeded to stack the cards. By its fear to trust the people and its desire to make things easy for its candidates it was led into a series of acts which have alienated the affections of all but its thick-and-thin supporters. The Redistribution Act, the guarantee of the Mackenzie bonds, the grant of $130,000 to a mining company with which it was in law only a few months previous, may have provided the Conservative party with the sinews and the strategical positions of war, but they have done more than that for the Liberals. They have given the Liberal party a strong fighting spirit and something very definite to fight.

DENY ARSON CHARGES.

Dreamers Take Stand and Tell of Strange Beliefs.

Medicine Hat, April 23.—In the Dreamers' trial, Emanuel, son of Christian Gill, and also a prisoner, was on the stand against Nieman and Merkel, Jr. He was closely examined as to his doing the night Lehr's house was burned, but stuck to the father's story, that he had returned from the hay field, gone to bed at 9.30 and never rose till the alarm of fire, given at 2 a.m. His mother had shot at Lehr's daughter. He had not shot or poisoned Lehr's dog, but had put out gopher poison. He never threatened to kill Lehr. He was a Dreamer and God would exterminate all others.

Jacob Merkel, Sr., and Almighty God were co-equal and when Merkel gave the word all others would be destroyed.

Justina Gill, mother of the last, was a careful witness. She either did not know or had forgotten nearly everything. She was a Dreamer, but would give no information about beliefs. Merkel was head of the church, because God in Isaiah 2 said so. She did not know if Lehr's name was mentioned by God in Jacob's letters, and refused to tell what was in them. The court had the letters and knew what was in them. She did not know if Lehr's name was discussed in the meeting. She had heard of dreams, but not at the meetings. She remembered the dream of Karl Otto, but had forgotten what it was about. She knew Lehr, but never had any trouble with him and did not shoot at his children. She was before the court, but did not know who sued her. She was fined for shooting at children. She had heard nothing of Emanuel cutting Michael Gill's fence. She knew he was taken to Lethbridge in connection with the affair, but had a poor memory and had forgotten all about it.

Mrs. Daniel Gill denied all knowledge of the Dreamers. She belonged to the congregation of the Children of God. It was the same church that Merkel belonged to. Dreams were never discussed at meetings. She never heard of any dreams. Lehr's name was never mentioned in the meeting. She had spoken to no one since the fire about the arrest of the men. The witness then acknowledged talking over the fire with Mrs. Christian and Mrs. Nieman.

MOIR NOT CAUGHT YET.

But Detectives Expect to Capture Him Very Shortly.

Stratford, April 23.—To all appearances William Moir, the slayer of Col.-Sergt. Harry Lloyd at Wolseley Barracks, London, has dropped completely out of sight, and despite the fact that clues galore have been collected, he is yet at liberty, and is thought to be wandering about some section of this county or the adjoining County of Oxford.

Three days have passed without definite word of his whereabouts, and last night the detectives on the chase are very much at sea.

Several times yesterday word came that Moir was seen in certain localities, but invariably the clue turned out to be a false one, or a case of mistaken identity. The latest word was received from St. Jacob's, when it was said a man answering Moir's description had been caught, and Detectives Nickle and Egleton left on the 4.30 train to look up the scent.

Two other detectives left earlier in the afternoon for Centralia, where a stranger, alleged to be in uniform, was seen strolling on the track. Moir has very effectively covered up his tracks, but with his facial disfigurement and other distinguishable marks he is certain to be apprehended before long.

Stole Butter From Cars.

Windsor, April 23.—For months past Pere Marquette officials have been trying to track down a gang of car robbers and have at last succeeded.

Lorne Stoneberg, Walter Morneau and Joseph Lesperance were yesterday convicted of stealing butter from a Pere Marquette car and were remanded for sentence.

They were employes of the C.P.R., and broke into a car while it was standing in the yards here. Several tubs of butter were stolen and the trio were arrested in trying to dispose of the same. Pere Marquette officials estimate the losses in the recent robberies at $1,200.

Bridge Collapsed; Broke Pipe.

Windsor, April 23.—Owing to the collapse of a bridge over M.C.R. tracks a water main supplying the west of the city broke yesterday and flooded the tracks to such an extent that traffic was blocked.

The bridge is a wooden structure and signs of collapse were noticed a week ago. One end was jacked up and further work on the new tunnel caused the breakage.

Rescued Shipwreck Crew.

London, April 23.—(C.A.P.)—The Dominion liner Turcoman rescued in mid-Atlantic the crew of 25 of the bark Bearnet-Bretague, bound for Canada and storm-wrecked.

The Marconi Co. intend duplicating the Irish-Canadian installation business, whereon the report states is increasing daily. An issue of $1,250,000 was proposed.

Female Bigamist Recaptured.

Cornwall, April 23.—Mrs. Mary Russell Mason, the alleged bigamist, formerly of Masena Springs, where she was arrested last fall, recently escaped from jail at Malone, N.Y. She was recaptured at St Agnes, near Dundee, and returned to Malone without the formality of extradition proceedings. The woman is in poor health and not very strong mentally.

Father and Son Cremated.

Osmond, Neb., April 23.—L. K. York and his son, Earl, were burned to death near here Tuesday. They took refuge in a hay stack during a thunderstorm. Lightning, which rendered them unconscious, started a fire which partly consumed their bodies.

Citizens' Welcome

Col. Stevenson, on behalf of the dragoons, the battery and the 57th Regiment, formally extended a hearty welcome to the large number of citizens present. It was a pleasure to see such a manifestation of sympathy on an occasion so important to the military—the laying of the corner-stone of their new Armouries. For twenty years this had been continually looked forward to, and to the militia therefore, it was not only a day of solemnity, but a day of gratification.

Col. Stevenson then gave a brief history of the militia in Peterborough. In 1837 a few men had answered a call to arms that had been sounded. In 1838 the 7th Provisional Battalion was formed. Twenty years later, in 1857, the Peterborough Rifle Brigade came into existence, and in 1863 the first infantry corps was formed. This was followed in 1866 by a second infantry corps. Finally, in 1867, the 57th Battalion was organized. A short time afterwards the drill shed was built, and within its walls the men had been trained and drilled, and from which they went forth, sometimes never more to return.

Gratitude Expressed

The occasion, Col. Stevenson said presented the opportunity of publicly thanking those through whose instrumentality the new Armouries had been made possible. Mayor Rush was thanked for the contribution which the city had made. In this respect, he said, Peterborough had done its duty. Mr. R. R. Hall was tendered a warm expression of gratitude for his zeal and efforts, to which Col. Stevenson said, the Armouries were in a large measure, due.

MR. GEO. A. PROCTOR,

In thanking Hon. Mr. Borden, he referred to him as "the friend of the militia of Canada." (Applause.) "We thank him," Col. Stevenson said, "for his appreciation of our needs, and for the magnificent manner in which he has met our demands. The fine military institutions that had been erected throughout the country under his administration would remain as lasting memorials to the ability and foresight of Sir Frederick Borden.

Mayor Rush was next called upon and spoke as follows:

This is an important occasion, not only in the history of Peterbrough, but it is not too much to say, that it is an important occasion for this district and the Dominion. It is in the interests of the Dominion that the Militia of Canada should be maintained as efficiently as our resources will allow, and every step taken to improve the Militia, especially in the district centres is an important one. In Peterborough we have a well organized and well equipped regiment, and also a field battery adn a squadron of cavalry, and these different branches are commanded by efficient officers who take a commendable pride in their work, and the ranks are filled by loyal citizens of the country. They should not only have respectable but roomy and comfortable quarters and we are all pleased that the Minister of the Crown at the head of the Militia Department, whom we are pleased to have with us to-day, and the Government of which he is a member, are now having erected a building suitable for the purpose of the local Militia. The old building which no doubt served the purpose at the time it was erected, no longer meets the requirements, and the erection of this new, commodious and handsome structure will show those who take an especial interest in the different arms of the Militia here that their efforts are appreciated by the Government and by the country.

When the war drum beats and the battle flag is unfurled, we are united in cheering the gallant men who risk and give their lives to defend our country and uphold the interests and the honour of the Empire, and I believe we are, just as much a unit in desiring that they shall have proper provision made for them in times of peace. We believe that Peterborough, being far enough removed from the border, and being in the centre of an important district with unexcelled railway conditions, and also on a line of navigation from the east to the west is admirably adapted for a military depot, and the erection of this building we look upon as the beginning of the concentration here of still more important military stores and commands.

On this occasion we unite in welcoming Sir Frederick Borden, the head of the Department of Militia and Defence for Canada and we wish continued success to the 57 Regiment, the 24th Field Battery and the gallant Dragoons.

Mr. R. R. Hall's Speech

Mr. R R Hall, M.P, thanked Col. Stevenson for the kind mention of his name in connection with the matter. It was fortunate that the Government provided Peterborough with Armouries suitable to the importance of Peterborough. He hoped they would inspire the young men to take a more active interest in military work, as there is no better educative influence than the discipline in the ranks. It was important that they should be handsome architectural designs since history has proven that noble structures contribute to the advancement of a people. Peterborough should be proud of this occasion and of the building which will not only be an ornament to the city, but an utility.

Corner Stone Laid

Rev. Canon Davidson, Chaplain of the 57th, offered a prayer, after which Col. Stevenson presented the Honourable Minister of Militia with a silver trowel as a memento of the laying of the corner stone of a structure which would be a credit to the country when completed.

With the assistance of Mr. A. Simpson, of Sarnia, contracting mason of the work, and Mr. A. Webb, the stone was placed on a layer of cement, after which Hon. Mr. Borden said: "I declare this corner stone to be well and truly laid."

Sir Frederick's Address

Turning to the people, he continued, "I wish to say at once, speaking for the headquarter's staff, which presides over this district, that in bestowing this magnificent building upon the garrison of Peterborough, the Government feels, and I, myself, feel that it is nothing more than that which is your due." Sir Frederick referred to a former visit to the city, 10 years ago, when he had the honour to present the medals which Queen Victoria had authorized to the Veterans of 1866. He did not see the drill shed then as it was right, but he assured his hearers that Mr. Hall would not have had the privilege of inaugurating the movement for the new Armouries, as he would have begun it then himself.

In 1825 Peterborough was scarcely in existence, but in 1837 it took an important part in upholding the Government of that day. The Honourable Minister stated that it was the duty of the Government to provide the soldiers with a home when in position to do so. He hoped the young men, for whose benefit the building was being constructed, would take advantage of the opportunities it will afford. He also expressed the earnest hope that they will make good use and never an improper one of the building. He had heard of things that were not creditable which might be groundless, and in the Peterborough Armouries he hoped no room would ever be used as a loafing room or for dissipation. All the advantages of the building will educate and elevate the young men.

Not Lavish Expenditure

Sir Frederick agreed with Mayor Rush, that some portion of the public's money should be used to defend ourselves if necessity should arise. The more the country develops and grows the duty becomes more important.

Some people are afraid the country is bordering on militarism, but this is groundless. "Who ever heard of militarism with an expenditure of only 80 cents per head?" Militarism, the Honourable Minister explained, means a standing army and compulsory drill. Canada has neither, except when an emergency might arise. Every young man, he said, should be proud of his heritage as belonging to the Empire. He should be proud to recognize the British flag, the synonym of freedom, equity and justice.

In conclusion Sir Frederick referred to the splendid service the Canadians rendered on the South African Veldt and urged the men to realize their responsibility in maintaining the integrity of the British Empire.

At the conclusion of this address three cheers and a tiger were given as one voice for the King and Sir Frederick Borden.

The Reception

The concluding reception that was held in the drill shed, after the ceremony at the Armouries, was a second triumph for the military. It is many a day since the old gloomy drill shed wore such a gala appearances, and it is almost an age since the Peterborough militia held a reception of yesterday's importance. Femininity follows the flag and the success of this social occasion was due in a large measure to the ladies, to the officers' wives who assisted in the arrangements and to the other ladies, who by their presence showed their interest in the militia and brightened the event immeasurably.

The visitors, who were introduced to the Minister of Militia, were announced by Sergt.-Major Brittain, and received by Col. Stevenson and Mrs. Stevenson. The catering was the work of T. H. Hooper.

Contractor Proctor

Mr. G. A. Proctor, Mayor of Sarnia, received the contract for the new Armouries in February, 1907, and since the work has been undertaken rapid advancement has been made. Mr. Proctor has had many important contracts. The post offices at Sarnia and Sandwich were the result of his work. He has had the contract for several large churches in Western Ontario, and a power house and passenger station at Sarnia. He superintended the erection of the chain works at Sarnia last year. During the summer of 1907 he had the contract for a large summer hotel on the Huron shore, three miles from Sarnia. In 1901 Mr. Proctor was Warden of Lambton County. His contracts have been without exception carried out with care and despatch, his experience serving him in good stead.

The Plans Described

The building, which is being constructed of brick and stone, will be a very handsome and stately structure. In area it will be 252 by 169½ feet, the front, giving on Central Park, with a frontage of 169 feet, and the side extended 252 feet on Murray street. Every known convenience and comfort for all arms of the Militia has apparently been provided in this building. In the basement there will be a shooting gallery, where the men may indulge in target practice, and a bowling alley for recreation. The furnace and fuel rooms and lavatories will also be located here.

The Ground Floor

The parade hall will, of course, be on the ground floor, and will be 176 by 80 feet in size. On the south-east end of this floor will be found the infantry quarters, containing mobilization, quartermaster's stores, infantry orderly room, infantry commanding officers, infantry adjutant rooms and eight infantry companies armouries.

On the north-east end of this floor will be the cavalry quarters, including a mobilization store room, commanding officer's room, cavalry orderly room, cavalry armouries and harness room. An entrance will be provided at the rear for harnessing horses.

The south-west end of the building will be devoted to artillery purposes, and this section will contain commanding officer's room, artillery orderly room, artillery harness room, mobilization stores and a store room for small arms, with a main gun shed, 81 by 42 feet.

In the north-west corner of the Armouries on the ground floor there will be a waggon shed, 40x44, and also quarters for the stretcher-bearer companies.

The First Floor

The officers' mess-rooms, which are situated on the second floor, are very comfortable and commodious, fitted with all the conveniences. Separate entrances to these quarters are provided, as are also entrances to the galleries and lavatories. In the centre of the east end of this floor there will be an officers' and sergeants' lecture room, 48 by 30 feet, and the north-east corner contains sergeants' mess and caretaker's quarters, with separate entrances and lavatories.

In the south-west wing on the first floor there is a large recreation room with stage for men and four sitting-rooms, leading off, for the men. Entrances are also made to the galleries for the men and the public.

The band room will be situated on the north-west end and will be about 40 feet square. The room for the bugle band will also be located at this end, and both will have entrances from outside the building.

It will thus be seen that everything has been provided for the comfort of the officers and men, who will no doubt appreciate the provisions which have been made. As a result of the erection of this Armoury there will doubtless be a revival of interest in military matters in Peterborough.

The Toast List

When ample justice had been done to the excellent menu provided, his Worship, the Mayor, called upon all to do honour to His Majesty the King and after the hearty singing of "God Save the King," His Excellency, the Governor-General, was similarly honoured by the drinking of his health, and by the singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever."

His Worship, Mayor Rush, next proposed the toast to the honoured guest of the evening—Sir Frederick Borden—who had, he said, for twelve years been head of the militia of Canada, and who had not only done justice to his high position, but had received recognition from our great sovereign, the King. The Government had recognized the need for new Armouries, and he felt certain that Peterborough citizens considered the occasion an honoured one by the presence of the minister, and by the fact that Sir Frederick Borden had come to Paterborough to lay the corner stone. Sir Frederick had come from the distant country, down by the sea, which all honour so much and he requested all to rise and drink to the health of the Minister of Militia.

The Minister's Address

On rising to respond Sir Frederick thanked the company from the bottom of his heart for the kind way the toast had been received. He felt it was not only a welcome from the lips, but a welcome from the heart. He had been entertained right royally in Peterborough. He had enjoyed the day greatly, and he would put it down as one of the red-letter days in his parliamentary career. He paid a pretty compliment to the estimable ladies of Peterborough, whom he found here in large numbers. He had seen our beautiful city, of which he had often heard from the West Peterborough representative, Mr. R. R. Hall. He had heard of it also through the officers of his own department, as Peterborough was considered a strategic place in the defence of the country, should war ever occur, which he hoped would never be.

Peterborough is an important point and he believed the militia should be kept in excellent condition, and he declared that Peterborough would have every opportunity in strengthening its militia.

Protects our Industries

He was glad to see so many thriving manufactures in Peterborough, due, he considered, to the energy of the men in charge. A reasonable and fair amount of protection should be given the industries of Canada and Canada must look out for herself in every respect and in every regard. It is exactly the same way with nations—"the survival of the fittest."

Canada has been greatly blessed and endowed by a beneficent Providence, and he declared, we have only just begun to realize the wealth of our country in its great natural resources. Only 5,000,000 acres of land in the Northwest have yet been under cultivation, and when it is considered that there are 100,000,000 acres awaiting cultivation, one is in a position to form some idea of what is in store for that section of the Dominion. He had visited that section of the Dominion a few years ago, and he was sure that in the near future 1,000,000,000 bushels of grain would be produced there. Our agricultural wealth and our dairy wealth are great. He had often visited the United States, and he had often told his friends there what a stupid blunder they had made when they adopted the policy of excluding our trade. The United States forced this great country of ours, so far as resources are concerned, into the arena of competition with Great Britain, and had beaten itself.

Canada's Condition

Their export of cheese has actually stood still, while ours has gone up by leaps and bounds into millions of pounds, and they now are beginning to realize our importance. We have learned the lesson of self-reliance—the lesson which has taught us that we are not dependent on anybody, so far as claiming the fair share of the trade with this continent is concerned. Every minister owes it to his country to become conversant with every consideration tending to the benefit of the country.

Another lesson was that learned in 1899, when we awoke to the fact that we owed a duty to the Mother Country, and assisted her in South Africa, in fighting the battles of the Empire.

Canada's Allegiance

That position improved the good feeling between the Mother Country and ourselves. It showed we owed her affection, and it showed to the world that our resources were equal to and far beyond the resources of any other country in the world, and he believed that had a great deal to do in giving us the self-reliance we feel.

We hear sometimes of Imperialism and Imperial Federation, but they are now not very much in evidence. We don't hear much of a contract by which the Mother Country and Canada will become more united. Something, however will be done, he declared, and in good time by the people of Canada in this respect, as a result of the bond of respect and affection.

"Let us be ready to do something," he said, "and when the time comes let us do it and protect the integrity of this great half continent which belongs to us."

Defence of the Country

Preparations of defence should begin at home. He was content to leave the navy in the hands of those who have so successfully upheld it for so many years, but Canada should look after her own country in the question of her own defence.

He desired to see a condition of things brought about by which every able-bodied man in Canada shall be able, if necessity arises to go forward in the defence of the integrity of the British Empire. The object of the militia in Canada is, first and last, to assist in maintaining law and order within our own confines. And the more populated the country, the greater is the responsibility concerned. We do not possess a single office that is not necessary to assist in maintaining law and order, without which this country would become soon a country unfit to live in. (Applause.)

Mr. Borden's address was followed by a song splendidly sung by Mr. W. McIlroy.

House of Commons

Mr. J. H. Burnham, on rising to respond to the toast of the House of Commons and Legislative Assembly, said that, before proceeding to propose the toast which he had been put down for, he would like to express his gratitude to the honoured guest of the evening for his magnificent speech. He had dealt with eloquence on the resources of this country, and in such an inspiring manner as to excite the pride of all those present. It was very gratifying to him also, personally, to listen to his remarks on modified protection for the industries of this country. He said that coupled with him in this toast was the name of Mr. R. R. Hall, the member for East Peterborough in the Federal Parliament. Mr. Hall was a gentleman who had always had in his mind the interests of his constituency, and had been a very faithful advocate of his riding.

Mr. R. R. Hall M. P.

Mr. R. R. Hall, on rising said he joined with those present in extending a cordial welcome to Sir Frederick Borden, and the more so, as this was the first opportunity the citizens of Peterborough had had of welcoming a minister from the Province of Nova Scotia, although visits had been paid to the city in the past by Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. Mr. Emmerson and Hon. Mr. Tarte. He emphasized the importance of the Trent Valley Canal, which, even so far back as 1837, had been considered by the Government of that day as an important waterway in connection with the military defence of the country.

DR. M. A. MORRISON,

Who Proposed Toast to the Legislative Assembly.

To-day its commercial value was as equally apparent—160 miles of the canal were now completed, leaving about 23 miles in the south and 26 on the west yet to be finished. Contracts amounting in cost to three and a half millions of dollars had already been given for these portions, and he commended to the notice of the honourable gentleman the great necessity of his support in getting the enterprise through at as early a date as possible. Peterborough, although about seventeenth in population amongst the cities of the Dominion, ranked sixth in point of trade, and the importance of fostering its industries was therefore most apparent.

Dr. M. A. Morrison

In proposing the toast to the Legislative Assembly, Dr. Morrison congratulated the Honourable Minister upon the successful culmination of the occasion which had brought him to Peterborough, and he congratulated the Dominion Government upon the aggressive way in which its Minister of Militia is looking after the defence of Canada.

He referred to the erection of the new Collegiate Institute close by the Armouries and the fact that the cadets of that institution will become the future members of the regiment.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P.

Mr. Bradburn responded by stating he was pleased to be present at the banquet to do honour to Sir Frederick Borden. He felt gratified to see the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Armouries, which he knew would be greatly appreciated. He also referred to the building of the Collegiate Institute and other similar buildings for the instruction of the mind, and he concurred with Mr. Hall in impressing upon the Dominion Government the necessity of the early completion of the Trent Canal.

At this juncture Mr. W. S Davidson favoured the company with that popular song "Harrigan," and responded to a hearty encore.

Peterborough Garrison

The toast to the Peterborough Garrison was proposed by Hon. J. R Stratton. It was one, he declared, of the most important on the list. He was glad to be able to join with the rest in welcoming the Minister to our midst, so that he might have an opportunity of witnessing the soldierly bearing of the Peterborough Garrison of to-day. He was glad to know the Minister appreciated the work of the 57th Regiment, while in their present quarters, and he knew the Peterborough Garrison would be always ready to respond to the duty call whenever that call was sounded, and that none would respond with more alacrity and grace than Peterborough's Regiment.

He was pleased to have the honour of showing Peterborough to the Minister of Militia, and he desired to call the attention of the Minister to the fact that the garrison here are sadly in need of a proper rifle range. But he felt sure that if West Peterborough's excellent member used the same persistency and pugnacity in the future as he had always used in the past in the interests of Peterborough in connection with everything he had undertaken, the estimates for the rifle range which was so badly needed would soon be brought down.

The Responses

rison emphasized the many good things which the Honourable, the Minister at Militia has done for the Militia of this country. These, briefly summarized were, efficiency pay, extra facilities for rifle shooting, and the new Armouries. The only thing lacking now, was a good rifle range, at which to practice with the extra rounds of cartridges with which the Militia, under Sir Frederick's orders, had been provided.

Major T W H Young, 24th F.B.O.A., also responded to the toast of the Peterborough Garrison and in welcoming the guest of the evening, said that Sir Frederick Borden had done much for the benefit of the Militia and for Peterborough, and that if rumour be correct there was yet one thing more he was going to do and that was when the Armouries were finished, he was going to see they were adequately furnished.

Major T Johnston, of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, stated that he was pleased to join with the others in welcoming the Minister of Militia to Peterborough. He desired to thank him, especially for the way in which he had provided for efficiency pay for the rank and file. There was one matter, however, that he hoped he would consider favourably and that was the sending of 100 per cent. of the Peterborough Garrison to Quebec rather than the 50 per cent. proposed.

Mr. John Crane next favoured the company with a solo which was very much appreciated. On account of the lateness of the hour the last toast on the list "Our Municipal Institutions," had to be dispensed with, and the citizens' banquet was brought to a fitting close by three cheers for the chairman, Sir Frederick Borden and the King.

HISTORY OF THE OLD DRILL SHED BUILT 40 YEARS AGO

local building was constructed better than the others is not known, but it is certain that within a few years the most of them were wrecked by the roofs crashing in beneath the weight of snow upon them. The home of the Peterborough militia, however remained, and has defied the weather for forty-two years.

In all that time there have been few changes in the building, with the exception that it has been braced inside and wooden buttresses have been constructed on the exterior on the east side of the structure. The present officers' apartments were built at the expense of the officers themselves, and the heads of the 57th Regiment have made very comfortable quarters of the rooms in the north end of the building.

At the time of the construction of the Armouries, if they may be so called, the militia in Peterborough consisted of two companies—No. 1 Infantry Company, under Capt. Poole afterwards Col. Poole, and No. 2 Company, under Capt. Kennedy, afterwards Major Kennedy. By a general militia order, in 1867, the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rifles, was organized, and comprised companies in Peterborough, Hastings and Norwood. Afterwards the regiment was converted into a city one with six companies, and four years ago was enlarged to eight companies, its present strength.

Among the outside regiments that have been received in the historic old structure have been the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, the Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa, who have been here on two occasions, and the 15th Regiment of Belleville. The most distinguished and famous soldier that has probably been under its roof was Lord Dundonald, the veteran of Ladysmith, who was here on the occasion of the presentation of colours to the 57th Regiment some years ago. It has been the scene of recruiting for the South African war and the Northwest Rebellion, and has been associated with the military spirit of Peterborough for over forty years.

Lieut.-Col. Miller, now on the reserve list, became a member of the regiment in 1864, two years before the old Armouries were constructed.

SOME CHANGES ARE CONTEMPLATED

As a Result Robt. Fair & Co. are Selling 12,000 Yards of Carpet at Bargain Prices.

In order to make way for important changes that are being planned in the house furnishing department of Robert Fair & Co., that establishment is conducting a gigantic sale of carpets. The order has been given that every carpet in stock must be cleared out, and in order to accomplish this, there have been substantial cuts in prices, the bargains offered proving a sensation, while the goods are of the Golden Lion quality. There are 12,000 yards of Axminster, Brussells, Wiltons and Tapestry carpets to be disposed of and the sale will continue until the carpet is all gone.

At the rate at which sales are being made just now, the feat will be accomplished in a remarkably short time. An Examiner representative happened to drop into the premises this morning and found the carpet department crowded with purchasers, eager to take advantage of the bargain opportunities.

An announcement will be made in the course of a few days as to the nature of the changes that are to be made.

BARTON EARLE DISCOURSES ON HIS FAVOURITE SUBJECT

Birthday Tribute to the Transcendent Merits of the World's Greatest Dramatist.

XII

"The poet's eye in a fine frenzy rolling
Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven,
And, as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name."

Substitute "God" for "imagination" and the definition of Poetry is perfect.

This day is the anniversary of the birth of the mightiest genius that has ever lived. William Shakspere has no competitors. He has not only surpassed all others; he has distanced all. Eclipse is first, the rest nowhere. He is the culmination of the greatest literary outburst that the world has ever known. Some one has said, of the Elizabethan period, that "in point of real force and originality of genius, neither the age of Pericles, nor the Augustan age, nor the age of Leo X., nor of Louis XIV., can come at all into comparison: for then lived nearly all the very great men that England has produced. Even our great epic poet has much more in common with the Elizabethans than with the age of Dryden and Pope, and by some writers, is classed with the preceding school.

All the achievements of England, by sea and land, have not conferred so much genuine glory upon her as the fact that she has given us a Stephen Langton, to whom we owe the Great Charter, and a William Shakspere, the author of the world's greatest drama.

The drama, dealing, as it does, exclusively, with humanity in action, must be regarded as the highest form of literature, and, leaving out Shakspere altogether, the Elizabethan drama would still be greater than that of any other country. Yet, how mean the plays of Marlowe, perhaps the greatest of Shakspere's contemporaries, seem, after reading those of the great master. It was not until I had read the works of the other great dramatists of the period that I began to appreciate the transcendent genius of Shakspere.

It has been said that "No man can comprehend Shakspere; but a man may apprehend much that Shakspere has written. There are depths in his "oceanic mind" that never have been, and never will be, sounded. Does any man comprehend himself? Another poet has said:

"Below the surface stream, shallow and light, of what we say we feel;
Below the stream, as light, of what we think we feel,
There flows with noiseless current, strong and deep,
The central stream of what we feel indeed."

But, though it is difficult, nay, impossible to comprehend Shakspere, his language presents little serious difficulty to the average school boy or girl. He uses about 16,000 English words, a vocabulary which no other writer has approached in its range, and, although between three and four hundred years have passed since the plays were written, very few of his words have become obsolete, or even obsolescent. Living, as he did, in an age when our language received large accessions directly from the Latin, there are many words used in a sense different from present usage. Words when first introduced from another language are used literally and generally, that afterwards come to have a metaphorical and particular meaning. And, just here, let me say something which was, at first, a surprise to me. I found, in English annotated plays of Shakspere, that many words were explained it the notes that presented no difficulty to a Canadian boy. The explanation is that what are called provincialisms are, in many cases, words that have passed out of use in the Motherland, and have been perpetuated in the colonies.

It would be a surprise to one who has not been a student of Shakspere to know how many of his expressions have become interwoven with our common speech. From the pulpit and the platform, in our legislative chambers and our marts of commerce, on our streets and in our barrooms, high and low, rich and poor, learned and unlearned, are, mostly unconsciously, talking Shakspere.

The most objective of all poets, Shakspere, gives us, in his works but little from which to learn the character of the man. Though his age was a time of intense religious strife, it seems impossible to decide which side he favoured. The most we can say is that he was a child of the Renascence, and, while a Christian, in a general sense, was, certainly, not distinguished for religious zeal.

Shakspere's greatest power was his ability to "hold the mirror up to nature." He has drawn about 1,000 characters, idealized: it is true, but still thoroughly human, and perfectly individualized. To draw a character as Shakspere does, he must be able to get outside of self, and enter into the character he is drawing. No wonder he has been called the "thousand-souled."

Always true to nature, or, more correctly, to nature idealized, his women are superior to his men. He is, perhaps, the only writer who understands women. Scott has drawn a large number of women; but his women, admirable in a way, are not individuals, but general types. They are almost impersonal, and would be nearly as interesting if they were nameless. They are not permitted to develop gradually, from within, and we are dependent for our knowledge of them on the writer's descriptions. We know Ellen Douglas almost as well after her first introduction as at the end of the poem. Scott is the chivalric knight who worships women from a respectful distance. Shakspere, though not lacking in respect and admiration for women, understands them and does not stand in awe of them. He walks up to them, and analyzes them, or, rather, makes them analyze themselves. His characters develop from within, and our knowledge of them is not complete until the end of the play; but then they stand revealed, with all their perfections and imperfections.

Shakspere is the only universal poet. Other poets are national, or are the exponents of the forces at work during a certain period, or connected with some particular movement; Shakspere is the exponent of humanity in all ages and in all moods; and, since human nature must always be pretty much the same, Shakspere will always be modern.

Students of Shakspere are often accused of finding more in his plays than the author intended. This is, probably true if they mean consciously intended; but it is, also, true that they do not find more, or even as much as is really there. "The poet is the seer of the things that are and the prophet of the things that are beginning to be," and just how far his prophetic power extends, and to what extent his works reflect the forces which are, as yet, only in their incipient stages, every great poet must be to a large extent unconscious. It is on this account that a poet is better understood a hundred years after he has written than by his contemporaries, or even by himself.

Poetry, like all the most profound truths, comes to us through the subconscious mind and has nothing to do with the intellect. It is, certainly, a misnomer to speak of such a work as Paradise Lost as a poem. Paradise Lost is a mighty composition, with a scholarly and highly intellectual framework, binding together more or less frequent outbursts of poetry. An angel could not sustain the poetic fervour for a time sufficient to write a long poem. There is, indeed, no such work as a long poem; nor is there any composition that is all poetry.

All genuine poetry comes in moments of great exaltation or intense feeling, such as no mortal could endure but for a very short time. It comes intuitively, or better still, by the inspiration of Almighty God, the source of all truth, and, even the medium, through whom we receive the message, may be partially or wholly unconscious of its significance.

The question is often asked, "Is Shakspere a poet?" Shakspere is not only the greatest of all dramatists, he is the greatest of all poets. An eminent critic has said that there is more real poetry and sweetness in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" than in the whole range of French poetry.

In the same drama is, perhaps, the best definition of poetry ever given.

WILLIAM SHAKSPERE

Born April 23, 1564. (St. George's Day.) — Died, As To The Body, April 23, 1616.

"Shakspere is the most modern writer in our language. It would seem that in one fruitful moment the genius of England gave birth to a poet who interpreted his country to itself and to the world, once and for all time; his thought and language being the everlasting mind and utterance of his race-at its highest."

The Sons Of Scotland Hold Their First Annual Banquet

In the cosy Sons of England Hall, Hunter street, last night about 75 members of the Clan McAlpine Camp, Sons of Scotland, gathered around the festive board at their first annual banquet. Mr. Thomas Hooper, who acted as caterer, had the table very tastefully arranged, and the banquet was heartily enjoyed by the large number present.

When everything was in readiness, Bro. McKay struck up "The Campbells Are Coming," on the violin, and the brother Scots formed into single line, and marched around the table, taking the seats assigned to them. A spirit of harmony and fellowship prevailed through the entire evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

After the banquetters had partaken of the splendid spread, which was set before them, the toast master, Chief Jas. J. McPherson, proposed the toast to the King, and the jolly company rose and sing the National Anthem. Bro. Dr. McKinnon, who proposed the toast to the Sons of Scotland. He told some very interesting experiences of his life among the Scotch people, in the places he lived, and concluded by complimenting the order on the splendid class of men who had been examined by him, preparatory to joining the McAlpine Lodge.

Bro. G. Gordon responded very eloquently to this toast. He thought that the Scotchmen had greater opportunities in this country than in the old land.

In this country, he said, we find that Scotsmen have been instrumental in the building up of the west. Scotchmen are found at the head of all great industrial and commercial enterprises, and there was a great future for any man who had ambition. Before closing his remarks, Bro. Gordon paid a tribute to the excellent work Organizer Greeves had done since his arrival in the city.

The popular toast to "The Ladies" was very ably proposed by Bro. Cameron, and Bro. Glover responded in his usual witty manner.

Bro. Lang, of the Grand Camp, Toronto, who was present, was called upon for an address, and received a great ovation. In his opening remarks he expressed his regret that the Grand Chief was unable to be present. The speaker spoke very encouragingly to the members present and impressed upon them the insurance and fraternal benefits to be derived from association with the Camp. He complimented Organizer Grieve on the splendid work he had accomplished, and assured the Camp that his work would be recognized by the Grand Camp. He was of the opinion that the lodges should set a part of every camp night aside for social purposes. In closing he gave the members of Clan McAlpine Camp a hearty invitation to visit any of the Camps in Toronto.

Speeches were also made by Bro. Bogue of Campbellford and Bro. Simpson of Sarnia.

At the conclusion of the speeches, Bro. R. F. McPherson, on behalf of the members of the camp, presented Organizer Grieves with a handsome purse as a token of their esteem and appreciation of his services. The organizer made a suitable reply.

The following excellent programme was then rendered:

Song—"Scots Wha' Hae" — Mr. Grieve.
Selection on the bagpipes—Mr. MacKay.
Song—Mr. Gregor.
Violin Solo—Mr. Weatherstone.

A TRIBUTE TO WEST PETERBOROUGH CANDIDATE

In Latest Issue of The Canadian Dairyman.

Members of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association will be pleased to hear that Mr. G. A. Gillespie of Peterboro, who is a director of the Association, has received the Liberal nomination for West Peterboro for the Ontario legislature. Should he be elected, there will probably be two directors of the association in the legislature, one, Mr. J. R. Dargavel on the Conservative side, and the second, Mr. Gillespie, on the Liberal side.

Mr. Gillespie has been coming to the front rapidly lately. He has been elected as a director of the Dairymen's Association by the dairymen of his section two years in succession, a big honor in itself. Last January, he was elected an alderman for Peterboro, polling the second largest vote of any alderman in the field, and now he has received the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of West Peterboro, a still higher honor.

DISFIGURING FACE SORES.

HOW TO CURE THEM.

Pimples, face sores, and the kindred eruptions common to late winter and early spring, are the worst disfigurements the fair sex have to bear. The indoor life of winter has caused impure matter, which the skin should get rid of, for the blood to remain in the pores; the process of "exhalation" is interrupted; the general complexion suffers, and just when the bad matter collects, pimples, ulcers and sores quickly appear. To remove the impurities, the pores must be opened and the functions of the skin stimulated, by the vigourous application of Zam-Buk morning and night, and washing frequently with Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap. Zam-Buk reaches the root of the disease by soaking through the skin and tissue and its powerful herbal juices expel disease and make the skin do its work, which can't be done simply by the use of internal medicine. Miss Ellen Smith of Somerville avenue Toronto, says: "My face was greatly disfigured by a skin eruption which annoyed me dreadfully for months. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and I am glad I did, for it quickly removed the trouble, and my face is now clear of all eruptions."

Zam-Buk contains no animal fat whatever, but is a pure healing salve. It cures cuts, burns, chafings cold sores, itch, eczema, running sores, ringworm, piles, bad legs, inflamed patches, and all diseased, injured and irritated conditions of the skin. Obtainable at all druggists and stores 50 cents, or postpaid upon receipt of price, from Zam-Buk Company, Toronto.

The Insistent Book Lender.

"I know a greater nuisance than the book borrower," said the omnivorous reader. "It is the person who insists upon lending books. Among my acquaintances are several people who buy books apparently for the sole purpose of lending them. Many times have I been selected as the victim of those misguided philanthropists.

"'Here is a splendid book,' says one. 'Have you read it?'

"I most certainly haven't read it, and one glance at the title page assures me that nothing under the sun can ever make me read it, but as I speak less strongly than I feel on the subject my tormentor construes my timid confession as a wish not to impose upon his kindness, and he insists upon my taking the book home. I know quite well that I never shall open the despised volume, but I haven't the moral courage to tell him that I scorn his taste in literature, so I take the book.

"Since I haven't the slightest interest in it, I am likely to forget all about the book until asked to return it. A frantic search then fails to unearth it, and I find that the horrid thing is lost, and all on my account."—New York Press.

Why Little Men Do Big Things.

"Have you ever thought," said the little man, "why it is that so many people small in stature have accomplished such great things in the world? I'll tell you. It's because they get their dander up. They get tired of being looked down upon and of being treated patronizingly by the big fellows, and they just resolve to show society that they are worth something, even though their height may be in the vicinity of five feet. In a word, quality, not quantity, becomes their motto. Another thing about the little folks that I've noticed is that they have learned how to conserve their energies and how to take care of themselves. Your big man almost invariably is reckless with his strength. The very generosity of a large nature, I suppose, makes him care little about his time, his health and innumerable other things. He has an impression that he can do pretty much anything he sets out to do, and the chances are that he does not devote overmuch energy to preparation. The little fellow, on the other hand, knows that he has a physical handicap, so far as appearances go anyway, and he does his best to overcome it."—Exchange.

A Queer Old Easter Custom.

It was the privilege long ago for men to beat their wives Easter day, but the latter repaid the compliment the next day. This ceremony, as far as can be earned, was not provocative of lawsuits or separations and was, no doubt, a mere loving castigation.

The angry Martha cried.

Ten-Hour Grind Yesterday Killed Off Three Contestants

Hoagland Increases His Lead to 2 1-2 Miles, While Blake and Harrison are Struggling for Second Place---Stenner's Great Sprint to Get in the Money Enlivened the Last Half Hour----Is Doing Well.

1—W. A HOAGLAND, Auburn, N. Y., 98 miles, 6 laps.
2—J. B BLAKE, Syracuse, N.Y., 96 miles.
3—JAS. HARRISON, Peterborough, 95 miles, 1 lap.
4—CHAS. STEVENS, Peterborough, 91 miles, 4 laps.
5—JAS. G GRAHAM, Buffalo, N.Y., 84 miles, 3 laps.
6—CHAS. STENNER, Warsaw, Ont., 81 miles, 6 laps.
7—MAY FENTON, Auburn, N. Y., 76 miles, 3 laps.
8—DAVID HARTLEY, Peterborough, dropped out, 75 miles, 1 lap.
9—TOM SLATER, Oswego, N. Y., dropped out, 74 miles, 3 laps.
10—R. J. HATTON, Toronto, dropped out, 45 miles, 1 lap.

Hoagland, the "walking machine," is nearly two miles and one half ahead in the six-day walking tournament with one-sixth of the thirty-six hours gone, and there is no possible chance of his being beaten, barring accidents. The big Auburn walker, tore around at a wonderful clip for the entire ten hours yesterday, doing fifty-two miles, nearly two miles further than anyone else. He maintained a speedy, steady gait all day, doing very little sprinting, and was continuously lapping his field, his work bringing forth great applause from the crowd with whom he is a prime favourite, not only for his great walking, but also from his gentlemanly qualities, and his frequent acts of kindness to his fellows in the long grind. He is a gentleman on and off the track, and the crowd have recognized the fact.

The walkers went ten hours yesterday and of the ten men that started out at 1.30 o'clock, only seven were on the track at 11.30. The greatest surprise was the throwing up the sponge by Tom Slater, the Oswego crack. Slater has been suffering from a severe cold for the past week and it told on him yesterday. On the go-in he out a lively clip, followed by Blake, the negro, and the two gained on Harrison until Slater was a mile and Blake 12 laps ahead of the Peterborough boy. All afternoon Slater kept along steadily with Blake at his heels, but the effort and his illness were too much for him and at half past six he was forced to get out or drop on the track. Shaking hands with Hoagland and Blake as they came around, he said good-bye and went to his dressing room, feeling very keenly his having to quit.

The day was also too much for Dave Hartley, who did his best to keep in the running, but had to retire several times, and finally, at 10 o'clock, had to drop out for good. He started out at a lively rate in the afternoon and at four o'clock had gained over a mile on Stevens, in fact was only three laps behind him. The youngster came fast, however, and Hartley, whose kidneys were troubling him could not hold him, and rapidly went back until he was nearly two miles behind, although he was well ahead of Graham and Stenner. At 5.40 he was compelled to leave the track and was off for two hours, returning at 8.05 o'clock By that time Graham was five miles and six laps ahead, while Stenner was four miles. For an hour and one-half Hartley gained rapidly, catching up two miles, but he could not keep the work up, and at ten o'clock left the track for good.

Stenner of Warsaw is coming strong and will be in the money class on Saturday if present indications are true. He went 40 miles and 8 laps yesterday without leaving the track and the way he finished up showed that he had plenty of reserve in him. At 5 minutes after 11 o'clock he needed two miles and one lap to make 81 miles, the one-half of the 162 mile limit necessary to be in the money, and roundly cheered by the crowd, sprinted for the remaining twenty-five minutes, covering two miles 7 laps in that time. He showed great pluck, and the crowd was not slow to recognize that fact, cheering him continuously and giving him an ovation when he completed his eighty-first mile. Stenner is in good shape and will be found on the job to-night.

When the race re-commenced yesterday afternoon it was soon seen that there were two duels on the tapis—one a fight for second place between Blake and Slater, and the other between Hartley and Stevens for fifth position. Hartley had seventeen laps to make up when he went on the track in the afternoon, and he went out in good style, gaining a mile and one lap. When Stevens was just three laps ahead the boy put on a sharper gait and shook Hartley off. He began to go back fast, and at 5.30 was off the track.

Meanwhile Blake and Slater were having a desperate battle. They tramped around the track at a lively clip. Slater doing the pacing and the negro a few feet behind, refusing to be shaken off, until at 6.30 Slater had to leave the track. Harrison, who had been hitting a steady, comfortable pace all afternoon, fell in behind Blake, and for the remaining five hours of the grind he was with him, the coloured walker setting the pace in the early part of the evening, and the local man for the last hour or more. Blake was twelve laps ahead at 6.30, and five hours later he still held his lead.

Champion Hoagland was all the while increasing his margin, travelling at a clip of 5 1-2 miles throughout the ten hours, a pace that left the others miles behind.

Stenner of Warsaw was the hero of the last half hour, when his great sprint to get inside the limit of 81 miles earned him the appreciative cheers of the crowd. He had the whole rink with him, and encouraged by the support, he not only did the two miles necessary in the last 25 minutes, but added almost half a mile to it. The plucky ex-soldier has the sympathy and support of the crowd, and his showing is appreciated.

And perhaps Jim Harrison isn't making a great bid for second place. His work has been the surprise of the contest, and he deserves any amount of credit for his pluck. It is his first experience in a race and he has done grand work, and should be well within the money on Saturday night.

Charlie Stevens is in fourth place, and although he was in pretty bad shape last night, at one time being led around by his trainer, he pluckily kept on, and seemed to revive towards the finish, finishing strong although his feet were badly blistered. Blisters caused Hatton, the Toronto man, to drop out. He changed his boots when he started out yesterday afternoon, and before long his heels were raw and he couldn't keep on.

Fenton, the boy from Auburn N. Y., although he is miles behind has shown all kinds of grit. For long periods he looked as if he would collapse on the track, but he would suddenly survive and sprint for a lap or two at an amazing rate, while the crowd applauded.

Hoagland, Blake Harrison, Stenner, Stevens and Graham did not leave the track at all yesterday, ploughing away for ten hours and taking their food as they walked. All were in pretty good shape when 11 o'clock came, and there will be some great racing to-night.

The crowd last night was the largest so far, both sides of the rink being crowded, and the keenest interest is being manifested in the race.

	Miles.	Laps
Hoagland	52
Blake	50	7
Harrison	49	5
Stevens	46	16
Graham	43	2
Stenner	40	8
Fenton	37	10
Hartley	31	11
Slater	27	9
Hatton	4	10

Graham Amuses The Crowd By His Frequent Witty Sallies

Jim Graham, the old Buffalo walker, is the comedian of the walking contest. He is always in good spirits and has been plodding along steadily all through. Every lap he has a witty remark to make, and his sallies made in a characteristic Yankee drawl, have amused the crowd all week.

Here were some of his funny remarks last night:—

"Well, this is one continuous round round of pleasure."

"I'm really afraid they're going to stop us at half past 11 to-night."

"If I could walk the ropes, I would have the inside track."

"This is a ten o'clock wake-up."

"This is the longest road I ever was on. I have been walking three days and haven't come to the end of it yet."

"Well there's no telling; someone may get tired to-morrow."

"I never had any grudge against my bed, but I'm going to hit it hard to-night."

"I'm trying to find the end of this rope."

"There never was a coward where the Shamrock grows."

Graham is a prime favourite with the crowd who watch for him every lap and he never fails to hand out a witty remark.

Harrison And Blake Will Fight It Out For Second Place To-night

To-night promises to see the most exciting four hours yet in the big walking race at Brock street rink, which is creating so much interest in the city. There are several reasons for this, one being the battle between Harrison of Peterborough, and Blake, the negro for second place. The coloured walker is twelve laps to the good, but is said to be in pretty bad shape to-day, while Harrison finished fresh and strong last night, and will make a big effort to cut down the lead and regain second place. Tired as the negro may be, however, he will be certain to give the local man a hard fight for the position, and there will be excitement from the drop of the hat.

The plucky struggle being made by Charlie Stenner, the Warsaw walker to get inside the money, is creating a lot of interest, and the crowd is with him in his struggle. Last night he finished very strong, and will be sent out to-night to keep up his good work.

Jack Cooper, the English short distance man, who has covered the fastest mile yet made in 7.42, will attempt to lower that record to-morrow night at 7 o'clock. Last night he went out for a warm-up, and the way he circled the track opened the eyes of the crowd. Those who want to see a fast mile covered should be at the rink at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening.

The Peterborough Bookstore is busy these days outfitting the different baseball teams. Judging from the number of mitts, gloves balls and bats sold, baseball will be popular this season in Peterborough. The boys like the best, and find it in Spaldings. The best value in the city at Stratford's. Special discounts to clubs. Bring along your list and get our prices.

W. A. Hoagland Is Grand Walker; A Gentleman On And Off The Track

It is worth the price of admission at any time at the walking match to see W. A. Hoagland perform. The world's champion is a veritable machine. He covers the ground at a maximum of speed and a minimum effort, with an action that is apparently perfect. He seems to skim over the track like an auto. boat through the water, and is about as untireless and free from "fuss."

Better than all that, he is a gentleman from the ground up, with none of the desire to "show off" himself or "show up" the others, that one might look for in a man that is so superior to his fellow contestants. On the contrary, he helps everyone. He has a word of encouragement for the stragglers when he catches up with them and stimulates them by walking beside them and coaching them. He has helped many of the men in the present walk along the weary miles, and has the respect of them and the crowd.

Last night he delighted many in the crowd by stopping, and writing his name on the back of his photograph, and the spectators gave him a hearty cheer in acknowledgment of his courteous act.

Here's to Hoagland, champion walker, and a prince of good fellows. If he is to be taken as a type of the American athlete, we want to see more of them over here. One thing is certain, the name of W. A. Hoagland will long be remembered in Peterborough.

EULOGIZES WORK OF MISSION

Does Editorial in St. Luke's Parish Magazine of Latest Issue—Coming Missionary Institute.

THE SPEAKERS COMING

Editorially, the last issue of St. Luke's Parish Magazine, says the following, in reference to the recent Mission, held at St. John's Church:

We congratulate the rector of St. John's church upon the success that has resulted from the Mission he held in his church last month. Every earnest effort is entitled to recognition and there is absolutely no doubt but that many people received much blessing from it. Above all it gave many men and women an opportunity to testify to their allegiance to their God and Saviour, and that, in itself, was a splendid opportunity for showing religious reality. We are glad to know that St. Luke's Church assisted in the good work by the earnest and inspiring enthusiasm and co-operation of Mr. Arthur Kingdon and others.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement has taken a great hold upon the church membership, and much is being done in the way of interesting the laymen in the work of the church among non-Christian nations.

The total contributions of the entire Christian Church to foreign missionary work, as reported last year, were $21,280,000. Of this amount $8,980,000 were given by the churches of the United States and Canada. Almostly exactly the same amount, $8,973,000 was contributed by Great Britain. All other countries combined gave $3,327,000.

The Missionary Institute to be held in Peterborough from May 4-6, will greatly assist in stirring up missionary enthusiasm. Among the speakers to be present, Rev. Canon Tucker, and Rev. R. M. Millman, will represent the Church of England. Each church is requested to billet about thirty delegates from the neighbouring places. Dr. Langfeldt will be glad to receive offers to entertain delegates.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in six to fourteen days or money refunded. 50 cents.

HAVELOCK COMING INTO FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Will Send Representative to Meeting Here on Saturday to Draw Schedule

The Havelock football enthusiasts, says the Havelock Standard, have decided to enter the Midland League, and will send a representative to Peterborough to look after their interests in regard to dates, etc. There is a large number of good football players in town this spring and a strong team can be selected to uphold Havelock's name in sporting circles.

A TRIBUTE TO MISS NIGHTINGALE

CURIOS WERE DISPLAYED

The Conservazione, held in St. John's School House, on Tuesday afternoon, by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary, was most successful and enjoyable. The musical programme was of a high order of merit, and pleasingly rendered. A number of rare curios were displayed, including old books, lace, embroideries, etc., kindly loaned by friends.

Mrs. Palmer, dressed in her becoming nurse's costume, read a most interesting paper, giving a sketch of the life and work of Miss Florence Nightingale, the queen of nurses, the pioneer and leader of refined and educated women into a career of unbounded usefulness to their fellow-creatures.

Miss Nightingale was born in Florence, and named after her birthplace. Miss Nightingale first entered as a voluntary nurse at Kaiserswerth, on the Rhine, where Dr. Flieder, has established an institute for the training of Protestant deaconesses. Then she studied the hospital system in the London hospitals, and those of Edinburgh, and Dublin, and the institutions in France, Italy and Germany. Miss Nightingale viewed with profound admiration the beneficent work of the "Sisters of Charity," working in the hospitals on the continent, where for centuries the Roman Catholic community had trained holy women to minister to the sick and poor, and had established hospitals, supplied with the same type of nurses. In England the helpers in the hospitals were only women of the coarsest kind, untrained and callous in feeling. After finishing her training at Kaiserworth, Miss Nightingale returned to her lovely home at Lea Hurst, in Derbyshire, where every sick and sorrowful creature in the countryside, human or animal, found in her a friend and helper.

At the time of the Crimean War Miss Nightingale offered her services, and thus born and trained for the noble work, set forth with a party of thirty-seven women. They arrived just before the battle of Inkerman, the misery and confusion they found is beyond description, the poor wounded soldiers lying for days in their blood-stained clothes, unattended and uncared for, and the place infested with rats. Their arrival was like a spell, under which pain was abated, and eyes kindled with comfort and hope. The crowds of wounded poured in, but for every one the needful place had been prepared, remedies were in readiness and every man had such comforts as willing hands and tender hearts of women could devise.

Miss Nightingale is described as tall, pale her face exceedingly lovely, intellectual and sweet, full of ove and benevolence. Nothing could be sweeter than her smile, it was like a sunny day in summer. Queen Victoria and all classes were anxious to give proof of the nation's gratitude to this noble woman. A subscription list was opened, and the sum subscribed presented to Miss Nightingale, on her return to England. With this money she was able to carry out her object of founding a hospital in London, on her own system, regarding the reform of nursing. The nurses were trained at St. Thomas and King's College Hospital, and the first probationers entered in 1860, where they served as assistant nurses in the wards. The Nightingale Training School for Nurses was opened by Queen Victoria, in 1871.

In 1884 Mrs. Palmer entered the "Nightingale Home" as probationer, and it was that year she had the pleasure of meeting Miss Nightingale, who had been an invalid for years, but was at that time visiting her sister in Buckinghamshire. 'Lady Verney gave us an invitation to a garden party, and how much we probationers enjoyed it I cannot express. Attired in our pretty nurses' dress we went in a party from London by train. Lady Verney received as very hospitably, and Miss Nightingale came out on the verandah to have a look and be introduced to us." Mrs. Palmer says, "that was one of the red letter days in our lives."

This is only a short sketch of the interesting paper, which is too long to print in full, describing the duties and training of those choosing the noble work of nursing.

Mrs. Palmer closed with an earnest appeal for more members to join the Woman's Auxiliary, saying that next to nursing comes missionary work. The fee is only 10 cents a year to be a member, and after joining you will soon become interested in the work, and that will bring its own reward—God's blessing.

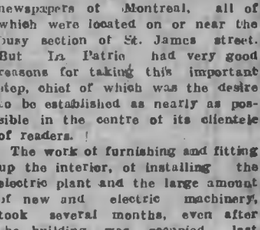
After the reading of this paper, afternoon tea was served by the ladies at small tables, prettily arranged with flowers and dainty china.

—Notice to members of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, I.O.O.F. All brethren are requested to meet in the lodge room, at 6.30 p. m. sharp, Sunday evening next, April 26th, to attend divine service in St. John's Church. This being the 89th anniversary of the order, all visiting brethren are cordially invited to join us in the service. By order of the Noble Grand of both lodges, 3d96—2344

LaPATRIE PAPER IN NEW OFFICE

Progress of That Well Known Journal—A New and Palatial Building.

LATE ISRAEL TARTE'S PAPER



The past few years have witnessed rapid development, not only of the natural resources of Canada, but of her commercial and professional institutions of every kind, as well. True to their traditions, the newspapers have been well to the front in the march of progress. There are few papers that have not made important additions either to their plant or to their equipment, or both, and some have entirely outgrown their old quarters and have erected new buildings adapted to the exacting needs and conditions of twentieth century journalism.

Among the latter is La Patrie, of Montreal, one of the most prominent of the French newspapers of Canada. Although approaching the thirtieth year of its existence, La Patrie was known, up to ten or eleven years ago, only to a comparatively small circle of readers. In 1897, the paper came under new management and a new policy, with the result that it has grown to be one of the most widely circulated and best known papers of Eastern Canada.

More than three years ago, La Patrie's old quarters on St. James street were found to be altogether inadequate. The announcement, early in 1905, of the purchase of a building site on the south side of St. Catharine street, east, at the corner of City Hall avenue, caused no little surprise. It was an entirely new departure among the newspapers of Montreal, all of which were located on or near the busy section of St. James street. But La Patrie had very good reasons for taking this important step, chief of which was the desire to be established as nearly as possible in the centre of its clientele of readers.

The work of furnishing and fitting up the interior, of installing the electric plant and the large amount of new and electric machinery, took several months, even after the building was occupied, last autumn. Every detail is now complete, and the formal opening and inauguration took place on Monday, April 20th.

La Patrie's new building is, without doubt, a credit to Canadian journalism. It has a frontage of 75 feet on St. Catharine street, a depth of 94 feet, and is six stories in height, in addition to a basement and sub-basement. It is built of light Indiana limestone on a foundation of Stanstead granite. The main, or St. Catharine street entrance, is in the form of a broad, high arch, occupied by a wide door-way crowned by rich ornamental iron grill-work. The distinctive feature of the whole structure is the abundant provision made for supplying a most liberal amount of natural light to every part of the interior. The front of the building, alone, facing St. Catherine street, contains no fewer than 43 very large windows, in addition to the doors of the main entrance, which are principally of plate glass.

The whole plan and arrangement of the interior conforms to the central idea of the structure,—utility combined with beauty. From the spacious, well lighted business office on the first floor, to the composing room on the sixth, the whole is laid out in a manner that bespeaks a vast amount of thought and foresight on the part of those by whom the building was planned. The press room occupies the greater part of the basement, which is only partially below the St. Catharine street level, and is lighted by large windows opening on both streets. Here stand the three great Goss presses, each with a capacity of 75,000 papers per hour. All three presses are equipped to print from one to four pages in colours, giving La Patrie a unique position in this respect.

Notwithstanding the installation of these three great presses, it is interesting and suggestive of the high aspirations of the paper, to note that ample space has been provided, on the other side of the basement, for at least three other presses of equal size. However great, therefore, may be the future growth of the paper, there will be no fear of lack of press-room space.

The other departments,—the general business offices on the first floor, the job-printing, binding, photo-engraving, etc., departments on the second, third and fourth, the Editorial and Directors' rooms on the fifth floor, and the composing room on the sixth,—are designed and laid out on similar lines, always with the object of meeting present requirements and providing for future growth.

La Patrie has enjoyed a decade of uninterrupted progress, leading up to the occupation of its present building. It will be interesting to note to what extent the expectations of those who predict greater things during the next ten years will be fulfilled.

At Rehearsal

By COLIN S. COLLINS.

Copyrighted, 1908, by M. M. Cunningham.

Every one was cross, from Webster, the stage manager and principal comedian, to the two new girls on whose account the rehearsal had been called. An intricate march and two dance numbers of more than usual elaborateness figured in the piece, and for the third time in as many months some of the old girls had left the Castle Opera company for the better pay of the larger organizations. As a result, the entire chorus had been compelled to rehearse for a week for the benefit of the newcomers.

The theater was cold, for it was too early for steam to be sent up to warm the house for the matinee, and a single row of lights in the flies dimly lighted the stage, accentuating the blackness of the shadows around the "stacks" of scenery, while a chill wind blew from the stairway leading to the basement and gripped in its bite tired ankles poorly protected by flimsy stockings and worn dancing shoes.

Webster, a little rat of a man, waspish of speech and nervous to the point of breaking, paced the front of the stage looking eagerly at his watch. All the girls were present, and they were waiting for the leader, whose thin violin tones were their only guidance in melody and beat.

Presently he crawled from under the stage and took his seat at the desk. Webster turned on him a torrent of reproach, at which the leader only laughed, though the new girls stood aghast at the adjectives used. The older members of the company were more used to these displays of temper and smiled at the outburst, but Mildred Hawley could only stare in fascination at the eccentric little man.

"PUT UP YOUR HANDS."

Dick Boris placidly turned his instrument and tucked it under his chin, then looked inquiringly at Webster.

"The march first," called the stage manager, with an abrupt abandonment of his tirade as he turned to face the girls grouped in two files on either side of the stage.

A dozen times they went through the march, Webster dancing about the moving sections, hauling a girl into place here, pushing another there, without ever interrupting the handclaps that were the signals for a change of formation. Then, after a brief rest, one of the dancing numbers was called.

Mildred tried hard not to limp, but her shoes were tight, and the wet weather had made them shrink still more. It seemed as though she could not bear to rest her weight on the cramped toes, but she had no old shoes to change to, and she did not dare use the pretty satin slippers that were part of her wardrobe.

At times the pain was almost too great to bear, but she kept a brave face and accepted silently Webster's strictures upon her lack of grace.

They were going through the number for the third time when a stentorian "Stop!" brought the dancers to a halt, and Webster came striding toward Mildred.

"You, miss!" he cried savagely. "You always start with your left foot. You kick with your right first."

"I was taught always to start with the left," the girl stammered. "I try to remember, but sometimes habit is too strong."

"The trouble is that you've no brains to remember with," was the retort. "Now try it again—from the beginning."

The thin thread of sound from the lone violin began again, and Mildred bent her aching brain to the recollection of the bit of business. Through very anxiety to do it right the girl kicked first with her left foot, and again Webster roared out the "Stop!" which was always the prelude to trouble. The other girls looked curiously at Mildred as Webster started toward her.

"I said to kick first with the right," stormed the stage manager. "You don't know your right from your left, do you? This is the right."

With the words he brought his heavy soled storm shoe full upon the tip of Mildred's shoe. With a little cry the girl fell forward and was saved from a drop to the stage by the quick action of the girl beside her, who caught the falling figure in her arms and let her gently sink to the stage. She knew the story of those tight shoes. Mildred had borrowed them from a friend in order that she might make a good appearance when she joined the show. She knew the agony the girl must have suffered when the heavy boot came crashing down upon the numbed foot.

For a moment Webster stood looking at the prostrate figure. Then he went back to his position just in front of the footlights. There were angry murmurs from the girls, and at heart Webster was a coward. If he gave them a chance to grow more angry they might attack him in a body, as had happened a couple of years before.

"Stop your fooling and get to work!" he commanded sternly. "All right, Boris."

But Boris held the violin in his lap as he watched the girls raise Mildred. He saw the brave effort she made to hold her place in line, and the white face told how close she was to fainting.

"That girl can't work! You've crippled her!" he called angrily.

Webster turned.

"The girl is faking," he said roughly. "You, miss, come back to line."

"I can't walk," sobbed Mildred.

Webster strode over to where she was sitting and grasped her arm.

"You can and will!" he declared. "If you don't, you leave the company at once!"

He jerked her to her feet. But with a little cry the girl slipped to the floor again, and some of the others rushed to her aid. Webster turned to order them back. But he faced Boris, who had leaped to the stage, and one glance at the leader's face told of trouble.

"You're not going to rehearse and you're not going to fire that girl," said Boris angrily, "and you're going to get one first class licking right now. Put up your hands."

It was not a long fight, but it was a highly artistic punishment. Boris had a long score of his own to settle, and while he was about it he paid the debts of the entire company.

He left Webster cowering in a corner and approached the little group about the girl. Raising her in his arms, he bore her to her dressing room, where the other girls got her shoes off and applied hot dressings. Boris brought a dozen liniments and salves and hovered about the door in case more were wanted. Belle Byrle, who played the old maid, smiled at the look in his face.

"Hard hit, Dick?" she asked, with a laugh. "I don't blame you. She's a nice little thing. I suppose we'll be taking up a collection for a present before the season's over."

"Nonsense," stammered Dick. "I just wanted an excuse for licking Webster."

"Want to bet?" asked Belle teasingly. Boris shook his head. Down in his heart he knew that if it were possible he would win the dainty girl who had been much in his thoughts since she joined the company. Her thanks were a reward that would have atoned even for the loss of his position, but Castle when he heard the facts sustained the leader.

It was three months before Boris got up the courage to put his fate to the test, and it was Webster who was the first to congratulate them.

"A girl who wears tight shoes needs some one to protect her," he said, with characteristic sarcasm. "I'm glad to hear it. Dick deserves to be happy, and—I guess he will," he added as he looked into the girl's eyes, where love shone forth.

Reticence or Ignorance?

The inhabitants of Chinese villages are very ignorant of the places in their own neighborhood, according to an interview with W. J. Garnett, the third secretary of the British legation at Peking, which the Manchester Guardian prints. Mr. Garnett returned a little while ago from a journey through the provinces of Shantung and Kiangsu, and a sample of the conversation that took place when he asked the way from one village to another is below:

"Is this the way to Tsouhsein?"

"Are you going to Tsouhsein?"

"Yes. Is this the way?"

"Oh, you are going to Tsouhsein, are you? Where do you come from?"

"From Chiningchow. Please, is this the way to Tsouhsein?"

"Oh, you've come from Chiningchow, have you? Are you going into the city walls of Tsouhsein?"

Finally the native would admit that he did not know the way to Tsouhsein.

At the entrance to another village an ancient villager was asked what the name of the place was. After asking in turn who Mr. Garnett was, where he had come from, where he was going and why he wanted an inn, he considered the original question when repeated by the patient inquirer and finally closed the conversation by saying:

"How should I know? I am not a learned man."

GUESTS' CARDS.

A New Style Lately Brought Over From Paris.

For even an informal luncheon or dinner guest cards at each plate do much to facilitate the seating of the different members of the party. Even the most clever hostess will frequently forget at the last moment just where she has decided that each guest would find the most congenial neighbor, and a mistake of this sort might have really serious consequences were there any reason why any two persons should be separated, while it would be a pity for two persons who had been carefully chosen for each other beforehand to be placed by mistake at opposite ends of the table. When she is constantly entertaining, however, albeit in an informal manner, elaborate dinner cards will come to quite an item in the course of the winter, yet it must be acknowledged that there is nothing especially pretty about the plain gilt edged card, and certainly it does nothing to make the table more attractive.

A new style of dinner card lately brought over from Paris is certainly ingenious, for not only does it answer all requirements from an economical standpoint, but it also adds much to the effect of the table. This little novelty consisted of a tiny wire rack on the order of a tripod or miniature artist's easel, with one leg in back and two in front and a tiny rack to hold the cards. Tied or wired to this small rack is a tiny cluster of artificial flowers made with the perfection only attained by French workmen, which completely cover the wire stand, while on the rack reposes an ordinary pasteboard card with the name of the guest inscribed upon it. The flowers may be changed according to the decoration of the table—roses, marguerites, ferns, carnations, etc.—and if desired fresh flowers may be tied to the rack with bright colored ribbon, and for a large luncheon or dinner this little ornamentation will do much to help out the picture given by the flowers, crystal, gold and silver.

These little racks could be quite easily made with soft copper wire, and the few clusters of artificial flowers would cost little or nothing and would be delightfully easy to make up. The dinner cards are but a small item and altogether make a quite charming addition to the table, but the hostess had better be watchful lest these card racks be taken away as souvenirs, as is said to have happened once in the case of individual silver saltcellars when they were first introduced.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Little mats of felt or soft material keep fine plates and dishes from being scratched or nicked by piling on shelves.

To make a rice pudding both unusual and good stir raw eggs into the boiled product in the proportion of one egg to each person.

A recipe for paste that will never dry nor turn sour is one teaspoonful of powdered alum and ten drops of clove oil added to a pint of very smooth, thick paste.

When filling oil lamps place a small lump of camphor in the oil vessel. It will greatly improve the light and make the flame clearer and brighter. If you have no camphor, add a few drops of vinegar occasionally.

Lace window curtains should always be soaked for an hour in cold water to which a little borax has been added before being put into warm suds. This gets out the smoky smell that is sometimes so noticeable in curtains that have been used in a town.

Flaked soap is expensive to buy. But you can flake your own by scraping down ordinary soap with a suet scraper. These scrapers are also useful for flaking dripping when in winter it gets too hard to be easily rubbed into flour when making pastry or cakes.

Coffee stains, even when there is cream in the coffee, can be removed from the most delicate silk or woolen fabrics by brushing the spots with pure glycerin. Rinse in lukewarm water and press on the wrong side until quite dry. The glycerin absorbs both the coloring matter and the grease.

If after washing your painted walls you find they have become streaky and dull, use the following: Take equal parts of boiled linseed oil and turpentine. Dip a woolen rag lightly in this and rub well into the wall. The streaks will disappear, the luster return and your walls look like newly painted.

Bloodmaking Goods.

Raw beef is good and may be made palatable in sandwiches. To make raw beef sandwiches grate round steak. This makes a paste which is seasoned only with salt. This mixture may be spread on thin bread or on salted crackers. They may be eaten at any time during the day.

Raw eggs are bloodmakers and may be taken in any way one wishes. The simplest is to take a shallow wineglass, put in a drop of lemon juice and break the egg in this, taking care not to injure the yolk. Over this put four drops of lemon to make the egg go down easily with one swallow. Hold the head back and toss the contents of the glass into the back of the mouth. Eight eggs a day are none too much when one is trying to recuperate.

She could tell offhand their names;
She could tell when Rome was founded

She could tell of styles and fashions

OPTICAL ILLUSIONS.

Striking Examples That May Be Observed in Daily Life.

Doubtless every one has observed while traveling by train that the trees or houses in the distance appear to be speeding along in the same direction as the train, while the nearer objects are fast receding. Many, too, have observed that the top of a level wall built on a steep incline appears to slope upward in a contrary direction to the hill itself at nearly the same angle to the apparent level, and some have curiously regarded the ghostlike gliding and vanishing of dark shadows while passing a double row of fencing, but the following are not so commonly remarked:

One might stand for several minutes watching the revolutions of the cups of an anemometer—for measuring the velocity of the wind—and still be puzzled as to the real way they are turning round. Gaze up at them when there is an uncertain breeze blowing. They revolve rapidly, and you are perhaps perplexed as to their direction. As the wind subsides you would expect to find it easier to tell the direction by the slower revolution; but, as a matter of fact, the difficulty is increased. With the varying speed your first impression is that such and such is the direction. A moment later you reverse that idea, and the longer you gaze the more it seems as if they are spinning round erratically in every possible direction, whereas, of course, they can only turn one way.

Standing immediately beneath a high wall of a building—the longer the wall the better for practical demonstration—many would aver on looking upward that it was not exactly perpendicular, but inclined toward them in a threatening manner. This illusion is the effect of perspective and would be seen to better advantage if you stood between two such walls which faced each other at short distance.

THE GONDOLA.

Its Gliding and Guiding Through Venice's Intricate Canals.

The gondola is so perfectly adapted to its purpose that it is like a sentient thing in the gondolier's control. It obeys the slightest impulse of the oar. Through the narrow and intricate lanes of Venice, with the sharp and baffling turns, it glides with unfailing accuracy. The boatmen have about ten different calls by which they announce their approach, as they come to a corner, the turn they will take in a crowd, their way to right and left and all that. And these calls, half song, half cry, echo day and night, and yet so musical are they that they seem to be merely a part of the brooding silence of Venice.

Indeed the wonder of Venice is how all things—the city and the sea, the boats and the people, the songs and the sky—combine to make one perfect whole, caressing and idle as one of Petrarch's sonnets, which one I care not. Here even death is not merely somber. It is friendly and familiar as well. I saw them put old Paolo to bed for the last time. He had been in his prime a stout gondolier of the traghetto of Santa Sofia, near the Rialto, but in old age was a ragged "hooker" of the gray. In his quarter, however, he was a respected man. Indeed to be old or to be a child is among the gondoliers a title to tenderness and respect. And so when a good man dies in the poorer quarters the neighbors combine and hire a brass band to celebrate his virtues.—Vance Thompson in Outing Magazine.

Sturgeons' Backbones.

From the dried backbone of sturgeon, which has the appearance of macaroni, an excellent Russian soup, called vesiga, is made. It is excessively nutritive and invigorating, almost as much so, indeed, as the famous beche de mar (not mer), otherwise the trapang, or edible sea slug. It is collected in large quantities throughout the Indian archipelago, especially to the eastward, for the China market. There are many varieties, such as the large scarlet trapang from Macassar, the Kuroke trapang from Borneo, the great black trapang from Leuconia and many more. Properly prepared, this is absolutely the most inspiring soup there is and is as superior to turtle as the latter is to water gruel. It costs about $2.50 per pound.

"REINCARNATION" IN INDIA.

Weird Stories That Babies Have Souls of British Officers.

Within the last few weeks a most extraordinary case of alleged reincarnation—claimed to be the soul of a British officer—has made its appearance in Burmah. It is the second of its kind in recent years, and has accordingly attracted widespread attention.

Reincarnation is a fundamental doctrine of Buddhism, and a reincarnation of a human identity, in human form, though changed in outward aspect, is called a "minza." As a rule, the "minza" is an ordinary looking child, in no way different from his childish companions.

A few years back A. W. Tucker, district superintendent of police in Pegu, was killed by a gang of dacoits whom he rashly attacked at close quarters after discharging his revolver and without waiting to reload it. His call to his orderly to fetch ammunition gave the clew to the dacoits, and they killed him.

Just about the time this tragedy was being enacted in one part of the district a humble Burmese woman gave birth to a baby boy who in time, before the days of his babyhood were well over, claimed to be no less a personage than the murdered police officer. So circumstantial were his accounts of the encounter with the dacoits as to appear the narrative of an eye-witness, and when questioned on various other points in connection with the life of the deceased officer he is asserted to have answered with such exactitude that the Burmese people who flocked to hear him discourse were convinced of the truth of his assertions. Peculiarities of action and speech were faithfully reproduced, and, generally, quite a sensation was created.

Within the last few weeks a still more interesting case of "minza" has made its appearance, and I cannot do better than quote the account of a Rangoon Times correspondent from Meiktilla:

"There is a little blue-eyed, light-haired boy here, between 3 and 4 years old, the son of hard-working and matter of fact Burmese parents belonging to the laboring classes, who until quite recently prattled like any other child of that age. The other day, however, he astonished his mother by gravely claiming that he was the late Major D. J. Welsh, Border Regiment, come to life again, and went on to describe the house where he had previously lived, the number of ponies he had, and other personal matters.

"His mother was frightened, and called in the neighbors, to whom the queer albino repeated his story, describing how he and two others—a lady and a gentleman—were drowned in the Meiktilla lake in a boating accident during a storm at night in March, 1904, when the three and only occupants of the boat perished.

"That is the year in which Mrs. Reade, Lieut. A. W. Quinlan, and Major Welsh, both of the Border Regiment, did lose their lives in this manner (as a consequence of omitting to put down the centreboard of their sailing boat).

"Large crowds assemble daily to hear the little child-man speak. Of course, skeptics will say that it is a 'put up job.' The answer to this is that Burmese coolies are not given to romancing to such an extent. Several methods have been applied to test the genuineness of the child's utterances, and people are satisfied that he has not been tutored.

"The parents would have to be wideawake sharpers indeed to succeed in foisting such a story on the public through the instrumentality of a mere infant, and there is no suggestion that they are not what they appear to be—viz.: simple-minded folk."

MISERABLE AND UNTRUTHFUL

Countess Says She Never "Squealed" on King Edward.

"A miserable and untruthful story has been running in the American papers about me for 12 years," said the Countess of Warwick to a reporter recently when interviewed at the Hotel Webster, New York.

"Twelve years ago there was a baccarat scandal in England, in which the present King was mixed up. Ever since then, at stated intervals, the American press has connected me with it, referring to me as the 'Babbling Brooke.' Just before my arrival it was printed again.

"I want to say there is not the slightest truth in it. At the time I was in mourning for my stepfather, and knew nothing about it. I never played cards in my life. I don't know one from another, and I have never been inside the house where this same occurred. It is the work of enemies who dare not publish it in the English papers, so get the American papers to injure me."

Young Folks

A QUEER GIANT.

Suggestion For a Trick That Will Promote Lots of Merriment.

Some evening when your friends have come in to spend an hour with you and conversation lags you and one of your friends can impersonate this queer looking giant and cause much merriment.

Select a boy much smaller than yourself and seat him astride on your shoulder, draping your combined figures with a shawl or long cloak. Disguise your friend's face by making a mustache with a piece of burnt cork and ornament his head with a high hat.

HOW THE GIANT IS MADE.

The more complete the disguise the more effective is the giant. If some ready witted and genial member of the party will undertake to act as showman and exhibit the giant holding a lively conversation with him and calling attention to his gigantic idiosyncrasies, a great deal of fun may be produced. The joke should not, however, be very long continued, as the feelings of the person carrying the other must be considered.

THE SMOKE OF A CIGAR.

Why It Is Now White and Again Blue Scientifically Explained.

If you will notice a smoker you will see that when he "puffs" vigorously the smoke that comes out of his mouth is whitish, but if he holds the cigar in his hand the smoke that curls up from it is blue. Are any boys and girls close enough observers to have noticed that? And if they have, do they know the reason? It is this: The particles that compose the smoke that comes from the mouth are coarser than those from the end of the cigar. But what, you may ask, has the fineness of the particles to do with it? This: Blue waves of light are the shortest of all the colors, and it is the finer particles that catch and reflect those waves. When the smoke is drawn through the cigar it takes up coarser particles, and when it is thrown out of the mouth those coarser particles reflect all the light waves, thus producing on our eyes the sensation of white. The blue tint of the sky, as was explained to you some time ago, is made by the fine dust particles of the upper air, which catch and reflect the blue light waves.—Chicago News.

Little Jack-Horner.

Do you know that Jack Horner of Mother Goose fame was a real person? The story is that the abbot of Glastonbury, hearing that King Henry VIII. had spoken with indignation of his building such a kitchen as the king could not burn down, sent his steward, Jack Horner, to present the king with a bribe or peace offering. This was a pie containing the deeds of twelve manors. Jack, wishing to "take toll" and thus provide himself, lifted the crust of the pie and took out the deed to the manor of Wells, telling the abbot on his return that the king had given it to him; hence the old rhyme:

He put in his thumb
And pulled out a plum,
Saying, "What a brave boy am I!"

Just For Fun.

A painter who fell down while he was carrying a paint pot in each hand remarked, "I came down with flying colors."

All in an Hour.

"Eight o'clock. Why, it's almost school time!"
And Ted looked up at the sun.
"There's really no use in beginning
When you can't get anything done!"
So he wasted a whole long hour.
Tick, tick, it went slowly by.
What wonders he might have accomplished
Had he only the pluck to try!

"An hour! Why, that's sixty minutes!"
Cried Dick, with his face aglow.
"I've time to read over my lessons
And run on an errand or so!"
He blacked father's boots in addition,
Combed Brother Bob's curly brown hair,
Mailed some letters and brought in the news
And then had three minutes to spare!

MUSIC AND THE MASSES.

Popular Opinion Should Be Educated to Be the Arbiter as to Merit.

Give me the approval of the masses, and I can survive without the aristocracy or the critics; not that the latter are to be despised or ignored, but their minority decision should not be final.

What makes or breaks great works on their first performance in Europe? Not the verdict of the aristocracy nor of the critics, but the masses, the common people. It is in the galleries that the battle is waged, with hisses and applause, and it is upon the prevailing opinion of this portion of the audience that the fate of a work depends. But in America, alas, the masses do nothing. It is the critic who assumes to tell this nation what is good work and what bad, and I believe and am daring enough to say that there is no man or small coterie of men capable of teaching a nation art. It needs the battle of minds among the people, and again I say, alas, our people, our masses, have not yet been musically educated, have not yet had an opportunity to live in the proper musical atmosphere.

One great drawback for the masses here is that the opera season lasts but a few months and that the prices of the limited number of representations during that brief period are so very high that the people generally cannot afford to go. It is dreadful to me to realize that it is the very people whose souls long for music and who sooner or later will, I believe, be the chief factors in building it up here as they have been in Europe and who are now denied the opportunity not only of satisfying themselves, but of lending their aid to the spread of art feeling and comprehension.—Mary Garden in Everybody's.

MOVING PICTURES.

Sir John Herschel after dinner in 1826 asked his friend, Charles Babbage, how he would show both sides of a shilling at once. Babbage replied by taking a shilling from his pocket and holding it to a mirror. This did not satisfy Sir John, who set the shilling spinning upon the dinner table, at the same time pointing out that if the eye is placed on a level with the rotating coin both sides can be seen at once. Babbage was so struck by the experiment that the next day he described it to a friend, Dr. Fitson, who immediately made a working model. On one side of a disk was drawn a bird, on the other side an empty birdcage. When the card was revolved on a silk thread the bird appeared to be in the cage. This model showed the persistence of vision upon which all moving pictures depend for their effect. The eye retains the image of the object seen for a fraction of a second after the object has been removed. This model was called the thaumotrope. Next came the zoetrope, or wheel of life. A cylinder was perforated with a series of slots, and within the cylinder was placed a band of drawings of dancing men. On the apparatus being slowly rotated the figures seen through the slots appeared to be in motion. The first systematic photographs taken at regular intervals of men and animals were made by Muybridge in 1877.

Antiquity of Petroleum.

Though it is only within recent times that petroleum has become an article of commerce, there is abundant proof that it was used in the arts forty centuries ago. The mortar used in constructing the walls of Nineveh and Babylon had petroleum mixed with it for the purpose of securing greater cohesion and excluding dampness. Traces of the bituminous matter are very distinct in the ruins, and the existence of petroleum springs at Is, some 120 miles from old Babylon, indicates one source of the supply. In the ancient history of several eastern countries allusion is made in unmistakable terms to the existence of petroleum springs.

Strong Room Perils.

Before now people have been shut in strong rooms and have had narrow escapes. On one occasion a locksmith was repairing an interior safe in the strong room of a New York bank when the cashier closed the vault door. As it was worked by a time lock it meant that the door would remain closed until the following morning. Fortunately the man knew the secrets of his stronghold and by opening a manhole was able to obtain a sufficient supply of air. He then made a pillow of a bag of dollar bills and composed himself to sleep until the door was opened next morning.—Strand Magazine.

Easy Shopping.

There is little trouble attached to shopping in Buenos Aires. When a citizen with a plethoric purse goes to market he buys his vegetables in piles without regard to quantity or quality. Nothing is bought by weight. If a man wants beef he simply tells the butcher he wants some meat, and he gets a chunk, pays the price and goes home satisfied.

Knew Where It Went.

"Are you one of those mean spirited men who ask their wives what they do with the money they receive?"

"Certainly not," answered Mr. Meekton. "I don't have to ask my wife. She plays bridge whist."

Without Ears but Can Hear.

The New Jersey School For the Deaf has a pupil who, though without ears, is able to hear. The pupil is John Hetzel of Jersey City. Superintendent John Walker of the school is of the opinion that the kid's sense of hearing lies in his mouth. Where ears should be on the boy's head there are no holes, and the only resemblance to ears are small lobes.—Trenton Times.

A TARDY RECOGNITION.

The Absentminded Professor and a Most Intelligent Woman

It was La Fontaine, the fable writer who in his son's absence during several years in pursuit of an education quite forgot him and was not reminded of his existence until a friend arranged a surprise meeting.

The father was pleased with the manners and wit of the young man presented to him, but failed to recognize him and as soon as they parted promptly forgot him again.

La Fontaine was a genius and a kindly man, but one can hardly disever absentmindedness of such a sort from shallow heartedness. Nevertheless in the case of Professor, let us say, Jones, who failed to recognise his daughter after a year's separation, the bond of affection was both strong and deep.

Mary, his only daughter, married and went abroad with her husband. Their return was a week or two before the date appointed, and owing to a series of misunderstandings and errors the professor was not informed, was not at home when they arrived and met them first at the house of a neighbor, where they had gone to inquire about him.

A reception was in progress there, and he arrived some time after them as a guest and still unaware of their return. Strolling into his friend's library, away from the crowd, he became aware, as he was inspecting the books, of some ladies in conversation on the other side of a portiere, one of whom displayed an astonishing amount of knowledge of his own particular hobby. He was surprised and delighted.

"There's a lady in the next room you must positively present me to," he said eagerly to his host, who had joined him—"a most intelligent woman! She's been talking of the prehistoric races in a surprisingly discriminating manner. Who is she?"

"A Mrs. Smith, I believe," replied the host, much amused, since he knew who the lady was. "Come—I will present you now."

They passed the curtain, and the professor, who had failed to connect the name of Mrs. Smith with his Mary, was duly introduced, for the ladies had overheard his inquiry and the reply and were disposed to keep up the joke. Peering shortsightedly through his big glasses, which, by his usual mistake, were his reading glasses when they should have been his object glasses, he did not recognize Mary when he saw her, and the father and daughter actually opened a conversation on prehistoric man and carried it on for several minutes before the strain proved too much.

Then the listeners broke down in laughter, and Mary, with a cry that she could not keep it up any longer, caught the old gentleman around the neck and kissed him.

"Bless my soul, Mrs. Smith!" he gasped, bewildered. "Why—Mary!"

When Children Went to War.

Among other improvements in the art of war as attained by the world in these later days is the abolition of the practice of sending children to sea, as was the case when the midshipmen of the old "oak walls" of England often were boys of less than fourteen years.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava in telling about the siege of Bomarsund, in the Crimean war, which he witnessed from the frigate Penelope, related this story of one of these little fellows.

"What pleased me most during the whole business," he says, "was the gallant behavior of a little midshipman, a mere child; thirteen or fourteen years of age. About the time when the fire became pretty hot I happened to come across him, and, as he seemed to be as much out of a job as myself, I touched my cap and took the liberty of observing that it was a fine day, to which he politely replied that it was.

"Encouraged by his urbanity, I ventured to ask him how long he had been at sea, to which he answered, 'I have only left my mamma six weeks, but I ain't going to cry on her majesty's quarter deck,' a remark which I think as worth recording as many a one made by more illustrious heroes. Soon after this, however, a man was killed close to him, and the little fellow fainted and was taken below."

The Wonders of Medical Science.

"Doctor, can I eat between meals if I feel a craving for the food?"

"Certainly."

"But last summer you said that I should eat only at mealtime."

"Yes, but at that time you had no craving."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Real Sentiment.

"What you need most," said the kind old lady, "is a change of shirt."

"Mebby dat's right, ma'am," replied the unlaundered hobo. "but I ain't de kind uv guy t' t'row down a bosom friend."—Detroit Tribune.

Woman's World

PRINCESS LWOFF PARLAGHY.

Hungarian Artist Who Is Making a Sketch of President Roosevelt.

The Princess Iitina Lwoff Parlaghy—by birth Hungarian and a genius, by marriage Russian and a princess—is in this country for a few weeks before taking her way westward to the Pacific coast en route for Japan and ultimately for India.

The princess is probably the most "decorated" woman in Europe outside of the ladies of the royal families, who receive orders and colonelcies and things of that sort merely as perquisites of their position. Her decorations are in recognition not of her birth, but of her art. Even so, they might be regarded as largely the product of social "pull," the grateful and perhaps overcordial acknowledgment of too rare talent in the nobility were it not for the fact that many of her portraits have been bought for the great galleries of Europe, a tribute to genius which is never granted to mere social pull.

Her unusual talent gained her when less than ten years old admission to the classes of the great Von Linbach, in Munich, where women were rarely and children never received. Since then she has painted the portraits of more royal and princely persons, more persons of distinction in all lines of human endeavor—statesmen, scientists, philosophers, philanthropists, lions literary and lions artistic—than any one living. It is noticeable, however, that she has painted few women and that those whom she has painted have been elderly if not actually old women. The smooth skin and shining hair, the roses and lilies of youth, the purple and fine linen of wealth do not appeal to her as subjects for her brush. She is credited with being over here now to paint a portrait of President Roosevelt, but she herself says not.

"I do not expect to paint M. le President," she says. "I have not time to do it even if he had time to give me sittings. I hope to make a sketch of him—for my own pleasure, you understand—but not a finished portrait.

English Sunday Condemned.

Germans have no more friendly feeling towards the English Sabbath than Britons entertain towards the Continental Sunday. Just recently a conference was held at Frankfort, which had for its object the promotion of the observance of the Sabbath and the introduction of the rigid laws which prevail on that day throughout England.

The very idea seems to have set the Germans' teeth on edge, for in the same town recently a mass meeting was held to protest against the introduction of the English Sunday into Germany. The meeting was characterized by great enthusiasm, Herr Steinbach, the principal speaker, declared that the "English Sunday" would drive the population of Germany, which was now extremely sober, into the public-houses to drown the Sabbatarian dullness in beer.

Herr Hessenberg, another speaker, declared that even one Sunday in London brought on a severe attack of melancholia, necessitating a "cure" in order to restore his balance of mind.

In the opinion of Herr Steinfurth, the observance of Sunday in England was purely external. German people would rise up in thousands to resist any attempt to foist the "English Sunday" upon them.

A strongly-worded resolution to this effect was unanimously adopted

Where He Saved.

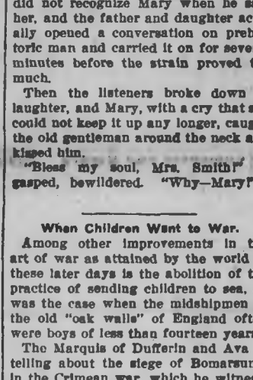
"I am buying my cigars by the box now."

"Do you find that cheaper?"

"A great deal."

"But your friends expect so many more."

"That is all right. They can have them. You see, when I buy one cigar at a time it is a cash transaction, and when I buy them by the box I can have them charged."



Tooke SHIRTS
The button hole for the stud, in the back of the neck in our shirts, is not placed in the neck-band as it is in all other shirts.
Instead, there's a small flexible tab of stout cotton with a button-hole in it, as illustrated.
Easy to put in the stud, and it cannot chafe the neck.
This feature alone should make every man give Tooke Shirts a trial—after that the shirt will do its own talking.
Tooke Shirts are the only shirts that have this tab feature.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

The New Jumper Suit and Its Many Variations.

A SMART PINAFORE SHAPE.

A Soft, Open Mesh Veiling Very Attractive For These Costumes—It Comes In All the Fashionable Spring Colors.

The distinct difference between the jumper suit of last spring and this season is in the fact that the latter has the chemisette and jumper in one piece.

While this is true of many of the best frocks, it does not mean that the separate jumper will be out of style. It will be worn in cloth, linen and even ginghams more than ever.

Last year's style, which was like a nurse's apron, is not in demand. This is in the shape of wide folds over shoulders, with a loose cap for sleeves and straps across the front and back, joining the bretelles.

If a woman owns one of these, it is quite correct to wear it, but the newer

When these pinafore jumpers are made of any of the new soft spring fabrics, such as marquisette, chiffon veiling and heavy messaline, they are attached to a lining, and the yoke and sleeves are put in also to the lining.

When cotton and linen, serge and lansdowne are used for summer jumpers, the pinafore is made separate in order that one may utilize the blouses on hand. If the frock is dressy, it is also well to have an extra chemisette and ruffled sleeves attached to a fitted lining, which can be worn under the jumper for dressy afternoon affairs. There is a soft veiling very open in its mesh, but silky, that comes in all the fashionable colors. In blue, nile green, salmon pink and pale gray it is used for these jumper suits to be worn for all indoor occasions.

You can see how convenient and serviceable such a frock would be all the year round. It need not be made over taffeta, but it should be made over some soft imitation silk. One of the waists illustrated is a charming

AN EVENING BODICE.

French model of the jumper variety. The second cut shows an evening bodice with a berths of lace.

There are things which will help out wonderfully in the coming schemes of dress, and there are [illegible]les of wearing apparel which will assist the woman of good taste to be always suitably gowned. For one thing, there are the new net boleros which are jetted so that they can be worn over nearly any waist. The net is very soft and fine, and the jets cover the bolero until it glistens like a coat of mail. The popular color is black, though very pretty effects are obtained in gray, in steel blue, in heliotrope and in white. The bolero is sleeveless or it has merely little shoulder caps with short wide sleeves, and it is worn over a white lace waist with telling effect.

AMY VARNUM.

A FANCY APRON.

Intended For Use In Serving a Chafing Dish Supper.

The fancy apron now plays a more important part in the wardrobe of the up to date woman than for some time past. The popularity of the chafing dish has been a factor in this development, and the young girl or matron who does not own one or more fancy aprons is an exception. Fine, sheer materials naturally have the preference, and white takes the lead, but among the daintily figured stuffs that are so alluring are many that serve admirably for the fashioning of these aprons.

In the accompanying sketch is shown a particularly fetching little apron of figured lawn. As indicated, it is made from two squares of the material, the apron part simply requiring a little featherstitching around the hem on three sides and a little rounding out at the waist line to be ready. The bib calls for more work, as the circular opening for the head must be carefully measured and neatly finished. The two squares are adjusted at the waist with a little stitching, the cut-out material serving for the narrow belt that fastens with a buttonhole. A feature that distinguishes this apron from others similarly fashioned is that the bib in the back comes down to meet the waist line and is attached to the belt button. Large bandanna handkerchiefs are serviceable for aprons of this type, which are practical as well as pretty.

LEAP YEAR LOVE TESTS.

Flirtatious Maidens Send Them to Young Men They Love Most.

There is a little token called the "love test" which the flirtatious maiden makes in leap year and sends to the young man she fancies most, or if she is the typical girl of 1908, practical, heart whole and fancy free, she sends several of them to as many of her admirers.

A piece of cardboard 7 by 9 inches is selected and gashed in nine places to admit ribbons from an inch to an inch and a half in width. These are selected in colors corresponding with those in the couplets which are either lettered on the ribbon itself or on the cardboard above it. The girl who is something of an artist may carry out the color scheme of the ribbons in a border of flowers painted around the sides and top, cutting the cardboard away from part of the flowers to make an irregular edge. Blue cornflowers, black pansies, orange blossoms, yellow daisies, fern leaves, little brown button mums, red carnations, heliotrope and violets are painted in over the ribbons, which hang in a long irregular fringe and which, if well selected, make a beautiful color scheme when arranged in the order mentioned.

The maiden who is not overbold omits the white ribbon and uses it as a hanger, thus making it more difficult for the man to get it out, with the consequently better chance of tempting him to the coveted proposal. If the flowers are used, these couplets are lettered on the ribbons:

If to me your heart is true,
Send me back the blue.

If for me all thought you lack,
Send me back the black.

Should you think of the marriage rite,
Send me back the white.

If you're already an engaged fellow,
Confess and send me back the yellow.

Should pique be what your cold airs mean,
Set me at rest and send the green.

But if at thought of me you frown
Tell me the worst and send the brown.

If on thrills for me your heart is fed,
Quick, oh, quickly send the red!

If you are a friend for stormy weather,
Send the heliotrope, like purple heather.

If for what is past you suffer yet,
Send me back the violet.

Thoughtful.

Mrs. Stubb—Gracious! How thoughtful of him to take his umbrella along.—Chicago News.

"Banner" Spring Bed—$8
Is Guaranteed for a Lifetime

There are Damascus Swords—200, 300 and 400 years old—which can be bent double and yet will spring back, straight and true, when released. These blades were tempered right.

The "Banner" Spring Bed is guaranteed for a lifetime because the steel spirals are oil tempered like a sword—and will retain their strength and springiness through years of service.

It is the resiliency (or "spring") of the steel spirals, which makes the "Banner" Spring Bed so easy and comfortable.

The spirals, after being carefully tested, are japanned—to prevent rusting. Then they are attached to flat steel bands on edge, which are riveted to angle iron sides. This insures the "Banner" being absolutely noiseless—and enables it to fit iron beds without slats.

Springs that cost $3 or $4 soon pull out of shape—"sag" like a hammock—are never restful and easy—and must soon be replaced. The "Banner" Spring Bed costs $8—lasts a lifetime—and gives a lifetime of comfort and satisfaction. Who can doubt the true economy of the "Banner"?

Look for this trademark whenever you buy Spring Beds and Bedding. It is your protection and our guarantee.

WAS FAITHFUL SERVANT.

King Edward Truly Sorry Campbell-Bannerman Is Gone.

London, April 24.—He was the faithful servant of his country; I am truly sorry he has gone," is the expression of King Edward, used on hearing at Copenhagen of the death of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and it expresses the deep feeling of regret, as for a personal loss, underlying the tributes given in ungrudging measures by public men and newspapers of all shades of opinion.

The Chronicle in an editorial yesterday morning says:

"He was one of the examples our public life often affords of the dominance of character. It was by force of character rather than by intellectual genius or emotional fervor that he led his party to unprecedented victory."

Gen. Louis Botha, Premier of the Transvaal, telegraphed a warm tribute, saying:

"The Empire loses one of its wisest men and the Transvaal one of its truest friends. In securing self-government for the new colonies he raised an imperishable monument to himself and laid the foundation of a united South Africa."

Almost all the morning papers recall as one of the most striking successes of Sir Henry's political career and the triumph of the tact, the manner in which he secured the resignation of the late Duke of Cambridge as commander-in-chief of the army.

Contractors Held Liable for Drowning at Gananoque.

Brockville, April 24.—An interesting case was on trial here before Hon. Justice Magee and a jury, being an action brought by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pennock of Gananoque, against Mitchell and Wilson of the same place, to recover damages for negligence, which resulted in the death of their daughter on Dec. 19, 1906.

The defendants are contractors and builders and the owners of a tug boat and scow plying the St. Lawrence. They arrived at Gananoque with the scow from Brockville and tied up their craft. They broke their way through nine inches of ice and two days after the deceased young lady, skating with Lionel Berry, went on and through the ice. Both were precipitated into the water, but Berry was saved and Miss Pennock drowned. The defendants, after breaking the ice, failed to protect this aperture and on this point damages were asked. The leading witness for the defence was Capt. Lashay, whose evidence was mainly to the point that Miss Pennock and Berry skated into an ice-hole. The space through which they went in was four feet square and within a few inches the morning after the drowning a horse could have stood on the ice where the boats had been previously pulled through to the dock.

At one o'clock yesterday morning, after six hours' deliberation, the jury awarded the plaintiff $500 damages.

Children's Horrible Death.

Lunenburg, N.S., April 24.—Report of a horrible accident comes from West Lahave Ferry, where two little daughters of Henry Pernette, aged 9 and 11 years, went together for mayflowers.

There is a sawmill in the vicinity, and the children were in the habit of taking a short cut under the wheel when the mill was idle, to shorten the distance.

On this occasion the father warned them not to go in that direction, as the mill was to be set going.

The children did not heed the warning, and when they were half way under the wheel started.

The mill men noticing an obstruction stopped the machinery and found the little ones crushed beyond recognition.

Family Lost In Prairie Fire.

Battleford, Sask., April 24.—Miss Anna Matthews is the only survivor of a family of five as the result of prairie fires in the Tramping Lake district.

The father went to fight flames which were sweeping down on their little home and perished in the attempt.

The house took fire, and Anna Matthews, 18 years of age, with her clothes ablaze, carried her five-year-old brother and sister to a place of safety and returned for her mother, but was to late.

The girl fought her way again through the sea of fire only to find the other children had wandered into the fire zone and perished.

Wrecked.

A large and robust Irishwoman appeared in a New York court recently to prosecute a case in which her husband was charged with having beaten her. The defendant, a small, stoop shouldered man, had the appearance of having been run through a thrashing machine and seemed scarcely able to stand. The judge surveyed the two with an amused light in his eyes.

"You say this man beat you?" he asked the woman.

"He did not," the prosecuting witness said with emphasis, folding her powerful arms. "He knocked me down."

"You mean to tell me you were knocked down by that physical wreck?" the judge queried.

"'Tis only since he struck me that he's been a physical wreck, your honor," she explained.—Harper's Weekly.

TORONTO, April 23.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday, as reported by the railways, were 101 carloads, composed of 1539 cattle, 1809 hogs, 160 sheeps and yearling lambs, with about 100 spring lambs, and 493 calves of all descriptions.

Exporters.

A very few export steers were sold at prices ranging all the way from $5 to $6 per cwt., some of which were bought to kill for the local trade; export bulls sold at $4 to $5 per cwt.

Butchers.

Picked butchers, amongst which were cattle heavy enough for export, sold at $5.75 to $6; loads of good, $5.20 to $5.65; medium, $4.85 to $5.12½; good cows, at $4.25 to $4.60; common cows, $3.50 to $4; canners and rough cows, $1.00 to $3.25 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report fairly large receipts this week, especially the light stockers. If this class come in as freely next week they will suffer a decline unless outside buyers are more numerous. The 850 to 1100 pound steers are none too plentiful and this class will hold steady.

Messrs. Murby bought about 350 head this week at the following quotations: Good steers, 1000 to 1100 lbs. each, at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; good steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., each, at $4.25 to $4.75; good steers, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.90 to $4.25; good steers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, at $3.25 to $3.90; light stockers, 400 to 600 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.25.

Veal Calves.

About 500 calves, principally of the dairy class, sold at lower prices, ranging from $2 to $5.25 per cwt. Choice new milk fed and properly finished calves, would bring $6 and probably $7 per cwt., but prices are weaker than at any time this season.

SOMEWHAT SENSATIONAL.

Serious Charges Against Medical Men at Victoria.

Victoria, April 24.—The court was crowded yesterday when Dr. Gareshe, dentist, charged with procuring an abortion, and Dr. Carter, charged with a criminal operation on a 17-year-old girl, Miss Kitty G. McIntosh, who worked in the dentist's office, came up for a hearing. Three weeks later the girl was taken violently ill and Dr. Frank Hall was called. He refused to have anything to do with the case until told who was responsible and who operated. Then it required great skill and care to save the girl's life.

Negotiations for a settlement followed, which involve the Medical Council and Legal Society. A solicitor was advised and through his efforts $750 was accepted from Gareshe. It appears the solicitor also brought the matter to the attention of the police commissioners, advising them to take no public action. The case was adjourned till Monday. Both men are out on $10,000 bail.

THE SEARCH FOR MOIR.

Detectives Believed They Have Located Him at Ingersoll.

Woodstock, April 24.—While police officers and sleuths are busy searching the country in the neighborhood of Goderich and Stratford for trace of Pte. Moir, the cowardly murderer of Col.-Sergt. Lloyd, it is probable that the notorious fugitive is at present hiding somewhere in the County of Oxford.

A man, answering in every detail to Moir, was found in the Noxon building engine house in Ingersoll by Watchman Meikle yesterday morning at about 6 o'clock. The fellow was travel-worn and said in a Scotch accent that he wanted to get warm. He got out of the building as quickly as possible and struck for the G.T.R. tracks. Wednesday the same man, according to the description, was in the vicinity of the Village of Maplewood. He begged for food from several farmers.

To Remove Pulp Tariff.

Washington, April 24.—All of the members of the House of Representatives yesterday received telegrams from the publishers attending the annual meetings in New York of the Associated Press and the Newspaper Publishers' Association, urging action on the bill removing the tariff from print paper and wood pulp. In reply Hon. John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader, sent the following:

"I join in your protest. Get the Speaker to recognize me or someone else to make a motion, and it will pass. It is up to him."

Robbers Held Up Club.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 24.—Four masked men with levelled revolvers entered the club-house of the Indiana Club, on Central avenue, early yesterday, forced the occupants to line up alongside the wall and looted the place of $10,000.

The occupants were then locked in a room and the robbers escaped.

Poisoned by Wild Parsnips.

Kittaning, Pa., April 24.—Two sons of Jacob Garuer, aged 10 and 12 years, were found dead in a field at Hawthorne, near here, yesterday, death having been caused by eating wild parsnips.

PAPER BAG WITH HANDLE.

Novel Way of Carrying Twelve Bags at Once.

In the near future the up to date grocer, baker, etc., will be handing goods to his customers in the novel paper bag shown below. This bag is similar in shape and size to the usual paper bag, except that the sides and the bottom are foldable. The sides of the bag are perforated near the top. When the bag is flat the perforations will form two holes adapted to receive a loop of string having the ends tied.

A NOVEL BAG.

When the bag is filled the string forms a handle by which the bag can be carried. The length of the string forming the handle is sufficient to permit the bag to be fully opened for the insertion or removal of the contents. The bag is of course re-enforced and strengthened at the perforations for the purpose of preventing tearing of the sides of the bag by the flexible handle. It will be obvious that one person could readily carry a dozen such bags filled with articles with one hand, whereas with the ordinary bag the carrying capacity would be limited.

Your Husband's People.

Be as courteous and considerate to your husband's people as you would be to your own.

Do not think that every fault found, every disagreeable word uttered, is directed at you.

Don't gossip to your husband about his people. Tell him of the pleasant things they do and not of the unpleasant things.

Do not try to keep him from them. Encourage his devotion to those of his own kin, and you will be very certain it will not be greater than it is for you.

When you married your husband you married his family, in a way, and you can show no greater love and tenderness to him than by giving and inviting love and respect from his people.

The Awkward Mrs.

A curiously awkward word, if it be a word, is "Mrs." It is not spelled as it is pronounced—no one but a Welshman or a Pole would be equal to pronouncing it as it is spelled—and its pronunciation is a clumsy contraction of the good old English designation "mistress."

In days of old, when leisure had not become, as it is now, almost a forgotten luxury and people were less anxious to clip their speech, the full pronunciation was often used, and "mistress" was not altogether elbowed out of existence by the vulgar "missis."

But nowadays "mistress" has become as much a term of opprobrium as honor, and consequently the contracted pronunciation of "Mrs." has prevailed and holds the field.

Another point worth noting in the history of the designation is that about 150 years ago and earlier "Mrs." was applied quite impartially to unmarried as well as married ladies. Even children were sometimes styled "Mrs."

The burial of an infant daughter of John Milton, who died at the age of five months, is recorded in the parish register of St. Margaret, Westminster, and her name is entered as "Mrs. Katherine Milton," followed by a small "c" to indicate that a child is meant. But this may be regarded as an exceptional use of the title.

MAY CAUSE A SPLIT IN IRELAND

Irish Party Divided in Allegiance to New Premier.

EAGER FOR THE CAMPAIGN

Nationalists Distrust Mr. Asquith—More Experienced Members In Favor of Giving a Trial—All Anxious Not to Imperil University Bill —New Conference on Irish Land Question.

Dublin, April 24.—The change of Prime Ministers is likely to have important consequences on the political situation in Ireland. H. H. Asquith, the new Premier, is not trusted by the Nationalists and his accession to office is giving rise to a restlessness similar to that which followed the resignation of the Irish Councils Bill. Some of the junior members of the Irish party are eager for a campaign of actual opposition to be opened by an attack on Winston Churchill's candidature at Manchester. The more experienced members, however, are in favor of giving Mr. Asquith a trial. The position is complicated by the production of the University Bill, which is generally approved in Ireland, and which the more solid elements of politics are anxious not to imperil. The tangle of the Land Act finance has also to be unraveled before a forward movement on the National question can be safely undertaken.

Meantime William O'Brien is about to summon a new conference on the land question, with Gen. Sir William Butler as chairman. The report of the congested districts commission is ready for publication. Sir Anthony MacDonnell's recommendations have been rejected by the majority of the committee and in consequence he is resigning his position as Under-Secretary for Ireland. It is possible he may be rewarded by a peerage for his services in India and Ireland, and as he is without an heir and the honor would be merely a life peerage, he will be succeeded by Sir James Dougherty, Assistant Under-Secretary, an Ulster Gladstonian Liberal and Presbyterian. The Sinn Fein party is endeavoring to make political capital out of the Asquith succession, urging it as a proof of the failure of Parliamentarianism. The production of the University Bill and the expected land legislation, however, hampers their campaign, as the measures will be generally accepted as sufficiently profitable results of the year's work of the Irish party.

News of the detention of a shipment of Scotch whisky by the customs officials of New York, on the ground that the labels do not disclose the presence of coloring matter, has dropped like a bombshell among the Scotch distillers and has aroused much ire. Representatives of the distillers visited the Foreign Office here yesterday afternoon and brought the matter to the urgent attention of the officials. Later it was declared that instructions have been cabled to James Bryce, the British Ambassador at Washington, in the premises.

Cabinet Minister Re-elected.

London, April 24.—Walter Runsiman, the first of Mr. Asquith's new Ministers to submit to an electoral contest, was re-elected for Dewsburg yesterday by a majority of 1,146, as compared with a majority of 3,830 received by him in 1906 against the same opponent, W. P. Boyd-Carpenter, Unionist.

Mr. Runciman is President of the Board of Education.

Acquitted of Manslaughter.

Montreal, April 24.—Joseph Lafiamme, accused of manslaughter of William Kaiser on March 29, by poking his umbrella into Kaiser's brain through the eye during a fight on a street car, was acquitted yesterday.

Arrested For Passing Checks.

St. Catharines, April 24.—Arthur Slater, who attempted to pass two bogus checks on the agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, and also on the Sterling Bank at Jordan on Wednesday, is now in the county jail.

DETERMINED TO TAKE DRASTIC STEPS

President Cabrera to Crush Out Spout of Revolution.

CONSPIRATORS ARE SHOT

Eighteen Ringleaders in Recent Assassination Plot Promptly Executed —Many More to Suffer Death Penalty — Prisoners Implicated in New Attempt — Will Preserve Order With Strong Hand.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, April 24.—President Cabrera himself is authority for the statement that 18 of the ringleaders in a conspiracy against him already have been shot to death and that probably more executions will follow.

President Cabrera, against whose life an attempt was made by students on Monday last, yesterday received the representatives of the various powers and made a lengthy statement to them that he had unearthed an extensive conspiracy against him, that led up to his attempted assassination. He declared that 18 of the leaders had been executed by his orders and that the death penalty would be meted out to others already in the hands of the military.

Among these are the men who were imprisoned a year ago, having been implicated in a plot to assassinate the President. They were sentenced to death soon after their arrest, but the sentence had not been carried out. President Cabrera said that he had proof that a majority of these prisoners were implicated in the new attempt against his life and that they would be executed without delay.

The President has issued a proclamation stating that he is confident the people are with him and that he will preserve order with a strong hand.

Although there is a surface tranquility here, conditions really are serious. The military is in control of the city and a partial suspension of business has resulted. The revolutionary feeling is strong in many quarters.

Gen. Linevitch Dead.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, aide-de-camp to Emperor Nicholas, and commander of the first Manchurian army, died from pneumonia last evening. He had been ill for a little over a week, and on several occasions his symptoms were of heart failure, which manifested itself. On Tuesday he had an attack, from which he recovered satisfactorily, but Wednesday it was found necessary to perform an operation, after which the patient gradually became weaker.

Passed Bucket Shop Bill.

Albany, N.Y., April 24.—The bill making it a felony to conduct a bucket-shop was passed yesterday by a party vote in the Assembly. It now goes to the governor.

Stole Registered Mail.

Edmonton, April 24.—A bag containing registered letters was stolen on its arrival on the Winnipeg train.

TO PUNISH TRIBESMEN.

British Troops Likely to Have Brush With Afghans.

Simla, April 24.—A mixed force of British and Indian troops is at present being rapidly mobilised near Peshawur for another punitive expedition against the fanatical tribes who recently have been raiding and looting villages on the Peshawur border.

Ten thousand Rohmanis are gathered at Kamali, twenty miles from Peshawur, and several thousand Afghans are said to have crossed the Kabul River to join the malcontents. Officials of the Ameer of Afghanistan are apparently making no effort to check this movement.

The British force now being organized near Peshawur will be commanded by Sir James Wilcocks, who stamped out the recent Zakkakhel uprising.

Use Subsidies For Mines.

Ottawa, April 24.—The mayor of Sudbury with representatives of the people of Manitoulin Island protested in the Commons Railway Committee against the renewal from year to year of the charter rights of the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway Co. to build a line from Sudbury to Little Current and across to Manitoulin Island.

This charter is controlled by the Lake Superior Corporation and the charge was made that the promoters have merely been using the Government subsidies in their iron mines instead of fulfilling the obligations they had assumed to the people.

As things were, property values on the island were rapidly falling, and no less than 200 families had left one village in the last two years.

Senate Considered Boundary Treaty.

Washington, April 24.—The Senate considered in executive session the Canadian boundary treaty, but no agreement could be reached concerning it.

It provided for the re-affirmation of the established boundaries and the marking of the line.

Senator Heyburn opposed ratification of the treaty on the ground that there has been some misunderstanding of the line in the northwest.

Financier Kills Himself.

Paris, April 24.—Fritz Ferrugia, brother-in-law of Leopold de Rothschild, who is prominently identified with the Anglo-Jewish Association of London, committed suicide yesterday in his apartments at the Grand Hotel here.

Douks May Come East.

Port Arthur, April 24.—The 50 Doukhobors in Fort William are likely to leave on a continuation of their pilgrimage towards the east in search of a promised land any day now.

Ate Poisoned Salmon.

Welland, April 24—The three daughters of George Sears of the Welland telegraph staff, were poisoned by ptomaine through eating canned salmon and made seriously ill.

NO CHANGES WILL BE MADE

Sir Wilfrid Declines to Alter Government Immigration Policy.

MONK'S MOTION DEFEATED

Makes Canada Prosperous, Says the Prime Minister — Country Would Otherwise Become Stagnant— Bonus System to Be Continued— Major Hodgin's Charges Regarding the T. C. Railway.

Ottawa, April 24.—Replying to Mr. R. L. Borden in the House yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he had received a telegram from British Ambassador Bryce, who said he had sent the new British-American treaty to the Colonial Office and asked, if it was acceptable to the Government, to have a copy sent direct. Sir Wilfrid answered in the affirmative.

Referring to the creation of a new office of secretary of imperial and foreign correspondence, Dr. Sproule asked for a statement as to the functions of the diplomat, and whether he would take over some of the duties now performed by the Secretary of State and the Prime Minister's office.

The Prime Minister promised to bring down the order-in-council. Mr. Mackenzie had been appointed clerk of imperial and foreign correspondence and would be attached to the office of the Privy Council. His duties would be to classify, keep and deal with this correspondence which had grown to be voluminous.

Col. Sam Hughes read a letter from a correspondent who declared a recent accident on the I.C.R. was due to rotten ties.

The Minister of Railways declared that the I.C.R. was not immune from accidents, but the roadbed of the I.C.R. was equal to any in the world. Mr. Graham asked for the name of the writer.

"I assume the responsibility for anything I read in this House and I think my name will carry as much weight as that of the Minister of Railways," put in the colonel.

"That is not what Gen. Hatton thinks," was the observation of Col. Talbot.

Mr. Owen (Northumberland) caused merriment by hurling the following query at the Prime Minister:

"Is it the intention of the Government to come to the rescue of the woollen manufacturings by way of specific duties?"

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was unable, he was sorry to say, to give a specific answer to-day.

Answering Mr. Ganong, the Minister of Customs said 3,538,501 pounds of glucose were imported from Great Britain in 1907-08, the value being $72,583.

Mr. Oliver told Mr. Lennox that the appropriation for seed grain would not be diverted from the purpose for which it was voted.

Sir Frederick Borden said he was getting a report on the safety of the Dufferin Terrace, in view of the tercentenary celebration in Quebec in July.

The Minister of Justice gave a reply to Mr. Lake's question as to what disposition would be made of the 19 Doukhobors sentenced at Fort William for a crime against decency. On April 14 the inspector of prisons and hospitals of Ontario waited on him, bringing a letter from the Deputy Attorney-General. It was pointed out that there was no room in the Central Prison or the Fort William jail for the prisoners, and that the best course would be to pardon them. The Minister replied that it would be necessary to enquire the views of the convicting magistrate and a report was telegraphed for.

The other telegram asking the magistrate to "Report pardon" was not sent by Mr. Aylesworth or his deputy. A report was received by mail and the release of the prisoners was directed. It was intended to send them back to Saskatchewan. The Government does not undertake to recognize any responsibility for their good behavior.

Mr. Pugsley yesterday tabled the order-in-council which proposed to renew contracts for dredging at last year's prices. The order was rescinded after a stormy debate in the House precipitated by Mr. Bennett. The proposed renewals were:

Lunenburg and Mahone Bay, N.S.: The W. J. Poupore Co., $5 per cubic yard for rock, and 40 cents at Lunenberg, and 45 cents per cubic yard at Mahone for all other materials.

Hamilton: W. E. Phin, $2 for rock, 12 cents other.

Midland: The Canadian Dredging & Construction Co., $2.25 and 26 cents.

Point Edward: Manff & Co., 50 cents and 13 cents.

Tiffin Harbor, Ont.: Owen Sound Dredging & Construction Co., $2 rock, 27 cents other.

Victoria Harbor, Ont.: Owen Sound Dredging & Construction Co., $2 rock, 3 cents other.

Penetanguishene: A. F. Bowman, $2 rock, 14 cents other.

Waubaushene: A. F. Bowman, $2 rock, 20 cents other.

Wiarton and Owen Sound: A. F. Bowman, $2 rock, 20 cents other.

Toronto: The Windsor Dredging Co.: $4 rock, 13 1-2 cents other.

In recommending the renewals the Minister stated that work on each had been prosecuted satisfactorily, and good progress made. It was impossible, however, for the contractors to complete during the season the full amount of dredging required, and there remains further work to be done during the coming season at each of the above-named places for the execution of which arrangements should now be made.

That the contractors have on the sites all the necessary plants to continue the work, and can start operations as weather conditions permit. They have acquired a knowledge of the localities where the further dredging is to be performed, and experience in the work itself. It is, therefore, considered that they are in a better position than others to carry out this further work expeditiously, and to the satisfaction of the Department of Public Works: That it was provided in the contracts entered into that the contractors should vigorously and regularly carry on and prosecute said works so as to insure their completion on or before the close of navigation last season, or to such day or date as might be determined by the Minister of Public Works; that the contractors are prepared to do this at the same prices as for last season's work, which prices the chief engineer of the Department of Public Works reported to be fair and reasonable. For these reasons the Minister recommended the extension of the contract to cover the season of 1908.

The House sat till after midnight this morning to finish up the immigration debate precipitated before the Easter vacation by Mr. Monk, who moved a resolution condemning the bonus system.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke at more than usual length, taking the view that without immigration the country must become stagnant, moreover, he claimed that the present prosperity was due to the aggressive immigration policy of the present Government.

Other speakers were Mr. Borden, Mr. Cockshutt, Mr. Smith (Nanaimo). Not one of the western members of the Opposition was heard, while the only Quebec Government members who spoke were Lavergne, Verville and Robitaille, all of whom supported Mr. Monk's resolution.

The vote was taken at 12.30: yeas 41, nays 95.

Kicked by a Horse.

Kingston, April 24.—Albert Fegg, an aged man, was frightfully injured yesterday by being kicked in the face by a horse, and his recovery is doubtful. When entering the stall the animal kicked at him, one foot giving him a terrific blow in the face. The force of the blow turned him around and before he could steady himself the animal kicked him on the shoulder and he fell senseless. His right shoulder was fractured and the face terribly lacerated.

Hands Blown Off.

Winnipeg, April 24.—Frank Foulsham, a young man employed on double-tracking operations between Kenora and Fort William, had his hands blow off Wednesday through his own carelessness.

He was sent to light a fuse and before leaving to do so lit a cigarette. While the fuse was being handled, a spark from the cigarette fell on it, when it burst in his hands.

Gun Powder Explodes In A Youth's Face Who Played With Matches

While playing with a tin of gun-powder in his backyard yesterday afternoon, a young Gilmour street lad had the left side of his face badly burned.

The boy had purchased one-half pound of gun-powder from a hardware store some time ago, and was anxious to experiment with it. He brought a few of his young friends into the yard to see the fireworks, and after packing the powder firmly into a baking-powder tin, leaving the top open, he applied a match to the powder. The results were instantaneous. The powder ignited and a flash shot high into the air, striking the boy on the left side of the face, badly burning him. The other boys were greatly surprised at the sudden results, and hustled their companion into the house, where his face was attended to.

Dr. Pakenham On Money That is Spent At The Woodbine

In an address before the College and High School Department, in Toronto, yesterday, Dr. W. Pakenham, formerly of Peterborough, entered a protest against the disbursement of more money at the Woodbine than on High Schools. The News in part says:

"Toronto has invested immeasurably more capital in her Exhibition plant than in her High Schools. Her citizens disburse immeasurably less money in the maintenance of those schools than in the maintenance of the activities of the Woodbine."

This statement was made by Dr. W. Pakenham, in his address upon "The High School, its Place and Importance in the Educational System," before the College and High School Department this morning.

"When the High Schools are perfected," he continued, "and when the whole school population remains in attendance throughout the Elementary and High School courses—as, please Heaven, it may some day—High School instruction, which covers five years of the school life as compared with the eight years of elementary school instruction, will be entitled to 5-13 of the total school expenditure. Five-thirteenths of this total expenditure would be $2,700,000. Why cry 'excessive' when the actual expenditure is slightly more than one million!

"Relatively speaking, they are not an increasing burden. During the last decade, the cost of maintenance per pupil in the public schools of Ontario has increased by 59 per cent.

"In the corresponding period the cost per pupil has increased from $29.22 to $35.05, or 20 per cent.

"This subject came to me," said Dr. Pakenham, "with the permission to defend the high schools. Now, defence assumes an enemy. Search the world around — and everywhere the high schools have peace with honour."

"As compared with the elementary schools, the high school records speak thus: In the last ten years the enrolment in Ontario's elementary schools has decreased 8.8 per cent. In the same period the enrolment in Ontario's high schools has increased more than 16 per cent."

Carters Complain Of Isolated Condition Of Their Present Stand

The carters of the city are not entirely satisfied with their stand on Water street, east of the National Hotel. They complain that it is too isolated, and that the carters thus miss considerable business. Transients looking for a dray would never think of looking for the carters' stand in such a retired place. One of the men suggested yesterday that it would be of assistance if there were a few small boards tacked here and there, in prominent places, giving the Bell 'Phone number of the carters' stand, or its location on Water street. The carters would like something done in this respect to help their business along at its former mark.

Writing of Pupils Fifty Years Ago Better Than To-day

At the meeting of the teachers in their convention in Toronto yesterday, Mr. F. C. Srigley, of the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, is quoted as saying that the writing of the pupils of Ontario at the present day is worse than it was fifty years ago. The Toronto News of last night says:

"The writing of the pupils of Ontario is bad, and worse than fifty years ago," said Mr. F. C. Srigley. Teachers now do not teach writing because they were never taught themselves. A Government correspondence course for teachers might provide a remedy. Methods adopted with success in Peterborough were explained, and Mr. J. E. Westerveldt, of London, and Mr. A. F. Sprott, of Toronto, gave valuable suggestions.

In the president's address, Mr. Ward said that commercial education in the United States occupied a high status, but got so in Ontario. The commercial specialist teacher's course should be as broad as possible, so that culture, as well as the practical element, might be regarded as part of a commercial course. Now culture is supposed to be confined to the professional courses.

Glass, Nails And Pins Were Found In Girl's Stomach

Warsaw, April 24—(Special)—A surgeon performed an operation on a half-witted girl in Jelenia Gorna, Silesia, a few days ago, and to his surprise found that the stomach of the girl contained 141 iron nails, an inch long, over 100 crooked pins, seventy safety pins, seven pinheads and four pieces of glass. The patient underwent the operation successfully and is on the line of recovery, it is said, by the physician and those acquainted with the queer and puzzling case.

Saved Referee Reynolds' Life When Ice Gave Away

While in the city to referee the walking contest, Mr. Jas. Reynolds of Port Hope has taken advantage of the opportunity to renew acquaintances with an old school chum and playmate of his in the person of Mr. A. J. Warne, Sr., 628 George street. The two grew up together, and the bond of friendship was firmly cemented by an incident, in which Mr. Warne was enabled to save his friend's life. The two boys, who were about 15 years of age at the time, were skating on the factory pond at Cobourg, and the ice gave way with Mr. Reynolds, dropping him into the icy water. His chum came to the rescue, and by means of a long plank, succeeded in dragging him on to firm ice. Needless to say, Mr. Reynolds has not forgotten the occurrence, and the two have been warm friends ever since.

Only Eight Persons Respond To Chief Roszel's Annual Warning

In response to the warning given by Chief Roszel yesterday in regard to the taking out of dog licenses, only eight dog owners bought tags to-day. It is plainly evident that the police will be kept busy handing out summonses after the 1st of May, unless conditions improve.

The Chief wishes to avoid bringing anybody into court if possible, but it is expected the magistrate will be kept busy.

GIRL HID MONEY IN HER UNDERCLOTHING

Arrested for Stealing $30 From Sleeping Man's Pocket—A Tell-Tale Bogus Quarter.

COMES OF GOOD FAMILY

Stray Five Dollar Bill Found in Her Room—Is Committed For Trial

Examiner Special.

Marmora, April 24.—Miss Mabel McMillan, of Bancroft, a young lady who has been boarding in the village for a short time, first at the Royal Hotel, and then at Mr. Philip Sopha's, was arrested on Tuesday, charged with robbing the latter of a sum of money amounting to over $30. The accused slept in a room just across a hall from Mr. and Mrs. Sopha, and it was charged that during the night she had entered their room, taking the money out of Mr. Sopha's pocket.

When arrested she denied the crime, but on being searched the money was found pinned to her under-clothing. One very damaging piece of evidence was the fact that the prisoner had in her possession a bogus twenty-five cent piece which Mrs. Sopha had been carrying for a few days before. Another suspicious fact was the discovery of a five dollar bill lying in her room where it had evidently been dropped while she was hiding the money during the night.

Committed for Trial

The accused was taken before Police Magistrate Hubbell, who after hearing the evidence and having her searched with the above mentioned result committed her for trial at Belleville. She was taken down on Tuesday afternoon by County Constable Gillen. It is stated that before leaving the village she confessed to the theft.

Miss McMillan is a fine looking girl and evidently of good parentage and that she should commit such a crime as this, is greatly to be regretted.

OLD TELEPHONE OFFICE LEASED BY DR. BROWETT

Dr. J. W. Browett, optical specialist, who has during the past year had this office at the McDermid & Jury drug store, yesterday afternoon leased the premises in the market building, 332 George street, recently vacated by the Bell Telephone Co. Dr. Browett has concluded arrangements to have improvements made in his new quarters. He expects to take possession on or about May 4th.

THE GRADUATE NURSES OF CITY RAISE THE FEES

At a meeting of the graduate nurses of the city, at which several schools were represented, it was decided to raise the fees to $18.00 per week and $21.00 for contagious diseases, in uniformity with surrounding towns and cities from the present date.

PRESENTATION OF MEDAL TO ERNIE WILSON AT "Y"

At the closing exhibition of the Y.M.C.A. gym. classes last night, Ernie Wilson was presented with the gold medal, which was the prize donated for first place in the five-mile race at the Garrison athletic meet in November last. During a short intermission, Mr. G. M. Roger, chairman for the occasion, stated that it was his pleasant duty to ask Mr. A. W. Crossman to make the presentation to Wilson, who had so well represented the local Y.M.C.A. He had established a new Canadian record, his time being 27 minutes 15 seconds, and incidentally defeated Tom Coley, the crack five-miler of the Irish-Canadians. Mr. Crossman made the presentation, which Ernie modestly acknowledged.

RICE LAKE NOW IS READY FOR NAVIGATION

The steamer Monarch, of the Otonabee Navigation Company, will arrive from Gore's Landing and Harwood to-morrow morning, with a cargo of freight and passengers.

The steamer Water Lily is also ready for work, and is waiting for the opening of the lift lock to make her first trip north. The steamer Otonabee is being put in shape for the season's work and it is expected will be ready about the middle of May.

CHARLES STENNER HAS HOODOO NUMBER; THIRTEEN NUMERAL PREVAILS ALL ROUND

If Chas. Stenner, of Warsaw, had been superstitious he would have dropped out of the walking race long ago. To begin with, he is just 13 miles from home; the number of his room at the Munro House is 13; it takes him an average of 13 minutes to travel a mile, and to cap the climax his track number is 13. May be that isn't a hard luck combination. Stenner, however, pays no attention to the thirteen part of it and is still going steadily on.

SHE BECOMES A LIFE MEMBER

Mrs. Catherine Wand Honoured by the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Mark Street Church.

AN ADDRESS BY MRS. KEITH

At meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, of Mark Street Methodist Church, yesterday afternoon, an address of rare interest on India, was delivered by Mrs. (Rev.) Keith. At the same time an address was presented to Mrs. Catherine and esteem, in which you are held by ship certificate in the Women's Missionary Society. The address was as follows:

From the members of Mark Street Mission Band, to Mrs. Catherine Wand.

Dear Mrs. Wand,—We young people, members of the Mission Band, in Mark Street Church, wish very respectfully to address you upon the present occasion of the Easter thank offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, in order that we may give an expression of the love and esteem inwhich you are held by us, of the Junior Society.

Long before we knew anything of the missionary work of the church, even before some of us knew any being, you were identified with the cause of missions in your sympathies and efforts, and when the Women's Society was organized here, in the year 1891, seventeen years ago, we understand, you took an active part in the organization, and have continuously given your best effort to the promotion of its interests.

Yourzeal and devotion have long been sources of inspiration to younger people in Christian service, and especially to the women and children of our congregation, in their efforts to obtain missionary education, and to aid missionary work. Your loyalty to the church you have always loved, your liberality in supporting its various enterprises, your interest in young people, your enlarged vision of Christ's Kingdom, and devotion to its world-wide interests, are outstanding features of your Christian life; and we wish to assure you, dear elect lady, that we young folk find a very great joy in giving recognition to these things, while you are yet among us.

It is in our hearts, and we find it accords with the hearty wish of the Women's Society, to present you with a Life Membership Certificate in the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, in loving recognition of your worth.

In doing this we feel that you are receiving only a well-merited honour, and we hope you will receive the same from us, in the same spirit of love in which it is offered you.

We trust that in God's Providence, you will be long spared to the society, and our prayer is for your comfort and happiness here, till God calls you to your Heavenly reward.

Signed on behalf of the Mission Band,

MYRTLE COON, CLARA DODDS,
President. Secretary.
April 23rd, 1908.

COAL IS BEING RECEIVED EARLIER THAN IN THE PAST

A local coal merchant this morning, referring to the shipments of coal that were being steadily received, said these deliveries were much earlier than in past years. Ordinarily, the hard coal is not received until some time in the summer, but owing to the late date at which the ice is breaking in the lakes, the coal is brought through in the cars.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's brother. Dr. Hilliard is an osteopathic physician and both he and his bride graduated from the College of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo. He is an old Peterborough boy and is well known to many in the city. Their place of residence will be Haileybury.

MISS EVA BERRY ASSISTANT IN A SOURIS HOSPITAL

A new nurse has been secured to take charge of the hospital in the person of Miss Eva Berry, late assistant-matron in Red Deer Hospital. Miss Berry came formerly from Millbrook, and is a graduate of the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough. Miss Berry begins her duties this week.—Souris Plaindealer.

ENGINE WHISTLED FROM SCARBORO TO LINDSAY STATION

A gentleman who returned last night from a business trip to Lindsay, relates a little experience which is worth repeating. The flyer was on its way from Toronto to Lindsay, when, at Scarboro, a valve in the whistle blew out, and the rest of the trip was made to the accompaniment of the syren screech of the escaping steam, which could not be controlled.

When the flyer reached Lindsay the fireman still had steam up, and the ear-splitting din caused general annoyance. The engine was unhitched and shunted around the yard, the whistle still doing duty. The passengers had a most annoying trip from Scarboro, and the people living near the track must have thought it a runaway engine, as there was no let-up to the monotonously piercing note.

HE WILL ATTEMPT MILE RECORD

Jack Cooper Will do an Exhibition Stunt To-night.

Jack Cooper, the speedy little English walker, will do an exhibition mile at the rink to-night, immediately before the start of the route t. commencing at 7.20 o'clock. His attempt to do seven miles in an hour last night was a creditable one, considering the heavy going, and much interest is being taken in his attempt on the mile record.

Gentlemen are requested not to smoke on the westside of the rink, which is reserved for ladies. This rule will be strictly enforced to-night.

YOUNG MEN ENTERTAINED AT PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE

Mr. Wm. O'Brien, principal of the Mattawa Public School, who is home on his Easter vacation, was the host at an interesting progressive euchre party at his home, 520 Gilmour street last night. About twenty young men members of the Bachelors Club, were present and besides a pleasant time being spent at cards, some musical numbers were contributed. A whistling duet by Messrs. Jas. Callahan and Frank Hickey, was one of the features of the impromptu programme. A step dance by Messrs. Jas. Callahan and Godfrey Coughlin, was another enjoyable number, as well as the Highland Fling by Mr. Austin O'Brien.

The first prize in the euchre contest was won by Mr. Jas. Callahan, and the booby prize by Mr. Vincent Corkery.

Early Morning Blaze Destroyed The Lindsay Roller Skating Rink

Lindsay, April 24.—(Special.)—About 5.30 this morning the skating and roller rink here was burned to the ground, the origin of the fire being unknown. The roller rink was managed by Mr. S J Sheridan, formerly of Peterborough, and it is believed his loss will be considerable.

He was planning for a big event here to-morrow night. What there is any insurance on the building or not, has not yet been learned.

There was no fire in the building at the time so that in some quarters it is believed the blaze was the act of an incendiary.

This unexpected occurrence has put an end to the expected enjoyment the roller skaters were to have had this season.

City Regiments Have The Option On Two Propositions

Twenty-seven thousand officers and men will be the representation of Canada's militia at the Quebec Tercentenary, July 19 to 31. This is 5,000 more than the first estimate made by the military authorities. The orders governing the military at the celebration were received in Tpronto yesterday afternoon and are of special interest to the officers and men of the city and rural corps. All qualified and warrant officers, as well as the brigade and divisional staffs have been ordered to take part. It is especially stated that no provisional officer can attend. Rural battalions will be permitted to take a band of 20, and 50 per cent. of their establishment of men who have served their training three years and more.

With the city corps, it is provided that they must make their choice of two alternatives which are given them. The first is that they may take their band, their officers, and 8 per cent. of their establishment, and receive at least eight days' pay or perhaps more, and subsistence while away, as well as their transport. The second is that they may take their full establishment and obtain transportation and subsistence for all, but they will only draw pay for four days. Each infantry regiment will in addition, be allowed to take five buglers, who, it is stipulated, must be included in the 50 per cent. of their establishment. This also applies to the cavalry and artillery, who will be allowed not more than three buglers.

Help The Walkers Who Will Be Outside The Money Class

The people of Peterborough have enjoyed the walking match, they have shown that by the way in which they have crowded the rink each night. They must also have appreciated the pluck of the walkers, who are still in the race, but, perhaps, have not realized the fact that at least two of the contestants will be outside the money to-morrow night, and will have ploddedalong al week without any reward whatever. Stenner, of Warsaw, and Fenton, of Auburn, N. Y., are likely to do this. The Warsaw man has some chance, but there is no hope for the other boy, and both have shown great grit and determination in remaining on the track. Stenner has kept on with a badly swollen ankle, and Fenton, although hardly able to drag himself along, has refused to quit. Both are deserving of something and the suggestion that a subscription be collected for them and theother walkers outside the money, should be received with favour.

The idea originated from a letter received by Referee Reynolds, in which a charitable lady of the city offered a cheque for the benefit of the walkers who will not win prizes. Surely there are others in the city who recognize pluck and are willing to do so in a material form. If the boys were professional walkers, it would be a different matter, but they are "green" walkers, and deserve recognition for their gameness. Referee Reynolds has consented to receive subscriptions for the fund, and anyone who desiresto help, can hand their donations to him at the rink, or send them to Mr. Reynolds at the Oriental Hotel.

The boys have done their best, have given you good sport all week, and their week's work will be wasted, in addition to their training expenses, if you don't come to the rescue. Show them that the people of Peterborough recognize gameness by helping them out. It will be money well spent and well deserved.

Some Want To Abolish The Entrance Examinations

One of the important questions that came up at the Ontario Educational Association convention in Toronto was that of the abolishing of the Entrance examinations. This was discussed at length, but the general impression was that it would not be wise to make such a change. However, a modified scheme from the present arrangement was endorsed.

There was an increase made in the grant to urban schools recently of 5 per cent., but the convention considered this should be greater.

Among those present from Peterborough at the convention, which terminated last night were Messrs. W H Hill of the Board of Education, Inspector Mowat, S J Stubbs, H R H Kenner, Inspectors Brown and Lees, E C Srigley, C Fessenden, and J Simpson, principal of Bobcaygeon Public School.

Three Year Old Child Lost For Some Time This Morning

Tired and weary, a little tot of a girl, who gave her name as Clara Allan, of Drummond Station, and claimed to be only three years of age, toddaled into George Rawlings' pottery, in the south end of the city, about 11.30 o'clock this morning. At the same time an anxious mother, with the assistance of the police force, was hunting through the streets for her little child.

Mrs. Allen arrived here this morning from Drummond Station, in company with her little daughter. She was making some purchases in R. J. Soden's book store, when she missed her child. She went outside and looked up and down George street, but there were no signs of the little one. Inquiries were immediately made, and the police were at once informed and a description given. The chief telephoned several places onthe outskirts of the city and asked them to watch for the little girl. Mrs. Allen became almost frantic. She hurried about the streets, asking everyone she met had they seen her child, but no one apparently had. She came back to the bookstore again and received the glad news that the little girl had been found. Mrs Allen took the first car to the pottery to get her little girl.

Considering the time from when she was lost until she turned up at the pottery, thelittle girl must have walked about an hour.

Farmers Complaining About The High Price Of Clover Seed

Farmers are complaining about the high price of clover seed, and the chances are that on account of the almost prohibitive price of the seed, there may not be a large crop planted. The price is now from $12 to $17 per bushel, and these figures may be compared with those of a few years ago, about $5 per bushel.

The scarcity is chiefly due to the failure of last years crop, and the outlook now is not altogether bright.

ORGANIZATION MEETING.

To-night at 8 o'clock, an organization meeting in the interests of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, will be held in the Committee Rooms (Richard Hall & Son's old premises), Simcoe street. Every friend of the Liberal party and the candidate is urged to be present, as there is no time to be lost. Though the Government seems determined to keep the date of the elections a dark secret, it is certain that the date will be an early one. But, early or late, it is none too early complete organization. An excellent candidate has been placed in the field, but if he were an angel from heaven he could not succeed without proper and complete organization. The best cause in the world will fail, without the support of organized effort on the part of its friends. We may be sure that the Whitney Government party in West Peterborough is working silently, and with a full knowledge of what is being done by the Government in regard to fixing the date of the elections. It is said that Conservative workers were at work, and organization arrangements being completed and acted upon, in the new constituencies in Northern Ontario, weeks before the bounds of the new constituencies were announced in the House. It is to be taken for granted that the underground work in the interests of the Conservative party has been, and is being, done in West Peterborough.

Therefore, it is the duty of every Liberal, and every supporter and sympathizer with the Liberal cause, to be on hand to-night at Mr. Gillespie's Committee Rooms, Simcoe street, to give attention to the matter of organization, the one indispensable element in the effective conduct of an election campaign.

NORTHERN ONTARIO MUZZLED.

The manipulation of the new constituencies of Northern Ontario has been as open and rank a case of utilizing the power of the Government to prevent a fair expression of the people's will as could well be exhibited. In few places are there municipal councils to prepare the voters' lists. These have to be prepared by agents of the Government, who, needless to say, are not likely to shed much sweat in efforts to register the Liberal vote in their district. Even the delimitation of these constituencies was kept secret from the Liberals till all the arrangements were made, and Mr. Whitney was ready to announce it in the Legislature. Meanwhile, the Tory workers, organized and directed from headquarters, had the information weeks in advance, had their corps of subordinates drilled and instructed, and were ready to take up without delay that part of the work which necessitated publicity. How many Freeborns there may be engaged in this work is for the future to disclose. The entire scheme, including the preparation of the lists, has been conceived with the idea of disfranchising any who may be suspected of Liberal leanings. This is the procedure as summarized by the Ottawa Free Press:

A notice is posted in a postoffice or at a schoolhouse, announcing that on a certain day the enumerator will attend there to receive names of those entitled to be placed upon the voters' lists for the forthcoming local election. But those notices do not contain any description of the boundaries of the division which the list is to cover, and Liberals are kept absolutely in the dark until the hour of the arrival of the enumerator as to how far the list in question is to apply. The consequence is—and this is no mere dream, it is a matter of daily occurrence—that Liberals may drive in twenty or thirty miles in order to get their names on the lists, only to find that they have come to the wrong division, and have to return home deprived of their franchise. Tory settlers, on the other hand, are "given the tip." They know the proper divisions to which to resort, and when they drive into the enumerating station they find all smooth, and go home conscious that they will be able to cast their vote wherever it chooses Mr. Whitney to give the word. Indeed, in many cases, electors who are known to be Tories do not require to appear; their names are put on the lists by the enumerator without protest. But, as a general rule, these enumerators will not accept the names of known Liberals without personal appearance, refusing even to accept affidavits.

Does this indicate a desire for fairness? Is not an election held under such conditions, and in the direction of such partizans, very much like an outrage upon the electors? The case is made still worse by Mr. Whitney's eagerness to hurry on the voting and his reduction of the time allowance from thirty to fifteen days. Would it not have been easier and cheaper for the Premier to have introduced a short bill enacting that the Conservative nominees in these constituencies be declared elected?—Hamilton Times.

MR. WHITNEY'S DENIAL.

It is characteristic of Premier Whitney that he attempts to bulldoze the public by strong denials under the cover of an assumption of bluff frankness. When confronted with some intemperate and compromising statement which he finds inconvenient to meet afterwards, he takes refuge in straight denial, asserting that he was misreported, not that he ever made a mistake himself. It is reported that Mr. Whitney now declares that he never said anything about Niagara Falls power being made "free as air." He evidently thinks that his assertion in this connection having been made several years ago the public have forgotten, and it is safe to put up the denial bluff. In 1900 there was a by-election in Welland, owing to the retirement of Mr. German from the Local Legislature. The residents of the town of Niagara Falls complained that the action of the Liberal Government in making an annual rental charge to a power company would delay the erection of the development plant, and demanded that the Government should surrender its power rental of $25,000 a year in order to encourage the development company. Mr. Whitney at once took steps to make himself solid with both the power company and the electors by declaring that the power should be made "free as air." In this connection it may be pointed out that Mr. Whitney's words are to be found in the report of his speech, appearing in the Mail and Empire of December 12th, 1900. The report is as follows:

"Mr. Whitney agreed with Mr. McCleary," (the Conservative candidate) "that the water of the falls should be FREE AS AIR. • • • He agreed with Mr. Ross that the town should have the power, but Mr. Ross had been careful not to say that the power should be free. Mr. Whitney declared his opinion that it should be free and anything that was ever in his power to make it free should be done."

It is in Mr. Whitney's "power to make it free." What has he done in this direction?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"There never was a gerrymander," said Mr. MacKay, in a late speech, "which gives such an absolute lie to every statement made in its favour. You cannot find any principle laid down by Mr. Whitney that he has not deliberately violated."

A life-long Conservative is up in arms against what he calls "ring rule," and will contest Brockville on the independent and Orange ticket. Lately he has attended several Conservative caucuses, and evidently they are not to his liking.

In 1903, the expenditure of Ontario was $4,888,000. The estimates for the current year call for an outlay of $8,000,000. An increase of 60 per cent. in four years ought to satisfy the average spendthrift, and afford the startling fulfilment of Mr. Whitney's promise, when in Opposition, to check the wasteful expenditure prevailing under "Grit" rule.

EXPLANATORY

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your report of my few remarks at the Sir Frederick Borden banquet, you make me say that I am in favour of "modified" protection. This is not correct, and as I am a candidate, I feel that it may be misconstrued. I merely quoted in connection with other things, Sir Frederick's words, "reasonable protection." He did not use the word "modified."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours truly,
J. P. BURNHAM.

Peterborough, April 24th, 1908.

The Examiner is glad to give Mr. Burnham the benefit of this explanation. The difference between "modified" and "reasonable" seems to be the difference between Tweedledum and Tweedledee. However, Mr. Burnham is wrong in saying that the Examiner's report made him say that he was in favour of "modified" protection. It only stated that he felt pleasure in listening to Sir Frederick's remarks on 'modified' (reasonable) protection. Mr. Burnham may not have used the word "modified," but no doubt the Examiner reporter, in a greatly condensed summary of the remarks made, used the sense of the word used to qualify "protection" if not the exact word. Protection seems to have a number of qualifications. We have Hon. Mr Borden's magnificently indefinite "adequate protection" and now we have Mr. Burnham trumping Sir Frederick Borden's reference to "reasonable" protection, and the intelligent reporter gives the kaleidoscope another turn with "modified" protection.—Ed. Examiner.

The many friends of Mr. J. W. Bennet, barrister, are pleased to see him on the street again, after being confined to his home through illness during the past winter.

There was a large audience in the Guild Hall on Wednesday evening to hear Owen A. Smiley's pupil, Miss Winnifred Parker, in dramatic recital. A complete success was the result of her efforts, and Miss Parker may feel emboldened to take up the career of which last night's performance was the initial trial. In every vein the young and pretty debutante was charming, whether in prose or poetry, humour or pathos, and in the dramatic pose demanded by her more classic renditions, a degree of excellence was reached which stamped her work as being that of one "to the manner born." The assistance rendered by Miss Ruby Harkness Hamilton, soprano, was most effective in its contrast to the numbers of Miss Parker. Mrs. Hamilton is a grand opera singer, and showed her versatility in several solos. Encores and bouquets were showered upon Miss Parker during the evening. Charles A. Crane was a most able accompanist.—Toronto World.

A PROMISING YOUNG PIANOFORTE ARTIST

Miss Gladys Seward in Recital at the Conservatory of Music.

Infant musical prodigies come and go, and some few develop into eminent artists. Among the latter, or with promise of being among them, is Miss Gladys Seward, daughter of the late Lewis Seward, one of the most competent musicians who ever lived in Peterborough. Gladys Seward is a phenomenally clever child in the realm of music—the pianoforte—and well deserves the interest of the people of Peterborough, who, if opportunities for continued study are available will one day claim her as a native of the city with pride. Last year at only 13 years of age, she passed her final pianoforte examinations in the Teachers' Course, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, taking the entire course with first-class honours. She is a pupil of Mrs. Alice Roger Collins; and the past winter has been deligently studying. The heavy programme which she will present at the recital in the Conservatory of Music here on Saturday night next will demonstrate that first-rate instruction has been well profitted by, and time well employed. A delightful surprise awaits those who may be present at the recital.

AN AGE OF PROGRESS

In Medicine as Well as in Art and Science.

This is an age of progress in the world of medicine, as well as in arts and science. This is demonstrated by the remarkable discovery, after years of research by two eminent French chemists of, the process by which the curative, medicinal elements of the Cod's Liver may be separated from the oil, thus getting rid of that nauseating part of this valuable remedy.

In Vinol modern science has given to the world a most delicious cod liver preparation without oil, made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for Chronic Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

No one wants an old fashioned cod liver oil preparation or emulsion after once tasting delicious Vinol.

No Change In Positions After Last Night's Four-Hour Grind

Blake Gained One Lap on Harrison in the First Twenty Minutes And Then the Men Remained Together For The Night---Cooper's Fast Exhibition Hour.

1—W. A. HOAGLAND, Auburn, N. Y., 120 miles, 7 laps, or 1,567 laps.
2—J. E. BLAKE, Syracuse, N. Y., 116 miles, 11 laps, or 1,519 laps.
3—JAS. HARRISON, Peterborough, 115 miles, 11 laps, or 1506 laps.
4—CHAS. STEVENS, Peterborough, 111 miles, 9 laps, or 1452 laps.
5—JAS. G. GRAHAM, Buffalo, N. Y., 103 miles, 8 laps, or 1,347 laps.
6—CHAS. STENNER, Warsaw, 99 miles, 5 laps, or 1292 laps.
7—RAY FENTON, Auburn, N. Y., 91 miles, or 1,183 laps.

There is no change in the positions of the contestants in the six-day grind, as the result of the four hours' walking last night, and they will start out to-night in the same places. Each man gained more or the walker behind him during the night, however, thereby making his position more secure.

The racing of the evening was between Blake, the negro, and Harrison, of Peterborough, for second place, and a pretty run they are making of it. furnishing the excitement of the night. Harrison led for the first mile last night, with Blake and Hoagland trailing, and then at the beginning of the second mile Blake let looseg with a pretty spring and Harrison let him go until the coloured walker had gained a lap. Soon after Blake went out again, following Hoagland, who had started, and obtained another half lap lead on Harrison. The latter, however, set sail in pursuit and caught the negro in a few laps, amid great excitement. From that time until the bell brought their exertions to an end, there was no change in their positions. The two swung around the track at a lively gait, Harrison doing the pacing, and only a few feet separating them. Blake refused to go ahead at any time, stopping dead whenever Harrison let up to take a drink.

Hoagland, the leader, went one lap over 22 miles, with apparently no effort, and increased his lead to three miles and nine laps. He has no opposition for first place, and is taking things easier than he otherwise would, although several times he let out for a sprint that aroused the crowds. Once the band struck up "Yankee Doodle," and he spurted in lively fashion and was loudly applauded. The band repeated the piece and the champion as a encore let out with a sprint that made his previous effort look slow.

One of the features last night was the attempt made by Jack Cooper, of Toronto, an English short distance walker, to cover seven miles in an hour, between 10 and 11 o'clock. Cooper, who has been out of training for two years, exhibited great speed and a very pretty style, and, although he failed in his attempt, he succeeded in covering 6 miles, 5 laps in the sixty minutes, circling the track 83 times in the limit. Cooper's work was applauded by the crowd, and there was some excitement on several occasions, when Jim Graham, the Buffalo walker, and Charlie Stevens gave the sprinter a lively lap by taking after him. Cooper covered the first mile in 9 minutes, but the others were in shorter time.

Charlie Stevens' good work was a feature last night. The boy was apparently in bad shape on Wednesday night, but last night he had revived and covered over twenty miles in the four hours, going fresh and strong, although with a slight limp.

Charlie Stenner, of Warsaw, still continues to keep up the necessary average of 4 1-2 miles per hour, accomplishing the feat last night by livening up his gait in the last hour. In so doing he was encouraged by Hoagland, who walked beside him for many laps. The crowd applauded them both, Hoagland for his kindness, and Stenner for his plucky work.

Fenton, the boy from Auburn, N Y., is very tired and last night only put fourteen miles behind him.

The following shows how far the men travelled last night:

Hoagland, 22 miles, 1 lap.
Blake, 20 miles, 11 laps.
Harrison, 20 miles, 10 laps.
Stevens, 20 miles, 5 laps.
Graham, 19 miles, 5 laps.
Stenner, 17 miles, 11 laps.
Fenton, 14 miles, 10 laps.

How Hurtubise Won From German Wrestler In Toronto

The Toronto Star has the following graphic account of Wednesday night's wrestling match in Toronto:—After a terrific struggle of an hour and seven minutes, Eugene Hurtubise of Peterborough, ex-champion amateur heavyweight wrestler of Canada, and captain of the Peterborough Rugby team, champions of the O. R. F. U., won his bout with Frank Kennedy, the German light-heavyweight from New York, at Mutual street rink. The bout wound up in a most sensational manner. Kennedy, who had been subjected to an awful gruelling by his powerful opponent, weakened on end, and despairing of winning out, seized a full strangle hold on the giant French-Canadian, and refused to let go. Hurtubise bumped him all over the ring, swinging him to and fro like a terrier would a rat, but the German, with a desperate strength born of dire despair, clung on grimly.

Finally, Hurtubise dropped to the mat, and worked like a demon to break the German's grip, but Kennedy, locking his fingers, and throwing his head back out of harm's way, evaded Hurtubise's powerful hands, and stuck like a leech. Referee Art Edmunds, the Pocket Hercules, who had commanded Kennedy to break the grip at its inception, butted in like a little fury, and seizing Kennedy's arms, tried to pull him away. But ever his wonderful strength did not serve to break the German's mighty grip.

Police in the Ring

Then the police, headed by Inspector Cuddy, invaded the ring. The inspector broke Kennedy's hands free, but once Hurtubise was loose he went after his man in lively fashion. He seized him, slammed him down on the mat, and proceeded to get the final fall in a hurry, but the police, at Referee Edmunds' request, stopped the go, and Edmunds awarded the match and purse to Hurtubise.

"Come on, and finish the fall; I don't want it on a foul," said Hurtubise, rushing at Kennedy. The German, tired and all that he was, was game, but their seconds pulled them apart, and the invident was over.

No Hard Feelings

Afterwards in the Turkish Bath, the men shook hands.

"The best man I have yet met," said Hurtubise.

"You are the strongest man I ever attacked up against," said Kennedy. "I have met many strong men before, and found them easy. I underestimated you, and did not train as hard as I should; besides, I had a bad ankle, and you didn't forget to work on it. If I ever meet you again you won't throw me around as you did."

Hurtubise's Enormous Strength

Kennedy was surely right when he said Hurtubise was the strongest man he ever met. Hurtubise, who weighs close to the 200 mark, was in perfect condition and he tossed the German around like a child. To offset the Frenchman's tremendous strength, Kennedy had science, and wonderful strength himself for a 170-pound man. Given a pair of sound legs, and two weeks' more training, he would have given the Peterborough giant the best battle he has yet had, and the pair treated the spectators to as fine a wrestling spectacle as a Toronto crowd ever saw.

A Grand Battle

The first 43 minutes was full of exceedingly good work. Kennedy went right at his big opponent, but Hurtubise soon had him on the defensive, and in a moment it was seen that it would be a struggle of giants. Hurtubise got Nelsons, quarter, half and full, but Kennedy broke out of them, rolling and spinning, and showing remarkable agility. Several times he got on top, but the Frenchman shook him free with a few mighty struggles, and again went at him. He got Kennedy's head in chancery a dozen times, and had combination arm and leg locks, but Kennedy wriggled free time after time, and the crowd was on its tip-toes with excitement, and cheering wildly.

Then Hurtubise tried the famous toe hold on the German's sore leg, but the German gamely withstood the pain, and forced Hurtubise to drop it by jabbing his head back. Then Hurtubise tried crotch holds, but again Kennedy foiled him, and the crowd was crazy with excitement.

Kennedy Clever

Hurtubise was simply puzzled what to do with his clever opponent.

Finally, he bethought himself of his famous bear hug. He seized Kennedy around the waist just below the short ribs, and, with a terrible squeeze, crushed him into submission. The time of the fall was 43 minutes, 47 seconds.

Kennedy Gets a Fall

Kennedy was so weak when he left the mat he could scarcely stand, but under the attention of Bob Nash, his training partner, and Harry Taylor he came out in fair shape, with the exception of his ankle.

He went at the big fellow again, and there was some lively milling. Hurtubise, sore because Kennedy was giving him such a battle, commenced to rough it, and was warned. Kennedy, too, was called for using the heel of his hand more strenuously than the wrestling law allows.

At 18 minutes Kennedy secured a combination leg and arm hold, following a roll from a head in chancery, and pinned Hurtubise. The Frenchman rocked from shoulder to shoulder, but finally the German got him, and Edmunds awarded a fall just as the Frenchman rolled again. He made no complaint, however.

The Final Mix

In the final fall, Kennedy went in with blood in his eyes, but Hurtubise's wonderful strength and reach had him on the defensive shortly. Then came the strangle hold, and the grand climax. It sure was lively while it lasted.

Charlie Conkie, the clever Hamilton man, who refereed the preliminary bouts, challenged the winner, and he bout will be pulled off at Mutual street rink next Saturday night. Conkie and Edmunds both agree that Hurtubise, with a little good coaching, will make the best of them step.

FRANK KENNEDY,
Of New York, the German light weight wrestler, who will meet Eugene Hurtubise next Wednesday.

Hurtubise Will Meet Frank Kennedy Here On Wednesday

Undoubtedly the greatest wrestling match ever held in Peterborough will be that between Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's big wrestler, and Frank Kennedy of New York, the German light-heavyweight, which will take place in the opera house on Wednesday night next. Gene won from the German in Toronto on Wednesday night on a foul, after the most sensational match ever seen in Toronto, lasting over an hour. Kennedy is burning for an opportunity to revenge himself, and the two have been matched for $100 a side. The conditions are that no hold will be barred; hammerlock, the strangle hold, full Nelson, another hold and everything goes, and the sporting fraternity will be given one of the most exciting evening's sport ever seen here when these two meet on the mat.

In addition to the main bout, several lively preliminaries will be introduced, including bouts between Jack Crough and Jack Wilson for the 145-pound championship, and between Bobby Long and "Poker" Crowe, the local lightweight wrestlers.

The prices will be within the reach of everyone, as they range from 25 cents for seats in the gallery to $1 for ringside seats. There will only be about twenty of the latter, which will be placed on the stage.

Excitement Reigns Supreme In The Big Walking Match

The prettiest kind of a race is taking place between Harrison of Peterborough, and Blake, the negro, for second place in the walking contest, and to-night will see an exciting struggle for supremacy. In the last ten hours Blake has gained one lap on Harrison, and it is only very rarely, at this late stage in a six-day contest, that you find two men so close together, fighting it out for a place, and no one would care very much to bet on the outcome yet. There may be a change to-night, at any rate there will be good racing, and the crowd promises to be larger than ever, as they certainly are enjoying the contest.

To-night the full band of the 57th Regiment, under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, will be present in uniform, and will render a choice programme that will add to the pleasure of the occasion.

There will be another attraction to-night, when Jack Cooper, the English walker, will endeavour to lower the track record of 7.42 for a mile. The Canadian record for the distance is 7.21 4-5.

Harrison Should Get The Support Of The Local People

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The sport-loving people of Peterborough are not lacking in charitable tendencies and they have shown it in the way they have helped Blake, the plucky negro walker, in the six-day pedestrian tournament. The negro deserves the assistance they have given him, but the crowd evidently do not realize that there are other men on the track who need and are worthy of, as much support as Blake. Jim Harrison, who is walking his first race and making such a plucky showing, has none too much of this world's goods, and his trainer is having hard work in keeping him supplied with what he needs, and yet Peterborough people are taking up subscriptions for a negro whom they have never seen before and are not likely to see again, while a Peterborough man who stands in need of assistance is allowed to fight his own way. It is all very well to help the negro if he needs it, but the support should be divided up. Perhaps local people do not realize that fact or they would certainly not give everything to the stranger.

Thanking you for the space, I am,

Yours truly,
"FAIR PLAY."

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

At last Jack Tait and Tom Coley are to come together. The belated entry of Coley for the three-mile championship race at the Garrison meet Saturday night at the Armouries arrived from Hamilton yesterday, and tackled on to it for good measure was that of Dan McCuaig, the novice who trimmed Percy Sellen in a three-mile match race at the C.A.A.U. carnival.

Coley refused to meet Tait at anything less than five miles at the C. A.A.U. meet, and Tait refused to come up. Now Coley has decided to come down to Tait's own distance and take a whirl at him. The only time Tait ever beat Coley was in the Canadian mile championship last autumn, when he beat him inches in a driving finish. At the five-mile distance Coley licked Tait twice or three times. Tait says his best distance is three miles. Hamilton people expect Coley and McCuaig to finish in the first three.

McCuaig will also run in the 91st Highlanders (Hamilton) relay team. Toronto News.

Allowed Refuse to Fall From His Wagon On Wednesday Night.

The police are on the look-out for a certain scavenger of this city, and if they succeed in finding him, he will pay dearly for the wrong he has committed.

The Chief stated this morning that from complaints that have been received, he gathered that a certain scavenger on Wednesday night last, while going north on Bethune street, had allowed refuse to drop from his waggon from Hunter street to Brock street. The police have a suspicion who the scavenger is and in all probability he will be heard from in a few days.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer ONE HUNDRED Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CRESSMAN'S—The Home of The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

CLOSING EXHIBITION AT THE Y.M.C.A. DEMONSTRATES PROFICIENCY OF YOUNG MEN

Large Attendance of Friends of the Institution—Pleased With Skill of Senior Class on the Floor and Apparatus—A Varied Programme.

CLOSE FENCING BOUTS

The Y.M.C.A. gymnasium classes showed up to good advantage last night in the closing exercises, and the large attendance that witnessed the varied performances was highly delighted with the skilful and efficient manner in which the gymnastic work was carried out. Among those present was a large number of ladies who have always taken an active interest in the affairs of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Archie Frowde's classes did themselves credit by their work on the floor and apparatus. Mr. G. M. Royce acted as chairman in a most acceptable manner.

During the evening the choir of George street Methodist church, under the leadership of Mr. McCann, sang two hymns. Their singing was faultless, and sounded well in the spacious gym. The second number was an exhibition of fencing by Sergt.-Major Brittain's class. Six of the boys represented the class, as follows: Messrs. Sharpe, Morley, C. Sisson, J. Brightman, Frank Austin and Hal. Wallace. After going through the various exercises under the direction of their instructor, the boys engaged in three pairs, the winners being Messrs. Sisson, Sharpe and Brightman. This proved to be a very interesting number, as fencing is not followed up by the young men as are other sports. The fencers showed the results of careful training, and their success should be an incentive to the other young men.

Corney Burns won from Bob Long in a fast wrestling bout in two falls out of three. Chris. Graham refereed the go. Burns got the first fall and Long soon after evened up. As a lady in the gallery was heard to say, they "played off" for the rubber.

The senior and intermediate school boys clashed in an obstacle race that had many features of interest.

Sergt.-Major Brittain and Sergt.-Major Duffus met in a sabre contest that was an exciting novelty. The arms whistled through the air and sounded in contact as realistically as from a passage in a Sienkiewitcz novel. Sergt.-Major Brittain won out by five points to four.

Four seniors competed in a rope-climbing contest, as follows: Frank Austin, G Carter, C Frowde and Davenport. Chester Frowde won out, with Austin second.

Fred Cressman and Jimmy Murphy put on a funny "dead and alive" act that caught the gallery.

The feature of the second part of the programme was a boxing match between Chris. Graham and Corney Burns. This bout was fast while it lasted, both men being acienced in the art. Teddy Daly and Jimmy Murphy gave a good exhibition of tumbling, after which the senior class went through dumb-bell drills, apparatus work and pyramids.

The concluding number was a burlesque basket ball match between the Old Maids and the Tramps. The maidens made a leap year attempt but the Willies could not see it. The tramps won out by 6—1. The players were:

Old Maids.	Tramps.
Robertson	F. Cressman
Dundsale	C. Graham
McCarroll	Downey
Barber	Sullivan
R. Best	P. Kerr

Referee—E. Daly.

Mr. Daly was very efficient, and in his other duties of the evening showed unusual cleverness.

The services of Mr. McCann and the George Street Choir were thoroughly appreciated.

MAPLE SYRUP SEASON IS ABOUT OVER

Sap Has Flowed in Streams and Syrup is Plentiful.

The maple syrup season is now practically at an end, although on several days the sap ran as freely as could be expected. The farmers who have tapped their trees this year have had as large a flow of sap as in the best year, and a large quantity of syrup has been boiled down.

Those who have not procured their share have to blame themselves, as they have had every opportunity to get any reasonable quantity. Although the price was high at first, it finally dropped to a fair figure.

A FEATURE OF THE MISSION INSTITUTE

Literature and Curios to be Placed on Exhibition.

An interesting feature of the mission institute, to be held in the city on the 4th, 5th and 6th of May, will be the exhibit of missionary literature and curios, which will be on display in the Sunday school room of St. John's Church. This exhibit, which is in charge of Miss Winnifred D. Crouch, of Toronto, assisted by a local committee, will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the first day of the institute, and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on the two following days.

NOTICE

In connection with the great American Play "The Great Divide" which appears at the 'Grand' to-morrow (Saturday) matinee and night, the standing of the different competitors in the walking match will be given between acts.

AT PINEY RIDGE

Few young actresses on the stage to-day have undergone such a thorough preparation for their life work as has Miss Louise Coleman, who will make her first appearance in this city at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday, April 28, as Cindy Lane, in David Higgins' "At Piney Ridge." After an exhaustive elementary schooling at her home in Brooklyn, N.Y., where her father was a leading member of the bar, she went abroad and for several years devoted all her time to travelling through Europe, visiting all the cities of interest and sojourning for considerable periods in the various capitals and centres of art and learning. During the season just closed she appeared with distinction at the Stuyvesant Theatre, New York, with Mr. David Warfield in "A Grand Army Man." Her tour in Canada will be a brief one and is merely preparatory to a much more pretentious effort which she proposes to make next year. Her supporting company has been very carefully selected and the entire production has been made with the utmost regard for detail so that a thoroughly satisfactory performance of this most interesting play may be confidently expected.

At a meeting of the Graduate Nurses of the city, at which several schools were represented, it was decided to raise the fees to $18.00 per week and $21.00 for contagious diseases, in uniformity with surrounding towns and cities, from the present date.

Labour Conditions Rather Dull During March Month

Official Government Report---Quaker Oats Now Receiving Grain Regularly---Canoe Manufacturing Establishment Busy.

The report of Ald. W. J. Johnston on the labour condition for March, as published in the Labour Gazette, is as follows:

The general conditions of the labour market, so far as outside work was concerned, was very dull, but the majority of the manufacturing establishments kept their employees fairly well employed, nevertheless, the outlook in many instances will not compare favourably with that of a year ago. The textile industries were busy, with full staffs. The Quaker Oats Manufacturing Company, which has been handicapped all winter by shortage of grain, caused by snow blockades, is now very busy, and receiving about 20 carloads of grain daily. The several canoe shops were busy, and the woodworking and iron shops are more active than at the beginning of the month. As to the extent of building operations during the coming season, it is difficult to form an opinion, but it is certain that there will not be as many dwelling houses erected as last season. House building in the country seems to be taking on a forward movement, a great many farmers erecting new dwellings, good crops and excellent prices having encouraged them to do so.

The Randolph McDonald Construction Company has secured contracts for the building of the Balsam and Cameron Lakes section of the canal. It has all its plant ready for commencing operations on the ground, and three years in which to complete the contract.

The Mutual Benefit Association of the Canadian General Electric Company recently issued a statement showing that during the past six months its receipts amounted to $1,241, and expenditures to $1,167, with a reserve fund amounting to $1,134. This association has been of great benefit to employees meeting with accidents or sickness.

The tax rate for 1908 has been struck at 17 mills on the dollar, a half mill less than that of last year. The City Council has appointed a civic employee to collect market tolls; the custom in the past was to give the collection to the highest bidder by auction.

Banks were active, doing a good local business. Wholesale and retail trade was becoming more active with the advent of spring. Wages were unchanged, and the labour market free from unrest.

Local Industries

Agriculture — Farm work consisted chiefly of preparations for spring, but many were employed making maple syrup. Considerable hay, wood and other farm produce was marketed.

Fishing—Inactivity was the rule.

Lumbering—There was a lack of activity.

Manufacturing—The various establishments were active.

Mining—Dullness prevailed.

Particular Trade

Building — Partial inactivity prevailed.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding—Iron moulders found employment very dull, and the same conditions prevailed with iron workers and helpers. Machinists and engineers in some shops, were actively employed, with electrical workers fairly active towards the end of the month. Linemen, shipwrights and jewellers were active. Dullness prevailed in other branches.

Woodworking and Furnishing — Woodworkers, upholsterers, car-builders and coopers were dull, with varnishers, polishers and pattern makers active, the latter at the Canadian General Electric Company's works.

Clothing—Journeymen tailors, garment workers, hat makers, boot and shoe workers were active.

Food and Tobacco Preparation — Bakers, confectioners, butchers, meat cutters and cigar makers were active. Ice handlers were somewhat dull after having been busy harvesting the season's crop.

Miscellaneous — Activity was the rule.

Transport—Railway workers in all branches were active, also street railway employees. Dullness prevailed with teamsters, cabmen, carters and expressmen, but draymen were active.

Unskilled—This class found employment scarce.

District Notes

Labour in nearly all parts of the district has been very dull, owing chiefly to snow blockades and bad roads. Many teams and men have ceased work in the lumber camps. Towards the latter part of the month warmer weather set in, and work was more active, markets being better attended, and prices of produce lowered. The making of maple syrup was begun; the crop promises to be a good one.

Manufactures Association Want Paid Fire Brigade

Prepare For Fire Whether Expected Or Not, Is Their Motto ---Deputation To Go Before Council At Next Meeting.

Adequate protection in case of a big fire is what the Manufacturers' Association of Peterborough claim is due to them and at a meeting held last night in the Council Chambers, they unanimously endorsed the proposal to have a permanent, paid fire brigade. Each of the members present spoke in favour of the scheme and the opinion was expressed by some that the brigade should be under the supervision of a commission.

Before the meeting was concluded a resolution was passed endorsing the action taken by the City Council to establish a permanent brigade in Peterborough and also deciding to send a delegation to wait on the council at the next meeting to advance their views on the question.

Those present were Messrs. E G Patterson, chairman, and General Manager of the C.G.E., W H Denham, of the Quaker Oats Company; Jas. Hamilton, of the Peter Hamilton Company, Limited; E B Fowler, representing the Cordage Works; J H Larmonth, manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company; J J Turner, Jr., F H Dobbin and James English.

City is Growing

Patterson in opening the discussion, stated that the question of the payment of the fire brigade was something very important to the manufacturers as well as to the business men of the city. He believed the city was too large now to continue to have a volunteer fire brigade, but still he considered the fire brigade should be adequate to meet the requirements. He was certain that in the past it had done very efficient work, but with the growing city a change was necessary. His idea was that a commission similar to our water commission, be formed to supervise the department, thus taking the work out of the hands of the city council. There should be one chief whose word should be law and from ten to fifteen men.

Mr. Denham was of a similar opinion to Mr. Patterson as a volunteer brigade in a city like this, he thought, was not a proper thing. The first four or five minutes is the critical time in a fire and he considered the brigade should be out in a minute's time. With only two or three present at the time of the alarm it is impossible to do the work of twelve or fifteen men ready in the hall.

Promptness Necessary

Waggon and engine teams should be kept always available. Promptness is one of the great things. If it is going to take four ro five minutes to get into action there is always the danger of the fire making headway too rapidly.

There should be one chief over the other employees and all should obey him to the letter. There should also be thought, be an assistant chief to take the chief's position whenever the latter was absent. A brigade of eight or ten paid men would, perhaps, save thousands of dollars, and insurance rates, he considered, ought, in such a case to be materially lessened.

Mr Jas. Hamilton stated that the present brigade had accomplished good work in the past, but he considered a paid one was necessary.

Mr. Jas. English was of a similar opinion. He thought there should be about 15 paid men as that number would be necessary in case of a large fire.

Quick Work Wanted

Mr. E B Fowler agreed with what the other gentlemen had said. What was needed was the getting of the men at the fire at the earliest possible moment. He referred to the efficient work of the brigade at a recent fire at the Cordage Works, although the men were not in a position to go to it in large numbers.

Mr. Turner thought that he had given the matter more consideration than any other member present. The question had come before the Council and been carefully discussed. They had felt that some improvement might be made and the Fire, Water and Light Committee had made recommendations to the council, where they were endorsed. A competent chief, who would have power to dismiss any member of the brigade, and who would be paid a suitable salary was what the committee had decided upon.

A Lower Rate

As a manufacturer he thought the rate of insurance would be lessened by a paid fire brigade and he thoroughly endorsed the opinion of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. Larmonth concurred with the other speakers in the paid fire brigade scheme. Promptness, as Mr. Denham had stated, was a great factor in case of fire. He was positive the insurance companies would lessen the rates.

Mr. F H Dobbin endorsed the opinions of the other gentlemen.

Mr. Patterson added that all members of the Manufacturers' Association considered that the brigade should be paid and he believed that the supervision of the brigade should be taken out of the hands of the council and placed under a commission.

Ald. Turner stated that the council had considered it easier to add to the numbers of the brigade than to lessen them. This would of course be left to the discretion of the chief.

The Resolutions

The following resolutions, moved by Messrs. Denham and Fowler, were drafted and adopted:—First — That this Association express to the council its earnest approval of the measure to install a permanent paid fire brigade and will endorse and support any municipal legislation to that end.

Second—That a delegation of this Association would like to meet the council and further express the Association's views on this most important subject.

Third—That a copy of this resolution be handed to the City Council.

POLICE CELLS ARE FULL EVERY NIGHT

Army of Tramps Visiting the City—Many Come From Toronto.

The police are receiving their share of Easter holiday visitors, and are competing with the local hotels. The caretaker of the city buildings says that every morning there is a regular little army of penniless tramps turned out of the police station. He objects very strongly to the class of visitors taken in, as they leave their bed rooms in a very untidy state. Each person, who applies for permission, is registered, and it appears that most of the visitors have left Toronto and are going east, others come from Montreal and are hitting for the west.

PETERBOROUGH CANOES FAMOUS THROUGHOUT THE OLD COUNTRY, SAYS OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT

Paper by Lord Strathcona on the All Red Route—Resignation of Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman.

DISASTER TO THE "TIGER"

The two great events of the week have been the terrible disaster to the "Tiger" and the resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. The former can only be summed up in the now somewhat hackneyed expression, "the price we pay for Admiralty, and while our fleet keeps itself fit by indulging in realistic imitations of the game of war, the chance of such catastrophes cannot be done away with.

Mr. Asquith has been the virtual Premier ever since the illness of Sir Henry, and now that he is the actual leader of the Government, all eyes are turned in his direction. He is a capable business man and a thorough organiser, and although his party is divided against itself over and over again, and is pledged to a programme almost impossible to carry out, it is expected that he of all men will be able to give it a new lease of life. It is rumoured that Mr. John Burns will become Colonial Secretary.

The All Red Route

Last Tuesday night Lord Strathcona read a paper before the Royal Colonial Institute on the "All-Red Route," and appropriately enough, the papers reported on the same day a rumour that the White Star Line contemplated the establishment of a service direct from Liverpool to Montreal. When I visited the head of the White Star London offices, he looked wise, but refused to say anything, and visitors to the Liverpool offices met with the same reception. However, a well-informed shipping man informs me that he knew of the scheme as much as a month ago, that it will be put into operation next year, and that the White Star people consider that the extension of Canadian trade amply justifies it. This bears out the forecast of Major G. W. Stephens, in my letter last week.

Another interesting interview I had on Monday with Mr. Robert Watchorn, the American "main guy" in the Immigration Department at Ellis Island. Mr. Watchorn is and Englishman by birth and is over on this side on a short holiday. He seemed rather depressed by the recent slump in American immigration during the past year. The American financial panic has decreased the number of emigrants nearly fifty per cent. This is rather hard on the Yankees, who need a fresh population to take the place of the 50,000 Americans who come into Canada every year. Mr. Watchorn declares the slump is perfectly natural and only temporary, and to a certain extent this statement is born out by facts, but still there is no doubt that the rush has turned from the States to Canada. The new Canadian immigration regulations have been put into operation none too soon. Canada will be spared some of the worthless human rubbish that was shot freely into the States for so many years.

In a Peterborough Canoe

The weather is up to the regular April form here—cold east wind one day, and hot the next. London gets hot in a surprisingly short time. There are no melting snow piles to remind one that winter was with us yesterday, and on days when the sun gets any kind of a show, one jumps into the middle of August. Tuesday was so fine that I went up the river, and after much trouble, managed to get a genuine Peterborough canoe. They are to be found all over England wherever there is a bit of water, but lately I find that English makers have been imitating the Canadian model, and, as far as my experience goes, with poor success. They manage to make them look like the real thing, but they use some particularly heavy wood, and I would not care to portage one of them a hundred yards. Canadians, who feel like having a paddle, when they are over here, should take warning and refuse to hire any imitations. The Old Country is ahead in a good many things, but canoes——.

A Winter Experience

Talking of the weather and snow piles reminds me of an amusing experience I had a year or two back, when spending Christmas with some friends in the country. The night before I had to leave, there was a snow storm, and in the morning I was told that the roads were impassable, and that it was impossible for the pony to take me to the station. As it was important for me to be up in town that day I determined to walk to the station, though I was told that I was taking my life in my hand, that I would never get there, etc., etc., etc. In the village I found a number of wagons, the drivers of which filled the local inn, drank mighty draughts of ale and swore they had hard work to get as far as they had, and could go no further. I was rather frightened at the prospect of a seven mile walk, after hearing what they said, but all the mighty snow drifts that I encountered were a few that lay along about a mile of the road, and which were nowhere more than knee deep. I am afraid the "old fashioned winter" has been completely forgotton over here.

The game of bowls, while not popular among the "masses," in the same sense that cricket and football are popular, nevertheless, has thousands of devotees among all classes, and preparations are being made to welcome the twenty-five bowlers who are to visit England next July. Arrangements are being made to tender them a banquet, at which Lord Rosebery will preside. The last visit of Canadia bbowlers to England was in 1904.

Niagara Power Dispute

More boundary disputes, and this time with the important question of Niagara power involved. So far, in these boundary questions, it has been all give, on the part of Canada, and all take, on the part of the States. It seems that Canada will take a firm stand on this question, for while Mr. Root hopes to come to an agreement with Mr. Bryce on other matters, this one is likely to be left over. Niagara power is a big thing, and it is important that Canada should get a full share of it. Fortunately Niagara's great rival, the Victoria Falls of the Zambesi, are wholly in British territory. I was there last year, and after the awe that these enormous falls at first inspire, had to some degree passed away, it was natural to compare the possibilities of power utilization with Niagara. Some day the Victoria Falls will provide power for the whole of South Africa, and happily, as we have possession of the whole of the falls, no dispute as to ownership can take place. If you look at a map of Africa you will see that, north of the Bechuanaland Protectorate there is a long, narrow strip of German territory, from German South Africa to the Zambesi. When the country was portioned out Germany insisted on being given this strip, in order that they might have a waterway down the Zambesi to the East Coast. On further examination of the map you will see that this strip of land touches the Zambesi some hundreds of miles above the falls. No one seems to have considered that their presence would be an insurmountable barrier to navigation between the German territory and the sea. This is commonly called "Caprivi's Folly," since Count Caprivi was responsible for it, and it is an example of how boundaries are arranged by men who know nothing of what they really want.

"Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The Particulars of a Remarkable Cure Told by a Presbyterian Clergyman---The Sufferer Brought Back From Death's Door.

St. Andrew's Manse,
Cardigan, P.E.I., Jan. 1908.

Though I have never been sick myself, and have not had occasion to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I thought you ought to know of the remarkable cure they have wrought in Mr. Olding's case.

During a visit to my home in Merigomish, N.S., some years ago, I was grieved to find our next door neighbour and friend, Michael Olding, very low. "He is not expected to live," my mother informed me, "And you must go over and see him as he is liable to pass away at any moment." "Not expected to live," that was the opinion not only of the doctor who attended him, but of his wife and family as well. Upon visiting him myself I found abundant evidence to confirm their opinion.

Mr. Olding had for years been afflicted with asthma and bronchitis, but now a complication of diseases was ravishing his system. He had been confined to his bed for months and was reduced to a skeleton. Though evidently glad to see me, he conversed with the greatest difficulty, and seemed to realize that it was the beginning of the end. He was daily growing weaker; his feet were swollen to twice their natural size, and the cold hand of death was upon his brow. "Its no use," he said feebly, "the doctors medicine is not helping me and I am going down rapidly." I prayed with him as for a man soon to pass into eternity, and when I took his hand in parting it was the last time I expected to see him in the flesh.

Three years later while on another visit to my mother's Michael Olding was seemingly in better health than I had ever seen him, for, as I said, he had always been ailing. In sheer desperation he had asked his wife to get him Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They soon began to help him. His appetite and strength began to improve, and to the astonishment of his family and friends he rapidly regained his health. Now, though the burden of well nigh four score years is upon him, he is able to do a fair day's work, and is in the enjoyment of good health, even the asthma has ceased to trouble him as in former years.

Mr. Olding himself, as well as his neighbours and the writer of this letter, confidently believe that his rescue from the very jaws of death—seemingly so miraculous—is due under the blessing of God to the timely and continuous use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

REV. EDWIN SMITH, M.A.

Mr. Olding himself writes:—"I am glad Rev. Mr. Smith has written you about my wonderful cure, for I confidently believe that if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would have been dead long ago. It would be impossible to exaggerate the desperate condition I was in when I began to use the pills. No one thought I could get better. I scarcely dared hope myself that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would bring me through, but they did and I have ever since enjoyed good health. Though I am seventy-nine years old people are always remarking on how young I look—and I feel young. I can do fair day's work and I am better in every way than I had been for years. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I take every opportunity I can to recommend them to friends who are ailing."

GIVE THE BOY A CHANCE.

(By N. A. Howard Moore.)

The boys of to-day are not what boys were fifty years ago, and the boys are not to blame. The parental roof is not as pure as it ought to be. What they see at home in the majority of cases, they act out abroad. They are left too much to the mercy of the teachers in the Sunday School, and the day school. This should not be. The home is the sacred spot in every boy's life, and should be the loadstone, which is the magnet of his life for good, and all that is holy. Too many parents are allowing their boys to do about as they like, sow their wild oats, and it is lamentable to see so many of our future merchants, aldermen, legislators, and in fact our coming men, standing on the street corners, swearing terrible oaths, smoking cigarettes, (that they purchased themselves, although it is against the law) and behaving in a manner that does not reflect very much credit on their home life. Some steps should be taken to prevent this, if necessary, legislation should be introduced which will remedy this evil.

More interest should be taken in the young. If parents would enter more into the lives of their boys, it would have a telling effect on the youth. Parents should take an interest, if not a part, in their pastimes, amusements and studies, and thereby be able to keep them from bad company and the street and its results. The parents should in the first place interest themselves enough in the boy's surroundings and study to turn his thoughts and actions into channels which will educate his life in the "better way." They should take an interest in all his undertakings, and it would have the effect of their becoming better men.

Immoral posters placarded on the bill board have a great influence with the boy, and draw him away from the home, to immoral plays and places. The strongest evidence goes to prove that some of our theatres are frequented by hundreds of our boys, and where do they, in many cases get the money to spend on this form of amusement? Let me here quote from the words of the chief of police of one of our Canadian cities. He says: "One of our city reporters said to me, that when the boys assembled at one of these light plays, at one theatre, it was a positive hell." And when he was asked for his own opinion, he said: — "Theatre-going was the cause of more stealing and purse-snatching than anything else. Many boys had to have money to see the plays and not being able to get it honestly, they resorted to pilfering."

A few years ago when the clergy of our Capital City were asked to preach a sermon on a certain Sunday on "The Boy Problem," he declined, after much thought and inquiry, giving as his reason: "That there is a law on the Statute book of our province, prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors, but there was nothing to prevent anyone over eighteen from making the purchase, and passing on the cigarettes to boys. There was no law to prevent the boys from smoking, either on the street or anywhere else. Neither was there anything to prevent boys from going to see cheap and sensational plays and this being so, he declined to preach a sermon on the subject. It would not do a particle of good. If there was nothing in the law to stop 100 or 200 boys from gathering in the gallery of a theatre and covering

"Oh, Will! How can I ever thank you?" cried Miss Mattie, her eyes filling. It seemed a great and responsible position to the gentle lady to be a stockholder in the corporation. It wasn't the monetary value of the thing; it was the pride of place.

"If you don't know how, don't try," returned Red. "You give the other three stockholders a good feed tomorrow and the thanks will be up to you. Hello! There's the old lad now!" as a trumpet blast rang out from the front porch. "It must take some practice to blow your nose like that. I've heard jackasses that could not bray in the same class with that little old gent—come in. Come in! You needn't sound the rally again."

Six feet straight in the air.

Thus adjured the lawyer made his entrance, and Miss Mattie became in lue and involved course of law a stockholder in the Fairfield Strawboard Manufacturing company.

Fairfield rose to activity like a very small giant refreshed. Teams and their heavy loads kept the respectable dust in constant commotion. A grist mill was added to the intended plant, thus offering an inducement to the farmer to raise grain, and incidentally straw, "So we can ketch 'em on both ends, too," as Red put it.

The time seemed like enchantment to Miss Mattie. As a bringer of the tidings and a stockholder in the company she had risen to be a person of importance, with the result that she was even more modestly shy than before, although in her heart she liked it; but more delightful yet was the spirit of holiday activity which inspired and pervaded the place.

Red had insisted on operating on the lines that are laid down with railroad spikes in the western communities—to patronize home industries as much as possible. Therefore the machinery orders went through Mr. Farrel, the blacksmith, initiating that worthy man into the mysteries of making money without doing anything for it, which seemed little less than a miracle to him. Everything that could be bought through local people was obtained in that way. It cost a trifle more, but it brought more money into the place and enabled the villagers to partake of the enlivenment without the feeling that it was a Barmecide feast. The postmistress furnished the paint, and it is painful to add that she tried to furnish a No. 3 paint for a No. 1 price, arguing that she was a poor, lone woman struggling through an uncharitable world and that the increased profit would do her considerable good, a view which Red did not share. He would willingly have made her a present of the difference, but he did not in the least intend to be choused out of it by man or woman. They had a very funny debate in private, wherein the feminine tried to dominate the masculine principle by over ordinary and found to its disgust that the method didn't work. Red listened most respectfully and always replied: "Yes, ma'am, but we don't want that paint. Get us some good paint—bully old paint with stick'um in it. This stuff is like whitewash, only feebler. We're going to put on a swell front up at the mill, and we've got to have the right thing." And at last the postmistress said that she would, her respect for the ex-cow puncher having risen noticeably in the meantime.

"Yes, ma'am, but we don't want that paint."

CHAPTER VIII.

THE work on the mill was pushed, and in spite of the usual amount of unforeseen delays it was ready for business by the latter part of September. The official opening was set for the 27th, Miss Mattie's birthday, and the village of Fairfield was invited to a picnic to be held at the mill in honor of the occasion. It is needless to say that the Fairfield Strawboard Manufacturing company did the thing up in shape. Wagons loaded with straw and drawn by four horse teams went the rounds of the village collecting the guests. It is doubtful if Fairfield was ever more surprised than at the realization of how much there was of her, using the pronoun out of respect to the majority, "when she was bunched," as Red said. You would not have believed that struggling, lonesome looking place held so many people. As Red could discover no means in the town's resources to provide a meal for 300 people, it was necessarily a basket party, which struck Mr. Saunders as being grievously like a Swede treat. He made up for it in a measure by having barrels of lemonade and cider on tap at the grounds, stronger beverages being barred, and by hiring a quartet of strings "clear from town."

At half past 2 on a resplendent but hot September afternoon the caravan started for the mill grounds, the women dressed in the most unpicnicky costumes imaginable, and the men ostentatiously at ease in their store clothes. Every one was in the best of spirits, keen for the excitement and pleasure that was sure to mark the occasion.

Red rode old Buckskin, who had succumbed to the inevitable and only "jumped around a little," as Red put it, on being mounted. It was pretty lively "jumping around," but perhaps Mr. Saunders found some satisfaction in sitting perfectly at his ease, smoking his cigarette, while Buck jumped and Fairfield admired. And, at any rate, Buck had legs of iron and the wind of a locomotive, carrying Red all day and willing to kick at anything which bothered him when night came. He was a splendid beast through and through, from forelock to tail tip, but he had learned who was his master and obeyed him accordingly.

It was a five mile ride, mostly under the shade of fine old trees. The road wound around the hills; here and there a break in the arboreal border showed views of rolling country, well shaped and pleasing, winding up grassy slopes in groves of verdure. Of course most of the freshness of leaf was past, yet the modest gray green gave a silvery sheen to the landscape that brought it into unity.

One member of the party felt that his heart was very full as he looked at it. That was Lettis. "Blast the old office!" he kept saying to himself. "Blast its six dingy windows and the clock at the end! Doesn't this look good, and doesn't it smell good, dust and all?" and then he'd howl at the horses in sheer exuberance of good feeling, making the mild old brutes put a better foot of it to the front.

Red cantered up beside his wagon. "Well, Lettis," he said, "here we go for the opening overture with the full strength of the company—we're great people this day, ain't we?" And the big man smiled like a pleased big boy.

"Oh, what a bully old fellow you are!" thought Lettis as he looked at him. Lettis was thinking of other qualities than flesh, but the physical Red Saunders on horseback was deserving of a glance from anybody; the massive figure so well poised; the clear cut, proud profile; the shapely head with its crown of red gold hair; the easy grace of him by virtue of his strength—it would be a remarkable crowd in which Chanta Seechee Red couldn't pass for a man. He was every inch of that from the ground up.

Lettis had come to bow down to him in adoration, with all an affectionate boy's worship. To those eyes Red was just right in every particular; likewise to Miss Mattie, who even now was filling her eyes with him from behind the vantage of a broad brimmed straw hat.

At last the whole party disembarked at the flat before the mill and made ready for the official starting of the machinery. The big doors were thrown open, so that the company could see within while resting outside in the shade, and under the cooling influence of what breeze there was. The mill was officially started. Red climbed the bank to the flume and raised the gate. The crowd cheered as the imprisoned waters leaped to freedom with a hollow roar, raising in pitch as the penstock filled and the wheels began to go round. Speech was called for, and the vigorously protesting Red was forced to the front by his former friends, Demilt and Lettis. Thus betrayed by those he trusted, Red made the best of it.

"Ladies and gentlemen, fellow citizens," said he, "the mill is now open to all comers. We hope to make this thing a success. We hope to see every horny handed, hump backed farmer in the country rosin the soles of his moccasins and shove his plow through twice as much ground as he ever did before, and if he comes here with his plunder we'll give him a square shake. We'll pay him as much as we dast and not let him in on the ground floor, so he can crawl out through the coal hole, as is sometimes done. Now, everybody run away and have a good time, for I don't like to talk this yappi any more than you like to hear it. Kola gens! By-by!"

It was a very successful picnic. They spent the afternoon in wandering around in the usual picnic fashion, developing appetites, until it occurred to Red to liven the performance by showing them the art of roping as practiced upon an old cow found in the woods. As a spectacle it was a failure. The combined efforts of all the hooting small boys could not make that cow run. She even stretched her neck toward Red, as though saying: "Hurry up with your foolishness. I have a cud to chew and can't stand here idle all day." So Red galloped by and threw the noose over her head as an exhibition of how the thing was done rather than how it ought to be done. Nevertheless picnic parties are not hypercritical in the matter of amusement, and the feat received three encores. The last time he missed his cast through overconfidence, whereat the old cow tossed her head and tail in the air and tore off at an elephantine gallop, with a bawl that sounded to Red mightily like derision.

"Durned if she ain't laughing at me!" he cried. But as a matter of fact it was a hornet and its unmistakable sting that injected this activity into her system.

It was all very pleasant to Miss Mattie, as one's first picnic in many years should be. She enjoyed the crisp green sod, the great trees standing around, parklike, with the sunlight falling between their shade like brilliant tatters of cloth of gold, while from the near distance came the tiny shouting of cool waters. They had a camp fire at night, making the moonlight still more mysterious and remote by contrast. The quartet of strings played for the ears of those who cared to listen and for the legs of those who chose to take chances on tripping their light fantastic toes over tree roots in the grass.

Red loved music, and he loved the night. The poetic side of his memories of watching the Dipper swing around Polaris while he sung the cows to sleep came back to him. In his mind he saw the vast prairie roll on to infinity, saw the mountains stand out, a world of white peaks, rising from a sea of darkness. Again he heard the plaintive shrilling of an Indian whistle or the song of the lad down creek, made tuneful by the charm of distance.

"Having a good time, Mattie?" he asked, with a smile.

"The best I ever had, Will," she answered, smiling back unsteadily. Poor lady! The size of an occasion is so many standards, whether the standard be inches or feet or miles. Miss Mattie's events had been measured in hundredths of an inch, and it took a good many of them to cover so small an action as a successful picnic on a beautiful night. Her eyes were humid; her mouth smiled and drooped at the corners alternately. Red felt her happiness with a keen sympathy, and, as he looked at her, suddenly she changed in his eyes. Just what the difference was he could not have told, nor whether it was in her or in him A sudden access of feeling, undefinable, unplaceable, but strong, possessed him. There is a critical temperature in the life of a man, when no amount of pressure can ever make the more expansive emotions assume the calmer form of friendship. There was something in Miss Mattie's eye which had warmed Red to that degree, but he didn't know it. He only knew that he wanted to sit rather unnecessarily close beside her, and that he would be sorry when it came time to go home. And he was very silent.

During the drive back to the house he spoke in monosyllables; he went straight to the barn with Lettis afterward, and made no attempt to take the usual frank and hearty good night kiss.

"You're as glum as an oyster!" said Lettis. When they reached their quarters. "What's the matter, old man?"

"I don't know, Let; I feel kind of quiet, somehow."

"Sick? Or something go wrong?"

"No; nothing of the kind. It's just sort of an attack of stillness, but I feel durn good."

Lettis laughed. "If it wasn't you, Red, I'd say you were in love," he said.

It was well the barn was dark, or he would have seen a change wonderful to behold come over the ex-puncher's face. "The lad has hit it," he said to himself in astonishment; aloud he grunted "hunh" scornfully, and aroused himself for an unnecessary joke or two.

Miss Mattie had noticed the "attack of stillness" and immediately tried to fasten the blame upon herself. What had she done? She couldn't recall anything. She remembered she had said something about the way his hair looked with the moon shining on it. Perhaps he had taken offense at that. The remark was entirely complimentary, but sometimes people are touchy about such things. Still, that was not the least like Cousin Will. She must have said or done something, though. What could it be? Oh, what a pitiful memory that could not recollect an injury done to one's best friend! She tossed and wondered over it for a long time before at length she fell asleep.

Red also looked up at the roof and took account of stock. His face was radiant in the dark. "If I could only pull that off!" he thought. "I must seem an awful rough cuss to her, though. All right for a cousin, but it's different when you come to the other proposition. My Jiminy! I'll take a chance in the morning and find out, anyhow!" said he, and, eased in mind by the decision of action, he too shook hands with Morpheus and was presently dreaming.

It had never occurred to Red Saunders that he was afraid of anybody. He even chuckled when he got Lettis out of the way with a plausible excuse the next morning. Then he strode briskly into the house, his question on his lips in a plump out and out form.

Miss Mattie looked at him with her slow smile. "What is it?" she asked.

Red swallowed his question whole. "I—I wanted a little hot water to shave with," said he. Then a fury took hold of him. "What the devil am I lying like this for?" he thought. He exhorted himself to go on and say what he had to say like a man, but the other Red Saunders refused to do anything of the sort. He took the cup of hot water most abjectly and fled from the house. He had to shave then, and in his hurry and indignation he turned the operation into a clinic. "Oh, Jiminy, look at that!" he cried as the razor opened up another part of the subject. "There's a slit an inch long! If I keep on at this gait I won't have face enough to say good morning, let alone what I want to do. What ails me? What ails me? Why should I be scart of the nicest woman God ever built? Now, by all the Mormon gods, I'll post right into the house and say my little say as soon as these cuts stop bleeding!"

Cobwebs stopped the cuts, and other cobwebs stopped Red Saunders, late of the Chanta Seechee ranch, 250 pounds of the very finest bone and muscle. And the cobwebs held him, foaming and boiling with rage and disgust, calling himself all the yaller pups he could think of, but staying strictly within the safe limits of the barn. It was a revelation to the big man, and not a pleasant one. How was he to know that the most salient point of his apparent cowardice was nothing less worthy than respect for the woman's security? That if he would stop swearing long enough to get at the springs of his action he would find that he hesitated because the new light on the matter made huge shadows of the slips in the career of a strong, lawless, untrained but sorely tempted man? He knew nothing of the sort, and the funniest of comedies took place in the barn. He would reach the sensible stage. "Pah! All foolishness! Go? Of course he'd go, and this very minute, and have the thing done with, good or bad." He was quite amused at his former conduct until he reached the door; then he'd skip nimbly back again, with a hot feeling that somebody was watching him, although a careful inspection through the crack of the door revealed no one.

Red discovered another thing that afternoon, which was that the more nervous you are the more nervous you get. He groaned in perfect misery: "Ohoho! That I should have seen the day when I was afraid to ask anybody anything! What's come over me anyhow? It's this darn country, I believe. 'Taint me." Then he stopped short. "What you saying, Red?" he queried. "Why don't you own up like a man?" The fact that it had a funny side struck him, and he laughed half forlornly and half in thorough enjoyment. He suddenly sobered down: "She's worth it anyway," said he. "She's the best there is, and I ought to feel kind of leery of the outcome. Well, now I guess I won't say anything till there's a downright good chance. I see I didn't savvy this kind of business like I thought I did. 'Twouldn't be no kind of manners to step up to a lady and shout, 'I'd like to have you marry me if you feel you've got the time!' That don't go no more than a Chinaman on roller skates. Your work is good, Red, but it's a little lumpy in spots. Them two left feet bother you. You're good in your place, but you'd better build a fence around the place, d—n the luck! Smotheration! I think she likes me, all right, but when it comes to more'n that—oh, blast it, I'll just have to wait for a real good chance! Now come, old man, get four feet on the ground and don't roll your eyes. Take it easy till the chance comes."

SUNSHINE FURNACE

And Coal Economy

COMBUSTION taking place in the dome or top chamber of furnace fire-pot is the result of air and heat mingling with fumes. This combustion produces heat-energy, which the radiating surfaces above and around fire-pot absorb or draw in and then deflect or throw off. Incoming cold air receives this heat-energy, the result being heated air. Now, if the combustion takes place at a faster rate than the radiating surfaces can absorb and deflect, the surplus heat-power will pass up the chimney or into cellar—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. Circuit of radiator is so complete, and air-circulating space so large, that every bit of heat-energy is quickly absorbed and quickly deflected on the circulating cold air, which is thus quickly heated and ascends through the hot-air pipes to rooms above.

The check-draft of a furnace is situated on the smoke-pipe. When this draft is closed—especially on an "ordinary" furnace—heat particles can escape up chimney. When check-draft is opened the incoming cold air from the cellar drives all heat particles back into furnace proper. If the grates and fire-pot of furnace are not constructed properly, there's a clogging and gathering of ashes, and fire does not burn up readily. If no provision is made for gas escape, the check-draft must be left closed indefinitely—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. No clogging can take place in the 4-piece grate, no ashes can gather on the straight fire-pot walls, and the Automatic Gas Damper makes every provision for the escape of gas; consequently, check-draft can be opened shortly after coaling and all heat-energy saved for radiation.

OUR NEED OF WATER.

Muscles Made Elastic and Temperature Regulated by Moisture.

Physiologists tell us that the animal body consists of almost 80 per cent of water. Admitting this to be true, it would seem plausible, says the Medical Record, that this quantity is necessary in order to carry on the normal physiological processes of the animal economy in proper condition.

For similar reasons it would also appear plausible that should this quantity in any way be greatly reduced or diminished, either through normal processes of the body or through abnormal processes, this lost quantity must immediately be resupplied. Should such a withdrawal of water be permitted to be unduly prolonged the disorders will assume such grave dimensions that life itself may ultimately be terminated.

Elasticity and pliability of muscles, nerves, cartilage, tendons and even bones depend mainly on the amount of water they contain. Water also serves as a distributer of bodily heat and regulates the body temperature by the physical process of absorption and elimination.

Under normal conditions and in a proper degree of health this supply is ordinarily furnished partly by the food and partly by the drink we are daily consuming. An overindulgence in the use of water, provided it is not carried to excess, will seldom if ever be productive of any deleterious consequences.

The Tuscan Farmer.

The Tuscan peasant stands in the peculiar position of being neither a proprietor nor a dependent, writes Helen Zimmern in the Youth's Companion. He is instead the partner in an industry. According to this method of farming, which is called mezzadria, the proprietor of the land pays all the taxes, advances all money required, furnishes capital for the purchase of cattle and keeps in repair the dwelling house. The peasant in return works the fields, attends to the live stock and to other home industries, sells the products—in short is the absolute master of the land that is confided to him. He works the soil exactly as if it were his own, and then, at stated intervals in the year, divides the products and profits with the real owner.

Don't Live In New Houses.

Why is a new house unhealthful? That is a question which has been asked by many and answered by few. And yet the reason is obvious. In the construction of just one medium sized house it is estimated that over 30,000 gallons of water is used. This water does not evaporate so quickly as it would in the air and sunlight, but lies near the surface of the earth and under the house and in the walls of the cellar; hence the house is damp, and damp houses foster illness. A house that has been standing for a year or so is much more healthful than a new one.

Cheering Him Up.

Little Elmer—Grampa, why do you look so sad? Grampa—I was just thinking. Here I am sixty years of age, and I have never done anything that will be likely to make posterity remember me. Little Elmer—Oh, well, don't worry. Mebby you'll still have a chance to live in history as somebody's grandfather.

ANIMAL VISION.

Its Acuteness Depends Upon the Size of the Eyeball.

Dr. Alexander Schaefer investigated the vision of many animal species and found that the size of the eyeball is the principal factor of acuteness of vision. The bovine species has the sharpest sight. The second place is occupied by man and the horse, which have nearly equal visual powers, the third by the sheep. Small and especially small eyed animals, whether mammals, birds, amphibia or reptiles, have very poor sight. Owls and buzzards are the only birds that possess great acuteness of vision. The low positions in the scale occupied by dogs, cats, bats and many fishes which feed upon living prey is contrary to all expectation. In the case of dogs and certain fishes lack of sharpness of vision is due to the great size of the retinal elements. It has long been known that dogs have such indistinct vision that, as a rule, a dog is not able to recognize his master by sight alone.

These results emphasize the distinction between vision of motionless objects and vision of moving objects. The latter faculty is necessarily keen in all animals of prey. A cat is little affected by the sight of motionless objects, but pounces on a seeing mouse or a trailed string instantly and with unerring precision. A trout will rise to the most impossible artificial fly if its motion resembles that of a living fly.

The inclusion and position of man in the series are based upon the ocular measurements given by Helmholtz in his "Physiologische Optik."—Scientific American.

PATENT MEDICINES.

They Were Known In Japan as Early as the Year 1682.

Though Americans have got the idea into their heads that this country takes the palm for the use of patent medicines, it appears that it falls far behind Japan.

A report by one of Great Britain's consuls in Japan shows that the "Yankees of the east" began to develop the patent medicine business long before the United States was more than a few little Atlantic coast hamlets—that is, in the year 1682.

The business had its origin at Toyama, on the west coast. Its founder and patron was Prince Seiho Maeda. While daymio of the province his making of medicines for the poor attracted such attention that Bandai Jokan, a physician of Katakami, brought a supply of Han-Gon-Tan ("medicine that calls back the dead to life"). This was distributed from door to door, to be paid for when convenient, and from that time has been a popular remedy.

The industry took root and flourished. Medicines were distributed in the last century by thousands of agents, who made collections once a year, taking back unused supplies.

The medicines—none being in liquid form—are usually given suggestive names, like "brain healing pills" and "heal everything powders." Toyama has a special guild for loaning capital, a dealers' club of 3,000 members, a patent medicine school and a patent medicine magazine.

FEED ON POND LILIES.

Moose Are Exceedingly Fond of These Pretty Flowers.

At first thought it would appear impossible that such large, gaunt denizens of the forest as moose could in any way be interested in flowers. They are, however, exceedingly fond of all kinds of water lilies. Few people know that these flowers grow from thick snake-like root stocks which are so firmly attached to the bottom that the strongest man cannot loosen them. It is from these firmly moored root stocks that the much admired leaves and flowers strive toward the light.

A well known naturalist who studied the habits of the animals in northern Minnesota, where moose are more numerous than in any other part of the world, often found two or three big bulls engaged in gathering their morning meal on the lake bottom. The great beasts would slowly stalk about in three or four feet of water, and often their heads would be under water for half a minute at a time, so that their backs would look like bowlders just protruding from the stream; then a pair of magnificent antlers would come up, and the water would be shaken out of the big ears with a flapping noise that could be heard for a quarter of a mile, and then the big, long muzzle would be leisurely chewing a dripping mouthful of water lily leaves and other plants gathered from the bottom.

So intent were the huge animals on gathering flowers that several times the naturalist could row up close enough to secure a good photograph before they splashed noisily back to the shore and disappeared in the black spruce. When the moose find a good lily pond they continue feeding in it until the plants are almost exterminated.

A KING'S DREAM.

Belief In the Vision Might Have Changed History.

On June 12, 1645, Charles I. slept at the little inn in Naseby village. Scouts had brought news of the approach of the parliamentary army, and the king was resolved to give them battle.

In the middle of the night the lords of the bedchamber, who slept in the outer room, were disturbed by an extraordinary noise in the king's room. Upon entering they found Charles sitting bolt upright in his bed and in a much excited state.

On asking what the noise was, the king said he had heard no noise, but that their entry had roused him from an extraordinary dream. He said that Strafford had stood at the foot of his bed and implored him not to give battle, for if he did he would be so disastrously defeated as to threaten his crown and even his life.

The next morning Charles told Prince Rupert and his generals of his dream, but declared that he would fight. They in vain tried to dissuade him. In the evening news arrived that the enemy were close at hand. That night Charles again dreamed the same dream. Strafford warned him that it was the last time he would try to help him.

The next morning the king led his army out and by sunset he had lost cannon, baggage and four-fifths of his troops and, as events proved, the war as well.

Strafford's ghost was right. Had Charles not met Cromwell at Naseby it is quite likely he would not have met his death at Whitehall.

Not Caught Yet.

The young clubman had been introduced to the beautiful Russian actress. He was charmed, entranced, and he finally led her to the conservatory, where they might have a quiet minute to themselves.

"Pardon me," he said, "I did not quite catch your name."

"What is it that you did not do?" she asked in bewilderment. "Oh, your language is so strange. Do you want my name?"

"Yes; your own full name."

"Will you catch it this time?"

"I'll do my best."

"Well, it's Vera Federovina Kommisarjewskaya."

He muffed it.

Showed Him How.

The gardener at the Jardin des Plantes in Paris gave an undergardener two of the first ripe figs to take to one of the governors. On the way the man gave way to temptation and ate one.

"Where is the other fig?" said the governor to him, having been told of the present beforehand.

"I ate it."

"But how could you do that?"

"Like this," said the servant, swallowing the other.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Ladue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE

Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrews Sunday School in Williams town for nine years and License Commissioner for Glengarry — and Tax Collector for Charlottenburg—for fourteen years continuously. Read how strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 5th., 1907.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up. I am now over eighty years of age and I can stronghly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Chronic Constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action. 147

A FAMOUS DETECTIVE

The Rise, the Achievements and the Fall of M. Vidocq.

GREAT FRENCH POLICE SPY.

His Career as a Coiner, a Burglar and the Associate of Thieves—He Knew the Secrets of More Than Half of the Criminals in Paris.

"The fellow has made his escape by the roof!"

A little band of Parisian police had paid a surprise visit to a mean, dirty house in one of the most disreputable parts of Paris. It was about 3 o'clock in the morning when an officer tapped at the door and demanded admittance of the trembling person who opened it. Slipping past him, they crept swiftly and noiselessly up the rickety stairs to the door of a room, opened it and rushed in. But the bed in which they had expected to find their man was empty. He must have heard them stealing up the stairs and escaped by the window.

The officer in charge of the party looked out. In the darkness he could distinguish nothing. But the man must be there. His clothes still lay beside the bed, where he had cast them down when he had retired the night before.

Some of the most daring of the officers crawled out after him, while others went for ladders to reach the roof from the street. The man must be caught! He was found at last. Crouching down and seeking to hide himself among the chimney stacks, the officers pounced upon him.

A short time later he was before one of the chiefs of the police.

"Good day, M. Henri," he said, saluting the stern looking official. "Some one has once more betrayed me into your hands."

"You are accused of being in league with coiners and passers of bad money," said the official. "What have you to say?"

"Only that I am innocent, monsieur, though the people in the house where I lodged were guilty of such practices. I had the honor of calling on monsieur some time back and of saying that I could put it in his power to clear Paris of such scoundrels."

The man the officers had found upon the roof and who addressed those words to the police official was one Vidocq, a man destined to become famous as one of the greatest detectives of modern times.

Vidocq had been concerned for years past in all manner of rogueries. He had received various terms of imprisonment. He was regarded as one of the most dangerous of the hundreds of criminals that threatened the honest citizens of Paris. He was daring, full of resource, a man of marvelous physical strength and audacity. Upon two previous occasions his accomplices had, knowing how much the police valued his capture, betrayed him into their hands. This was the third time Vidocq had so suffered. Two could play at that game.

"M. Henri," said Vidocq, "make me one of your agents, and I swear to put you in possession of the secrets of half the criminals in Paris."

The offer was a tempting one, for the Parisian police were then baffled by criminals of all descriptions, and Parisians were crying out for more efficient guardians.

"We will see," replied the official.

A short time later Vidocq found himself in prison, condemned to serve a sentence of eight years. But that miserable convict sentenced to that terrible sentence was really a police spy. He was popular with the other convicts and learned all their secrets. Each night he used in his cell to write out an account of the discoveries he had made during the day. The report was dispatched to the chief of the police and proved remarkably useful.

One day the criminal world of Paris was amazed and joyful over the marvelous escape of Vidocq from prison. They received him with open arms. As a matter of fact, the authorities had come to the conclusion that Vidocq could be much more useful to them outside than in that grim place. His escape had all been planned. Vidocq returned to his associates as a hero. In fact, he was a spy—a spy with the keenest eyes, the most alert ears, the most subtle brain, to learn all the villainy going.

It was wonderful what ill luck began henceforth to dog the criminals of Paris. All their plans came in some mysterious manner to the ears of the police. Was it Vidocq who betrayed them? Some of them were so convinced of it that at last Vidocq found it necessary to disguise himself and act the part among them of a new hand in crime. A consummate master of disguise, he went among them, still unsuspected, in his new role.

He was certainly one of the most useful fellows that the police had ever had as an ally.

"Vidocq," said M. Henri to him one day, "we must find that fellow Fossard, the man who has escaped from the prison at Brest. He is in Paris, hiding somewhere. His lodging is in a house in a bystreet near to a market place. And there are matters with you.

McLEOD'S DELIGHT.

Rheumatism Made Misery — South American Rheumatic Cure Brought a Welcome Relief.

Mr. McLeod, of Leith, Ont., walked into the store of a local druggist in Owen Sound at which he has purchased South American Rheumatic Cure, and said: "I am so perfectly delighted with the results obtained from the use of this grand remedy that I came unsolicited to offer you the use of my name in recommending it to others who may be as great sufferers from rheumatism as I was." tinue to the window of his room. In the same house there lives a woman with a humped back. That is all I can tell you about the fellow—all I have been able to learn."

It was a vague clew to work on. Vidocq, anxious to distinguish himself, set off. A window with yellow curtains, a woman with a humped back! For weeks he walked about Paris searching for such a window in a house in which lived such a female.

He found it at last. The humpbacked lady was a seamstress, and Vidocq made himself so agreeable to her that he quickly learned all about the lodgers in the building. Fossard—under another name, of course—tenanted a room at the top of the building. How was he to be got at? He was a man of prodigious strength, a man who had vowed he would never be taken alive, a man who always carried firearms, ready to slay any one who might seek to take him.

"Such a man is best taken in his bed, M. Henri," suggested Vidocq. The only difficulty was how it was to be managed to take him so.

Fossard, in spite of his being such a desperate criminal, was a bit of a fop. He used to keep a bottle of eau de cologne in his room. That scent was to prove his undoing. It is not the only occasion that perfume has proved disastrous to criminals who have indulged in it. A few nights later, when Fossard was in bed and fast asleep, he was awakened by a timid knock at his door. Calling out to know what he was disturbed for, he heard a timorous child's voice in reply. It informed Fossard that the knocker was poor little Louis, the nephew of a woman on the next floor who had been taken very ill and who had sent the child to beg M. Fossard to lend her his bottle of eau de cologne. Fossard groped round for the bottle and with it in his hand threw open the door. Vidocq and his helpers were on him in an instant.

"The most terrible man in Paris"—such became the description among the dangerous classes of Vidocq, now a recognized agent of the police.

He was not regarded with favor by members of the detective service. They might well, indeed, look askance at a man with such a record.

"I have never caught any criminal who more deserved imprisonment than M. Vidocq," protested an indignant officer to M. Henri one day.

But Vidocq was too useful to be hastily set aside. Never had the criminals of Paris such a bad time as they were now enjoying with Vidocq in the detective force.

He organized the first really efficient detective service on the continent. The task of selecting twelve assistants was confided to him. Vidocq chose the majority of them from the cleverest thieves he knew. Those that had been pickpockets he made wear gloves. It was impossible for them to indulge in their former bad habits while wearing those fashionable articles.

Tall, of magnificent physique, with what is known as an "open" countenance, with large twinkling blue eyes and a mouth that seemed to be ever ready to break into good natured laughter, Vidocq was perhaps the last man in the world to be taken for a detective.

"I always regretted," he declared once, "that my duty prevented me from cultivating a mustache, but it would be a sad hindrance to my disguising myself. I had to give the idea up. Criminals would have got to know that mustache of mine."

So he remained a close shaven man to the end of his days. Perhaps there never was a more energetic disguiser than Vidocq. He relied upon his marvelous facility in making up to utterly bewilder the professional criminals he had to deal with.

In one day's hard work he assumed no fewer than twelve wholly distinct disguises!

He went, when he was not in disguise, constantly armed. A pistol lay ready to his hand in a pocket of his handsome clothes, and a dagger was concealed in the front of his coat.

At the end of ten years' service he retired.

The news spread all over Paris. Vidocq, who had made the police of Paris more respected than they had ever been before, was actually in the hands of the police!

He had after his retirement from the force established a private inquiry office, and clients of all kinds flocked to him. Then he opened an agency for the protection of shopkeepers and merchants against fraudulent customers. He had as many as 8,000 customers on his books when the police arrested him, and he was now accused of having in many cases become the ally of the very people from whom he was supposed to be protecting his customers. He was found guilty and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment. When he at last got the conviction reversed Vidocq found himself a ruined man.

One of the attractions at a place of entertainment in London years ago was M. Vidocq. The great detective had taken to the stage! Enormous audiences came to see the strange man, who related his extraordinary experiences and seemed like a dozen different men upon the stage by his marvelous quickness in changing his appearance.

One day in 1857 a white haired, feeble, mumbling old man lay dying in a bed in the garret of a house in a miserable Paris street. He was Vidocq, the marvelous detective! Helpless, in poverty, dependent on the charity of friends, the once terrible man lay there awaiting the approach of death. Almost his last word, according to one who attended on him, were, "You are my prisoner."—London Tit-Bits.

Why He Was Excused.

At the Dublin city sessions one morning a juror prayed to be excused and said he had a doctor's certificate that he was not fit to serve. He handed up a closed envelope to the recorder, who found it contained a letter from a well known Dublin medical man. Amid great laughter in court the recorder read this letter aloud:

"This man has been asking for a certificate that he is unable to serve as a juror. I don't know whether he is a knave or a fool, but he has little brains, and he reeks of porter."

Beads.

Apropos of beads, etymologists tell us the word comes from the rosaries which from time immemorial have been used to keep count of prayers, for "biddan" is to pray in the old Anglo-Saxon tongue, and "beadsman" is one employed to pray for others. "Beodan," to proclaim, is a kindred word and has its outcome in the "bidding prayer" of our universities, when pious founders are remembered to the edification of graceless undergraduates and in the "bidding" of an auction room, when one proclaims to what price one is willing to go. The tiny balls of wood or pearl or seeds or gems strung together for the purpose of counting prayers are used by Hindoo worshipers of Buddha, by Greeks, by Persians, by Roman Catholics. And from those prayer chaplets the word has passed to mean any pierced round ornament.—Modern Society.

Driving Men From the Table.

Baptista Porta gives six processes for driving hearty eaters from the tables of great men. The most effective was to give them an hour before eating a glass of wine medicated with belladonna, so that attempts to masticate would occasion spasms of the jaw. The most disgusting was to set before the gluttons viands sprinkled with dried horses' blood and pieces of catgut. He says, "If you cut harp strings small and sprinkle them on hot flesh, the heat will twist them and they will move like worms."

His Victory.

A physical culture tutor said at the end of a recent women's boxing and fencing exhibition:

"Physical culture among women, women's growing strength and pluck, lend interest to marriage, change marriage's complexion.

"'How is poor Smithers gettin' on?' said one man to another.

"'Well,' said the other, 'Smithers is now almost recovered from the beatin' he gave his wife last Saturday night.'"

BREAKING IN NEW MEN.

One Corporation Publishes a Text Book For New Employees.

A large corporation has lately shown its appreciation of the value of giving new employees a thorough general knowledge of the business by publishing a book describing in an interesting fashion all the details of the company's work.

It is a volume of over 200 pages, illustrated with facsimile cuts of various reports and other forms used. A copy is furnished every employee, and he is expected to master not merely the portions pertaining to his own work, but the entire book.

Quizzes are held at frequent intervals throughout the organization, and dismissal is the penalty for ignorance of any subject treated in the volume.

"It costs us about $2,000 to publish this book," says the president of the company, "but we consider it money well invested, and we are planning to issue a new and up to date edition every year.

"When a man enters our employ he is told to read this manual and do nothing else until he has thoroughly mastered it. This gives him a general knowledge of the business, and if there are any points he does not understand they are cleared up before he begins work."—System.

AN ANECDOTE OF KEAN.

How One Actress Won and Another Lost His Good Opinion.

Kean possessed an inordinate love of praise even from his humblest worshipers, says the London Tatler. During his brilliant management of the Princess theater one of the ballet girls who sometimes was given a few lines to speak and who knew her manager's failing used to haunt the wings and go into audible raptures over the tragedian's acting.

He was playing with great success a pathetic part, and tears flowed down the cheeks of the cunning girl, who eventually attracted personal notice from the actor. Soon she found herself promoted to a superior position.

Her advancement of course was noticed by her companions, and to her greatest friend among them she told her secret, advising the girl to follow her example.

Nothing loath, No. 2 appeared at the wings and almost howled with grief through Kean's chief scenes, when, to her amazement, he strode angrily by her; then, pointing her out, exclaimed, "Who is that idiot?" She did not improve her position, for since the advice of her knowing friend the bill had been changed, and her manager was appearing in one of his most successful comic parts.

JACK CADE.

He Was Killed With an Arrow by the Sheriff of Kent.

One of the mysteries of history is that surrounding the arch traitor Jack Cade. Nearly all historians have described him as an Irishman. He was really born in Sussex, where he was as a youth a servant to one Sir Thomas Dagre.

This Sir Thomas Dagre, or Dacre, was a Sussex knight of great eminence, who had seats at Hurstmonceaux and Heathfield, in that county.

Cade has for several centuries been a common name about Mayfield and Heathfield, as is proved as well by numerous entries in the parish registers as by lands and localities designated from that family. After his defeat near London Cade took to the Sussex woods, and he finally would have escaped if his reckless courage had not brought him out into the open.

It is traditionally related that he was engaged in a game of bowls in the garden of a little ale house at Heathfield when a Kentish squire, Sir Alexander Iden, sheriff of Kent, taking him unawares, killed him with an arrow.—London Saturday Review.

First Surgeon in St. Louis.

Dr. Antoine Francois Saugraine settled in St. Louis in 1800 and was the first surgeon to locate west of the Mississippi river. He spent all of his leisure time in experiments in chemistry and with electricity. The Indians were frequent visitors at his laboratory and, not understanding the mystery of his experiments, held him in great awe and wanted to worship him as a god. Before the village of St. Louis was incorporated Dr. Saugraine acted as postmaster. He tied the mail up in a blue silk handkerchief and left it on the doorstep. When any citizen wanted to know if he had a letter he untied the handkerchief, looked the mail over, paid for the postage in a piece of coonskin, which was legal tender, and walked on. The first lucifer matches ever made in this country were made by Dr. Saugraine. The small wooden sticks were dipped, one at a time, in the combustible substance and then lit by friction, as at the present time. He also made the first thermometer used in the west.

One Exception.

"You know," began Lovett, "it is said that 'love levels all things.'"

"Yes," remarked the crusty bachelor, "it may level all things except the lover's head."

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia, but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—cure your cold while you can.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

by its remarkable cures of colds has become a staple article of trade and commerce. It is prompt; it is effectual; it is reliable. Try it.

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

That Tired Feeling.

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of year."

Uses It Every Spring.

Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont. writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

REMINISCENCES OF EARLY LIFE IN CANADA'S BACKWOODS

(By F. M. Dela Fosse.)

If the events which I have been chronicling, and am about to chronicle, had taken place within even a comparatively recent period, I would have been very diffident in regard to making them public. But they occurred nearly thirty years ago, when my fellow pupils and myself, were callow youths, inexperienced in all ways, save the one, at making ourselves remarkably objectionable to our lordly instructor. We, on looking back at those times, I am forced to confess that, taking one consideration with another, we could not have proved that comfort, that sweet solace in time of toil, which he possibly expected to find in us.

We were restive under restraint. We argued with him, and when he used powerful language, which, Christian as he was, he sometimes indulged in, we retaliated with all the Anglo-Saxon—and other languages—at our command. Also, whenever he wanted us to do anything, we invariably did it in a way totally at variance with his wishes. These vagaries on our part, occasionally caused him severe pecuniary loss. On one occasion, two of us, were deputed to sally forth to kill a pair of chickens for the Christmas dinner. The fowls, having no shelter in the barn, roosted every night on its roof, and when we arrived on the scene, we found them there to the number of about fifty, outlined against the sky. It was a cold night, the roof was slippery and neither of us felt inclined to face the cold or, risk our precious necks in climbing to the top. At last a happy thought struck my comrade. "By Jove," he said, "let's shoot them." No sooner said than acted upon. Getting our heavy double-barrelled shot guns from the house, we returned to the barn, and commenced operations. My companion fired first. When the smoke cleared away, we found a large portion of the roof divested of shingles and four turkeys and ten or twelve chickens lying on the ground. By a curious inadvertence he had used a buckshot cartridge in place of small shot, with dire results to the roof and the poultry. It didn't worry us a bit. "Now it's your turn, old chap," he said, and I blazed away. Eight or ten more chickens, three turkeys and a rooster, fell to my aim, not to speak of a few hundred more shingles. We then now killed off considerably more than half of the poultry, and came to the conclusion that as the others looked so lonely where they were, we had better polish them off as well. Two more shots accomplished this object and helped still further to mar the effectiveness of the roof. Then we took our spoil to the house. To our surprise, our efforts were not greeted with rapture, for, half, at least, of our bag was found to be absolutely useless for the table. But the language that flowed the next day when our noble instructor found to what an extent we had damaged his roof was of such a character as to be entirely unfit for publication. Another occasion comes to my mind, when I was responsible for a good deal of loss to that noble man. We had moved into a larger house, and bricks were needed for the chimneys. These had to be procured from a village fifteen miles away, and the only way to obtain them was by paddling them up in dug-out canoes. This was a task arduous in the extreme, as a couple of portages had to be negotiated and the bricks and canoes carried over on our backs. The canoe I was paddling was twenty feet long and contained 250 bricks. It was loaded so heavily that the water came to within about an inch of the gunwale. Everything went along smoothly, however, whilst I was coming up the river, but as soon as I struck the lake my troubles began. There was about three-quarters of a mile to be got over, and a nice fresh breeze was blowing. Paddle as carefully as I might, each stroke caused water to lap into the canoe. All at once, when about three or four hundred yards from shore, the breeze blew stronger, two or three big waves washed over into the canoe, and she sank clean to the bottom, leaving me in the water. It is not an easy matter for a man to swim with long-legged boots and heavy fustian trousers on, and, practised swimmer as I was, it took all my strength to keep going. I had swum about three-quarters of the distance, however, but was beginning to have my doubts as to whether I could manage the balance, when a friend of mine, noticing my predicament, paddled out in a canoe to my assistance. He was none too soon, for, on getting me to shore it took him quite twenty minutes to get me round to a passably healthy state of existence again. The bricks and the canoe are at the bottom of that lake yet. My instructor had to pay out about fifty dollars for their hire. He upbraided me for the misadventure, but I told him that he might think himself very fortunate that he hadn't had the additional expense of my funeral on his hands. Some men never seem to know when they come off well. He was one of them.

An Offer of a Wife

Amongst the many peculiar features of our existence on the "farm" were the hints we received from heads of different families that they would not be at all averse to our becoming members of their families. One old fellow in particular was most insistent. He came to the farm one day and interviewed us. "See here, boys, why don't one on yer hitch up with that there gal of mine? Blamed if she ain't the finest looker in Canady. Say, now, if any of youse is willin' to take her, goldarn me if I won't throw in a cow. Won't that fetch yer?" It didn't fetch us, but we had a hard time with that old man. He was more untiring in his efforts than any apple tree or insurance agent I ever saw.

GIVE THE BOY A CHANCE.

the floor with their foul expectorations, a sermon, or a score of sermons would accomplish nothing. He did not want to condemn theatre-going under certain conditions, because that would be unjust. Many good and worthy people, went to see wholesome and clean plays, and it was a very difficult thing to draw a line between a proper play and one which was unfit for a lady to see. Nevertheless some of the bill boards in the city were positively disgusting. The other day he passed close to two prominent men on the street, when one, in a vulgar tone, and with no attempt at secrecy, used the sacred name of Jesus in an oath. It made his blood run cold to hear it. Such things occurring on the streets made it a hopeless thing to tell boys they must not go to the theatre, smoke cigarettes or drink a glass of beer." Now, this same experience, re swearing on the street, was the writer's this last week. What is the use of telling a boy he must not swear, or smoke cigarettes, when thes reply would be, in almost three out of four cases, "Well, father does it," or somebody prominent in church, or city official circles "does it." On Saturday afternoon, last, on the corner of Hunter and George streets, the writer was compelled to listen to four boys, all under the ages of 14, apparently, discussing a game of pool they had been playing, and using the most vile oaths, that could be used. Where are our policemen? Is there any regard for the morality, let alone Christianity of the city? It is about time something was done to stop the profanity, not only on the streets but also in the work shops. There is a law on the statute books against it and the proper authorities ought to see it enforced. Not one year ago one man was fined $25 and costs, and about $35, in the City of Ottawa, and it a little of this medicine was administered to some of our citizens, who walk the streets and make free use of our Saviour's sacred name, there would be some chance of leading our boys in a right direction, but so long as the laws against profanity, cigarette-smoking, against the allowing of minors to play pool and billiards, and frequent those places, and also the sale of liquors to minors are winked at, no amount of successful work can be done for the boys, who will have the care of the morals of the future.

I say give the boy a chance, and he will go in the right direction. To you parents who have boys, and who have not thought of the example you are showing your boys by smoking, swearing and drinking, I say, ask yourselves if you are giving your sons and your neighbour's sons the chance you ought to. Don't think you have no responsibility. Some boy is watching you: if no one else, your own boys.

Another phase of the question comes before me now. "What kind of boys are needed to be developed in our future?"

Dr. Pakenham, Principal of the Technical High School at Toronto, is the authority for the following: "One of the unhealthy signs of the times is that boys have an inclination to shun manual labour, and go after positions that mean clean collars and unsoiled hands."

The Technical Schools of our Province have many applications for boys to fill future positions of foremen and superintendents. There are positions opening for boys with a technical education, all over the country, to work in machine shops, foundries, electrical manufactures and power developing plants, where dust flies and grime sticks. And there is a difficulty in filling such positions. The majority of boys prefer to enter commercial life. Manufacturers are wanting boys to enter their factories, and who will develop, in time, into foremen and superintendents, but not for a day or a year. Boys naturally dislike to become apprentices after receiving a technical education. Some of them imagine they can step into the higher positions after leaving school; there they make a big mistake. A boy is never too old, or too well educated, to begin at the bottom of the ladder, and learn a trade from the beginning, and then climb upwards. The boys who attend our Collegiate Institute and Technical School on the whole are much averse to the study of mathematics, drafting, and other studies, which fit them for the moulding and machine shops. The tendency is decidedly towards commercial work, as a qualification for the office. There is not any doubt in the wisdom of every scholar obtaining a supplementary education on technical lines. Statistics show that the boys of Ontario, between the ages of 6 and 12, on an average, spend only one and three-quarter hours out of every twenty-four under instruction in school. If he could obtain more instruction, it would certainly be advantageous to do so. Education should not create among workmen a disinclination to do so-called "menial things." "Of course," admitted Dr. Pakenham, "there are thousands of boys who have made a success in life with only a Public School education. I agree with Principal Auden that the four great features of an all-round education are character, ideas, methods and knowledge. Of these the greatest is character. A boy cannot be developed too much in that line." This opinion of the Principal of the Technical School of Toronto is a valuable one, and we find that in a great majority of cases it is correct.

Another great thinker, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, has said: "The father is the priest in the household. A man can never be what he ought to be until he is a Christian. Your boy is going to do just what you do, and in the way you do it. It appeals to me. If my boy is going to speak as I speak, to live as I live, then may God help me to live as a Christian. And so you will have to be a man of prayer. And third, such a man has got to be a Bible student. I am going to say something you may say is impossible. It is not impossible. Every home must have its family altar. You may say you are too busy. You say you must run to business. You could take five minutes." This sage advice of the doctor is the key to the problem. If all of our homes had their family altars, and our boys were taught to reverence that altar, the boys would be safe.

One writer has given us the following good advice to the boys of to-day:

Boys of spirit, boys of will,
Boys of muscle, brain and power.
Fit to cope with anything—
These are wanted every hour.

Not the weak and whining drones,
Who all troubles magnify,
Not the watchword of "I can't,
But the nobler one, "I'll try."

Do whate'er you have to do
With a true and earnest zeal;
Bend your sinews to the task,
"Put your shoulders to the wheel."

Though your duty may be hard,
Look not on it as an ill;
If it be an honest task,
Do it with an honest will.

In the workshop, on the farm,
At the desk, where'er you be,
From your future efforts, boys,
Comes a nation's destiny.

There are eleven electrical weighing and packing machines in the "Salada" Tea Company's Toronto warehouse. A single one of these machines, that packs pound packages exclusively, turned out last year considerably more than one million pounds of "Salada." This single machine, therefore, packs sufficient tea to supply each family in Canada with one pound annually. The space it occupies is only six cubic feet.—25.

IS RHEUMATISM A CURABLE NOW?

Science Proves it a Symptom of Kidney Trouble and Easily Relieved

GIVES THIS RECIPE TO YOU

Recent hospital records show that the dread disease, rheumatism, is steadily increasing throughout the country. All known means of relief are being suggested to save the great amount of suffering this winter, especially among those who are not in a position to pack up and visit the noted health resorts to be treated. Recent tests prove rheumatism not exactly a disease in itself, but a severe symptom of kidney trouble, a condition caused by clogged-up pores of the eliminative tissues in the kidneys, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, permitting these substances to remain in the veins and decompose, usually settling about the joints and muscles, causing the intense pain, swelling and stiffness of rheumatism.

There are numerous remedies known which many persons believe will relieve this suffering—salicilate of soda, colchicum, potash, etc.—but these rugs are terribly hard on the stomach, often ruining this most important organ, and they fail as often as they relieve.

A well-known specialist, who has probably treated more cases of rheumatism than anyone else, and who is also the most successful, gives the following simple treatment, which is harmless and inexpensive, and so simple that anybody can mix it at home.

The ingredients are: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Karsen, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Go to any good prescription pharmacy and get these three vegetable ingredients and mix them by shaking in a bottle, taking as a dose a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is nothing better in the world for backache, kidney and bladder trouble, too. Such symptoms as frequent and painful urination, soreness, weakness, general and nervous debility are caused by certain acids and poisonous waste matter, decayed tissue, etc., in the blood, which the kidneys will clear and purify after a few doses of this prescription. MUSKRATS IN PLENTY

Indians And White People Having a Merry Chase After The Rats.

ALFIE CROWE IN THE LEAD

The Rice Lake rat catchers are still after the furry rodents, and by all accounts are collecting a large number of pelts. Alfie Crowe, so far as can be learned, still heads the list with the 635 he had a week ago, and all he has trapped this week. Jack Coward has also bagged a large number. The white people engaged in the work on the north shore of the lake at Harwood and Gore's Landing also are making good. At 40 cents a pelt, the catchers should realize a mint of money by the end of the season.

Handsome Sum In Hands Of Immigration Officer Awaiting Owner's Arrival

A registered letter containing $76 will be the welcome reception for an English emigrant, coming out on the steamship "Corsican," and who is expected to arrive in Peterborough about Monday. The valued envelope was received this morning by Mr. Geo. H Howson, Immigrant Agent, corner of Water and Brock streets to be handed over to the new arrival.

Mr. Howson expects several good men on the Corsican, which has been sighted off the Atlantic Coast, and they will be here on Monday or Tuesday.

During yesterday he placed five good men with farmers in the vicinity, and he states the class of men coming out this year is of a high order and farmers wanting labourers have a good opportunity of securing good men.

AN IMPRESSIVE RELIGIOUS CEREMONY AT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH

At nine o'clock on Thursday morning, in the Chapel of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough, there took place a very impressive ceremony, in which ten young ladies were admitted to the holyhabit of the community.

The ceremony was conducted, as usual, by Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough, who was assisted by Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., of St. Peter's Cathedral, and Rev. T. F. Scanlan, of Grafton. An appropriate sermon was eloquently delivered by the Venerable Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay. In the sanctuary were also Rev. J. McPhail, C.S.S. R., of St. Ann's Church, Montreal; Rev. T. F. Fleming, Kearney; Rev. P. J. Galvin and Rev. P. J. Kelly, St. Peter's Cathedral.

PETERBOROUGH POLICEMAN TO WATCH MILLBROOK MISCREANTS

Millbrook, April 25. — (Special.) — At a special meeting of the council on Tuesday night, Mr. Thos Miller of Peterborough was engaged as constable and general servant of the corporation of Millbrook, in place of Mr. James Hendley, who has occupied the position for some twenty years. Mr Miller will commence his duties on May 1, and will occupy the residence in the town hall, getting free fuel, light and rent.

SALVATION ARMY TO COMMENCE ANNUAL SELF DENIAL CANVASS

The Salvation Army is now getting ready for its annual Self-denial canvass, and the collecting books are now being distributed amongst the members of the corps. The canvass commences on May 2 and closes on Friday, May 8, and the results will be announced on the Sunday following.

The collector's book contains some valuable information regarding the work of the Army all over the world, and the Army solicits the aid of every citizen in the promoting of the missionary and prison work, and the maintenance of rescue work, labour bureau and Children's Shelter. The booklet also gives some facts and figures about the Army, which are given as follows:

Corps and outposts, 7,669.
Officers, etc., 61,326.
Bandsmen, 17,079.
Services held annually, 3,000,000.
Persons annually converted, 250,000.
Poor persons assisted daily, 21,000.

The work of this great Army is worthy of the assistance of all, and it is hoped the Self-denial collection this year will be much larger than that of last.

TO-NIGHT WILL DECIDE WHO IS TO TAKE SECOND MONEY

The big six-day walking race, which has aroused more interest in Peterborough than any other sporting event in the city's history, will come to a close to-night at 11.30 o'clock, when the walkers finish up the ten-hour grind which they began at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. That the race has been the greatest kind of a great success is acknowledged by everyone; the racing has been grand throughout, while the attendance has been large and the interest intense.

To-night will see the finish of the week's battle between Blake and Harrison for second place, and it is bound to be a good one, as both men are still fresh and fit. The biggest crowd of the week is expected to see the finish, and the full band of the 57th Regiment, under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, will be present and render another choice programme to-night. Tickets allowing parties to go and return as they will may be had at the rink to-night for 50 cents.

In order to accomplish the necessary limit of 162 miles to-day, Hoagland will have to go 19 miles 9 laps, Blake 24 miles 6 laps, Harrison 25 miles 7 laps, Graham 37 miles 11 laps, Stenner 44 miles 3 laps, and Fenton 55 miles 8 laps.

P. C. NEWHALL MAKES MIDNIGHT ARREST AT PETERBORO' CREAMERY

Standing guard outside the Peterborough Creamery, while two of their companions climbed over the fence for some unknown purpose, two young men were arrested about midnight last night by P. C. Newhall, who, after securing the names of the four, allowed them to go. The officer had been watching the quartette for some time, but waited until everything was convenient to make the arrest. The case will be heard some day next week.

NAVIGATION ON UPPER LAKES TO BE USHERED IN NEXT WEEK

Capt. Scollard, the genial boatman from Young's Point, was in the city to-day and he states that the steamers of the Stony Lake Navigation Company will begin operations next week. He states the ice is fast disappearing in the upper lakes, and as soon as it goes, the steamers will get into notion.

The Stony Lake Navigation Company will begin the season by bringing down wood for Mr. Robt. Hicks, of Peterborough.

PLUCK OF THE LOSING WALKERS SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED

The walking race comes to a close to-night, and two of the men who have been walking all week are almost certain to be out of the money. They are Chas. Stenner of Warsaw, and Ray Fenton of Auburn, N.Y., who have been on the grind steadily, and although after the first night there did not seem to be much hope for either of them to be in the first five, they have kept on pluckily, although for the past two nights both have been suffering considerably. To allow them to finish without any reward whatever would be a disgrace to Peterborough, and to-night at the rink the crowd will be given an opportunity to help the two men who are outside the money. It is hoped that there will be a liberal response when the collectors come around to-night. The boys deserve support — see that they get it to-night.

ONE OF THE SPEAKERS IN CONNECTION WITH THE MAY INSTITUTE

REV. A. E. ARMSTRONG, M. A.

DELICATE BEAUTY OF THE HEPATICA A WOODLAND FEATURE

The lovers of nature who delight in woods and country roadsides at this budding time of the year have already discovered the pale Hepatica, or May Flower, the harbinger of nature's floral opulence. The modest, but pretty little flower has been nurtured by the past warm days and moderate moisture. For a genuine tonic nothing can be prescribed better than a quiet ramble in the country at this time of the year and particularly a little journey through an easy wood where one can enjoy nature's struggle to reassert her beauty and new life.

MANAGER OF THE KEENE BANK IN THE HOSPITAL

The many friends of Mr. A St. A Smith, manager of the Bank of Toronto, Keene, will regret to hear that he is confined in Nicholls Hospital on account of a dislocated shoulder. He was injured a few days ago by falling on the ice.

ICE IS GOING FAST FROM CLEAR LAKE'S SURFACE

Clear Lake is almost clear of ice. The balmy weather of the past few days loosened up all that is left of King Winter on the lake, and by to-morrow night there will be no signs of him left.

Last night the ice had all disappeared from Young's Point as far north as Swampy Bay, and to-day Sandy Point will be clear.

A SUCCESSFUL DANCE GIVEN BY ORCHESTRA

The opera house orchestra held their first dance in the Conservatory of Music Hall last night. The hall was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and eight of the members of the orchestra supplied the music for the dance. The music was excellent, and much comment was made upon it. There were about fifty couples present, many from outside points. The dance was heartily enjoyed by all, and the orchestra proved themselves to be very entertaining hosts.

ODDFELLOWS WILL ATTEND ST. JOHN'S TO-MORROW NIGHT

Peterborough Lodge No. 111 and Otonabee Lodge No. 13 of the I. O. O. F. will attend St. John's Church in a body at the evening service to-morrow. The members are requested to meet at their hall, corner of George and Hunter streets, at 6.30 o'clock, with their proper regalia. Rev. Canon Davidson will preach the sermon to the Oddfellows.

The Golden Link Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., will also attend in a body.

WILL DELIVER HIS FAREWELL SERMON MAY 3

Rev. A. H. Brace of Park street Baptist church will deliver his farewell sermon on Sunday, May 3, when his pastorate in Peterborough will be terminated. Mr. Brace has received a call from Cobourg and has accepted it. He will leave for that town shortly after concluding his work here.

Fire Destroys Farmer's House Which He Bought After 10 Years' Hard Work

Fate dealt Mr. Thos. Bickell, of Canton village, Hope township, about 3 miles from Port Hope, a cruel blow a few days ago, when his farm house and entire contents were lost by fire, after he had been in possession only two weeks.

For ten years he had worked the farm as a tenant and by careful and continued work had made money year after year until he was in a position to purchase the farm and buildings. Two weeks ago he closed a deal with the owner, and the ambition of his labours for the past decade were attained. A farmer from that vicinity speaking of the fire, which occurred a day or two ago said that it not only destroyed the house but most of the contents, including the family's clothing and about $20 in hard cash. The barns and stables were untouched.

Mr. Bickell has friends and relatives in this city who will sympathize with him in his loss.

WHY MEN SHOULD BECOME ACTIVE MEMBERS OF THE Y.M.C.A.

The bulletin of the 23rd Street Y. M.C.A. of New York contains a number of reasons why young men should be members of the Association. These reasons, which are given below, might apply in the case of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A., as well as that of New York:

First—For your own personal benefit. There is no organization of any kind, no lodge, or society, out of which you get as many and such great benefits for the amount of your annual dues as you do out of the 23rd Street Y.M.C.A.

At an annual cost of less than five cents per day, you are entitled to the free use of every feature in a well-equipped and very attractive building; you can have access to a splendidly equipped gymnasium any time: you can enjoy a plunge, a swim, or a bath whenever you desire it; the use of a large reference library; the use of the games in the game room; the enjoyment of the social life that is one of the strong features of the Association, with the privilege of introducing your visiting friends into the Association rooms; arranging business and social appointments there, as well as enjoying the interesting socials, entertainments, and receptions that are frequently given. In addition to this you are entitled to all privileges of the Y.M.C.A. in any city or town throughout the United States or Canada. Where on the face of the globe is there any organization that gives so much for even ten times the amount that your annual membership costs?

Second—For the sake of your many friends among the young men around you; what is good for you is equally good for them; and that so many have not yet joined is because they have not sized up the many advantages to be gained, and have not "caught on" to the "pinch" that the other members have.

Twenty-third Street Y. M. C. A. offers a genuine club life to men under conditions more favourable and very much less expensive than can be found in any club, in any city, in any part of the world.

This being an international organization, with barracks in every part of the world, the same conditions prevail elsewhere, if you are any sort of a man with any true manliness about you, you will certainly do all in your power to sustain the organization in this world-wide work, and for the satisfaction of knowing that men everywhere are sharing with you these inestimable advantages.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN WINS CHECKER CHAMPIONSHIP

Joseph L. Garvin, B.A., formerly of Peterborough, a brother of Mr. J. W. Garvin, after a four days' struggle, won the championship of Canada and the $50 silver cup at the checker tournament.

A Toronto despatch says of the match:

J. L. Garvin, of Toronto, won the checker championship of Ontario and the Ryrie trophy yesterday afternoon at the Grand Union Hotel, defeating H. Barrett, Toronto, in the final match, as follows:

	Won.	Won. Dr.
J. L. Garvin	2
H. Barrett		2

This left Messrs. Barrett, Featherston and Lawrie to play off for the second prize and President Dissette's trophy. Mr. Lawrie drew the bye, and the other pair started yesterday afternoon, playing two draws. They will finish to-day, after which the final game will be played. Owing to illness in the secretary's family, that officer did not come from Hamilton to the tournament, and the annual meeting was postponed to a later date.

WEATHER HAS BEEN VERY MILD IN CALGARY DURING THE WINTER

Mr. Wm. Bell, of Calgary, Alberta, in writing to renew his subscription to the Examiner, states that the west is enjoying very fine weather, very dry, with no rain as yet. The winter has been very mild, the mildest Mr. Bell has experienced in the sixty-three years in which he has been a resident on this terrestial footstool. There has been no sleighing whatever in Calgary, and for the first time in his life, Mr. Bell did not enjoy a sleigh drive.

He states that times have been dull in Calgary during the winter, and real estate has been dull, although better times are expected this summer. The Dominion Exhibition will be held there in July, which will help to brighten things up, and a big influx of visitors is expected. Great preparations are being made at the exhibition grounds, and in the city for the accommodation of visitors, and arrangements are under way to have the schools available for sleeping quarters.

THE SECOND ATTEMPT TO HANG HIMSELF PROVED SUCCESSFUL

Lindsay, April 25.—(Special) —Victoria County folk were started yesterday by the suicide by hanging of William Lownie, a prominent farmer, of the 9th concession of the Township of Eldon. He tried it two weeks ago and failed. Lownie ate his breakfast yesterday and making the remark that he felt chilly and guessed he would "go out to the barn and do something," left the house and started for the barn. His wife saw him with a horse collar soon after and thinking nothing wrong, went on about her work.

Wife's Suspicions

Considerable time elapsed and no re-appearance of her husband made Mrs. Lownie anxious, as she expected him to return from the barn with the team. But thinking she heard him around the barn, continued her work.

Finally, concluding something was detaining her husband, she went to find the cause. Going into the barn and over to the horse stable, a shocking sight met her eyes.

There, hanging and dead from the fall was her husband, with life extinct, evidently having done the deed soon after leaving the house. The words spoken by him before starting for the barn were suddenly brought to Mrs. Lownie's mind.

No Cause Known

Why this deed should have been done is not known. Only some secret desire to get rid of himself in this world could seemingly prompt his action. His wife can give no reason for it, and the neighbours were exceedingly horrified upon learning the facts.

The first husband of Mrs. Lownie met a premature death by falling from a load of grain. And now comes the death of the other one in shocking suddenness upon her, by the worst of deaths—suicide.

PRACTICES TO BEGIN ON MONDAY

The practices for the opera "Queen Esther," which will be given by the Conservatory of Music, will be resumed on Monday night. The practices have been dropped during the Easter holidays, and Mr. B Gliddon desires a full attendance of all interested.

MAKE FIRST VOYAGE

Strs. Monarch and Rainbow Bring Initial Cargoes of Season From Shores of Rice Lake.

NAVIGATION IS NOW OPEN

The steamer Monarch and Rainbow arrived in Peterborough this morning, on their initial trip of the season. They carried twenty-five passengers each, most of whom came to the city to attend the market.

The boats have been anchored at Gore's Landing, Rice Lake, through the winter, and are in good condition. They started on their trip this morning from Harwood, and were three hours in coming up the river. Captain Harris was in charge of the Monarch, and Captain Burnett commanded the Rainbow, and both boats have the same crew as last year.

The officers are greatly pleased with their first trip and are looking forward to a successful season. The weather was fine and warm and everybody on board was pleased with the voyage.

On the way up the river, the Rainbow ventured up Squirrels' Creek for some passengers, and succeeded in navigating one hundred and fifty yards. This is the longest trip up the creek yet known. On arriving at Peterborough they were unable to make a good landing and had to tie their boats to the sewer chimney at the terminus of the street car line.

Both steamers will make a return trip to Harwood this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, and will commence their regular passenger service.

THE STANDING AT THREE O'CLOCK TO-DAY

Hoagland is Five Miles and Six Laps Ahead—Blake and Harrison Together.

All seven walkers who survived Wednesday started out at 1.30 this afternoon before a fairly large crowd. Hoagland is steadily increasing the lead, while Blake and Harrison are still together, the only difference from last night being that the negro is doing the pacing and is getting a good gait. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the standing was:

Hoagland—130 miles.
Blake—144 miles 7 laps.
Harrison—143 miles 6 laps.
Stevens—138 miles 10 laps.
Graham—130 miles 1 lap.
Stenner—124 miles.
Fenton—112 miles 6 laps.

SAMPLE OF ORIGINAL ADVERTISING IN RUSSIA

An original form of advertising comes from Russia, where a shopkeeper posted up the following announcement:

"The reason why I have hitherto been able to sell goods so much cheaper than anybody else is that I am a bachelor, and do not need to make a profit for the maintenance of a wife and children. It is now my duty to inform the public that this advantage will shortly be withdrawn from them, as I am about to be married. They will, therefore, do well to make their purchases at once at the old rate."—Profitable Advertising.

MR. BRADBURN HOLDS OFF.

The open letter of Mr. G. A Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, to Mr. T E Bradburn, the Conservative candidate, proposing a mutual agreement between the two candidates to conduct a "clean, straight election," which Mr. Bradburn said he desired, was sent to Mr. Bradburn several days ago. He has had plenty of time to give attention to the matter and consent to the agreement proposed. This delay is suspicious. It does not argue any great desire on Mr. Bradburn's part to come to an arrangement for a "clean, straight election." The fact is that on Mr. Bradburn's behalf things have already been, and are being, done, that do not come within the pale of "clean, straight" political methods, and would be a distinct contravention of the agreement for a clean election, which Mr. Gillespie has invited Mr. Bradburn to agree to. This delay on Mr. Bradburn to assent to such an agreement indicates that Mr. Bradburn and his friends—if there is any intention to make an agreement of the kind in question are desirous of attending to a few little things, that would be impossible under an honest observance of such an agreement, before they tie themselves up to any undertaking. If Mr. Bradburn was honest in the assurance he gave Mr. Gillespie, that he (Mr. Bradburn) was anxious for a "clean, straight fight," he is taking a long time to make up his mind to act up to his profession. It will not be an honest thing to wait till a good many questionable things are done before such an arrangement is agreed to by Mr. Bradburn. It is possible that the agreement is fought shy of for fear of preventing a little local distribution of the golden fruit of the Canadian Northern Guarantee and the $130,000 gift to the nephew of a Cabinet Minister? Why is Mr. Bradburn holding off? If he is honest in saying that he wants an honest election, he can make an honest attempt in this direction by entering into the agreement for a clean, straight fight proposed by Mr. Gillespie.

LAW REFORM.

Mr. Whitney has staved off law reform till after the elections. This, of course, will prevent the hostility of the legal profession till the elections are safely over, who would naturally resent any measure of reform that would encroach on their fat privileges, but will it satisfy the people, who are the sufferers from the burdensome cost that attends recourse to law to procure rights and justice? But, hang the people, is Mr. Whitney's sentiment. He has "jollied" the people before on the temperance and other questions, and from the way they—and a good many of the misguided "Grits," too—swallowed his assurances of fair play, and his promise to de-politicalize license law administration, Mr. Whitney, doubtless, concludes that he can continue to fool the people some more of the time in the matter of law reform.

IMMIGRATION.

Australia is taking a leaf out of Canada's book in the matter of immigration. Prime Minister Deacon recently gave expression to the view that the great need of Australia was population. To this end, the next estimates would, he said, contain appropriations for encouraging immigration through a High Commissioner in London. Australia used to get the call from immigrants, but since the Liberal Government of Canada has made the resources of this country so widely known, the stream of British immigration has set into Canada. Premier Deacon's action is a stinging rebuke to those Little Canadians, who would cut off immigration entirely, and permit our millions of acres of tillable soil to remain waste and desolate, as they have been since the world began. Population gives property its value, and its extent and character rather definitely determine the status of a country among the nations of the world. Who can picture the position of Canada when, not every acre, but every five hundred acres contains its family of peaceful, prosperous, and wealth-producing citizens?

An increase of fifteen millions in Canada's bank deposits in the month of March last indicates that the financial flurry of last autumn has pretty well spent its force.

KELPION
STAINLESS 'ODINE OINTMENT
Does not color or burn, cures Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises and large glands, applied by rubbing, at all Drug Stores, 25c.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The total foreign trade of Canada last year was $638,290,291. If this trade increases at the rate it has done the past ten years, for the next ten years, it will, at the end of that time, amount to a billion and a half dollars.

The London Advertiser remarks that Mr. McIntyre, of Perth, points out that the forbears of the great majority of Canadians were immigrants. Some Canadians may not like to be reminded of the fact, but they should be thankful that their parents or grandparents came to a country where everybody has an opportunity to rise, and they should not look with unfriendly eyes upon the immigrants of to-day.

NEED OF SHELTER AT MARKET

The Rain Affects Both The Farmers and Their Produce.

The morning shower at the market to-day emphasized the necessity of a covering for the farmers, who still bring in their produce. Not only does the rain annoy the farmers themselves, but it affects the value of the goods which they have for sale. The market opinion is that a covering is needed over the walk, for the comfort of the farmers.

FARMERS' WIVES TELL WHAT THEY KNOW ABOUT PE-RU-NA.

Indigestion and Nervousness.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 99, Kernersville, North Carolina, writes the following letter to The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me.

"I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear.

"I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good. I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach.

"I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

Now Perfectly Healthy.

Mrs. Magdalena Winkler, Route 5, Westminster, Md., writes:

"I thank you very much for your advice. I can safely say that Peruna and Manalin have saved my life.

"When I wrote to you the first time, asking your advice, my condition was so poor that I did not expect to live through the winter, but now I am perfectly healthy.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and I recommend it to others."

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 6, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, for which I am sincerely thankful to you for your advice. If it had not been for Peruna I would never have been well.

"I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me.

"I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it.

"I can eat and walk and work. Everybody says I look as well as I ever did.

"Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you.

"I have got several other people to take Peruna. I praise it to everybody."

For Children's Colds.

Mrs. Henry Martin, La Motte, Ia., R. R. No. 1, writes:

"After suffering for some time with sore eyes I was advised by a friend to try Peruna, which I did at once.

"The first bottle relieved me, and after using four bottles I was entirely cured.

"I do recommend Peruna to all who are afflicted with catarrh. I have found it to be a great remedy also for coughs and colds of children; a dose at bedtime will relieve them from coughing all night. I always keep it on hand, and recommend it."

Catarrh for Seven Years.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. R. No. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes: "I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. I have followed your good and kind advice faithfully. I bless the day when I wrote you of my condition, and I will always praise Peruna. I think it is one of the grandest medicines on earth.

"Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years, and after having tried four different doctors they only relieved me for a little while. I gave up all hope of being cured. I only weighed one hundred and thirty pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around the room.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My weight is now one hundred and eighty-eight pounds, my health never was better in my life, I shall always praise Dr. Hartman and his remedies."

The Farmer's Wife.

Who is in a better position to know than the farmer's wife herself what is required in the farmer's home? She must meet its troubles, solve its problems, ward off disease, nurse the sick, she must do all these things herself, and she learns by valuable experience what is best and what is not best.

In numberless farm homes Peruna is relied upon as the family medicine. Peruna books are consulted in health and disease. Peruna is used as a preventive as well as a corrective in disease.

The wives of the farmers of the United States constitute a solid phalanx in favor of Peruna. Against this testimony the slanders of a few critics will not prevail. One sensible mistress of a farm home who has used Peruna knows more about Peruna than all the magazine critics in the world.

Peruna in Her Home.

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 5, Dassel, Meeker Co., Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh.

"Fortunately I saw your advertisement in my paper and I spoke to my sister about your medicine. She wrote to you and I got your advice free of charge. I took Peruna and am well and a mother of two children.

In a letter dated June 12, 1906, Mrs. Linder writes: "I cannot express my thanks enough to you for all the good your medicine has done for me and my family. This spring I took cold and it settled in my kidneys. At first I thought it was kidney trouble.

"I took Peruna as directed on the bottle and in a few days I was all right, so I owe my health to Dr. Hartman and his remedy."

Miserable With Catarrh.

Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. 6, Inka, Ill., writes: "Last November I had catarrh, and felt so miserable, I thought that I would go into consumption.

"I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna.

"After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way.

"My head does not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright, and I am gaining in flesh and strength.

"I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy."

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL QUESTION

The questions on the Sunday School lesson for Sunday April 26th, are as follows:—

"Jesus Teaches Humility." John xiii 1-20.

Golden Text—A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another, as I have loved you. John xiii: 34.

Verse 1—When did the consciousness first come to Jesus that the Jews would crucify Him?

Is it possible for everybody to live with the strength and purity of the love of Jesus?

Verse 2—Could Judas have rejected this temptation of the Devil to betray Jesus, or had God planned that he had to do it?

Verse 3—In what sense (or with what limitations, if any, has God put everything into the hands of Jesus?

"Jesus knowing." What connection did this vital knowledge have with what he did then?

What is the greatest thing in the world over which God gave Jesus full control and in which he is our example in this story and always?

Verses 4-5—Should a Christian, no matter how high his position, arrange his affairs and so "gird himself" that he can do personal service for individuals, especially for the lowly?

What kind of work ought Christians to engage in in these days so as to most nearly follow the example of Jesus in washing the disciples' feet?

Verses 6-8—From a mere human standpoint, what can you say against Peter's resolution not to allow his master to wash his feet?

When God commands us, should we surrender our own judgment if necessary to gladly obey him?

Should our modesty or our creed, or any other thing prevent us from taking on either pain or pleasure at the clear command of God?

Verse 9—When a man sees he is wrong and takes it back, how long is it before God forgives him?

Did Peter really sin in this thing, and is there any sin, in an error of judgment, so long as our hearts are true to God?

Verses 10-11—When one is forgiven, is he as innocent before God as if he never had sinned?

Verses 12-17—What is at once the supreme duty and the greatest privilege of a Christian? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Do we get the most happiness out of what others do for us, or what we do for others?

Verses 18-19—How do you account for it, that sometimes those to whom we do the most good are those that hurt us the most?

Verse 20—Are Christians as much one with God as Jesus was?

Lesson for Sunday, May 3rd, 1908, "Our Heavenly Home." John xiv.

The Irishman Appreciated
The Kindness Of Mr. Lastar

Mr. B. Lastar, to-day received a letter from a man in Nashua, Mass., whom he had befriended on the "Empress of Ireland," while returning from his visit through Russia. On that occasion William Horne, the writer of the letter and an Irish immigrant, lost his purse containing about $15—all the money he had—and Mr. Lastar had taken up a collection on board, and obtained 62 shillings for him.

Mr. Horne still remembers the kind deed and has written to thank Mr. Lastar.

HUGHES-BELLEGHEM NUPTIALS

The genial month of April has been the occasion for many pretty weddings in Peterborough and among the prettiest—although quiet— of these was the marriage this afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Miss Clara Belleghem, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Belleghem, 683 Bethune street, to Mr. Gordon Bruce Hughes, Park Place, son of the late Mr. James L. Hughes. The bride is one of Peterborough's best known young ladies, being a talented soprano soloist, and having filled most acceptably the position of soloist in the Charlotte street Methodist church for the past five years, as well as similar positions, previous to that time, in other churches.

On account of recent bereavements in the family of the groom, and of illness in the family of the bride, the wedding was of a quiet character, only the relatives of the bride and groom being in attendance.

The ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride, was performed by Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist Church at 3 o'clock. The bride, on account of the illness of her father, was given away by her uncle, Mr. Daniel Belleghem. Mr. F. E. Walden, brother-in-law of the bride, performed Mendelsohn's wedding march as the bride entered the parlour, and during the signing of the register, he sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was handsomely gowned in champagne soliense, with trimmings of pointe lace and carried lilies of the valley and bridal roses. She was unattended except by the ring bearer, little Miss Mary Lucile Grant, who was prettily attired in a French dress of pink silk, with pink sash and wore a Dutch bonnet of lace and rosebuds.

To the bride the groom gave a beautiful gold pin and he also presented the ring bearer with a gold pin. The bride was the recipient of a handsome array of gifts from her many friends, among them being a set of Limoges china from the choir and congregation of Charlotte street Methodist church. The groom was presented with a beautiful Morris chair of weathered oak, by the office staff and foreman of the Canadian General.

A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony and on the 4.48 C.P.R. train Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left on their honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a dress of navy blue voile, a tan hat and tan gloves. On their return they will reside at 304 Park Place, and will be at home to their friends after June 1st.

IMPORTANCE OF PETERBORO' AS CENTRE FOR HARDWARE

Emphasized by Window Display of Peterborough Hardware "Made in Peterborough"—An Excellent Situation.

MANY MEN ARE EMPLOYED

As an introduction ton special article, referring to the success of the young management of the Peterborough Hardware Company's store, the Hardware and Metal of last week dealt with the importance of Peterborough as a hardware manufacturing centre. Half tone cuts of Messrs. Munson Comstock, Harry Morgan and C. Milson Blewett were also published. The story is as follows:

Situated, as it is, in the centre of one of the best agricultural districts in Eastern Ontario, directly on the route of the Trent Canal, and on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the Province, Peterborough is enjoying an era of prosperity in the various phases of the hardware business with bright hopes for the continuation of the same in the future.

Of the advantages named, the first is possibly the most important, not only from the standpoint of the hardwareman, but from that of the merchants in many of the other lines of trade. For, after all, it is a self-evident truth that originally all wealth comes from the soil. Peterborough is the hub of four of the most productive and highly populated townships of the county. In recent years the farmers have vied with each other in erecting buildings of a superior quality, so that during that time the hardware business of the retailer has advanced in rapid strides, and, incidentally, the trade of the wholesale establishments supplying him, of which Peterborough has her fair share.

The construction of the Trent Canal and famous Lift Lock has done much to encourage the manufacture of hardware in Peterborough, and of promoting the business of both wholesalers and the retail dealers. This immense structure has done much to advertise the city. Since its completion navigation on the Otonabee and on the Kawartha Lakes has wonderfully increased, and during the open season it is not uncommon to see a dozen boats and barges per day being elevated and lowered at this lock—65 feet in the air. This increase in navigation has a direct advantage for the hardwaremen.

The Electric City's Advantages

Coupled with these advantages the Electric City—as Peterborough is often named—has the good fortune to be excellently situated, so far as railway accommodation is concerned. The main line of the Canadian Pacific in Ontario passes through, while the Grand Trunk has four branches. Raw material and manufactured goods are, therefore, easily transported to and from the city, and with the completion of the Trent Canal, the manufacturers hope for the amelioration of freight charges.

The transportation problem is always one of the most important with the manufacturer, so that Peterborough is looking forward to the time when the cost will be lessened by the completion of the canal system.

The immense amount of water power available along the Otonabee River serves in a great degree to mitigate the cost of manufacturing of not only those companies engaged in the hardware trade, but of all others utilizing electrical energy derived from water power. With five power plants in a distance of four miles on the Otonabee, one of which is owned by the city, energy is supplied to the various factories, giving employment to more than 6,000 men. There are yet several falls not utilized, which some day will provide power for other manufacturers, and it is safe to prophesy that the hardware business will be well represented among these.

Hardware a Leading Industry

Within the past few years important additional hardware manufacturing industries have been established. One of the most important of these is the Peterborough Shovel Company, making a full line of spades, scoops, and shovels, branded "Peterborough," "Lundy," "Irwin," and "Hill." The company was established in 1902, and sells through the jobbers only. Another big industry is the Rapid Tool Company, making auger bits, millwright augers and car bits. This company has been in active operation about sixteen months, and in that time has formed a very strong connection with the hardware trade from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The output of the factory has been constantly increased by the installation from time to time of the very latest and most modern machinery, and the company is now doing an export as well as a domestic business.

Other new industries include the Canadian Cordage Company, manufacturing all kinds of rope, lath yarn and binder twine; G. Walter Green, manufacturing mill machinery, portable forges, a special variety of pike pole, etc.; Collier & Cunningham, who are engaged in the manufacture of an electric iron with the adjustment for cutting off the current when not in use; the Pre-Payment Electric Meter Company, making recording meters; R. F. Ackerman, Son & Company, halters and saddlery; the Peterborough Metal Company, manufacturing gasoline engines and steel stamping presses; and the Diamond Calk Horseshoe Company, making horseshoes.

To supplement these there are the older companies manufacturing hardware, including the Peterborough Lock Company, producing a varied line of high grade locks and builders' hardware; the Peter Hamilton Company Limited, well-known for their farming implements, and the Canadian General Electric Company, making all kinds of electric goods.

Peterborough is, too, renowned for its excellent quality of canoes, which are known and used in all parts of the world. The most important factory is owned by the Peterborough Canoe Company, making canoes, paddles, etc., and two other concerns in the same line of business. J. J. Turner & Sons is another old firm with a wide connection, their lines including tents, awnings, flags, bunting, and camp supplies generally.

Other important factories include the broom factories of C. S. McQuillan and Robert Hamilton, Quaker Oats Company, the Peterborough Cereal Company, the Sandstone Brick Works, Taylor & Hall Cement Brick Works, the Auburn Woollen Mills, the Colonial Weaving Company, the MacDonald and Peterborough Lumber Companies, and the Munn Planing and Shingle Mill, all of which tend to the success of the hardware business in Peterborough.

It is estimated that at least 1,200 men find employment in the manufacture of hardware and metal goods.

How Peterborough Man Killed Two Wolves With Long Pole And The Amusing Sequel

Mr. Edward Bowie Kills Two Wolves In Burleigh Township Which Were None Other Than Farmers' Dogs—Everyone Was Deluded.

AN ACTUAL OCCURRENCE

"It was back in the Township of Burleigh, in 1860, just forty-eight years ago, when I was working for Campbell and Houston, lumber merchants, that I had an experience with two wolves that proved not only exciting for the time being, but had a most amusing sequel. Mr. Ed. Bowie, with this promising introduction, began to relate an incident in which he played a prominent part, when Peterborough's primeval forests were almost untouched by the woodman's axe.

Continuing, Mr. Bowie said, that the wolves were then so numerous and aggressive, that when lying in bed at night he could hear them gnashing their teeth, as they skulked around the camp. After dark the men were afraid to go for water to the pool, which was only a short distance from the door. They could be heard at all hours, baying in the chase of deer, and on one occasion the men captured a dear which had sought refuge in the horses' sheds.

The Two Wolves

One evening, Hugh Malone and Jack Welsh returned to camp and remarked that two large wolves had crossed the road in front of their teams, as they were returning with a large timber. The next night Mr. Bowie was driving back to camp, when on looking up the trail, he saw two wolves coming along on a trot towards him. When they were about four rods away they stopped and jumped up on the bank of snow by the roadside. A man, named Heeley, was driving the second team, and when Mr. Bowie stopped the latter asked him if they were wolves. "Of course they are," Heeley answered, in a loud whisper, and further stated that he had often killed them. The two men decided to get this pair, and it was suggested that one skirt around to the camp and get the rifle, which was always loaded. This did not seem feasible, and Heeley told Mr. Bowie that he (Bowie) could easily kill them with a stick. The latter told Heeley it, but he had no confidence in his own ability, although he was sure Mr. Bowie could finish them. Heeley started back down the road to get a stick and was not long in returning with one which could not have been more suitable if it had been turned out by a lathe. It was about 15 feet long, well trimmed and stout, tapering slowly.

First Wolfe Killed

Mr. Bowie, step by step, led the horses along the intervening road, until almost even with the two wolves on the bank. Edging along a little further, he singled out one of the wolves and raising the pole over his shoulder, poised it for a second and brought it down with all his power on Mister Wolfe the First's head. The thick pole almost broke in half as it crushed the wolf into the snow bank, leaving the tail and hind-quarters alone above the surface. The other one, with a bark, ran along the bank a few rods. It finally came back to its mate to investigate, and within a few minutes it was also dispatched. Number one was still giving a few convulsive kicks, but both were pulled out onto the road and dragged by chains to the camp. Heeley was very excited that Mr. Bowie had killed the two wolves so easily. They met their friends at the camp and everyone acknowledged that the wolves were fine specimens of their type.

The Last act

However, cold water was quickly thrown on their elation by the cook, who laughed when he saw them, saying, "By George, you've killed Grant's two dogs." Grant was a farmer living in the neighbourhood, who brought in oats for the horses. Heeley became angry and even wanted to fight, but the cook was correct, although the other men had been mistaken. It was several days before Heeley would acknowledge the joke, but the occurrence was afterwards, the subject of many a laugh when the men gathered in the evenings after the day's labour was over.

REGULAR MEETING OF W. C. T. U.

Law and Legislation of Ontario in Regard to Temperance Discussed.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the parlours of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon, a fairly large number of representatives being present. A very interesting discussion was held, dealing with the law and legislation of Ontario in regard to the temperance question. During the afternoon, Miss Simpson, a visitor in the city, was heard in a delightful vocal solo. Before closing, a vote of thanks was tendered the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. for the free use of the parlours for the meetings.

The attendance yesterday, as in the past, was very good, but at that it was not what it should have been. Each of the city churches should have a large representation of members, and it is hoped that the meetings in the future will have a large augmented attendance.

—Notice to members of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, I.O.O.F. All brethren are requested to meet in the lodge room, at 6.30 p. m. sharp, Sunday evening next, April 26th, to attend divine service in St. John's Church. This being the 89th anniversary of the order, all visiting brethren are cordially invited to join us in the service. By order of the Noble Grand of both lodges. 3d96—2364

ROYAL ALEXANDRA ENGLISH PLAYERS

It is an interesting story, this comedy "Our Boys," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House next Thursday, April 30th, by the Royal Alexandra English Players, direct from the beautiful Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto.

The heroes are two chaps, each blessed with a father, who has a system for bringing up his boy. When it comes to a "show-down" the boys, however, revolt and refuse to be governed by the system laid down by their parents.

Sir Geoffrey Champneys is a county magnate, who resides in Hertfordshire. Adjoining his estate resides Perkyn Middlewick, a retired butterman. Sir Geoffrey has a son named Talbot, and Perkyn's son is called Charles. Both these boys have gone through school and college, and to finish their education are sent on a three-years jaunt on the continent. It is at the time of their return that the story of the comedy begins. Sir Geoffrey, in mapping out the future for his son has determined that he shall go into politics. Middlewick, since he bought property in the county, has become very popular with the voters. Sir Geoffrey realizes this, and for that reason has cultivated the acquaintance and friendship of the retired wealthy butterman. At the same time, he in a way despises his neighbour, owing to the latter's somewhat uncouth manners.

Visiting Sir Geoffrey, are Miss Violet Melrose, an heiress, and her pretty cousin, Mary, whose only wealth is her beauty. Sir Geoffrey has made up his mind that Talbot shall marry Violet. Previous to this, Violet has met Young Middlewick, while travelling on the Continent, and they became much attached to each other. When Charles and Violet met, they renewed their former acquaintanceship. Violet is introduced to Middlewick, Senior, and she cannot help but show her disappointment at the manner in which he juggles with the poor little letter "H." The old gentleman is very sensitive on this point, as he never had an opportunity of acquiring an education or society manners. In the meantime, Talbot has not been losing any ground with the poor cousin. When the fathers see which way the young chaps are drifting, they become curious, and determine that these marriages shall never take place, and conspire together to prevent them. There is a conference, where the fathers lay down the law and give the boys the alternative of giving up their sweethearts or being cast out on the cold, cold world to hustle for themselves. The young chaps choose the latter course and leave their homes. This furnishes the basis of the romance, which ends most happily after matters are straightened out.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT ST. ANDREW'S

The Junior Boys' Guild Had a Fine Programme

The concert under the auspices of the Junior Boys' Guild and Willing Workers' Society of St. Andrew's Church held last night was a very brilliant affair. The work of the Peterborough Band, of which Mr. Roland Common is leader, was of exceptionally good quality and reflected great credit on leader and members. The solo work of Mr. Gordon Wright, who is an able addition to the vocal teaching talent in Peterborough, was greatly appreciated, he rendering in excellent voice, "Down the Vale." Mr. A. B. Cutting was also a new voice, and sang in strong and vigorous style, "Mona." Miss Olive Simpson in "Love Me, and the World Is Mine," and Miss Olive Howell in "Forebodings," showed exceedingly well-developed powers as soloists.

Miss Evelyn Dorris' number on the violin was heartily applauded, while the hoop drill by the twelve girls, under the direction of Miss Bella King, was delightful.

Among other pleasing features of the programme were a solo by Mr. Stewart Laing, a recitation by Miss Katie Leary, a pretty solo by Miss Bessie Read, and instrumental numbers by Mr. F. R. Clark on the banjo, the Mandolin Club, and Miss Shearer and Miss Potter on the piano. Mr. William Common gave a neat and appropriate speech on "St. George and the English," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Much merriment was provoked by the dialogue entitled "An Army of Applicants," given by Mr. Common's class of boys. The parts were taken in perfect manner, and the number was thoroughly enjoyed.

The gathering was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Miss Ethel Tully presided at the piano most acceptably. The selections given by the band were Quick March "Nevada," Overture "Pastime," Quick March "Silver City," Overture "Just the Thing," and Quick Step "Hot Stuff."

SCAVENGER WAS HEAVILY FINED

Scattered Filthy Refuse on Bethune Street and Dumped Some in Creek

"It was a dirty, filthy, lazy thing to do, and if you ever come back I will make the fine a great deal larger," said His Worship, after passing a fine of ten dollars or fourteen days in jail, on Jos. Richards, who was charged with scattering filthy refuse along Bethune street, and dumping some of it in the creek. Richards pleaded guilty to the charge and was given ten days to pay the fine.

It will be remembered that in yesterday's issue the chief of police announced that if the scavenger was found he would be punished severely. The police have been investigating the case since Wednesday morning and landed their man last night.

THE UNIONIST CANDIDATE VICTORIOUS

Churchill Loses His Seat in Northwest Manchester.

CAMPAIGN WAS VIGOROUS

Unionist Candidate Won by Majority of 429—Defeat Attributed to Licensing and Education Bills—Premier Sent No Good Wishes—Suffragettes Lined Up Against Winston — The Socialist Vote.

Manchester, April 25.—The northwest division of Manchester, by the heaviest poll cast in 20 years, yesterday reversed its verdict of 1906, and by a majority of 429 votes unseated as its member of Parliament Winston Spencer Churchill, Liberal, who has just been made President of the Board of Trade in the new Asquith Cabinet, and who that year so brilliantly wrested the seat from W. Joynson-Hicks, Unionist, his chief opponent of yesterday. Three candidates stood for election and the result was as follows:

W. Joynson-Hicks (Unionist), 5,417.
Winston Spencer Churchill (Liberal), 4,988.
Mr. Irving (Socialist), 276.

The defeat of Mr. Churchill is a crushing blow to the prestige of the Government and the young and confident Minister, which is bound to have a marked influence in several other impending bye-elections. There will be no difficulty in finding for Mr. Churchill a safe seat elsewhere. The Liberals may derive from their defeat what consolation is possible from the fact that prior to 1906 the northwest division seat was held consistently by Conservatives.

Among the many influences and cross currents at work in this extraordinary contest it was not wholly beyond reason to suppose that Mr. Asquith himself was partly responsible for the defeat of his young colleague. It is customary for the leader of the party to send a letter wishing success to any member of his party seeking election to Parliament. Mr. Balfour in this case sent Mr. Joynson-Hicks an unusually long and adroit letter, which doubtless very materially assisted the Unionist campaign.

Mr. Asquith, on the other hand, for some as yet unexplained reason omitted to follow this custom, though he sent a letter to Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Education, who on Thursday contested and won the seat for Dewesbury by a majority of 1,148 votes. It is impossible to imagine that the omission in the case of Mr. Churchill was not intentional; but in any case it gave the Unionists an opening to insinuate that the Premier rather disapproved of Mr. Churchill's tactics in pledging the Government on the Irish home rule and other questions, or that he would not be unwilling to see the over-confident young Minister receive a check.

Contrary to expectation the Socialist vote was so small that it had practically no effect on the election. Probably more damage was inflicted on the Liberal cause by the activity of the Suffragettes, who worked with the utmost energy against Mr. Churchill. It is also supposed that David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, by breaking the custom that the Cabinet abstain personally from canvassing elections, gave many votes of waverers to the Unionists, while Mr. Redmond's advice to the Catholics to support Mr. Churchill may have come too late, the English Catholic priests having conducted a very vigorous campaign against Mr. Churchill and the Government's education bill.

Licensing Bill Blamed.

Mr. Joynson-Hicks, in an interview after the election, attributed his victory mainly to the education and licensing bills. He is a London solicitor, 43 years of age and never before has had a seat in Parliament.

It is reported the Liberal leaders at Dundee sent a telegram to Winston Churchill inviting him to contest the seat in Parliament made vacant through the elevation to the peerage of the Right Hon. Edmund Robertson, Liberal, who has held the seat since 1885.

A MONSTER LOCKOUT.

Every Shipyard in Great Britain Will Be Affected.

London, April 25.—At a meeting held in Carlisle yesterday afternoon the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation decided to order a lockout in every shipbuilding yard in the United Kingdom.

This action is in accordance with the announcement made by the federation April 15, when they said that unless the ship workmen on the northeast coast, who went on strike the middle of January, resumed work by April 25, all the shipbuilding yards in the country would be closed down.

The decision was reached after a five hour conference, at which representatives of the unions urged that the strike on the northeast coast be submitted to arbitration. The employers declined to discuss this proposition and insisted that the northeast strikers return to work at reduced wages.

Bright Child Crushed to Death.

Wilberforce, April 25.—A fatal accident occurred at a sawmill in Harcourt Township on the T. B. & O., when Mary Ellen McCoy, daughter of James McCoy, who is a foreman in the mill, and a granddaughter of James Barrie of Hastings, was playing with two other children beneath the jack that carries the logs into the mill. A crooked timber coming up the jack toppled over upon the little one, crushing out her life instantly.

SOUTHERN TOWNS WERE STORM SWEPT

Over One Hundred Persons Killed in Awful Tornado.

MOST OF VICTIMS NEGROES

Whole Districts Wiped Out — Hundreds Also Injured—Storm Worst In Years—Live Stock Perished—Large Number of Villages, Not Heard From— The Loss Will Amount to Many Millions.

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—A wind of cyclonic proportions swept over portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama late yesterday, leaving a trail of dead and injured.

Last night the number of killed is estimated at close to a hundred and the number of injured at over a hundred, with many portions of the afflicted districts to hear from.

Most of the dead are negroes. Perhaps a dozen white persons were caught in falling buildings and either fatally injured or seriously disabled.

The loss of life was chiefly in the quarters of colored people, where the wind destroyed their cabins, burying the occupants in the debris, or in the farming sections of the country, where trees were uprooted, telegraph and telephone poles torn up.

Last night it was difficult to estimate the loss of life or the extent of the destruction of property, for there is little or no communication with the points where the wind and rain did its greatest damage.

In Louisiana it is estimated that a score of small towns were destroyed or partly wrecked.

They include Amite City, Arcadia and Independence.

Belle Grove, Melton, Lorman, Pineridge, Quitman Landing, Fairchilds Creek, Purvis and Lumberton, Miss., are reported seriously damaged by storm.

In Alabama, Dora was the chief sufferer. This town is also known as Bergen. Four or more persons were killed, among them the wife and daughter of Sectionmaster Moore.

Fifty persons at the lowest estimate were injured. Those most seriously hurt were carried to hospital in Birmingham, Ala. One woman, a Mrs. McCully, died on the train. Two other members of this family were seriously injured.

Cars were blown from the railroad tracks and considerable other property destroyed.

Reports also say that the storm struck Albertville, Ala., late yesterday afternoon and destroyed the entire northern portion of the town; a cotton mill was blown down, the storm ranging northward doing much destruction to life and property.

An unconfirmed report from this section gives the death list as from 30 to 35, with scores of persons injured.

A special train was sent to Birmingham, carrying physicians and a squad of state militiamen to the district.

Aid is also pouring in from all other directions.

Richland and Lamouri, La., were struck by the storm and nearly a fifth of the population injured.

Winchester, Miss., a small town, is reported wiped out, though only two other persons are known to have been killed.

Natchez, Miss., reports sixty are known to be dead in the Northern Louisiana storm. Hundreds of plantation cabins are reported destroyed in this section.

Mobile reported nine dead in Hattiesburg, Miss., but this has not been confirmed.

Want Paper on the Free List.

New York, April 25.—A committee with Medill McCormick of Chicago as chairman will go to Washington as representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association to urge the passage by the present Congress of legislation putting white paper on the free list.

Decision to appoint such a committee was reached at yesterday's session of the white paper committee of the association, after a report on the white paper situation had been read by John Norris, business manager of The New York Times.

Will Build Her Own Ships.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The report published in England to the effect that the Russian Government had ordered five warships from a firm of Clyde shipbuilders is untrue. The Admiralty has adopted the principle that all battleships should be constructed in Russia, and it is impossible that any vessels have been ordered either here or abroad for this year.

As the Duma intends to reject the estimates on the new battleships, the program for 1909 will probably be small.

Want Marine Art Protected.

Ottawa, April 25.—The gold and silver plate manufacturers of Canada yesterday asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding to amend the Marking Act by providing for the prohibition of the importation from England of gold plate below 9 karats.

The United States standard, which is the basis of Canadian manufacture, fixes 10 karats as the minimum, and the free entry of British goods of a lower standard is held to be unfair competition.

CHARGE IN HOUSE IS DENIED

Accusations of Maj. Hodgins Are Groundless Says Chairman.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE

Reply of National Transcontinental Railway Commissioners to Allegations of Their Late Engineer—Quebec Bridge Report—George Taylor and Timber Limits—Brush With Mr. Pugsley.

Ottawa, April 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced yesterday that on Monday he would move for the appointment of a committee of five members to investigate the charges made by Major Hodgins, former engineer of the National Trancontinental Railway at Kenora, against the commission. He read the correspondence in the matter.

The first letter is from Hon. S. N. Parent, chairman of the commission, to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Dealing with the charges categorically, Mr. Parent denies that any of them have any foundation. The main charge is that the Government is paying padded accounts for work done, and G. T. R. people are making no objection because they merely had to pay the added interest. In reply, Mr. Parent says the railway "makes objections when they see fit and these are looked into at once."

The chairman also refutes the statement that the commissioners wanted to change his (Major Hodgin's) ideas on construction to classification, that is allowed to contractors in Quebec.

"The commissioners," says Mr. Parent, "never, at any time, requested Major Hodgins to adopt in his district any classification not in accordance with the contract and specifications.

"As to classification in Quebec, it was looked over and found to be agreeing with these and therefore perfectly regular."

Charge three read: If Mr. Poulin, the engineer appointed by Mr. Parent to replace me on the western district, has allowed the introduction of a classification similar to that allowed in Quebec, this will account for the increase in the estimated cost of the line. If this increase amounts to $3,000,000 or $4,000,000, it is time the public demanded some explanation."

Poulin, replied the chairman, was appointed on the recommendation of the chief engineer because he was the best man to take hold of the work of re-organizing the district, which had been left in such bad shape by Major Hodgins.

Proceeding, he says: "Since leaving our employment, Major Hodgins has talked a good deals openly, in fact, much more than professional dignity, and the sense of justice would seem usually to permit. It is time, we feel, in justice to ourselves and the public, before whom now is an evident desire to misrepresent the facts, to call a halt and make it necessary for the accuser to bring facts to substantiate his charges."

In conclusion, the commissioners would respectfully request, as they do not wish to remain under the aspersions which such reports cast on them, that the whole matter be referred to and looked into by a committee of the House, and that Major Hodgins be assigned to appear before the same to repeat his charges in a specific manner in order to substantiate them, if he can. Then an opportunity will be given right-minded people to see where the truth is and if public interest would have been better served by keeping an engineer who ignored the specifications, or by replacing him, as was done, by one who will follow them."

Replying to Mr. Foster, Mr. Fielding said in the House yesterday afternoon that, in view of extensive enquiries before the banking and commerce committe, it was his desire that some time should elapse before the insurance bill was again taken up. In due time it would be heard from again.

Mr. Borden, asking about the Quebec bridge report, was told by Mr. Graham that good progress was being made. As there had been a large number of enquiries, both cable and otherwise, for copies of the report, it was proposed to have a larger number than usual printed, and copies placed in all the public libraries as well as the university libraries.

George Taylor rose to deny an allegation that he had been an applicant for timber limits. In looking over some fyles recently he had discovered that John Tolmie, M.P., had secured for his partner, John Gentiles, certain limits in Alberta, which had been disposed of for $4,000. In one of his letters Tolmie refers to Gentiles as his partner "in this deal."

Mr. Taylor also hurled a bomb at Hon. Wm. Pugsley, entertaining the House with detailing the prices paid for material and work on a breakwater at Petit Rocher. Some of these prices were enormously extravagant, and Mr. Taylor had made an effort to obtain all the correspondence, moving in the proper way. What he got was up to the end of 1905; whereas the breakwater had been since swept away and rebuilt. There were no documents concerning these events. Mr. Taylor went after the Minister for refusing to obey the mandate of the House.

Mr. Pugsley could have extricated himself and made his detractor uneasy if he had known the facts, but he floundered around in a slough of uncertainty. He believed that his deputy had brought down all the documents on fyle.

"I've done all that I can do," lamented the Minister, apparently anxious to appease the chief Oppositon whip.

"Then he'd better resign," observed Mr. Taylor.

"I believe my deputy," retorted the Minister.

"Yes," replied Mr. Taylor, "and I would believe the deputy before I would believe the Minister."

The matter would have dropped but that Mr. Turgeon of Gloucester explained that the reason there was no correspondence was because the contractor was responsible to the Government for the completion of the work, and after it was blown away he rebuilt it.

Mr. Martin (Queen's, P.E.I.) was told by Mr. Graham that Mr. Haney's claim against the Government for the construction of the Hillsboro bridge was for $390,000. The arbitrator, Collingwood Schreiber, had awarded the contractor $164,000.

Railway Engineer Drowned.

Alton, Ill., April 25.—A freight train on the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railway Thursday night dashed into a water-filled cut from which a storm flood had washed away the tracks, 15 miles above here, and the engine and 11 cars turned over. Engineer John F. Walsh of Springfield was imprisoned in his cab and drowned. The flood was rushing through the cut like a mill race when the accident occurred.

The Missing Link.

Philadelphia, April 25.—With Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, as an interested spectator, Dr. Edward Anthony Spitzka, before the annual meeting of the American Philosophical Society, pleaded for an expedition to the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, in the Indian Ocean, to study the brains of the native, who, he says, are the only survivals of the pure ape stock from which the human race sprang.

Farmer Hangs Himself.

Lindsay, April 25.—William Lawrie, a farmer living about 10 miles north of here, committed suicide Thursday night by hanging. He was well-to-do, and no cause can be given for his action, other than that he was suffering from a partial stineation of reason. He attempted suicide two weeks ago, but was prevented by his wife, who found a rope hanging in the barn

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and re-act. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and pallid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomach disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and requisite sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry.

Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

The Greatest Sporting Event In History Of Peterborough

Walking Race Will Close To-night With Hoagland a Certain Winner —Blake Gained Lap on Harrison Last Night.

EXHIBITION MILE WALKS

Jack Cooper and Dave Hartley Each Had a Crack at Mile Sprint—Seven Walkers Still Left When Grind Started To-day.

1—W. A. HOAGLAND, Auburn, N. Y., 142 miles, 4 laps.
2—J. E. BLAKE, Syracuse, N. Y., 137 miles, 7 laps.
3—JAS. HARRISON, Peterborough, 136 miles, 6 laps.
4—CHAS. STEVENS, Peterborough, 131 miles, 11 laps.
5—JAS. G. GRAHAM, Buffalo, N. Y., 124 miles, 2 laps.
6—CHAS. STENNER, Warsaw, Ont., 117 miles, 10 laps.
7—RAY FENTON, Auburn, N. Y., 106 miles, 5 laps.

The struggle between Blake and Harrison for second position in the walking race, continues as close almost as it was on Wednesday night, when Harrison fell in behind Blake, after Slater had dropped out. The negro is one more lap to the good, as the result of last night's four-hour tramp, following the same tactics as on Thursday night. During the first few minutes, while he was fresh, the coloured walker spurted, and succeeded in lapping Harrison, after which he fell in behind the local man and stayed there for the rest of the evening. Harrison made no attempt to catch him, when he let loose, and when the negro came around again and fell in behind him, he carried him along at a rapid gait, for the remainder of the night. Harrison is keeping up a steady, fast gait that does not vary more than a second to the lap, and he finished last night in good shape for the ten hour grind to-day.

Another big crowd was on hand for the evening's racing, and the interest continues unabated. Hoagland, as usual, received a grand reception from the spectators, when he tore off his terrific spurts to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," which seems to arouse him like an electric shock. The band and the spectators have realized that fact, and when they want a sprint from the American, the lively Yankee air is played, and Hoagland never disappoints them. Last night he had to doff his cap in response to the cheers of the crowd. He covered 21 miles, 101 aps in the four hours, and incidentally increased his lead by fourteen laps, so that he started out this afternoon four miles ten laps in the lead.

There were other features beside the battle between Harrison and Blake, one being exhibition fast miles by David Hartley and Jack Cooper, of Toronto. The latter went out to beat the time made in his first mile on Monday night, 7.42, but took a glitch in his side before he had gone more than one lap, which interfered considerably with his speed, and, although he stuck at it for the mile, the thirteen laps were only negotiated in 8.50. He received a good hand from the crowd for his work.

The veteran Hartley was also well received, when he came out on the track. He started out at a lively clip, covering the first two laps in decidedly speedy fashion, but the effort was too much for him, and he had to slow up for the remainder covering the mile in 9.51, a minute slower than Cooper's attempt.

Last night the first four men did not travel as far as they did on Thursday night, while the last three did more.

Hoagland did four laps less, Blake two less, Harrison two less, and Stevens three less. On the other hand, Graham went fifteen laps more than he did on Thursday, Stenner seven laps more, and Fenton eight miles more.

Stenner is ten laps over the necessary average of 4 1-2 miles an hour. He made a good showing last night, walking at a steady clip and finishing up as usual with a determined spring in the last few minutes. Stenner is a favourite with the crowd, his gameness being appreciated, and he was cheered along all night.

Stevens is going along at a lively rate, and the eighteen year old local boy should be found hanging onto fourth place, when the bell sounds for the last time to-night. His work has been one of the surprises of the tournament, and he deserves all kinds of credit for his plucky showing. On Wednesday his feet were badly bruised and blistered by the nails working up in his shoes, and when he came off the track at 11.30 he was bleeding badly. He has been suffering ever since, but has continued to hit up a pace that should easily put him over the limit of 162 miles by to-night.

Graham seems to get faster and stronger as the walk continues, and last night travelled over a mile farther than on Tuesday night. He will be well over the limit by to-night, and will finish strong. Fenton, the boy from Auburn, N.Y., is still on the track, although he is doing less than four miles per hour. He says he will stick it out until to-night.

The men travelled as follows last night:

	Miles.	Laps.
Hoagland	21	10
Blake	20	9
Harrison	20	6
Stevens	20	2
Graham	20	7
Stenner	18	5
Fenton	15

The two pictures above show Frank Kennedy, the German wrestler, who will meet Gene Hurtubise here on Wednesday night, in training. The lower picture illustrates why Kennedy has no fear of the strangle hold. He is shown with his head under a stout hickory limb on which two men stand. Kennedy throws his body over the pole and wrenches his body free.

Charles A. Stevens', the gritty eighteen old Peterborough boy, who is in fourth place.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE WALK

The full band of the 57th Regiment was on hand last night, under Mr. Gliddon's direction, and played a fine programme, that was appreciated alike by the crowd and the walkers. They will be present again to-night.

Jim Graham, the Buffalo walker,

Charles Stenner, of Warsaw, who is in sixth place and has been making such a game showing to get inside the limit of 162 miles.

"FAIR PLAY'S" OPINION IS ENDORSED

Harrison Deserves As Much Support as Blake, He Says

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I entirely agree with "Fair Play" in your issue of yesterday in his remarks about Harrison and Blake in the walking contest. A white man is just as good as a coloured gentleman, and is deserving of as much consideration, and the fact of his being an Englishman and choosing Canada for the land of his adoption and Peterborough for his place of residence, makes him none the less so. His noble stride denotes a noble character, and no matter what place he may secure in the race, the management should give him an extra prize for his style of walking, and if they do not, I am willing to subscribe to a fund for that purpose.

Yours,
MERIT.

COOPER WOULD WALK SLATER FOR AN HOUR

A Match That Would Prove An Attraction Monday Night

Cooper, the fast short distance walker, challenges Tom Slater to an hour's walk on Monday night. He wants $20, whether he wins or loses, and his expenses for waiting over. The Englishman says that because he has trained so little he would not care to take a twenty-five mile jaunt, which Slater would like to take. The Oswegian, by the way he stepped out on Tuesday, would certainly give Cooper a run for his money.

The Y. M. C. A. have handed in a list of players, to be submitted to the Intermediate Baseball League. An executive meeting is called for Tuesday night, in the Y. M. C. A., for this purpose. The certificates can therefore not be distributed till after that date. The entry fees must be paid before certificates will be granted any team.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Ber to Profitable Employment

Everybody in the Northwest knows Col. Daniel Searles, the veteran journalist and publicist of Butte. On January 10 the colonel writes: — "I tried a couple of bottles of Newbro's Herpicide with marvellous results. The dandruff disappeared; a new crop of hair has taken root, and the bald spot is rapidly being covered." Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ that digs up the scalp in scales as it burrows its way to the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

On August 19 next Roselle Knott will sail from Vancouver, B. C., for Australia, with her New York company, to play "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," "Cousin Kate," and two new plays throughout the Antipodes. The tour will be under the personal direction of Frederick Shipman, who, this date, has contracted with Ernest Shipman for his most successful star.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

C.P.R. Conductor Takes Poison, Then Leaps Into the River.

Smith's Falls, April 25.—The town was shocked yesterday by the announcement that Robert Beatty, a well-known C.P.R. conductor of this place, had committed suicide by jumping into the river near the Perrin Plow Works. The act was a most deliberate one, as he walked up to the spot where the fatal leap was taken, apparently to look over the ground and went away again. He returned in an hour's time and walked the length of the dam at the citizens' electric plant and there jumped in.

Some men in the Perrin Plow Works noticed him come to the place the second time and called to him. As they did so he took a small can from his pocket and drank from it something which is supposed to have been poison. Then he pulled his soft felt hat over his face and threw the can away, just before he jumped.

The horrified on-lookers rushed at once to attempt to rescue him, but the current is very swift at this point and this was impossible. He went over the dam and the eddy washed him up on to the bank at the cut. Every effort was made to resuscitate him, but life was extinct.

The deceased made his last trip on Wednesday when he looked sick after coming in. Since that time he was noticed to have acted rather strangely and yesterday morning two of his friends were so impressed with this fact that they decided to watch him. They followed him to the Perrin Plow Works, when he went there the second time and as he stepped down on the dam they shouted to him, but beyond turning to look at them, he paid no heed.

What caused him to take his own life no one can conjecture. He was in comfortable circumstances and was most happy in his home life.

JAP NAVAL DISPLAY.

China Greatly Alarmed by Arrival of Six Warships.

Shanghai, April 25.—The arrival of six Japanese armor-clad warships at Amoy has caused great excitement in the Fukien and Kwangtung provinces, as well as in Pekin.

There is varied speculation as to the object of such formidable display, as it happens just as the negotiations relative to the Chientao boundary dispute are re-opened. The Korean population of the latter place presented a monster joint petition to the Chinese resident official, asking for Chinese protection.

Meanwhile, Col. Sato, the Japanese military commander at Chientao, has arrived in Pekin, with the object of strengthening Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister, in his negotiations with Tun Shao Yih, the governor of Fukien Province, in pushing the claims of the Japanese military party, who regard Chientao as of vital importance, commanding and menacing Kirin, Vladivostok and Harbin equally.

Japanese reservists, in the guise of settlers, peddlers and farmers, are pouring into the territory in increasing numbers.

Sir Robert Hart of the Chinese imperial customs is due here to-day, en route to his home in Ireland. He has declared that he will return on the expiration of his year's leave of absence.

The British court has confiscated the steamship Maori King on the ground of false registration under the British flag. The owner of the vessel was accused of having allowed her to be used for the kidnapping of Chinese coolies, who were taken to Guaymas, Mexico, from Vladivostok.

It is expected that the Chinese Government will ask for the prosecution of those implicated in that affair.

COAT AND SHOES FOUND.

Traces of the Fugitive Moir on Outskirts of Stratford.

Stratford, April 25.—The opinion is prevalent here that the officers in pursuit of William Moir, wanted for murder, are on the wrong trail, and that the fugitive has doubled on his tracks and has even been in hiding close to this city for at least two days.

This belief is strengthened by the finding of a raincoat similar to the one worn by Moir and a pair of military shoes near the old Crystal Palace grounds at the outskirts of the city. These articles were not seen as late as Thursday morning, and the find, which was made yesterday afternoon, would indicate that Moir had been here very recently and is now heading in a southwesterly direction. Residents in the north end of the city claim to have seen a man resembling Moir in the vicinity of the old fair grounds.

His experience as a scout and cunning ingenuity peculiarly fit him for his elusive flight, and the feeling here is that he is wriggling out of the clutches of the law. No reward has yet been offered.

A Daring Robbery.

Bandana, Ky., April 25.—Four masked robbers, after taking possession of the Cumberland Telephone Exchange, and beating the operator into insensibility, compelled Assistant Cashier B. H. Hans of the Ballard County Bank of Bandana to unlock the bank and open the safe for them late last night. The robbers got away with $3,000.

Emperor Insured Till June.

London, April 25.—A committee of Vienna citizens, which is arranging for the jubilee pageant in honor of Emperor Francis Joseph, has just insured the Emperor's life with a British company for $1,750,000 until June next, in order to cover the expenses for preparations of the celebrations in the event of his death before they occur.

HELD AN ORGANIZATION MEETING

In the Interests of Mr. Gillespie, Liberal Candidate.

A well attended meeting of the supporters of Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, was held in the Committee Rooms in the old Richard Hall block last evening for the purpose of organization for the coming campaign. Mr. R. F. McWilliams, vice-president of the Liberal Association, occupied the chair. Short addresses were delivered by Mr. Gillespie, the popular Liberal candidate, and by the chairman and Messrs. Andrew MacFarlane, F. D. Kerr and Hon. J. R. Stratton.

It was announced that at the meeting on May 2 speeches would be delivered by prominent local speakers on the campaign issues of the day.

The meeting was noticeable by the large number present, showing the keen interest of the young men of the riding for the Liberal candidate.

It was decided unanimously to request the executive of the association to complete all plans of organization, and to report at a meeting to be held in the same place on Saturday, May 2.

The meeting adjourned after giving three hearty cheers and a tiger for the Liberal candidate.

ARTICLE VI.

ARTICLE VII.
AMENDMENTS

Section 1. But one amendment is permissable under this Constitution.

Section 2. Article III may be amended by the addition of a section permitting Auxiliary Members.

Section 3. Any married man may become an Auxiliary Member by promptly and cheerfully purchasing—for his own family—such toilet remedies or requisites as may be desired by any Active or Passive Member.

NOTE 1. It is passing strange that we have no Clubs for the improvement of one's natural appearance; "a back to nature club," so to speak. We certainly need them, for we all know that one lecture by a capable dermatologist would be more helpful to the complexion than a ton of beauty lotion.

NOTE 2. No one has other than encouragement for literary clubs, but we are forced to admit that many, many hours are devoted to looking up the depredations of some ancient Buccaneer, when the time would be worth more if spent in combating the depredations of dandruff germs.

NOTE 3. Upon this very subject, how many know about the dandruff germ and the havoc it creates in a luxuriant growth of hair? It is a deplorable fact that, up to within very recent years, one century after another rolled by without any important addition to our knowledge of hair preservation.

NOTE 4. Nearly six thousand years ago, or to be exact, 4,000 B.C., the mother of the Egyptian King Chata (second king of the first dynasty) tried to save the hair of that monarch with a mixture of dogs' paws, dates and asses' hoofs, ground up and cooked in oil (Egyptian Papyrus). Similar remedies have been popular ever since.

NOTE 5. Just when cantharides took the place of dogs' paws in hair remedies is not known, but Hippocrates, "the father of medicine," used it four hundred years B.C., and it has been in constant use—with no benefit whatever—up to within the present decade. Most hair remedies contain it even now. What is "cantharides?" Simply a foul-smelling dead fly or bug from the Levant that has been dried, powdered and soaked in alcohol. The elder Pliny, A. D. 23, and also Dioscorides, overcame the "mousy" odor with hot vinegar.

NOTE 6. It remained for the eminent German, Unna (ask your doctor about him) to discover that the real cause of dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair is an invisible microbic growth of vegetable character that lodges and develops in the sebaceous glands of the hair follicles in the scalp. This shows that the disease is contagious and also that the use of dead animals or bugs is worse than useless.

Read how a guinea pig was denuded with human dandruff germs, page 511, "Jackson on Diseases of the Skin," 4th edition. Also Lancet, London, Sept. 14, '04; Medical Review of Reviews, New York, Nov., '01; New England Medical Monthly, Oct., '01, Literary Digest, New York, March 1, '02 and Nov. 12, '04.

NOTE 7. The first remedy to successfully combat the dandruff germ, stop itching and permit the hair to grow as nature intended, is Newbro's Herpicide. It is a scientific germicide and scalp prophylatic. It does not stain or dye the hair, and it contains no cantharides. While Newbro's Herpicide will not cure chronic baldness or do anything "magical," its intelligent use will produce results that are, to say the least, extraordinary. In addition to its remedial qualities, it makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss. Doctor V. P. McGillcuddy, Denver, Colo., Medical Inspector Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, writes as follows concerning Newbro's Herpicide:—

"Knowing the composition of Herpicide, I can state that it contains nothing injurious. In a great number of cases baldness, a neglected dandruff can be considered as its immediate exciting cause or associated condition. Your Herpicide will, in the vast majority of cases, cure and prevent the continuation of dandruff. It is an elegant and ideal hair dressing."

BATTLE WITH MAHMOUDS.

British Troops Dislodge Tribesmen—Sixty Soldiers Wounded.

Simla, April 25.—A despatch received here from Peshawur says:

"The Matta was attacked Thursday night, but the enemy was repulsed. There was heavy artillery firing at Shabkadar and Gen. Anderson's brigade fought a big engagement. Our casualties number 62, including several British officers."

Lord Minto, Viceroy of India, and Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, will arrive here to-day, and the British will assume the offensive as quickly as possible. Sir James Willcocks has control of 10,000 troops, comprising three brigades, two of which are concentrating on the border, the third being held in reserve at Peshawur.

Desultory firing is reported all along the line, fifteen miles from Michni, on the Kabul River to Abasai, on the Swat River. Major-Gen. Willcocks' centre rests on Shabkadar fort.

Shot Plumage on Hat.

New York, April 25.—A hunter in the Edenwald woods, in the northern part of the Bronx, aimed at some birds in Mrs. Mary Sassen's hat, but missed and sent a load of shot into the woman's breast.

Mrs. Sassen, who lives at 233 South Eighth avenue, Mount Vernon, entered the woods early in the afternoon to pick flowers. She wore a rather squat, brown hat, trimmed with two brown birds and some foliage. In the woods, which are thickly grown, the hat looked for all the world like a big nest of birds.

Austrian Consul Fined.

Montreal, April 25.—The Austrian flag proved no protection to the consul when he appeared before the judge, charged with striking a clerk in his employ, who kept his hat on in the office. The assault took place in the consulate, and he pleaded that that was Austrian territory, and that Canadian law did not hold sway. The judge held that it did, and he imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

PORTUGUESE JEWELS.

King Manuel Will Pay For the Missing Gems From Treasury.

Lisbon, April 25.—King Manuel has announced his intention of personally refunding the value of the missing crown jewels to the royal treasury. His attitude has caused universal admiration.

When King Miguel was deposed as ruler of Portugal in 1834, the crown jewels, valued at $2,000,000, were confiscated and deposited in the Bank of Portugal as the property of the state. Recently the Republican press has charged that absolute proof existed of the fact that a large portion of these jewels had been sold without the consent of Parliament to meet the expenses of the royal house.

King Manuel thereupon ordered that an inventory be taken and this proved that jewels to the value of $750,000 were missing. The governor of the Bank of Portugal when questioned admitted the removal of the precious stones, but declared that the sale had been made upon the urgent demand of King Carlos, who desired to meet certain pressing debts of the royal household in order to avoid a scandal.

Basis of Settlement.

Winnipeg, April 25.—A basis of agreement was reached at a conference between the Street Railway Co. officials and representatives of the conductors and motormen. A compromise has been suggested under which the company will recognize the seniority rule demanded by the men, and will place seats in vestibules for motormen. They, however, refuse to grant a nine-hour day.

Fatal Fire.

Corry, Pa., April 25.—Three persons were cremated and a fourth probably fatally burned early yesterday in a fire which destroyed the home of David Wetherbee at Centreville.

Was Privately Hanged.

Manila, April 25.—Cipbenia Omongo, alias Fidoedoc, and Afroniano Fernandes, noted bandits and fanatical leaders, were privately hanged at Bilibib Prison yesterday.

A Cowardly Assault.

Montreal, April 25.—City Constable Ernest Gauthier went out at an early hour yesterday morning to get his sick wife some medicine, when he was set on by five thugs, who took his watch and a small amount of money and left him unconscious.

MISS LOUISE COLEMAN,
Who appears at the Grand to-morrow evening in the successful Southern melo-drama "At Piney Ridge." Plan now open.

MR. POTTER'S ADDRESS TO YOUNG MEN

At the Y. M. C. A. Yesterday—Strangers' Fellowship Club Meeting.

Rev. Mr. Potter gave a stirring address yesterday afternoon at the Y. M.C.A. on "The Real Heroism of a Young Man's Religion." The speaker took his text from the third chapter of Proverbs and the words, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths." We said heroism usually brought to mind military circles and the soldier, and the call comes to young men to serve their country and go to battle, and we think of the deeds they do, and call them heroes. There is another call to young men to-day, though, which requires heroism. That is the call of the text, namely, to acknowledge our Maker at all times and in all our walks of life. There is a false heroism in Christianity. It is easy to acknowledge God in some places and at certain times, but the real heroism comes when, under conditions which are not congenial, or even hostile, we are called upon to acknowledge our Lord. The greatest Hero was Christ, and there can be no substitute in our lives for Him. No one can take his place, and if we are to acknowledge God, we must acknowledge Christ our Saviour. We should do it at all times,—in our successes and in our sorrows. It will lead to peace. Mr. Potter closed with an appeal to men to have a singleness of purpose, and above everything to acknowledge our Saviour and our God.

The Strangers' Fellowship Club held its monthly tea for strangers at 5.30 yesterday afternoon, at which quite a number were present.

The Property Committee meets to-night at 8 o'clock. The committee is composed of Messrs. A. McFarlane, chairman; H C Stabler, G M Roger and E M Best.

THANKS THE PEOPLE FOR RECEPTION

W. A. Hoagland is Grateful for the Way in Which He Was Received.

W. A. Hoagland, the winner of the six-day walking match, which closed on Saturday night, has asked the Examiner to express his thanks to the people of Peterborough for the treatment he has received at their hands during his visit here. He states that he has never been better received, and he wishes to thank the citizens as a whole, the committee and officials, and especially Mr. Geo. N. Graham, for his hospitality. Mr. Hoagland and his little daughter leave for home to-morrow, the champion remaining over to take part in the big benefit meet to-night.

TREACHEROUS RAPIDS BELOW QUARRY LAKE ALMOST THE CAUSE OF DOUBLE DROWNING

Young Lady Employed at Warsaw Has a Narrow Escape—Canoe Upset and Floated Down Stream

RAPIDS ROUGH AT PRESENT

Life Saved by the Assistance of Another Canoeist—In the Water About Fifteen Minutes.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, April 27. — Saved on the brink of a watery grave was the good fortune of Miss Ethel Conway yesterday at the rapids at the foot of Quarry Lake, where she and her cousin, Mr. Nicholson of California, were upset from a canoe. A drowning accident was only averted by the assistance of Mr. William Selkirk, who, together with his sister, had just passed over the old dam in a canoe.

The young people left the village about 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon to enjoy a pleasant sail up the Indian River and on Quarry Lake. Mr. Selkirk negotiated the rapids successfully, which at this time of the year are particularly rough, and had gone about one hundred yards above, when the canoe in which were Mr. Nicholson and Miss Conway, turned turtle, and both were upset into the small cataract.

Boat Carried Away

Mr. Nicholson succeeded in getting his friend over the boat and held her above water while the craft floated down stream with the current.

Grabbing at the limb of a tree under which the two were passing, the young man misjudged the results, and the two were again precipitated into the swift current. Miss Conway sank to the bottom, but in the meantime, Mr. Selkirk had landed his sister on shore above the dam and came to the rescue.

A Timely Arrival

Without getting out of his boat he was able to reach the drowning girl, who had risen to the surface, and took her safely to land. Her companion was able to swim, and also made the shore in safety. Miss Conway was in the water about fifteen minutes. She is a dressmaker and is employed by Mr. A. F. Choate in his departmental store.

DUMMER YOUTH DROWNED IN A WELL THAT WAS BEING EXCAVATED BY HIS FATHER

Examiner Special.

Norwood, April 27.—A very sad accident occurred last week at the home of Mr. James H. Murphy, 7th line of Dummer, when his son, Gordon, aged about five years, was drowned in a well which Mr. Murphy had started to sink near the house last fall. Mr. Murphy was working in the bush and his wife went out in the afternoon to take him a lunch, leaving the children alone in the house, and on her return found the little boy floating on top of a mass of melting ice and snow in the well. He was lying on his face, partly submerged in the water. The well was within a few inches of being full and the marks around the sides showed that the little fellow had made quite a struggle to get out. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon to the Norwood cemetery, the Rev. James Deeson officiating. The grief-stricken parents have the warmest sympathy of their neighbour ands friends in their trying bereavement.

The Missionary Institute And The Arrangements Made

People are Taking Great Interest in the Institute of First Week in May—The Committees.

WILL BE A FINE EXHIBIT

The Missionary Institute, to be held next week in Peterborough, is a direct outcome of the mass meeting of Young People's organizations of Peterborough, held in Knox Church during the first week in March. As a result of Tov. Mr. Armstrong's address on the Young People's Missionary movement, it was decided that it would be a fruitful means of missionary education and stimulation if an institute were held in Peterborough. A committee was appointed at the close of that meeting to look into the matter and arrange for committees from the different churches to prepare for the institute.

The Young People's Missionary movement is an international affair, with headquarters at New York, and a council for the United States and one ford Canada. The local committee has had the co-operation of the Canadian Council, and a number of the speakers that are to be present at the institute have been suggested by the Canadian Council.

The local committee has been divided into several branches. There is a billeting and delegate committee, whose duties are to secure delegates and to arrange for their entertainment while in the city.

An exhibition committee has been appointed to arrange ford the splendid exhibition of mission material and curios, which will be held in St. John's Sunday School room. A programme committee is arranging the details of the meetings. The publicity committee is endeavouring to bring the matter of the institute before the committee. It is expected that as a result of these efforts a most successful institute will be held in Peterborough.

Immigration Of Scotch Farmers Is Not Very Brisk

According to reports received from Scotland, there is not the large number of skilled farmers desiring to come to Canada this year. At this time, in 1907, there were large numbers seeking positions in Canada. Mr. Geo. H. Howson, Government Immigration Agent, has received a letter from MacKay Bros., & Co., of Edinburgh, that they cannot fill the list which he sent them, asking for skilled Scotch farmers. They wrote Mr. Howson, explaining that there were not many of the class he desired, who wished to come to Canada. It is wished to come to Canada.

Judgment Given In Favour Of The Canadian General

In the Division Court on Friday a judgment was given which is of interest, both to employers and workmen.

Some time ago the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, had occasion to have several of their employees arrested for petty pilfering. In one case the accused was acquitted. However, the company retained from his wages the value of the material that had come from their factory. The party sued the company for this material as well as the labour put on the same by the accused while he was working in the factory, and on Friday the company obtained a judgment against the party for the value of material and labour in full.

Scaffold Canted And Three Men Were Thrown To The Ground

J. Kirby, a brick layer, employed in the construction of the new Armouries, was the victim of an accident while at work this morning, that might have resulted more seriously than it did. He was working with a couple of other men, on a scaffold about fifteen feet above the ground. A quantity of bricks placed on the scaffold caused the structure to cant, and the three men were thrown off and fell to the ground. Kirby, striking on his head and sustaining a scalp wound. He was picked up by J. A. Guerin and others, and Dr. Frederick summoned and attended to his injuries, which was not as serious as was thought at first. The injured man, who boards at the Munro house, was enabled to go to work this afternoon.

A "STRAIGHT, CLEAN FIGHT"

Mr. Bradburn, the Conservative candidate for West Peterborough, does not show any undue anxiety to reply to and meet Mr. Gillespie's proposal for coming to a mutual agreement for conducting the coming election in a fair, straightforward and clean manner. Up to the hour of going to press Mr. Gillespie has not heard from Mr. Bradburn in reference to the proposal in question. Mr. Bradburn told Mr. Gillespie that his Mr. Bradburn's) desire was for "a straight, clean election." Mr. Gillespie, more than a week ago, wrote to Mr. Bradburn, proposing a formal agreement, which would bind both parties to bring about this result. Why is Mr. Bradburn holding off? If he does not meet Mr. Gillespie's proposal, founded upon Mr. Bradburn's own expressed desire, the people must conclude that the candidate in professing a desire for "a clean, straight fight," was, in the expressive language of the street, merely "putting up a bluff," and that he is unwilling to bind himself to conducting a clean, straight fight. Let us hear from Mr. Bradburn without any more suspicious delay.

WHAT IS THE DEFENCE?

The Conservative Government in this Province, after three short years of office, will soon be on trial. Among the features of its administration which it will have difficulty in defending are:

The administration of justice in the Orangeville case.

The exposures in the license investigation in Toronto.

The dismissal of civil servants for partizan ends.

The introduction of the odious system of investigation by Government commissioners.

The Canadian Northern Guarantee of $2,500,000.

The grant of $130,000 to the Larose mine proprietors.

These are all issues of moment, and are being urged by Liberal and independent journals against the Government. No amount of explaining on the part of supporters of the administration will free it from responsibility in connection with these incidents. The Government must accept the situation with its attendant results.—Brantford Expositor.

STRATHCONA AND THE ALL-RED LINE.

London Advertiser.

The recent address of Lord Strathcona before the Royal Colonial Institute in London on the All-Red Route has attracted much attention in England. Lord Strathcona's contention that such a service would improve the communication between the mother country and the Dominion and enable the more rapid carrying of mails and passengers between the two countries, even opponents of the scheme will not dispute. Then, too, it would draw a certain portion of Canadian travel which now passes by way of New York back to its proper channel, and by its geographical advantages and quicker service to the United States secure many American passengers and some of the mail traffic to western points. A faster service to New Zealand and Australia would also be provided, the saving in time to the former being at least ten days. The utilising of an alternative route to the east, is another important advantage. The scheme would strengthen Britain's position in the Atlantic and furnish additional armed cruisers to aid in keeping the route open in time of war; assist in giving Britain control of the Pacific trade, which may pass out of her hands if the route is not utilized; provide armed cruisers in the Pacific; be available for the conveyance of troops and supplies to the east and less liable to interruption than any other route; bring the mother country and colonies into closer touch with each other and help the consolidation of the Empire; supplement the Pacific cable to Australia, which is under joint government control, and, finally, supplement other steamship routes and assist the commercial expansion of the different parts of the Empire as well as lead to extra travel.

Lord Strathcona is convinced that Canada, Australia and New Zealand want the proposed service and that the mother country is in sympathy with the movement. While there are difficulties in the way, he does not believe them to be insurmountable. He does not think the subsidies required will be as large as has been stated. The objection that it is unfair to set up state-aided competition with existing enterprise, his lordship answers by saying that it need not be assumed that it is necessary to form a new company or companies. If an arrangement were possible among existing companies by which the present service on both the Atlantic and Pacific can be improved they would certainly be able to make out a strong case for special consideration. The sole object is the improvement of the means of communication between the different parts of the Empire by taking advantage of an alternative route which has not been utilized to the extent its importance deserves and the interest of the Empire requires. Moreover, the new route would create a traffic and a trade of its own. Lord Strathcona believes that in time it will become self-supporting, but it needs state help at the outset. If left to private enterprise it might, he says, take years before it is brought into being, while there would always be the chance of a foreign bid for commercial supremacy on the seas of the Empire.

PART IN FIELD CROPS COMPETITION

East Peterborough Agricultural Society's Application Accepted.

Norwood, April 27.—Mr. J. E. Roxburgh, secretary of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, has received notice from the Department of its acceptance of the society's application to participate in the competition in standing field crops. Oats have been selected as the cereal. The competition is open to the members of the society, and substantial prizes are to be offered. The particulars regarding the objects of the competition, together with the regulations governing the same have previously been published. It is to be hoped there will be a large number of entries, as the educative value of this contest will be worth far more than any monetary consideration. The individual entries must be in before June 1.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT IN STOCK MARKET

Prominent Happenings During Week in Financial World.

Examiner Special.

New York, April 27.—There were three far-reaching and important happenings last week in the financial world. First was the announcement of the $40,000,000 bond issue of the Pennsylvania Railroad. $20,000,000 to be issued here and $20,000,000 to be sold in London and Paris. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the local bankers, announced at the close of the week that the subscription books for the $20,000,000 reserved for this country, would be closed before April 27th, as already nearly $20,000,000 subscriptions had been received. The success of the issue is, therefore, assured, and the effort of the announcement was world-wide, as it shows that American investors still have confidence in American securities.

Another important occurrence was the advance of 40 points in the stock of the Standard Oil Company. This stock is up 80 points since April 1, and 220 points since the October panic. This is an appreciation in the capital stock of the company of $220,000,000. The advance in financial circles, is interpreted to mean that the Rockfeller - Rogers - Stillman - Frick crowd is once more hopeful, and believe that business improvement is near, and advances in the prices of stocks certain. This idea resulted in sharp advances in all issues traded in on the New York and Consolidated Stock Exchanges, and Union Pacific, United States Steel and numerous other issues made new high records for the year.

THE "MERRY WIDOW" IN OTHER CITIES

Rochester Scribe's Contribution to the Chief Millinery Question.

As the librettist puts it:—
Woman, woman, source of all our bliss,
Woman, woman, heaven in your kiss,
The queen upon her throne,
The maiden in her dairy,
In one thing they're alike,
They're both contrary.

And it may be that it is this very contrariness that is responsible for their bizarre millinery fads. They know that mere man doesn't admire big hats. Consequently this spring they are wearing hats as big as they can get them. They are Gargantuan creations. The brims are enormous, the crowns altitudinous, and the bobbing feathers are as expansive as a buzzard's wing. And the colours! Green and blue jostle for place on the same brim; pinks and reds fight for position; there are clusters of grapes or cherries or peaches or apples or grapefruit; there are roses and thistles and banks of violets. Some of the hats look like miniature roof-gardens, while others have the appearance of a Japanese joss house. At any rate, these Merry Widow hats are not pretty—at least from the point of view of mere man, for all men are not Venias or Gibson girls; and, as is usually the case, the women who would look becoming in them do not wear them and the women who don't look becoming in them do, all of which is another illustration of the contrariness of the sex.—Rochester Post.

A LONG LIFE

How to Conserve Every and Prolong Life.

The time comes to everyone when the life forces begin to fail. It is a little harder to climb a hill or walk up stairs. Exercise is taken less vigourously or abandoned, and we feel that the end of active service is drawing near.

It is more than probable that we have been over-driving the machine of the body, which will give out like any machine, if overtaxed, and we should immediately take steps to change the gear, build up the strength and restore the life forces.

To this end nothing equals our delicious cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol, which is far superior to all other tonics and cod liver preparations because it is made by a scientific, extractive, concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body-builder and strength-creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

Try it on our offer to return your money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, Druggists, also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough, Ont.

The Chief was not ready to go on and asked to have the case enlarged until Wednesday next. Bail was granted for the prisoner on two securities of $250 each, or one from himself of $400.

WEDDING BELLS

WAGAR-JONES

A very quiet, but pretty wedding, took place in Manvers township at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jones, on Wednesday afternoon, April 22nd, at 3 o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Ola, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Herbert Wagar, of Fenelon township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. McCulloh, of Omemee. The bride was given away by her father, and was assisted by her sister, Alice M., and Mr. Wesley Wagar, brother of groom, acted as best man. The bride was attired in a blue travelling suit. The happy couple left on the 8.30 train to visit friends East, and on their return will take up their residence in Fenelon township.

WEBBER-EATON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday at the Park street Baptist parsonage, by the Rev. A. H Brace, when Ethel May Eaton, of Wescott street, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Geo. Webber, of Toronto. The bride wore a light striped ladies cloth, tailor made suit with hat to match, which was very becoming. She was attended by Miss Violet Eaton, while Mr. Jas. Collins assisted the groom.
Mr. and Mrs. Webber will reside at Niagara Falls, Ont.

THE WISDOM OF BURNS, THE BOXER

His Theory of Being a Good Fellow Fully Outlined.

London, April 27.—"It is not true," said Tommy Burns, champion heavyweight of the world, "that I am about to purchase the late Duke of Devonshire's mansion in Piccadilly. This much I will say, that if the easy things continue to roll in as fast as they have done since I struck these hospitable shores I will soon have money enough to buy any of the fancy English palaces that may be on the market.

"As it is, I have money enough now to make me independent for life, and what is more, I propose to hang on to it. When I get through with fighting I don't want any benefit to save me from the soup house. I've got mine now, and all the slaps on the back and the bull con handshakes and 'he's a good fellow' won't get it away from me. I've seen too many in my game down and out and passed up by the people they made money for and spent it on to be taken in by the 'hot air.'

"My theory of being a good fellow, is to be good to yourself and your family first. My motto is the old one—'a man's best friend is his pocketbook.'"

Jim Harrison Also Expresses Appreciation of the Work of His Trainer

Jim Harrison, the game local walker, who finished third in the walking race, wishes to express his appreciation of the way he was looked after by his trainer, Jack Murphy, who, he states, did everything in his power for him. Mr. Harrison also wishes to thank the management of the Y. M. C. A. for their kindness in allowing him the use of their track for training purposes. Had they not done so, he says, then he would have been unable to start in the race, as he had no other chance of getting into hype for the contest.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer ONE HUNDRED Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The checker championship just concluded indicates that there has been no falling off in interest in the game and that the quality of play is as high as of yore. The winner, J. L. Garvin, is a university mathematician and went through the tournament without a defeat. Many will ask, is he of the calibre of the late Mr. Fleming, the consensus of opinion being that the new champion would probably prove a good match for Markham's famous draught expert. The score shows that while the final players belong to Toronto, two men from the late Mr. Fleming's home are contesting for second prize, Messrs. Featherstone and Lawrie. — Toronto World.

TRAFFIC RESUMED ON CHEMONG BRIDGE

Ice Went Out on Saturday Night—Danger Is Passed.

All danger of the destruction of the Chemong Bridge is now at end. The ice disappeared from the lake on Saturday night and yesterday's high wind therefore did no damage by driving the ices of ice against the bridge. The warm weather of the last few days of the week was responsible for the passing of the ice and possibly the saving of the bridge.
Traffic was resumed across it yesterday as usual.

SOME CANADA LIFE PROMOTIONS

Men Who Have Made Good With That Well Known Business.

PROMINENT HAMILTONIANS

The marked growth of the Canada Life's business in recent years, and the death of Mr. R. Hills, who so long and ably filled the office of secretary, have made necessary a reorganization of the official staff of the company, and the people of Hamilton will be glad to note that in almost every instance where a promotion has taken place the office has been filled by a member of the old Hamilton staff of the Canada Life. So much has been said as to progress of Canadians in the United States that it is refreshing occasionally to hear of the success of Canadians in their own country.

Announcement was recently made of the appointment to be joint manager, of Mr. Frank Sanderson, the company's actuary, after seventeen years' service, a number of which were spent at the head office of the company when located in Hamilton. A further announcement is now made of important promotions to a number of other old Hamiltonians.

Mr. A. Gillespie, assistant secretary, who was well known for many years throughout Canada as a leading cricketer and a member of a number of international teams, has been promoted, after thirty years' service, to the important office of secretary of the company.

Mr. J. K. McMaster, who has been with the company over twenty-five years, and who, after filling the post of chief clerk in the actuary's department for a number of years, has been manager of the company's literature and advertising department since 1900, now becomes chief inspector of agencies and editor of the company's literature.

Mr. G. Denholm Burns, who for eight years has been chief accountant at the company's head office, becomes emanager of the important central Ontario branch, with headquarters at Hamilton. Mr. Burns, who is very well known to Hamiltonians, joined the company as a junior about 1880, and has steadily risen in the service until now he receives this important appointment. Doubtless he will fill it with credit to himself and satisfaction to his company. It is understood that Mr. Burns will take up his new duties about the first of May, and he will have the cooperation of Mr. Geo. E. Gates, secretary of the branch, whose personal popularity and knowledge of the company have done much to further its interests in Hamilton in recent years.

Mr. David Kidd, who is retiring from the exacting duties of branch manager after forty-two years' connection with the company, has built up a large business in and about Hamilton, and this will doubtless be largely augmented under the new arrangement.

Mr. C. R. Acres, who has been with the company for twenty years, has for several years been cashier at the company's head office. He has made a special study of the course of the chartered accountants of Ontario, and has thus equipped himself for the important post of chief accountant, to which he has been appointed.

Mr. C. W. Ricketts, also a well-known old Hamiltonian, assumes the duties of cashier at the head office, a post for which his long experience and integrity should admirably qualify him.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the offices of joint general manager, secretary, chief inspector of agencies, chief accountant, and cashier, besides an important branch managership, are all being filled by members of the old Hamilton staff.

A number of other old Hamiltonians have also risen to positions of trust and responsibility in the company's service, amongst them being Mr. W. E. Brown, son of Mr. Adam Brown, head of the policy department, and Mr. A. E. Ferrie, chief clerk of the treasurer's department. In addition to these, there are on the company's head office staff a number of younger Hamilton boys, who doubtless, as opportunity offers, will have fitted themselves for promotion.

It is indeed gratifying that in an institution which so long was identified with our good city, the old members of the staff, who were taken with it when it removed to a larger sphere, have been given ample opportunity by the management to prove their worth; and, as the foregoing list of promotions indicate, have demonstrated that to the directors.—Hamilton Times.

HORSE'S FOOT STUCK ON CROSS BAR

Caught There After Dashboard Was Kicked In.

A peculiar accident occurred on Saturday evening in Otonabee, just opposite the Cold Springs Grocery Store, but was fortunately followed by no serious results. A colt owned and driven by Mr. John Waldie, suddenly began to kick and succeeded in making a split in the dash board, which will need repairs. The young animal was, however, unsuccessful in getting one of its hind legs back from behind the cross bar as easily as it might have done. It negotiated on three legs for some distance until a stop was made and the horse's foot lifted off the cross bar.

Three Lodges Of The I.O.O.F. Attend St. John's In A Body

Profitable and Practical Sermon Preached by the Rev. Canon Davidson—Outlined the Duty of a Christian.

ORDERS' FINE APPEARANCE

The united Peterborough Lodge No. 111, Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and Golden Link Rebekah Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows attended divine service at St. John's Church last night, about two hundred members being present. The members of the Rebekah Lodge assembled in St. John's Sunday school room and marched to the church, occupying the front central pews. The members of the Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges marched from their rooms on George street, presenting a splendid appearance along the line of parade to St. John's. The seating capacity of the church was considerably overtaxed by the large assembly that took part in the beautiful service, and listened to a most profitable sermon.

The Sermon

Rev. Canon Davidson, on behalf of the congregation of St. John's Church, extended a cordial welcome to the visiting lodges and complimented them on their splendid showing. He also paid a tribute to the progress made by Oddfellowship and the great amount of good that had been done in assisting widows and orphans of deceased members.

He chose his text from the first epistle of St. Peter, 2; 17,—"Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the King." This time-worn but valuable and dear message, he said, was a brief compendium of a Christian's duty. Some men, he continued, do not realize that they have a duty to perform to their fellow men, their country and their God. In point of character they are extremely selfish; their duties they base on their likings, and are consequently swayed by petty opinions, which make the man scarcely worth dealing with. On the other hand, the man who knows his duties and tries to fulfill them is a great asset to the world and to mankind, and is a fine tribute to God. He may make a mistake, but his heart and intentions are in the right direction. This man's character is strengthened and beautified by his efforts to do his duty.

The Only Work

Rev. Canon Davidson said that, after all, this is man's greatest duty. He may not be greeted with worldly applause, nor meet with the success that other men achieve, but in the end he is happy in the knowledge that he has done his best to carry out his work in this respect. He is only an honest man doing his duty. Canon Davidson said that man should honour his fellow man without respect to his position, his wealth or his ability. In the lodge room everyone is given encouragement and a chance to make the most of himself, and in this way he feels his importance and tries to hold himself in the position in which he is placed. In this way he acquires a dignity, a refinement and bearing which is due to his connection with the members of his lodge. Rev. Canon Davidson remarked that he hoped the Oddfellows would let the splendid training of the lodge room fit them more for the fellowship of the church, in which there were many opportunities of lending a helping hand.

Canon Davidson briefly referred to the duty to the Crown, stating that the members realized this, as they have shown by their patriotism and by the realization of their duty in this regard. He dwelt on the fear of God. Men, he said, seem to think that He is an easy-going Person Who will pardon everything man does, and Who can be approached as an ordinary individual. In comparison, Canon Davidson emphasized the majesty and holiness of God, and said that we should approach Him with the humility, fear and awe that is His due. The society of Oddfellows recognize the majesty and glory of God, and the fact is noticeable by the manner in which the members conduct themselves when in church. Canon Davidson said that the more they carry out this the stronger will they fashion men's souls for approaching God in a proper manner.

At a meeting of the Oddfellows in their lodge room after returning from church, a vote of thanks was passed to the wardens of St. John's for the privilege of assisting in the beautiful service, and also to Rev. Canon Davidson for his able sermon and the inspiring manner in which he had delivered his message to them. The choir of St. John's was also remembered, the music being appropriate and of a special character. A vote of thanks was tendered the Rebekah Lodge for attending, in company with the Peterborough and Otonabee Orders. Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller, who as marshal was largely responsible for the fine appearance made in the marching, was thanked in a similar manner. He stated that it was a pleasurable honour to marshal the Oddfellows, since during his rather long experience in this regard the men fully realized what they were to do, and but little was required from himself. Quite a number of visiting members were present at the church service.

The Death Of A Prominent Citizen Of Smith Township

Mr. Jas. H. Mann of Bridgenorth Passes Away on Sunday Morning

FUNERAL ON TUESDAY

The following account of the death of Mr. James H. Mann of Bridgenorth has been handed the Examiner:

After several years of more or less severe conflict with the ills of this life, death at last claimed another victim, and the home of "Oakwood Farm," Bridgenorth, has once more been visited by death, that parter of friends. On two previous occasions when death entered the home, sons were taken. On this occasion, however, the head of the family was claimed. In the quiet morning hours, when the church-goers, among whom the deceased was always found, were assembled for worship, the spirit of Mr. James H. Mann winged its flight to Him Who gave it, and left behind the broken piece of clay which had been its habitation for almost 66 years.

Mr. Mann was born in the township of Smith on July 22, 1842, and, with the exception of four years spent in Ennismore, had lived in Smith, and was actively associated with the agricultural progress of the township for many years. On December 1, 1869, he married Martha Garbutt, daughter of the late Isaac Garbutt, of Lakefield, who survives him. This union was blessed with a large family, seven of which are now living. The daughters are Mrs. Cockburn (Laura) of "The Maples," Smith, and Ida at home. The sons are Isaac of Medora, Man.; Harry, of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute; Aaron, of Regina, Sask., and Thomas and Garbutt at home. With the exception of the two in the West, all were at their father's bedside when he died.

For years the deceased had been a sufferer from kidney trouble. Although he had undergone a couple of operations, which undoubtedly prolonged his life and gave temporary relief, yet the disease could not be entirely eradicated. All that medical skill could do was done, and the family and immediate friends could not speak too highly of the kind, skilful and sympathetic attendance of Dr. J. A. Morgan of Peterborough, who was the medical attendant of the deceased and untiring in his efforts to promote recovery.

Mr. Mann's mother, Mrs. James Mann, Sr., of Smith, an old lady of almost 90 years, was at his bedside, and witnessed the first break in her family of three sons and four daughters, the deceased being the oldest son.

Mr. Mann, although by nature possessed of a quiet, retiring disposition, took an interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of the township in which he lived. Although he took an active part, yet he ever stood up for the best in everything, thus winning a host of warm friends, many of whom mourn his death very keenly. In religion the deceased was a staunch Baptist, and a member of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, of which church he was clerk for a period of thirty years. When younger, he was Bible class teacher in the Methodist Sunday school of Bridgenorth.

In politics Mr. Mann was a Liberal, and a subscriber of the Examiner for forty years.

The funeral service will take place at the family residence, "Oakwood Farm," Bridgenorth, on Tuesday April 28, 1908, at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, after which the remains will be borne to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

SHOULD PATRONIZE LOCAL ORCHESTRA

Bank Clerk Complains That Outside Musicians are Given the Preference

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Allow me to draw attention through your valued columns to the treatment the Opera House Orchestra have received by different individuals, clubs and societies, when they held a dance. In most cases the orchestra has been entirely ignored and an orchestra of foreign musicians were brought from an outside city to add prestige to the dance. I have been at most of these dances and attended the Orchestra dance on Friday night and can safely say that our local musicians furnish as good, if not better, music than the other musical aggregations that have visited the city.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours truly,

A BRILLIANT RECITAL BY A BRILLIANT YOUNG ARTIST

Given at the Conservatory of Music Saturday Night.

The many persons who assisted at the pianoforte recital, given in the Conservatory of Music Hall, on Saturday night, were not only delightfully surprised, but delightfully entertained by the strenuous programme presented by Miss Gladys Seward, the fourteen-year-old pupil of Mrs. Alice Roger Collins. As an exhibition of juvenile virtuosity it was simply surprising. The young artiste—for she plays with an aplomb and remarkably agile and facile technique, conjoined with a musicianly intelligence and interpretation seldom seen in an amateur even advanced years and acquirement—performs like an artist. Though her performance may properly be called child playing, it was by no means child's play. Her recital repertoire included pieces by Beethoven, Moszkowski, Chopin, Schumann and Tschaikowsky. The young performer's touch has an assured firmness, with good round tone. The Chopin Ballade op 47, was beautifully sung, while the companion to the suit, the same master's, Nocturne, Op 9, No. 1, was also played with a nice knowledge of its spirit. Apart from her brilliant technical cleverness her virile touch was a distinction, her tours de force of being simply astounding. Miss Seward's musical memory is also wonderful. She performed a programme of six heroic numbers, including the three whole movements of Beethoven's Sonata, op 53, Schumann's Carnival, op 9, and Tschaikowsky's Valse Caprice, op 4, entirely from memory, without a note in sight. The performance of two numbers, a Hummel Concerto and Chaminade's Valse Carnavalesque for two pianos, Mrs. Roger-Collins, taking the second piano, was delightfully effective, especially in the orchestral suggestiveness and unison richness of the latter number. Gladys Seward's playing was enthusiastically applauded and with desert. She is a remarkable clever pianiste for her years, and would be for even maturer years. In Germany she would be called a wunder-kind—a musical prodigy. With diligent and well directed study she will make a great artiste; for she possesses the prime qualifications—the musical spirit and temperament of her late father—she is a daughter of the late Lewis Seward—a great musical memory, surprising skill of execution, an artistic understanding, a robust physique and the real piano hand. Great credit is due Mrs. Roger-Collins for the success she has achieved in the child's development.

During the evening, Miss Mona O'Shea, a very promising soprano, sang with much taste and in a voice of much sweetness and flexibility two charming solos, these, however, varying from the programme, which is given below to show the nature of the work set for the young pianiste to do, and which she did with credit to both her clever self and her clever teacher:

Beethoven. Sonate op 53; Allegro con brio, Adagio Molto, Allegretto Moderato. 0

Moszkowski, Scherzo Valse op 40.

Chaminade, L'Etc: Miss O'Shea.

Hummel from Allegro Moderato, Concerto op 35; 2nd piano, Mrs. Collins.

Sinding; (a) Canto funebre op 62, No. 2; (b) Scherzetto op 62, No. 3.

Chopin; (a) Nocturne op 9, No. 1; (b) Ballade op 47.

Chaminade, Valse Carnavalesque, for two pianos, op 73; 2nd piano, Mrs. Collins.

Cherubini, Ave Maria; Miss O'Shea.

Schumann, Carnival Op 9; Preambule, Pierrot, Arlequin Valse Noble, Eusebius, Florestan Coquette.

Tschaikowsky, Valse Caprice, op 4.

A DAY IN FLOWERDOM

The pretty operetta, "A Day in Flowerdom" for which 150 of the popular young folk of Peterborough have been training for some time, under the able leadership of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, will be presented on Wednesday next. The libretto is from the pen of Jesse A. Moore and the music is the work of Geo. Spaulding, the well known composer. The music is very pretty and the songs and choruses are of extraordinary merit. The cast includes such well known local entertainers as Miss Mona O'Shea in the leading role as Flora, Queen of Flowerdom and Mr. Herbert Rush in the leading male role as Mayor of Rose Arbour. These are ably supported by Misses Grace Todd, Geraldine Rudkins, Nellie Hallahan, Josie Callender, Pearl Morgan, Ethel Morrison, Jessie Cressman, Margaret Sanderson, Messrs. Jas. O'Brien, Alex. Fortye and a pretty chorus of 150 little girls.

CLOSING OF THE EASTER FESTIVAL AT ST. JOHN'S

Music of a Special Character—Solo by Mr. Chandler.

The Easter festival came to an end at St. John's church yesterday morning, the choral matins being splendidly rendered by the choir, and Barnby's anthem, "Christ Is Risen," was beautifully sung. A special feature of the morning service was the singing of the Psalms, which were chanted accurately and in beautifully balanced tone. The evening service, which was crowded on the occasion of the Oddfellows' attendance, was of a hearty character. Mr. Geo. Chandler sang the solo, "Be Thou Faithful Unto death," from "St. Paul" (Mendelssohn). Both solo and organ accompaniments were faultlessly rendered. Mr. Chandler's fine voice being heard to great advantage.

A SUCCESSFUL THREE WEEKS' CAMPAIGN

For the C. O. C. F.—130 Candidates Initiated.

Peterborough Council, No. 423, C. O. C. F. has established a record to be proud of.

During the three weeks campaign conducted by Organizer H. S. Davy and his enthusiastic and energetic son, they have initiated no less than 130 candidates.

Friday night's meeting, April 24th, was the largest ever held in Peterborough, fully 300 being present, 75 candidates were initiated and fully instructed into the mysteries of the order, the largest class ever initiated at one time here.

Some of our members were very anxious that our Council should be increased; others thought that not much could be done at the present time.

However, when Organizer H. S. Davy had delivered his magnetic speech, the tide turned and all the members with one accord gave him their hearty support, thus crowning his efforts with great success.

In fact, the members were so much enthused that a resolution was passed extending an invitation to Organizer Davy to pay Peterborough Council another visit in the near future.

During the contest the rivalry between the members was keen, exciting and amusing, but the very best harmony and good feeling prevailed.

Refreshments were served by the ladies, during which a short programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered.

Farewell speeches were made by Organizers H. S. and H. M. Davy, thus bringing to an end one of the most successful and pleasant meetings in the history of the Order.

MAPLE SYRUP PLENTIFUL TO-DAY

Farmers Offered It at a Lower Price Than Usual

There was plenty of maple syrup on the market Saturday, at $1.20 and $1.25 per gallon. It was all apparently the pure extract, and Redpath's XXX. was surely absent. There was an abundance of apples at a low figure, and the whole market had an after-Easter, easy nature.

There were many young pigs offered for sale at from $4.50 to $5 per pair.

Prices were as follows:

Dressed Hogs	7 00
Live Hogs	6 15
Hay, bale		to	20 00

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

CANADIAN WHO HAS MADE GOOD

Death of Byron Nugent in St. Louis—A Great Mercantile Genius.

A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Canada's sons are making themselves known in other countries and among the most prominent in the mercantile line was Byron Nugent, born in Picton township, whose death is chronicled in the last issue of The Furnisher, of New York. It says:

In the death of Byron Nugent, the Middle West has lost another of its great mercantile geniuses who have done so much to build up the dry goods business in the large cities of that section. After a successful career extending a third of a century as one of the leading retail merchants of the country, Mr. Nugent died on Saturday, April fourth, at his home in St. Louis at 29 Westmoreland Place, after a five months' struggle against Bright's disease.

Mr. Nugent was born July 31, 1842, in Marysburg, Prince Edward County, Canada, and received his early education in Picton, Canada, and at Victoria College in Cobourg, both of which are just across Lake Ontario from Rochester, N.Y. In 1863 he entered Robert Currie's dry goods store in St. Thomas, two years later removing to New York to complete his store education with the house of Lord & Taylor, at that time in its downtown location and one of the largest houses of its kind in the country.

In 1867 Mr. Nugent and his brother Morgan went west and after serving in several responsible positions bought a store in Mount Vernon, Ill. In 1871 his brother died and two years later Byron Nugent returned to St. Louis, taking the store of James Barron at Broadway and Franklin avenue. After five years the establishment moved to 817 North Broadway, and these quarters were twice enlarged; and in 1889 the present establishment was acquired at Broadway, Washington avenue and St. Charles street. Mr. Nugent has been the active head of the business ever since its founding.

He was also active in civic affairs and interested in numerous charitable institutions. He belonged to the St. Louis, Mercantile, Noonday and St. Louis Country Clubs. He took great pride in the commercial development of St. Louis and was among the leaders in the work of pushing the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to a successful conclusion in 1904.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday, April seventh, and the department store of the B. Nugent & Bro. Dry Goods Company was closed for two days, the other stores of St. Louis closing also on the day of the interment as a tribute to his memory, as Mr. Nugent was a universally respected and admired public citizen. Mrs. Nugent and two children survive him, a third, Byron, Jr., having died a little over a year ago. He is also survived by six brothers and a sister.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with Indigestion—are compelled "to diet"—find that after eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

SCORE OF BRITISH TARS DROWNED

Terrible Collision Off the Needles in Blinding Snow Storm.

TWENTY-ONE LIVES LOST

Big Liner Rams Cruiser Gladiator—Warship Sank in a Few Minutes—Splendid Discipline on Board—Good Lookout Was Being Kept—The Snow Storm Was Worse Than Dense Channel Fog.

Portsmouth, Eng., April 27.—The admiral commanding the Portsmouth station has issued a list of the victims of the collision between the cruiser Gladiator and the American liner St. Paul, off the Isle of Wight on Saturday.

Drowned—Cowdry, first waiter, body recovered; Widgery and Sieberes, stewards.

Injured—One seaman, since died in the Golden Hill hospital; seven injured in hospital.

Missing—Lieut. Wm. P. Graves, five petty officers and fifteen seamen and stokers.

Passengers were assured by the officers who hurried among them directly the boats came together that there was no danger, but the condition of the steamer's bows, disclosed as she lies at the dock, shows that she had a very narrow escape from meeting the same fate as the Gladiator. As it was the St. Paul was more seriously damaged than at first supposed. She shipped a great quantity of water through her broken plates, and from the moment she backed away from the wrecked cruiser until she reached her wharf in this port, all her pumps were kept going to their full capacity.

The damaged bows of the St. Paul indicate that she forced her nose at least twenty feet through the cruiser's side, but fortunately the greatest damage she received, was above the waterline. The bow post was buckled, while the plates on both the port and starboard bows were crushed in and gaping cracks extend along the side. Just along the water line, the paint had been scraped away, but from that point downward there is no apparent damage, although the bolt must have started, which would account for the water pouring into her hold.

Captain Passow, and the first, third and fourth officers were on the bridge with pilot Geo. Boyer, the American company's regular pilot, at the time of the accident and the closest lookout was being kept, two men being stationed in the bow and two in the crows nest. Both a channel and a French pilot also were aboard, but, of course, they were not on duty."

Neither Captain Passow nor any of his officers would discuss the accident, preferring to wait until they can submit their reports to the proper officials. It is learned, however, that Captain Passow is sorely grieved at the disaster, this being his first serious mishap.

The snow was falling so thickly that it was impossible to see a yard ahead; it was far worse than the thickest fog. The weather had cleared before the St. Paul had left her dock, but snow commenced to fall again as soon as the Solent was reached. It was then impossible to stop, as a very strong tide was running which might have carried the steamer on the rocks. The only alternative was to go ahead and keep the closest lookout, and this, as he explained, was done.

The St. Paul, which left Southampton on her regular voyage, bound for New York, Saturday afternoon in a dense snowstorm, rammed and destroyed the British second-class cruiser Gladiator off the Isle of Wight.

The first reports stated that from twenty to thirty of the Gladiator's crew had been drowned.

The St. Paul left Southampton at 12.30 o'clock. She was an hour behind her usual time of sailing, the delay being due to the belated arrival of the passenger train, which was blocked by snow drifts on the trip from London. The weather was comparatively clear in Southampton waters, but immediately the St. Paul turned into the Solent, which runs parallel to the Isle of Wight, she encountered a terrific snow blizzard.

Capt. Passow and his chief officer, with the American line's regular pilot, were on the bridge, and a lookout man was posted in the bow. Suddenly a ship appeared immediately in front of them. It was the Gladiator, or an armor. Orders were given on the instant for full speed astern in an endeavor to clear the cruiser, but it was too late.

The St. Paul's sharp stem rammed the anchored vessel amidships. She quivered and reeled, and the passengers rushed on deck in great alarm, the women being on the verge of a panic. The officers and crew acted with the greatest coolness, and allayed the terror with as fine a display of discipline as though she were the best-trained man-of-war.

Five lifeboats were lowered within a few minutes to rescue the crew of the Gladiator, which had sustained a death-blow.

The cruiser began to sink almost at once. Her men gave a magnificent demonstration of discipline. At the captain's command they formed in line on the deck and stood in ranks while the cruiser settled down.

In obedience to orders, successive batches marched to the gangways and entered the St. Paul's boats, until practically the whole crew had been taken off and landed at Yarmouth, on the Isle of Wight.

The Gladiator's crew numbered 450 men, and Capt. Walter Lumsden, true to naval traditions, was the last to leave his ship. Only a few men then were missing, and it was thought that most of them had been saved by a boat which had put out from Yarmouth.

Capt. Lumsden, on landing, at once sent a message to Capt. Passow, thanking him for his promptitude in lowering boats, and speaking in the most complimentary terms of the conduct of the St. Paul's seamen.

The Gladiator soon settled down. Only her upper works are now visible. The St. Paul returned to Southampton, and her passengers were put ashore, seeking accommodations at the various hotels. They will sail by the Teutonic on Wednesday, special arrangements having been made by the American company.

The fact that the St. Paul sustained no worse damages than a badly twisted bow and a comparatively small hole on her port side is the most remarkable feature of the whole occurrence.

ACTRESS HAS CLOSE CALL.

Received Poisoned Drink But Does Saved Her Life.

New York, April 27.—Shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night a messenger boy appeared at the Colonial Theatre with a package addressed by typewriter to "Marie Dressler, Colonial Theatre." The package was taken to Miss Dressler's room, and when she opened it she thought it contained vermouth.

Miss Dressler and her maid were about to take a drink when the actress got a call for the stage. As she hurried from the room the bottle fell and broke on the floor. Returning about twenty minutes later Miss Dressler found her dog dead, the animal having licked up some of the liquid from the bottle. Miss Dressler was greatly excited, and believed that an attempt had been made to poison her.

The dog's body was greatly swollen. The police were asked to make an investigation.

Death Blow to Free Trade.

London, April 27.—Most of the morning newspapers, in their editorials, regard the defeat of a Cabinet Minister in the citadel of Cobdenism as a disastrous blow to free trade.

The Unionist organs hail the victory of Mr. Joynson-Hicks as sounding the death knell to the present Government, and they include a lecture to the successful candidate for having tried to keep fiscal reform in the background in his campaign.

The Morning Post says: "The death knell of free trade reverberates through the land."

The Daily Telegraph says: "Manchester has rallied to fiscal reform. It is a victory that will resound not only through the country, but throughout the Empire."

Stowaway's Fate.

Halifax, April 27.—Taking a desperate chance for liberty, an unknown stowaway leaped from the deck of the steamship Lake Michigan into the sea when the liner was abreast of Sandwich Point at the mouth of the harbor.

The liner was bound from Halifax to London and the stowaway was being deported. He did not want to return to London, and when the steamer was about half a mile off Sandwich Point, the man sprang to the rail and plunged into the sea in a vain attempt to reach the shore.

The steamer was at once stopped and after searching for half an hour and failing to pick up the man, proceeded on her way.

Two Drownings.

Carlton Place, April 27.—Two drowning accidents occurred here. The first about ten in the morning, when Lorne Thom, aged 16 years, youngest son of W. H. Thom, who was sitting on the high bank of the river, accidently slipped in and was instantly carried into the rapids.

About five in the afternoon as a couple of boys were rowing down the river in a boat they observed what they thought to be a coat floating in the water. They found that the coat covered the lifeless body of William Bremner.

Killed by a Blow.

Montreal, April 27—Xavier Favreau, 65 years of age, was instantly killed as the result of a blow on the head, inflicted during an altercation with a young man named Edward Boldue.

STORM LEAVES RUIN IN ITS WAKE

Tornado in Southern States Was Worst on Record.

FORTY-SIX TOWNS SUFFER

Hundreds of Persons Buried Under Wreckage of Fallen Houses—Dead and Injured Mostly Negroes—Some Remarkable Experiences—Animals Blown Through a House — Dwellings Razed.

New Orleans, April 27.—The totals of death and ruin caused in four southern states by Friday's tornadoes came to hand yesterday in approximately correct form. Briefly stated they are:

Killed, about 350.

Injured, painfully or seriously, 1,200.

Homeless, several thousand.

Towns reporting serious wreckage, 46.

Habitations and business houses practically complete ruins in these towns, about 2,500.

The above figures do not include the wreckage on plantations and farms, scores of which were struck and damaged. The number of dead will never be known accurately for the reason that about 300 of them were negroes and they were buried in many communities without careful returns being made of their numbers.

Apparently the storm struck in three separate currents, each describing the arc of a circle, and traveling to the northeast. The first struck before daybreak Friday morning through Northern Louisiana and Mississippi and passed into Tennessee.

The second appeared further south about 7 o'clock in Central Louisiana and Mississippi. This apparently was the portion of the storm which swept through Alabama and Georgia Friday and Saturday morning.

The third portion appeared during Friday afternoon, further south than either of its predecessors. This was the storm which demolished Amite, La., and Purvis, Miss., the towns in which the wreckage was worst.

Whole blocks of what were formerly little residences and cabins, lie spread over the ground.

Under this mass of wreckage many hundred persons were buried, not one in a hundred escaping without some injury. The houses which thus scattered about were mostly negro inhabitants. The homes of the whites held together better. The photographs show many of them, however, with half the top of the upper half of the structure ripped off leaving below protections which must have saved scores from death.

Along with the accounts of suffering have come many recitals of remarkable experiences of which the following is typical:

At Amite, La., when the tornado appeared there were several persons at the dinner table of Hamilton Warner's home, including three children. The wind in a second tore off two doors on opposite sides of the room, and an astonishing procession of live and inanimate objects began to pass into the room through these doorways.

First came a calf, running before the wind. The animal jumped over the dining table and went out the opposite door. Afterward came a horse, which followed through the exit taken by the calf. The three children sought refuge under the table and no one was injured.

The ruined towns were visited by thousands of spectators, many of whom distributed money among the needy. Sheds made from the wreckage have become the homes of hundreds.

Small parties of men on horseback have gone through the country districts, taking inventories of the assistance needed and rendering aid where it was most necessary.

Survives Terrible Leap.

St. Catharines, April 27.—William Convey, an employe of Taylor & Bates' brewery, made a wild leap from the Grand Trunk trestle at midnight Saturday to Twelve Mile Creek, over 140 feet below.

The man had started on a fishing expedition with a brother-in-law, William McCarthy, and John Roberts. When in the centre of the trestle Convey is said to have pulled off his coat and jumped from the north side of the trestle. He landed on his back in the water. He missed a large number of rocks in the bed of the creek, which is very swift, but only three or four feet deep.

He dragged himself up the steep bank to the railway track and was proceeding home, when he met his companions, who had summoned aid.

Dr. Ratcliffe found that the man had suffered fractures of the collar bone and one arm and several ribs, but despite his desperate jump, recovery is almost certain.

Another Revolution.

Buenos Ayres, April 27.—News has been received here of a serious situation in the Province of Corrientes. The Provincial Chamber of Deputies has approved a motion that the governor of the province be arraigned before a local court on charges of treason, and the press predicts that anarchy may be expected in Corrientes.

Furthermore, a revolutionary outbreak has taken place in the Province of Santiago.

Fleet Can't Come to Canada.

Washington, April 27.—Naval officials say that while they appreciate the invitation of the Canadian Government to have the Atlantic fleet visit Victoria and Vancouver, this will be entirely impracticable owing to the lack of time.

Twenty-Eight Killed.

City of Mexico, April 27.—Twenty-eight persons were killed and 15 seriously injured at Gargartau siding, west of Maltrata, on the main line of the Mexican Railway, Saturday, in a collision between a freight and the second section of a special excursion train bearing pilgrims from the shrine of Guadaloupe. The pilgrims left Mexico City in the morning.

QUEBEC VILLAGE ALMOST WIPED OUT

Terrible Disaster in Quebec Hamlet Near Buckingham.

THIRTY-ONE PERSONS KILLED

Ten Houses Destroyed—Water Blocked by Huge Mass of Earth — Hill Slides Into River Leaving Death and Destruction In Its Train—Eleven Bodies Recovered—Further Damage Threatened.

Ottawa, April 27.—The little village of Notre Dame de la Salette, situated on the Lievre River, 16 miles north of Buckingham, was almost wiped out shortly before daybreak yesterday morning by a landslide, and 31 persons were killed.

A piece of land half a mile wide, and extending 500 yards back from the river, making a hill on the west side of the river, slid out into the Lievre, carrying with it two houses and crushing into a row of five houses on the opposite side.

The river at the point where the disaster occurred is a narrow stream running between towering walls of clay, which rise steeply to a height of probably 60 feet above the river.

The village consisted of 25 houses on both sides of the river, with the greater part on the east, and the row overwhelmed stood right on the brink. Ten of the houses were demolished.

The water is blocked by the huge mass of earth and the river last night had not yet cut a new course through or around, but extends back in a huge lake, threatening further damage.

The slide commenced about 4.30 a.m. on the west side, half a mile north, or up stream from where a family named Lapointe lived, at the top of a hill nearly 60 feet high. A family named Deslauriers also lived on this hill. Mrs. Lapointe and five children were killed. Mrs. Deslauriers and three children are dead.

The two houses disappeared as the land slid across the river, and at once demolished the row of five houses in which resided the proprietors of little farms on the east side.

Among the victims are: Mrs. Joseph Murray and four or five children; Mrs. Adeland Murray and a brother; Mrs. Paul Desjardins and two boys.

Thirty-one were killed and 11 have so far been recovered.

The whole countryside has gone to assist at the rescue and at Masson and Buckingham, Quebec, not a single rig was to be seen; the two towns went up en masse. Twenty-four coffins were sent up from Buckingham.

Notre Dame de la Salette, the scene of the appalling catastrophe, is a little place in East Portland Township, Labelle County, 16 miles north of Buckingham. It is situated on the Lievre River, 18 miles from its confluence with the Ottawa.

The place is surrounded with an agricultural country, following the clearing after lumbering operations, which are still carried on extensively in and adjacent to the locality.

La Salette is seven miles from Poupore, where, on Oct. 11, 1903, another landslide occurred. It is a co-incidence that the slide happened also on a Sunday, and at almost the identical time of this disaster. It was much less serious, for while three farms belonging to Messrs. Braxeau, Clement and McMillan slid into the river, no loss of life resulted. The escapes, however, on that occasion, were miraculous. The Lievre River was completely blocked for a mile, while the Government locks were carried away and navigation impeded for months.

The geological formation of the whole district around there is similar. It is a blue clay, the upper strata of which rests on one of the glacial period. The Laurentian rocks beneath have been polished smooth by glacial activity, and the spring moisture percolating through probably started the movement of the upper strata.

This was the cause of the Poupore landslide and the disaster was probably due to similar conditions.

Brantford Man Killed.

Brantford, April 27.—Jonathan Marshall, aged 57 years, who leaves a wife and family, was killed late on Saturday afternoon at the Western Counties Co.'s power house, where he was foreman. The heavy windstorm which passed over the city tore off a portion of the roof at the power plant. Mr. Marshall went up to remove some debris, which was covered with galvanized iron. This, through the accident, had become highly charged with electricity. When he touched it Mr. Marshall was knocked from his position, falling 30 feet to the cement floor and striking on his head. The side of his head was caved in, and death was instantaneous. Medical examiners state death was due to the fall and not to the shock of electricity. Dr. Ashton, coroner, has ordered an inquest.

Married Men Eloped.

Kingston, April 27.—Alfred Bedour, Bathurst, who eloped with 16-year-old Annie Thompson, has been taken to Perth for trial. The girl has been handed over to her parents. He will face a charge of seduction.

Bedour was a neighbor of the Thompsons, and the prisoner called at the home in the middle of the night and got the girl to go away with him. Bedour is married, but does not live with his wife. He intended to marry the Thompson girl, and his arrest by the Kingston police put a stop to the ceremony.

Fire at Nelson.

Nelson, B.C., April 27.—Part of the city power and light sub-station was destroyed by fire on Saturday. It is supposed that the starting of one of the street cars from the barn caused a collapse of an overheated switch at the sub-station, the bottom blew out and the oil took fire.

The loss to the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. is $12,000, while the joint loss of the city and the tramway company will be another $20,000.

Three Thousand People Saw Finish Of Big Walking Match

Biggest Crowd Ever Assembled in the Brock Street Rink Gathered for the Last Few Hours—Hoagland's Reception.

HE CARRIED TWO FLAGS

Auburn Crack Won by Nearly Nine Miles—Harrison and Blake Were Together All the Way on Saturday.

How They Finished

1—W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y., 189 miles 4 laps.
2—J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N.Y., 180 miles 10 laps.
3—Jas. Harrison, Peterborough, 179 miles, 9 laps.
4—Chas. A. Stevens, Peterborough, 173 miles, 2 laps.
5—Jas. G Graham, Buffalo, N. Y., 162 miles, 2 laps.
6—Chas. Stenner, Warsaw, Ont., 152 miles 9 laps.
7—Ray Fenton, Auburn, N.Y., 137 miles 7 laps.

With a crowd in attendance that filled every portion of the rink, save the narrow track, the six-day walking match, the most successful sporting event ever held in Peterborough, and the biggest pedestrian contest in the history of Canada, was brought to a close on Saturday night. The chief feature of the closing evening was the enormous crowd, the biggest that has ever filed through the doors of the spacious arena, and there have been some big crowds there, too, when Peterborough's hockey team was beating everything in sight. There was a good attendance int he afternoon, but it looked like a handful compared to the gathering at night. At seven o'clock the seats were comfortably filled, but they kept crowding in until the seating accommodation was gone and both east and west sides and the gallery were jammed. Then the management decided to throw the centre of the rink, inside the track, which had previously been reserved for officials, open to the public, and the space there was crowded inside of ten minutes. Then the crowd invaded the track, and the four corners were filled up in a short time, and the wagkers made the circuit through a lane of humanity. The temperature of the building was above summer heat and the air was blue with smoke, but the crowd did not seem to care, and remained to the finish despite their discomfort. It is conservatively estimated that there were over 3,000 people present to see the finish of the race, that has caused such a furore in Peterborough.

Finish not Exciting

The race itself was not as exciting as it had been during the early stages Hoagland was miles in the lead, Stevens and Graham were sure of fourth and fifth, and the chief interest centred in the race between Blake and Harrison, for second place. As the night wore on it was seen that Harrison was not drawing away from the negro, and there were no signs of the sensational finish between the two, that many seemed to be looking for. All the men, with the exception of Hoagland, were tired. They had been toiling away all week, and the long grind on Saturday told on them, and they were not prepared to do any sprinting for the crowd's benefit, by the time the attendance was the largest. The tireless Hoagland, however, did his best for them, by sprinting almost continuously and he was loudly cheered by the crowd, to whom he has endeared himself in many ways.

Tom Slater, who is slowly recovering from the severe cold he contracted in superintending the building of the score board at the rink, got into his racing togs, and let out for a fast twenty minutes' exhibition. He and Hoagland hooked up for a number of speedy laps, while the crowd rose to their feet and cheered as the two American cracks flew over the sawdust. Dave Hartley and Hatton, of Toronto, also gave exhibitions and were well received by the crowd,

Ovation for Hoagland

Earlier in the evening there was a demonstration, when Hoagland was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Miss Jessie Spence, who walked out to the edge of the track andhanded the flowers to the great pedestrian as he came along. He was given an ovation, as he sped around the track, with the flowers in his hand. Then the band played "Yankee Doodle," and the big American let loose one of his characteristic sprints, amid loud cheers, which were redoubled when Tom Slater handed him two flags, a union jick and the stars and stripes and he made the round waving one with each hand, while the crowd went wild with delight and enthusiasm. No greater evidence of popularity than ever been paid a Peterborough athlete, let alone an outsider, than was given the American "walking machine," and he can be pardoned if he felt elated over the reception.

J.E. Blake, the Syracuse N.Y. colored walker, who finished second.

Graham was Cheered

All the walkers were cheered, as they completed their limit of 162 miles, and there was wild cheers and applause when Jim Graham, the plucky old Buffalo walker and everybody's favourite, finished the last lap of his one hundred and sixty-second mile. Like Hoagland, Graham quickly won the crowd, and his cheerful remarks, have captured a warm place for him in the hearts of Peterborough people.

It was 10.30 o'clock, just an hour before the finish, when Graham completed the limit, and all of the walkers then left the track, except Hoagland, who went on and did another mile. There was no chance of any change in the positions of the men, and as the five leaders were inside the limit, they concluded that there was no use in prolonging the agony any more than was necessary.

Speeches Were Made

After Hoagland had finished up the meet was brought to a close by speeches from some of the principal figures, the press table in the centre of the ring, being used as a rostrum. Referee Jimmy Reynolds, the popular Port Hope walker, was the first speaker, and, after referring to the unqualified success of the race, claimed that the credit for the revival of the walking fever in Canada should be given to him. In this he was endorsed by the crowd.

Jas. Harrison, the Peterborough "ped" who was in third place after a battle with Blake.

Hoagland, the winner of the race, was given a great reception, the crowd singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," as he mounted on to the make shift platform. He spoke briefly, thanking the management, the scorers, the press and everyone connected with the race for their kindness, and expressed his appreciation of the way he had been received in Canada.

Blake, Harrison and Graham were repeatedly called for by the crowd, but the negro was in the dressing room, while the other two had left the rink.

Chas. Stenner, of Warsaw, who made such a plucky showing, was given a good reception. He said that it was his first race, and that considering the fact that he had only had a week's training in the city, he thought he had done very well. and the crowd agreed with him.

Dave Hartley expressed regret that he had not been able to finish out the race, but remarked that he was not through with the game, and would do better next time. He claimed credit for giving the inspiration to the meet by his going to Kansas City to compete with the cracks.

The crowd gave three hearty cheers for the veteran.

Tom Slater was called for and spoke briefly, stating that he regretted very much that his illness had compelled him to drop out midway in the race, but he had done the best he could, under the circumstances. He was glad to see that he had made so many friends in Peterborough.

Three cheers were given with a will for the Oswego walker.

Charlie Stevens, the game Peterborough boy, who finished fourth also spoke, saying that he thought he had done pretty well to get fourth place, considering that it was his first race.

The Story of the Race

To get back to the story of Saturday's racing, it might be stated that there was nothing of a sensational nature in the last day's performance. As usual, Blake and Harrison hung together all day, both travelling 43 miles and 3 laps in the nine hours on the track. When the surviving seven—Hoagland, Blake, Harrison, Stevens, Graham, Stenner and Fenton —started out at 1.30 o'clock Saturday the negro and the Peterborough man started out in company, and from then until 10.30 were together, first one and then the other doing the pacing. They travelled at a pretty lively clip all afternoon, which quickened towards the finish with Harrison as advance agent. All evening they tramped around the track together, and although the crowd shouted for Harrison to try to leave the negro, he seemed to pay not attention to their cries. At least, he failed to sprint, and although the pace kept increasing, the plucky negro, who was suffering from a lame ankle, held on grimly. Both men were favourites with the crowd and were continuously cheered as they made the circuit.

Hoagland during the day increased his lead by three miles and nine laps, although he did not exert himself until evening, when he let out to please the immense gathering, and please them he certainly did. Graham, the Buffalo walker, was very tired, as he had to keep plugging along at a pretty fast clip to get inside the money. He had nearly 38 miles to go when he started out on Saturday afternoon, and at 10.30 he had accomplished the feat and went two laps more, making an even 38 miles for the nine hours, after which he left the track. Seeing that he was gone, Stevens quit on the next round, and Harrison and Blake agreed that they might as well drop out as keep on under the circumstances. Fenton and Stenner also left the track, their trainers persuading them that there was no use in their continuing. Both were badly tired and lame, but neither wanted to quit, and they would have walked until 11.30 if their trainers had allowed them to do so.

Hoagland, 47 miles.
Blake, 43 miles 3 laps.
Harrison, 43 miles 3 laps.
Stevens, 41 miles 4 laps.
Graham, 38 miles.
Stenner, 38 miles 12 laps.
Fenton, 31 miles 2 laps.

The gate receipts for the week will total about $1,800, so that there will be $900 to divide among the walkers. Hoagland, as the winner's share, will receive 50 per cent., or $450; Blake's share will be 25 per cent., or $225; Harrison gets 15 per cent., or $135; Stevens, 6 per cent., or $54, and Graham, 4 per cent., or $36. Fenton and Stenner, who finished outside the money, will receive nothing for their exertions except what they get from the benefit to-night.

Harrison and Stevens, the two local men, who were walking their first race, deserve all kinds of credit for their plucky showing. Neither had much training, and that they were able to finish so far up in the heap was highly creditable.

Manager Stevens, the committee in charge, the scorers, the referees and everyone connected with the race are to be congratulated upon the success of the meet. All the walkers agree that it has been one of the most successful affairs they have ever attended, and it certainly will prove an advertisement for Peterborough such as the city has not had in years. It is to be hoped the tournament will be made an annual affair.

Great Programme For Benefit Concert At The Rink To-night

All the Walkers Will Take Part---Match Between Hatton and Hartley---Walking Race for Girls---Tug-of-War---Chasing Greasy Pig---Blake Will Sing and The Full Band Will Be There.

Although the six-day grind is over the sport-loving people of Peterborough will have another chance of seeing all the pedestrians who took part perform again to-night, when a big benefit meet will be held, in aid of Fenton and Stenner, the two gritty boys, who walked all week without any reward whatever. The affair will be held in the rink, and the programme should be even more interesting than the walking race itself, as the excitement will be of a varied nature.

The full band of the 57th Regiment, under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, has kindly consented to be present, and will play a choice programme, free of charge. All the walkers, who were in the race, will take part in the programme. Hoagland and Slater will give fast exhibitions, just to show the crowd how fast they can go. The two veterans, Dave Hartley, of Peterborough, and R. J. Hatton, of Toronto, will "hook up" in a three mile go as you please contest, that should rouse excitement. Hartley used to shine at that style of going, and Hatton is an old runner, so that they will be well mated.

A novel and interesting feature will be a walking race for girls under fifteen years of age. A large number of entries have been received. W. A. Sanderson & Company have agreed to give a ring for first place, and Clarke & Son will donate a prize for second.

There will be a tug-of-war contest between the champion Quakers' team and a picked team for a trophy. Representatives of the Review, Examiner and Times will have a race for themselves, that is causing as much excitement as the newspaper hockey match. J. E. Blake, the plucky coloured walker, who finished second, and who is a vocalist of no mean ability, will sing a couple of songs. The great finale will be chasing a greasy pig, which will be turned loose in the centre of the rink. Mr. John Mervin has donated a pig for the purpose, and there should be barrels of fun when the crowd gets after the porker.

There should be an enormous crowd present, not only for the excellence of the programme, but also because the proceeds will go to the plucky athletes who finished outside the money. They deserve all the assistance they can get. Turn out to-night and have an evening's fun at the same time helping out the men who deserve it. The programme will start at 8 p. m.

Kennedy Is Here Ready For His Match With Hurtubise

Frank Kennedy, the German light-heavyweight wrestler of New York, arrived in Peterborough last night, accompanied by his manager, G. H. Marsh of Toronto, ready for the big wrestling bout in the Grand Opera House on Wednesday night with Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's big mat artist. Kennedy is in fine shape and is confident of winning from the local man. He is not satisfied with the decision given by Referee Artie Edmunds in the match at Toronto last week, and feels that he can demonstrate that he is the better man of the two by beating Hurtubise on Wednesday night.

The articles, which the men signed at the Examiner office this morning, state that the match will be for $100 a side, the best two out of three falls to count; no holds are barred, and pin falls only are to count. Joe Dwyer, formerly of Lindsay, has been agreed upon as referee.

Hurtubise is feeling fit and well and looks for a victory, although he realizes that in Kennedy he has a most formidable adversary.

Several good preliminary bouts will be put on, including wrestling bouts between Jack Crough and J. Wilson at 145 pounds, "Polar" Crowe and "Bobby" Long, two ideal lightweights, and a three-round boxing bout between Corney Burns and "Nobby" Grover, which should prove a lively affair. Seats are going fast and a record crowd is expected.

WARSAW SPORTS TO HOLD WALKING CONTEST MAY 24

The walking craze is now on. On the 24th of May Omemee is holding a pedestrian tournament, and Warsaw sports announce that on the same date they also intend running off a six-hour walk. Dummer folk are proud of Stenner, who has, with little training, stayed in the game, while more experienced men have dropped away. It is now nearly time Lakefield and Bridgenorth were announcing their sporting spirit, too.

From now on we'll present from time to time the proper styles for Men, which it will pay you to look over Sir, if you're at all interested in nobby clothes. SEE OUR WINDOW

A PRETTY WINNIPEG WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Special to the Examiner

Winnipeg, April 27.—On picturesque Williams avenue, Winnipeg, was solemnized on Wednesday, April 22, a pretty home wedding, the guests at which included several Montreal and Peterborough ladies. The groom is very well known in Peterborough County, Ont., where he has often been the guest of Mr. Samuel Ray. Concerning the event which is described as one of the most fashionable of the season, the Winnipeg Post of April 22nd, says:—A pretty home wedding this afternoon was that at 4 o'clock, of Miss May Violet Konk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A Konk on Williams avenue, to Robert Singleton Aikins, Esq., of Cranbrook, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Aikins, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and grandson of the Rev. T.R White of Ballieboro, Co. Cavan, Ireland. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by Rev. I C Champlin, N. Y., assisted by Rev. O Kennedy, of the First Presbyterian Church. There were 220 guests, including members of the United Club at C.B., of which the groom is president. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Champlin, of New York, while Mr. Wm. Konk, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The decorations of the house were spring blossoms and Easter lilies, the work being performed by Davis, Davis & Sons, florists. The bride was handsomely gowned in brocaded satin, wearing a most costly necklace of solid pearls intermingled with diamonds, an old heir-loom in the family. The veil was slightly draped to the left with a dagger ornament in beautiful settings. She carried a bunch of bridal roses. Her attendant wore a gown of white tulle over yellow, trimmed with lace. The church choir was in attendance, and as the bride entered the drawing room on her brother's arm, under a most beautiful arch of Easter lilies bordered with smilax, her father received her, and as the choir sung, without music, "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," one of Winnipeg's fairest daughters was led to the altar. The reception room was done in pale blue with the Union Jack to the right and the Stars and Stripes to the left and between the emblems of two nations, wearing a reception gown of soft satin, trimmed with lace, the bride looked charming as she received the congratulations of her friends. Her going away gown was hunters' green with hat to match. After an extended trip to Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Aikins will reside in Cranbrook, B.C.

Among the guests from a distance were the Misses Lauflin, Montreal, Que.; George Lautlin, India; Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, Brockville, Ont.; Mrs. Aikins, Henry Aikins, Miss Meenight, Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Mrs. Samuel Ray, of Peterborough, Ont.; Professor and Mrs. Pink, Ellen Pink, Troy, N. Y.; and Mrs. Gunnison, Frances Gunnison, the Misses Eatons, May West, New York City.

UNFORTUNATE

The cleanest and most careful of housewives are often afflicted with the trouble and discomfort of Bed Bugs. The thing to do when they are discovered is not to waste a minute, but procure a good, reliable poison and go at them.

NUGENT'S BED BUG POISON

is a liquid which chases the pests out of every crack and place where they can possibly hide and carries destruction with it. It is, of course, a strong and violent poison and its work of ridding the premises is sure and swift. It is an article that should be in every house at all times, in case of emergency, so that valuable time may not be wasted.

SELLS BABY'S LOCKET FOR COCAINE

Woman Robs Her Baby to Pay Chinaman For The Stupefying Drug.

WOULD SELL HER SOUL

Chicago, April 28.—(Special.) — A woman's soul killed by cocaine was laid bare before Municipal Judge Wells Thursday. Mrs. Kate Kuhn is the wife of Frank Kuhn, a tailor. She said she had been an amateur artist and musician. It was a wreck of womanhood that took the witness stand.

"I went to Jim Hing's laundry and asked him for cocaine," said the woman. "I was half dead from my overnight indulgence. I would have sold my soul for the drug, but I had no money and the Chinaman had no pity.

"You got jewelry home?" said the Chinaman. 'You bring it to me and I give you cocaine.'

"I went home. I had given Hing my muffler, my pocketbook, my clock, my wedding ring, the earrings my husband had given me, my best Sunday dress. I had stripped my home of everything of value. I had nothing left and I was dying for the drug.

"My baby was playing about the floor. I saw the glitter of a gold locket and chain about her neck. I had scrimped and saved to get money to buy the trinket to make my little one happy. But it was my last chance—my only hope.

"I snatched it from the baby's throat and ran back to the Chinaman. I pressed it into his hands. He gave me cocaine, and in the exaltation that came with the drug I lost all sense of shame for the crime against motherhood I had committed."

"Is this your baby's trinket?"

Judge Wells selected a tiny gold locket and chain from a pile of jewels, furs and clothes which victims had pawned to the Chinaman for cocaine, and held it aloft.

"Yes," said the mother, "that's it."

The Chinaman was fined $200.

STEAMERS WILL ARRIVE AT MONTREAL

Summer Port Will Soon be Terminus of Ocean Route.

The ocean liners are expected to soon make their way to Montreal, instead of Halifax and St. John, the winter ports, which have been used during the past months. R. liner Lake Erie, will be due in about a week, and it or some of the other boats that are arriving now, will attempt the usual summer route to Montreal.

STEAMER EMPRESS PURCHASED BY P. P. YOUNG AND SONS FOR USE ON STONEY LAKE WATERS

Now Belongs to Stoney Lake Navigation Company—Sale Completed Yesterday at Bobcaygeon

THE YOUNG'S POINT FLEET

The Cottagers' Association of Stony Lake and others who make Kawarthadom their summer home will be pleased to learn that the steamer Empress will not leave the waters it has sailed in for so many years, and that it has been purchased by Messrs. P. P. Young and Sons of Young's Point, who are the Stoney Lake Navigation Company.

The purchase was consummated yesterday by Mr. Frank Young, the manager of the company, direct from the Trent Valley Navigation Company. Mr. Young was in Bobcaygeon yesterday and to-day, and is expected to arrive in Peterborough tonight. It had been previously announced that the Otonabee Navigation Company had bought the Empress, but since that time negotiations have taken a different trend, and the steamer is now in the cap- and the steamer is now in the hands of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, and will be delivered over to them in the course of a few days.

The Empress is the only steel boat plying on the Trent Canal, with the exception of the Stoney Lake, which also belongs to Messrs. P. P. Young and Sons, and the Government steamer, the Bessie Butler. Mr. P. P. Young, the veteran Stony Lake steamboat man, is now the owner of three reliable steamers — the Stoney Lake, Empress, and Majestic—which will all be run as usual for the benefit and convenience of passengers to and from the upper lakes.

The announcement that the Empress will be owned and operated this year by the Stoney Lake Navigation Company will no doubt be welcome news to cottagers, visitors and tourists to Peterborough county's beautiful summer resorts, as it will be kept on the Stony Lake waters.

THE WATCH AND HAND SATCHEL WERE RECOVERED

A watch was lost in the Brock street rink on Friday night. The owner placed an ad. in the "Lost" ad. column of the Examiner, and a few hours after the paper had left the press the watch was returned to the Examiner office. On Thursday night an ad. appeared about a lost hand-bag, and it, too, has been returned to the owner. The moral is as clear as crystal.

Knox Church Young People Win Inter-Church Debate

GOOD PROGRAMME GIVEN

A very interesting debate was held last night in Park Street Baptist Church, when the B. Y. P. U. of the latter, struggled with the Knox Young People's Society, in a debate. The subject was, Resolved that Asiatic Immigration Into Canada Should be Prohibited. Knox Church people were given the decision, after the judges had taken thirty-five minutes to arrive at a decision.

Knox Church had the affirmative side, and was represented by Mr. H. Wilkie, Miss Mamie Menzies and Mr. Enos Maybee. Park Street had the negative side, defended by Miss M. J. Gillespie, H. H. Reid and H. Lincoln Brace. The judges were Messrs. Wilfred Shiner, N. A. Howard Moore and R. F. McWilliams. The latter, in presenting the decision, said that Park Street presented more and better material, but the speakers read the speeches, whereas the Knox debaters spoke from memory. Mr. McWilliams, therefore, gave the decision to Knox speakers. He complimented both sides on the study they had given the subject, and the thought that had been necessary. Mr. Charles Barrie, president of Park Street B. Y. P. U., who acted as chairman, was also complimented on the able manner in which he had accepted his duties.

In connection with the debate the following programme was presented:

Vocal solo—Miss Titterson.
Recitation—Miss Hill.
Vocal solo—Clara Kidd.
Vocal solo—Miss Carr.
Recitation—Miss Titterson.
Address—Rev. H. J. Keith.

During the thirty-five minutes discussion by the judges, an impromptu programme was given, the following taking part, Mr. Duncan Campbell, Miss Bartley, Mr. Runnett, and Miss Hill.

The whole affair was highly interesting and profitable, and the young people look forward to another event of this kind.

Investigation Into The Plumbing Work Begins

Mr. W H Meaddows, the man appointed by the Board of Education to investigate the plumbing charges of Mr. E R Stocker, arrived in the city last night and has begun his duties to-day. Mr. Meaddows comes from the Health Department of the City of Toronto and is therefore under Dr. Sheard. The Board believe him to be one of the best men procurable for such an undertaking.

Besides investigating the plumbing work at the Collegiate Institute and Queen Alexandra School, Mr. Meaddows will also look into the work at the King Edward School, while here, so that the ratepayers will feel satisfied to know the exact condition of the plumbing in these three new schools.

The report of Mr. Meaddows will be made known at some future meeting of the Board of Education.

New Type Of Steamer Will Be Placed On Trent Canal Waters

The Otonabee Navigation Company is making, or, in fact, has almost completed plans to place a new new style of steamer on the Trent Valleys, and this summer will build the first one of the new type. The new boat will be a stern wheeler, built on the lines of the Mississippi River craft, with a fifteen or twenty foot paddle wheel at the stern. The steamer will have a carrying capacity of 500 or 600, and a speed of from 15 to 18 miles an hour. Her lines will make her peculiarly suitable for Otonabee River and Stony Lake navigation, as she will only draw 4 1-2 feet of water, while the Otonabee draws 5 1-2 feet. She will be equipped with four rudders at the stern, in front of the wheel, and it will, therefore, be able to turn her very easily, and render the task of making landing a simple matter.

Plans and specifications have been received, and the contract will be let in a short time. The new boat will be the first of her type on these waters, and will afford more deck room and state room than the present antiquated style of steamer.

The company has decided not to purchase the Empress and Manita, and will operate this season the Otonabee, Water Lily and Monarch. During the season the Monarch will leave Peterborough daily for Rice Lake, calling at all points on the river and at Gore's Landing, reaching Idyl Wyld in time for dinner, and will return to the city at 8.30 p.m.

The Water Lily will leave the Wolfe street wharf, Peterborough, every morning at 7.45, and the lift lock at 8.15, for Stony Lake, calling at McCracken's Landing, Juniper Island, Burleigh Falls and at Mount Julian, where a stop will be made for dinner. Before starting on the return trip, the Water Lily will travel to Bonchink, after which she will return, calling at McCracken's Landing and the store, on the way back. Book tickets will be issued at reduced rates.

The steamer Otonabee, as heretofore, will be reserved especially for large excursions, a large number of which have already been booked. Mr. Thos. Parker will be in charge of the hotel at Idyl Wyld, which is a guarantee that first class service will be given. The grounds and hotel will be greatly improved and every provision will be made for what promises to be an unusually busy season.

Ald. Harry Phelan has been appointed general manager of the company, and is already engaged in preparing for the opening of the season.

THE OPENING MEETING.

Last night Mr. G. A. Gillespie's campaign opened in the hall, Fourth Line of Smith, under very encouraging auspices. There was present a large number of electors, and the hearty reception given the candidate indicates his great popularity in the district where he is best known. Mr. Gillespie briefly addressed the meeting. He did not enter into the political subjects of the campaign, but stated his personal position in relation to the contest. While he appreciated the honour of being the Liberal candidate, the position had come to him unsought; he had accepted the responsibility, and intended to carry on the election in a clean, straightforward manner. He would not bind himself to a slavish support of any policy which would not accrue to the benefit of the riding and the country. Mr. Bradburn had represented the people one term, and they knew how he had discharged his representative duties. At Mr. Gillespie's request, Hon. J. R. Stratton gave an address, in which he dealt somewhat in detail with the record of the Whitney Government, showing in what way and to what extent both they and their supporters in this riding had fallen short of the promises of policy made in Opposition, and how, to that extent, they had gained power and representative position under false pretences. Mr. G. M. Roger, in a short address, pointed out the extent the present Government had violated the fundamental principles upon which the success of representative institutions depend. A fuller report of the meeting will appear in tomorrow's issue of the Examiner.

DODGING THE ISSUE.

Mr. Bradburn, the Conservative candidate, still fights shy of the proposition of Mr. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, to enter into mutual bonds to conduct, on the part of both, what Mr. Bradburn says he wants, "a clean, straight fight." Why doesn't Mr. Bradburn come to the mark like a man, and sign such an agreement? If Mr. Bradburn refuses to enter into an agreement for "a clean, straight fight," one must infer that he didn't mean what he said when he gave Mr. Gillespie an assurance that such was his desire. A similar agreement was entered into by the Conservative and Liberal candidates in the Provincial bye-election in Kingston in 1906, and the result was a practically pure election. Our evening contemporary, the Review, calls Mr. Gillespie's suggestion an "insulting proposition," and hopes Mr. Bradburn will decline it. In the comparatively common-place realm of business, such "insulting propositions" are the very essence of business transactions. A man's word may be as good as his bond, but business principles demand that his bond must be given, and there is nothing insulting in the matter. The Review childishly asks, "Can't we trust each other?" Frankly, no—not in politics, if we judge from the past. We all know that the world has come to set up less exacting standards of morality in politics, and in Government relations, than in ordinary matters. A parson seems to think it no wrong to cheat the Customs; an elector comes to regard the sale of his vote as a venial offence, and a certain class of politicians catalogues the purchase of a vote in a similar manner. In the business world a man may count his wealth by thousands, but in a simple business transaction such a man assents to giving his bond without its suggestion being considered an "insulting proposition." If Mr. Bradburn wants to carry on "a clean, straight fight," his bona fides will not be weakened by signing an agreement to that effect. What would be thought of a man who would resent, as an "insulting proposition," the request to give a receipt for money paid him? If Mr. Bradburn refuses to assent to Mr. Gillespie's proposition, the public will draw the conclusion that he is not anxious to close the door to questionable election methods. This is the ninth day since the proposition was made.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

An Opinion of One Whose Advice is Worth Taking.

This is the season of the year when a great many people require a building-up tonic. On account of the large number of worthless preparations on the market, it is always advisable to ask the advice of your druggist.

Most of the Ontario druggists, it is said, are commending Dr. Norvall's Syrup of Hypophosphites, as it appears to be giving the best results, and all druggists are furnished with the formula.

CHIEF ROSZEL THE FIRST TO CUT HIS LAWN

Was Busy This Morning—Holds the White Cap for This Year.

Chief Roszel gets the white cap this year for being the first citizen to push the lawn mower over the green. He went home early yesterday afternoon and with the aid of a file put the blades of the lawn mower in the pink of condition. He arose early this morning and after surveying his bowling green, started to work and has now a fine looking work.

HAD A LARGE CROWD LAST WEEK

The most successful week the local Salvation Army corps have ever had was that of last week. The attendance for meetings, including Easter Sunday, was 2,049, and the total number present at the marches was 552, making a total of 2,601, which is a record breaker.

VESTRY MEETING AT ST. MARK'S, OTONABEE

The Financial Report of the Year—Delegates to Synod.

The Annual Vestry Meeting of St. Mark's Church, was held on Monday night. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was in the chair and opened the proceedings with prayer. After reading of minutes the Church Warden, Mr. Thos. Graystock presented his annual financial report as follows:—

Sunday collections	$144 09
Subscriptions	155 57
Missionary offerings...	43 00
	$343 66

After all expenses being paid, the sum of $16.05 was on hand to be carried over.

The finances of the church are in an excellent condition, which is due to the loyal support of the faithful members of St. Mark's.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Rector's Warden — Mr. Joshua Smithson.

People's Warden—Mr. Thos. Graystock.

Lay Delegates to Synod — Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Barlow Cumberland and Robert Parker.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. George Burnham for a generous donation of $50.00 to the church, also to Miss Maud Dixon for her efficient work as organist.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE WALKERS HAVE LEFT FOR HOME

Messrs. Hoagland, Slater, Blake and Others Left This Morning.

Nearly all the walkers, who were here for the six-day tournament, left for their homes to-day. Mr. W. A. Denore, of Syracuse, N. Y., who accompanied Mr. Hoagland here, left this morning, and J. E. Blake, the coloured walker, and Ray Fenton, of Auburn, N. Y., also departed for home on the early train. Mr. Hoagland, accompanied by his little daughter, and Tom Slater, left on the noon G. T. R. train. All the visitors were delighted with Peterborough, and its people, and some of them will likely be here for a visit during the summer.

ORDINATION SERVICES ARRANGED

To Take Place at St. Luke's Next Month —Those Who Will Officiate.

Arrangements for the ordination to the priesthood of the Rev. C E Wilkinson, of Apsley, have been completed. The ordination will take place at St. Luke's church on May 10th, at the morning service. The Right Rev. W D Reeve will officiate at the ordination. Ven. Archdeacon Warren will be the examining chaplain and will also preach the ordination sermon. Mr. Salisbury Lloyd a former Methodist minister is expected to be ordained to the diaconate at the same ordination. The examination of the candidates will be held in St. Luke's vestry, May 7th, 8th and 9th, presided over by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.

Toronto, April 28.—Right Reverend Denis O'Connor, D.D., LL.S.B., has resigned from the Archiepiscopal See of Toronto.

The resignation was forwarded to Rome through the Papal Delegate at Ottawa, Most Rev. Donatus Sbarretti, D.D., and though no word has yet arrived stating it has been accepted, it is certain that such will take place, for so seldom is such a request made that it is done so for reasons so weighty that the Papal consent is invariably granted.

It is understood that poor health is the principal reason advanced by his Grace for liberation from the duties of Archbishop. In addition his Grace advanced personal reasons. It is known that when he was appointed Bishop of London he wrote to Rome asking to be allowed to remain a priest, but the late Pope Leo XIII. replied that it was his desire that he accept the see. Similarly, when he was appointed Archbishop of Toronto he did not desire to accept the further duties, and it has always been his desire to get away from the burdens the control of a diocese necessarily entails.

Regarding his successor are mentioned the names of Right Reverend F. P. McEvay, D.D., Bishop of London, and Right Reverend D. J. Scollard, D. D., Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, and formerly of Peterborough. He is the youngest bishop in Canada, having been appointed to the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie in 1904. Though he is thoroughly conversant with the French language, it is said that the priests of the diocese, who are for the most part French, would prefer one of their own kind, and the raising of Bishop Scollard to the dignity of Archbishop would make way for such an appointment.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMPBELL-KING

A church wedding of unusual interest, was celebrated in St. Andrew's Church this morning, at 7.30 o'clock, when Miss Zina King, daughter of Mr. Wilbert King, George street, was united in marriage to Mr. George Allen Campbell, also of Peterborough. Rev. J. G. Potter performed the ceremony, at which there were present a large number of guests.

The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling costume of navy blue, and she was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie E. King. Mr. J. H. Campbell assisted the groom. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a bracelet, and the the groomsman a stick pin. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left on the 8.30 G. T. R. train for Toronto, on a honeymoon trip, and on their return will reside on Ware street.

LITTLE GLADYS ELLIOTT.

HEAD, ARMS AND LEGS COVERED WITH ECZEMA

Mrs. L. Elliott, of 41 Henry St., St. Catharines, Ont., says: "My little daughter Gladys, 4 years of age, was badly troubled from infancy with eczema on the back of her head, under her hair, the joints of her arms and on the back of her legs. This terrible disease first broke out on the side of her head in the form of a red rash and pimples which, if rubbed or scratched sent forth a watery substance, and which later spread to the back of her head, joints of her arms and back of limbs. This proved a rather obstinate case and the child suffered intensely from itching and pain and was very restless and peevish. We tried all kinds of preparations, soaps, etc., but failed to bring about a cure. At last a friend who had been using Zam-Buk for small sores and wounds gave me a portion of her box to try. This seemed so good and showed such an improvement so I bought a supply, and thro' perseverance in using, the disease was soon checked and finally cured. I feel very grateful for the cure Zam-Buk has brought about."

Zam-Buk Cures cuts, burns, chapped hands, cold sores, itch, ulcers, eczema, running sores, catarrh, piles, bad legs, abscesses and all diseases of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, 50c., or post-paid upon receipt of price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Good also for rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., when well rubbed in.

Accident Proved Fatal To Dr. Frederick Staunton

Injured During Waterford Hunt Point-to-Point Races — Nephew of Mr. Staunton of Peterborough

MARRIED BUT A SHORT TIME

The Waterford Standard, published in Waterford, Ireland, in a recent issue gives a lengthy account of the death of Dr. Frederick W. Staunton, nephew of Mr. W A Staunton of Benson street, Peterborough, including the funeral and the list of floral wreaths. The Standard in part says:—

It is with feelings of no ordinary regret that we place on record the death of Dr. Frederick W Staunton, M.B., the sad event taking place under extremely sorrowful circumstances at his residence, Lady Lane, on Wednesday morning, at half-past seven o'clock. As will be remembered, the late Dr. Staunton met with a serious accident while riding in the open redcoat race at the Waterford Hunt Point-to-Point Races, held on Thursday of last week at Kilbride. His horse, Black Mark, stumbled going over the first fence, with the result that both horse and rider came down heavily, the doctor, unfortunately, sustaining a serious dislocation of the thigh. He was medically attended on the course, and was subsequently brought home in a motor car, under the care of Dr. Morris, and it was not then thought that the injury was so very serious. On the following day, however, the patient became much worse, and, complications having set in, Dr. Morris on Sunday, thought it advisable to have professional assistance. Surgeon Hewetson, of Dublin, was accordingly telegraphed for, but owing to the day being Sunday he could get no further by rail than Maryborough, and but for the kindness of heart of Sir W G D Goff, Bart., who personally drove his motor to Maryborough, Surgeon Hewetson would not have been able to attend the injured gentleman that day. On his arrival he performed an operation, assisted by Dr. Morris, but from this onward deceased remained in a very weak condition, and despite all the skill of the medical attendants and the ministering care of an efficient nursing staff, he gradually sank until he died as above stated. A particularly sad feature connected with a death that was little short of tragic was that the deceased gentleman was married as recently as 5th February last, and he and his newly-wedded bride only returned to their residence in Lady Lane five days previous to the occurrence which ended so sorrowfully. When the intelligence of his grave condition, and later of his death, reached the general public, sorrow and regret were unbounded, all classes and creeds, rich and poor alike, being sincere in their expressions of sympathy for the bereaved young wife and relatives. Not for many years has a death occurred in the city under such tragic circumstances, and it is not too much to say that it cast a shadow of gloom over the entire district. We might add that during his short illness his popularity with all classes was emphasised by the eager way in which people of all classes sought for intelligence as to his condition, very many calling at his residence and inquiring personally.

REFRESHMENTS ON SUNDAY

What is Lawful Regarding Their Sale—Decision of the High Court of Ontario.

THE QUESTIONS SUBMITTED

Readers will remember that about a year ago Judge Morson, the junior of the three county judges of York, Ontario, reversed a conviction by Magistrate Kingsford against John Davins, a restaurant keeper, for selling on Sundays, candies, peanuts and other eatable articles to be carried off the premises.

It was pointed out to the public at the time that this judgment was going to result in an immense increase in Sunday business, inasmuch as it implied, if it did not declare, that any man holding a restaurant license and doing a restaurant business, might also carry on a confectionery business, a fruit business, a grocery business, and a business in all sorts of eatable articles, and could sell freely any or all classes of these things on Sunday over the counter, to be carried away and used as the purchaser might desire. It was evident that large numbers of shopkeepers and their employees were going to be deprived of their Sunday rest, and other privileges if this interpretation of the law were to remain unchallenged. The matter was therefore brought to the attention of the Attorney-General of Ontario, the Honourable J. J. Foy, and recognizing the serious import of the judgment he requested Magistrate Kingsford to grant a "stated case," and requested County Crown Attorney H. L. Drayton, K.C., to take charge of the case in its preparation, and in its argument before the High Court. The case was duly granted, and came before Mr. Justice Clute of the High Court on Friday, 10th April. The case was known as "The King vs. Weatherall." Weatherall held a restaurant license and did business at Toronto Island, selling refreshments of various kinds, and among other things, he sold on Sunday, 9th June, 1907, "candies, popcorn, peanuts and soft drinks."

The questions submitted to the court were as follows:

1. "Does the mere fact that Weatherall holds a license as restaurant keeper enable the said Weatherall to sell on the Lord's Day candies, popcorn, peanuts and soft drinks, notwithstanding the Statute (Lord's Day Act)?

To this question Mr. Justice Clute replied "No." Unlike some judgments, this does not lack in clearness.

2. "Can a bona fide restaurant keeper sell candies, popcorn, peanuts or other commodities not in connection with any meals served on the premises, but done up so as to be taken away by the purchaser, on the Lord's Day?"

To this Mr. Justice Clute replied, "I take this question to mean that the articles there referred to are sold, not in connection with the giving of meals served on the premises, but in the ordinary way of business as a merchant, so as to be taken away by the purchaser. Taking this to be the meaning of the question, I answer again, 'No.'"

There was a third question as to whether the restaurant license that Weatherall holds from the city prohibits him making such sales on Sunday in itself, apart from the Lord's Day Act. The judge gives substantially the same answer to this question as to the other two.

This judgment makes it clear, therefore, without equivocation, and beyond peradventure, that even a bona fide restaurant keeper, who holds a license and is running an eating house under that license, is not entitled to sell on Sunday anything excepting what is purchased and consumed as a meal. Articles of food may not, therefore, be sold on Sunday under any circumstance to be carried off the premises unconsumed, but must be consumed in the restaurant at the table or lunch counter as a meal.

It is important to observe that this judgment is binding upon all magistrates and Division or County Court judges throughout the Province of Ontario, and for that matter will be followed by the magistrates and Trial Court Judges throughout the Dominion. It is well that this judgment be given prominence in the press everywhere so that restaurant keepers may not unawares, during the coming season, commit violations of the Lord's Day Act and lay themselves liable to its heavy penalties. The public generally will recognize also the reasonableness of the law in this regard. It is proper that the hungry should have the right of going to a restaurant and satisfying their hunger. No one will contend, however, that this necessitates or would justify general business in the sale of articles of food to be carried away, which, if it were allowed, would result in depriving large numbers of shopkeepers and their employees of their Sunday rights and privileges.

HUSBAND CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Case Was Enlarged—Wife Anxious to Settle Case.

Arnie Perry did not appear in the police court this morning to press the charge of assault against her husband, Thomas, who was also absent. The Chief stated that both had been served with a summons. The case was then enlarged until Monday next.

Shortly after police court Perry came into the police station with his summons and a note from his wife. She stated in it that matters were all right again, and she was not anxious to go on with the case. The Chief told Perry they would both have to appear at the enlarged sitting of the court and have the matter settled.
